THE STORM.

Heavy Rains—Deep Snows—High Rivers and Delayed Trains.

The showers which have been falling for days past seemed to be but a prelude to the fierce storm that was ushered in early yesterday morning. After 12 o'clock Wednesday night the rain poured down incessantly until daylight. During the forenoon of yesterday the rain came spasmodically, but in the afternoon it came in torrents. The wind was blowing at the rate of thirty-two miles per hour, and catching the descending fluid into sheets of water, it hurled it furiously along the streets against the few pedestrians who had courage to face it. Umbrellas were worthless, and rubber suits availed their owners but little. At 8 o'clock in the evening the rain ceased, the moon struggled for awhile to illuminate the muddy streets, but gave it up, and sullen, capricious looking clouds enveloped the sky. Such a rain has rarely been known here, and a heavier one never came in April. The Signal Service report shows that during the 24 hours ending at 8 P. M. last evening 1.84 inches of rain fell. The rainfall of Wednesday, as computed by Mr. Gerrish, was .273 inches, and yesterday, up to 7 P. M., it was 1.286, making the total for the month 4.117, and for the season 15.062. In 1879, for the season to date, the rainfall was 15.292 inches; 1878, 22.436; 1877, 8.120; 1876, 25.580 inches. So much rain has not fallen in April since 1854, when the rainy season followed a cold winter, as has this one. The American river began to rise very rapidly at Folsom about noon yesterday. At 6 P. M. in this city, opposite Twentieth street, the American had not risen above its banks, but gave indications that before morning it would be on a "boom." The water from the tule lands west of Washington, Yolo county, in the afternoon had backed up across the dirt road, half a mile from Washington, and the roadway for a distance of one hundred yards was covered three feet deep with the still water. The owners of dairies in that section have made arrangements to continue their business to-day by using boats to cross the overflow. The back-water had extended over a portion of Todhunter's ranch, but the river levees had not broken, as was supposed. It was expected, however, that if the river rose to 21 feet, Todhunter's ranch levee would give way. The Sacramento fell three inches yesterday before the rains affected it. At 5 P. M. it marked 19 feet 8 inches, at 6 P. M. it rose another inch, and then stopped until 8 o'clock, when it again began to rise, and at 1 o'clock marked 20 feet 5 inches, which is the highest water of the season. At 2 o'clock this morning the clouds had disappeared.

The rain-storm of the valleys was equalled in intensity by the avalanches of snow that tumbled down the mountain sides, crushing snow-sheds and demolishing or burying all that stood in their way. During Wednesday night snow fell steadily and at 6 o'clock yesterday morning the average depth of that newly fallen was 14 inches. At that hour the storm began in earnest, and all the day and last night a perfect hurricane raged, heaping snow into great drifts and precipitating many slides upon railroad tracks and snowsheds. At midnight it was still snowing and blowing furiously, the barometer was very low, and the amount of snow that had fallen during the day averaged from three to four feet deep from Blue Canyon to beyond the Summit. In the afternoon a slide occurred three miles east of Emigrant Gap, which covered the track for a distance of 75 feet and to the depth of 10 feet, and another fell near by which was 50 feet long and 14 feet deep. Last night 6 miles east of Summit a small slide came upon the track, and near Tamarack one 60 feet in length buried the track 15 feet deep. The worst one, however, happened at 8 o'clock last night 1½ miles west of Cisco, where 200 feet of shed gave way and the snow piled in to the depth of 15 or 20 feet. The overland train from the East stopped at Truckee, the one from the West stopped at Alta. The lightning train, which should have arrived here in the afternoon, only came to Cisco, where it will be abandoned and the passengers be brought through on the first overland train. The snow-plows have been kept on the road day and night, though where the snow is banked up on the track 15 or 20 feet deep they work with difficulty. All the men who could be hired at the stations are kept at work striving to open the way. Superintendent Pratt and Master Mechanic Cooley went up yesterday afternoon to superintend the work, going on a special engine and taking a supply of men and snow shovels. If no additional slides occur the road may be cleared and trains arrive this evening, but if the storm continues no calculations can be made concerning the arrival of trains.

