Despite the bad weather the Sabine and East Texas special train from Rockland brought in about 500 visitors. Agent John B. Goodhue predicted 750, and would have hit it had it not been for the rain.

Yesterday afternoon Captain Ben Eckhoff launched the first barge for the Port Arthur people at his shipyard just below the Pee Gee bridge. The barge is twenty-eight feet wide and 100 feet long. The high wind last night blew down a big tree across the track of the Gulf, Beaumont and Kansas City, which delayed the train that was going north to get the crowd that was coming down to help increase the mass of people at the jubilee today. The train crew got the tree off the track and then proceeded on its way and will return this afternoon with the people of that part of the state who will take advantage of the cheap rates.

If Will P. Oldham could sell real estate and Loan stock as fast as a hungry mob could eat barbecued beef and light bread, he would get rich fast.

An Interesting Place.

The big emporium of the Beaumont Lumber company is a place of more than ordinary interest just now to strangers because of the rush of business and the manner in which it is handle. Their new cash system is quite a novelty to a great many, and it is wonderful how it enables them to handle their immense business. Jesse B. McMahon, the manager, asks the DAILY ENTERPRISE to extend a cordial invitation to all the strangers in the city to call and see what advantages they can secure by trading there. He wants them to call, anyway, and if they do not purchase, they will see that it is to their advantage to call at some other time.

Miss Pearl Goldstine will soon open a millinery establishment in the new Millard building. It will pay ladies to wait for the opening.
