BREED THEATER.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the Up to Date Feature Picture.

In view of the fact of the prominence of Col. Theodore Roosevelt at the present moment and the serious condition following his attempted assassination, Manager McNulty is lucky indeed in being able to present to his patrons the remarkable film depicting one of the many busy days in his life. With Sagamore Hill as the background the colonel is closely followed through his many duties and shown in various activities peculiar to himself. This is bound to be a film that will cause more than ordinary enthusiasm and can be relied upon as the finest picture of its kind ever presented at the Breed.

With this superb picture mentioned above is featured the great western story entitled The Cattle Rustlers, by the Selig Co. Included in the story is a complete fall round-up and shows the corralling of the vast herds. One of the cowboys given a job at the roundup proves to be a spy for the neighboring band of daring cattle rustlers. The rustlers descend upon the herd at night and overpowering the watchman, stampede the herd to the fastnesses of the nearby mountains. They deceive the daughter of the cattle owner into believing that her father is ill in the fields and he has sent for her. Thus they capture her, and the balance of the picture shows in thrilling detail her subsequent capture by her father's cowboys.

Arthur Johnson appears in a fascinating story entitled A Little Family Affair.

FIFTH PRISON TERM

For Frank A. Whipple of Voluntown—Crime Which Led to His 30 Years' Sentence.

As told briefly in The Bulletin's despatches, at New Haven, Tuesday, one of the heaviest sentences ever meted out for horse theft was imposed in the criminal side of the superior court, when Frank A. Whipple of Voluntown, was given thirty years for the theft of an animal from Mr. Tuthill of Orange. Whipple was convicted by a jury and the maximum sentence for the offense was imposed in the case.

The theft for which Whipple was convicted occurred last August, when he is alleged to have taken from the barn of Tuthill in Orange a black stallion. The West Haven police notified the cities of the east to look out for the man and a description of Whipple was sent out. Within a short time word was received that a man answering to the description of Whipple had been detained in Worcester, Mass., on the charge of idleness and would be held until the arrival of some member of the New Haven police department.

Chief Loomis of the West Haven department went at once to Worcester, where he recognized Whipple and brought him back to New Haven.

An attempt made by Whipple, when he arrived in Worcester, to dispose of the beautiful animal, resulted in his arrest. It was while he was dickering with a prospective purchaser of the animal that the man became suspicious when Whipple appeared willing to dispose of the horse for $12, and he sent for a policeman, who arrested Whipple.

This is the fifth time that Whipple has been sent to the state prison. On three occasions he was sent up for the theft of a horse and on the other two instances he was sent to the state penitentiary for barn burning.