SOCIAL PARTY.—Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallatin gave a social reception at their residence, at Sixteenth and H streets, to their friends, including the State officers and a few members of the Legislature with whom they have become specially acquainted, and had pleasant social relations. The party was not in any respect intended to have any special significance as far as concerned the Legislature, and though a brilliant affair, was intended by the host and hostess to be more of a social reunion of friends than a formal reception. Their fine residence was brilliantly illuminated and all the parlors and halls thrown open to their guests. About 175 invitations were issued, and fully 150 of the invited were in attendance, the number of ladies and gentlemen being about equal. The best band of music in the city was there for the accommodation of dancers. The toilets of the ladies were noticeable because of their richness and the good taste shown in selection; and the gentlemen of course were in the conventional black and white. At midnight an elegant collation was served under the direction of W. F. Peterson. The special decoration of the mansion of the hosts for the occasion was profuse and tasteful, consisting almost wholly of flowers, which were disposed in every room and hall, and formed the text for the warmest commendatory expressions. While the guests were in the midst of their enjoyment it was whispered about that the Sergeant-at-Arms was in the house searching for Senators, who had preferred the pleasures of society to the routine of labor in the Capitol, and the rapidity with which those there disappeared created considerable merriment. The officer was finally persuaded that any close search of the premises was unnecessary. After returning to the Senate and receiving a rebuke and further instructions, he returned to the scene of festivities, and suddenly appeared among the guests, who were congratulating themselves on having baffled the officers. The recreant members were placed under arrest, and reluctantly departed to their labor. They were soon allowed to return, however, and the incident only added zest to the pleasures of the evening. Dancing, when resumed, was continued until 3 o'clock. The occasion was a decided social success.

POLICE COURT.—In the Police Court yesterday G. H. Kramer and Chas. Avery were fined $7 50 each for being drunk, and John McDonald $12 50 for the same offense. Wm. Baxter, a vagrant, was sentenced to two days' imprisonment. George Lasne was fined $22 50 for disturbing the peace. Mrs. Mary Adams was convicted of the same offense and ordered to appear to-day. John McVicker, accused of being drunk, was discharged. Thos. Carl, vagrant, was sentenced to ten days in jail, and the charge of disturbing the peace was dismissed for want of prosecution. The case of Thos. Lacy, accused of having made threats against life, was continued to April 20th. The case of J. T. Stoll, for violating the fire ordinance, was continued to the 26th.

CLOSING HOURS—THE LEGISLATIVE WIND UP.

The beginning of the end of the Legislature was entered upon last evening. Though the storm raged without, and fiercely as never has been known in showery April before, the lobbies and galleries were filled by an expectant crowd of people, who came out to be entertained. Whether they were or not depended entirely upon the tastes of those composing the auditory. In the Senate it was the period of sober, earnest and rapid work, to complete the bills in which the concurrence of the Assembly is still necessary. But in the House there was nothing to do, and the representatives of the people accomplished it in all its fullness. It was a set play. The Assemblymen knew of the tradition which gives the last hours of the Legislature to wit and humor, and they came to the stage of last night's action full of the intention to be funny, and quite oblivious to the fact that purposeful attempts in that direction are seldom successes, and that wit, and its companion humor, are jealous maids, who must be wooed and will not be driven.

The ball opened with the introduction of a bill to establish a public corn-crib, at which all male citizens or those ineligible to be such shall feed, and which crib shall be supplied with fodder by appropriating to that purpose all the money in all the treasuries of the State. The laugh came in, but it was a laugh to order. Then came a resolution to add books to the State Library, naming suppositious volumes entitled after the pet sayings of many members, and in this catalogue there were some humerous allusions and some witty expressions, but more of a merely negative character. There followed the reading of this list some genuine mirth, and the Assembly began to warm and broaden to the license of the occasion and to shake off the restraint imposed by law and position. Parliamentary rules were relaxed, order was abandoned, applause permitted, and as many members were allowed the floor at one and the same time as chose to speak. Motions were made of the most absurd character, a few with witty purpose, and a few in which the outcroppings of native humor, and some sense of the really mirthful were prominent. Resolutions came thick and fast now to the Clerk's desk, some flat, some fair, some stale, some fresh, and many which were marvelous examples of how the King's English may be tortured, and of these not a few so marked by strainings and efforts to be witty that if dead humorists could take in the situation the bones of such as Hood and Burton must have rattled in an ecstacy of agony. There's no telling when the machine wit would have ceased had not a bat dashed in out of the storm and distracted attention by its wild efforts to escape from the refuge it had taken. A sermon and prayer were read, full of traversties upon members' names, but weak in conception, and it was followed by a regular fusilade of resolutions relative to Messrs. Tyler and Braunhart, and which Mr. Tyler put to flight by compressing an epigram with a request that the Speaker would indicate the point where the laugh came in.

