SOMEBODY in Detroit is lying a great deal nowadays, or else the truth contradicts itself wonderfully in reference to the circulation of the newspapers in that city.

IT was of course to be expected that Gov. Hoadly would decline to enter into a public debate with Dr. Leonard, but it does seem as if he might have found a better excuse for refusing.

THE Cologne Gazette says the Caroline Islands trouble will be settled favorably to Spain, but Spain will get the worst of it for bearding Bismarck. This is an admission that Spain is right but a threat that Bismarck will punish Spain for claiming her rights.

THE apparent abatement of the ravages of the cholera in some of the towns of Spain and Southern France is not proof, by any means, that the pestilence is really less virulent. It must be remembered that the population of many of these towns has been greatly reduced since the first appearance of the disease in consequence not only of the great number of deaths which have occurred, but of the thousands who have fled through fear. Meanwhile the disease is breaking out in new localities daily.

IT is not improbable that the time is not very far distant when our expensive diplomatic system shall have been abolished. Some of the leading papers have taken decided ground in favor of such a course. It is argued that the consular service is competent to care for and protect the interests of our citizens abroad, and in cases of great moment and delicacy special envoys, qualified to deal with the questions at issue, in whose judgment and knowledge the country could confide to sustain the national honor, could be appointed for temporary service. Communication between different nations is so easily had by means of the telegraph and of steamships, that very much of the necessity of maintaining the present system is done away. In the majority of cases our ministers are merely luxuries.

IT is doubtful whether Montreal ranks as high in intelligence as Marseilles; but it will not rank higher while its indifference to rational regulations for the control of small-pox is as flagrant as the behavior of that stupid Mediterranean city in the face of Asiatic cholera. The offense of Marseilles is considered doubly blameworthy because of last year's visitation by the pestilence; but Montreal has surely suffered many visits of the hideous disease that now afflicts it; and yet it takes little warning. Its citizens move about freely even when they have come in contact with the villainous pest, and common sanitary rules are set at defiance. As has been pointed out, this culpable disregard of a public enemy touches many communities besides the city which the disease is ravaging. By its behavior in a malignant small-pox season, Montreal itself becomes a public enemy.

THE Iowa Republicans have a clear vision. They see that British management of our interests is not exercised with undivided regard for our good. In the platform adopted at Des Moines they strip the cover from the skeleton of Democracy and show that party to be directed from London in its treatment of domestic questions of economy. The Republicans should keep a strong light turned full on this fact, and, when the truth comes to be understood by the masses of laboring men, there will be a desertion of voters from the Democratic party that will carry Germany into its councils. This movement will be the more formidable and radical for the slowness of its inception; for, when the men who are so slow to be convinced perceive that the party they have trusted so long has betrayed them, they will abandon it in well-founded indignation, and they will not be won back. [illegible] of the thousands who left the Democratic party last year on intelligent conviction will be found in its service again.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Montrose Democrat: To Assistant Postmaster-General Stevenson: We love you for the Republican postmasters you have bounced.

Brooklyn Eagle: As a fact, Democrats are of the opinion that Mr. Cleveland has exceeded any obligation he was under to civil service reform.

Philadelphia Times: If Spain now proceeds in a business-like way to hold and cultivate her claim Germany and other European nations will have to admit it or abdicate all their own colonial possessions captured and held in the same so called business-like manner.

Chicago Inter Ocean: When the fishermen from the Brule River and the Adirondacks get back to Washington let them drop the "offensive partisan" nonsense and give the real reasons for removals from office, and everybody will respect them the more.

Chicago Inter Ocean: It is sad to note that the Detroit Free Press thinks the Republican platform of Iowa is not "respectable." If the Republicans of Iowa had only thought of it, they might have asked advice of the hybrid race of Michigander Democrats, and avoided censure.

New York Sun: Will President Cleveland come out of the Adrioncack woods more of a Jacksonian and less of an Eatonian Democrat, or more Eatonian and less Jacksonian than he was when he went in? He has had leisure to think about some things. A man can fish and think, too.

Extremely Magnanimous.

The location of the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids is a compliment which that thrifty and liberal city appreciates to its fullest extent. There are reasons also why it will be pleasant for the veterans to be near so large and interesting a place. If Grand Rapids continues to make the same progress in the next decade that it did in the last it will materially assist in maintaining the equipose of the State, the tendency of which is to sag in the extreme southeastern corner. Grand Rapids and Jackson not long ago used to be rivals and watched each other's progress with jealous disposition; but now that our sister city has fallen so far behind in the race for wealth and population our feelings are only those of magnanimity and good will.—Jackson Patriot.

The News at Morley.

Correspondence of THE TELEGRAM.

MORLEY, Aug. 29.—Village Marshal P. Turner, an old resident of this place, died yesterday of typhoid pneumonia, after an illness of one week. He leaves a wife and five children in medium circumstances.——W. J. Arnett has closed out his grocery store. W. T. Jones has possession of what remains of the stock.——A singing society has lately been organized here under the name of "Morley Choral Union," Mrs. Allie McMullen being the instructor.——Since one of our citizens informed the Morley "hoodlums" that he would "boot every one of them" if he caught them out again, we have had no trouble from that source and those who were about to leave the town on their account have decided to stay.

Prof. C. W. Paine, M. D., Grand Rapids Medical and Surgical Institute.

DEAR DOCTOR:—For years I had been afflicted with catarrh which had eventually terminated in bronchitis of a chronic form, and indeed by some physicians pronounced pulmonary consumption. I had tried every remedy I could hear of and consulted all of our so-called best physicians. They treated me for over three years and finally pronounced my case incurable, and I was told I must die. Hearing of your wonderful success in the treatment of others I consulted you. You said you could cure me, which at the time seemed to good to be true. Allow me to say, however, that you have fulfilled your promise, for which accept my heartfelt thanks, and I am ready and willing at all times to satisfy inquiries of the same. Yours respectfully,

MRS. M. L. WELLING,
284 Canton street.

Prof. Paine—DEAR SIR:—I deem it a pleasure and privilege to add my testimony to your new method of treating chronic diseases. I have been a sufferer for many years with the worst type of catarrh; have used all known remedies without receiving any benefit. Your new method acted like a charm, and I cheerfully recommend all like sufferers to avail themselves of your superior skill. Yours,

MME. GASSETTE, 132 Porter Block.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 7, 1884.

Prof. C. W. Paine, M. D.—It is indeed a pleasure to me to be able to add my testimony to the many thousands you already have. After being afflicted many years with a very bad type of bronchial catarrh, your new and superior method of treatment has caused me to feel like a new creature, and I recommend all who are similarly afflicted to avail themselves of your treatment. Truly yours,

E. HOOLEY.
