[illegible] Casualties.

We comply with [illegible] following list of casualties, [illegible] have not yet got enough of our type for [illegible] give us a sufficient quantity of capital letters [illegible] print them as they should be.

Editor Rebel: For the information of the friends and relatives of the killed and wounded in the battles of Selma, on the 2nd inst., I would ask of you a small space in the earliest issue of your paper for the following list of casualties. I [illegible] state further, that the wounded in the Wayside and General Hospitals of this place, respectively in charge of Surgeons Walker Curry and Alexander Hart, have had every attention possible. I have frequently visited the Wayside Hospital during the stay of the Federals, and know that Dr. Curry has been untiring in his efforts to make the wounded as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. Too much cannot be said of the corps of Surgeons and assistant surgeons and attendants under Dr. Curry, who have seconded his efforts. The same may be said of Dr. Hart and his surgeons and attendants: and also of Acting surgeon V. B. Bilisoly, supervisor of hospitals for Selma, who has labored night and day to have the wounded removed from the field to the hospitals where they could be properly cared for.

List of Casualties in the battle before Selma on the 2d instant.

The river has been falling rapidly for several days and we suppose will soon be below the stage suitable for gunboat navigation. Considerable apprehension has been felt here since the report of the fall of Mobile on the gunboat question. We presume that there are no obstructions near Mobile to be removed before gunboats can get up the river, and as the force that captured that place is understood to be marching for Georgia, and leaving no garrison [illegible] and Montgomery have already been [illegible] and planted, we cannot see [illegible] why the yankees should desire to [illegible] present. Besides they will hardly [illegible] their boats up in advance of a land force [illegible] They do not know how many [illegible] and dangerous batteries may be [illegible] river in the first hundred [illegible] Montgomery [illegible]