An effort to take up the bill to prevent Sacramento boarding-house keepers from collecting bills of legislators brought out some pungent remarks. The effort to reconsider the defeated bill to appropriate money to build sidewalks along the State property on L street was made in earnest, and defeated with equal decisiveness. Then came again a flood of mock resolutions, and one in the lot, with more pith than the others, called on the Chaplain to solemnize the marriage it was evident, from the soft dalliance of the past, is about to be consummated by the Bourbon Democracy and the Sand-lot party. The members all this time, like school-boys let loose, were laughing and shouting and applauding, and finally insisted on speeches, which were made by Messrs. York and Tyler.

At one time some one captured a swallow, attached a string to its tail-feathers with a letter pendant therefrom, and sent the poor bird circling through the upper air of the chamber, which pointless incident served for a time to amuse the extreme right. When the frightened creature had been captured and set free of its incumbrance, Mr. Fox, who had up to this time presided, left the chair, and in a complimentary speech presented to Speaker Cowdery in behalf of the members of the Assembly three cases, containing a full and elegant table service of solid silver—spoons, fish knife, berry spoons desert forks, etc. Mr. Cowdery replied and then Master Carlson in behalf of the pages presented the Speaker with a gold-headed walking-cane; Mr. Tyler, in behalf of his fellow-members, presented Chief Clerk Gunn with a handsome gold and quartz watch-chain; Mr. Sweetland, in behalf of his fellow-members, presented to Mrs. Hoteling, Postmistress of the Assembly, a pair of handsome gold bracelets, and, in her behalf, Mr. Spencer replied.

The Speaker here left the chair and Mr. Lane was called to preside, which he did with a mock dignity which was quite amusing, and ruled with a serious mirth that frequently incited the House to hearty laughter.

The boarding-house and wash-house bill was taken up, discussed facetiously, amended and dropped, and then a sort of love-feast began. Maybell and McDade, for the extreme left, uttered smooth words and rather gracefully buried the hatchet they had held over the Speaker and the majority, just as Mr. Tyler shortly before had done on his part with the weapon he had wielded against his opponents of the left. Del Valle and Spencer, on behalf of the Democracy in the Assembly, broke bread with the Republicans and put the hand of good will into the hospitable political salt-dish. Mr. May added words of friendship to the expressions of good feeling that were so plentiful, and others followed with utterances of peace, charity and friendship, general confessions of shortcomings and regrets at parting. An effort to draw Mr. Braunhart from the shell into which he had retired failed, and even the persuasive humor of the Chair proved inadequate to induce him to join in the general peace-making, which was interspersed with queer resolutions, odd rulings, side-bar remarks, and speeches from McCarty of Lake, McIntosh and others, and as the era of good-feeling, mutual admiration, confession and forgiveness seemed to have been fully inaugurated, and all the old sores healed up and the stripes of the lash obliterated, McDade deemed it meet that the reportorial fraternity be brought to the feast, and he accordingly introduced resolutions of thanks and in praise of the press. Then came the appropriation bill from the Senate at 11:30, and the Assembly settled down to work, caps and bells were laid aside, the last serious business of the session was taken up, concluded, and about half-past 12 the House anjourned until this morning.

In the Senate hard work was the rule all the evening, and a long session was held. At noon to-day the two houses will adjourn sine die.

DEATH OF MRS. GARTER.—The remains of Mrs. Garter, the wife of Judge Garter, and mother of Mrs. Felix Tracey, who died in Shasta yesterday, will arrive here on this morning's train, and the funeral will take place from the depot at once.

PERFECTION.—Perfection has never yet been reached in the history of human experience, but we are daily striving to attain that desirable end. In many lines of effort humanity is showing a decided advance as the years go by, and even in articles of common necessity the aim is visible of a striving after what is best and beautiful. Not many generations ago, our forefathers, wives and daughters considered themselves happy if they had the opportunity of clothing their feet with a something that looked very much like a pair of Californian "tramp" brogues. They had then no such luxury as our Sacramento ladies can now boast. Something very near perfection has been reached lately in ladies' shoes, being French kid, side-laced and side-buttoned shoes, of the very finest quality, a perfect fit—indeed, literally "glove-fitting"—and in every way desirable. These goods can be had only from Weinstock & Lubin, Mechanics' Store, who introduced them to this community only a short time ago, yet to-day they are the most sought after of any shoe that this city has ever seen, and their popularity is just. They have lately received another grade of side laced shoes, at the low price of $2 50 a pair, which bid fair to follow the lead of the finer goods. *

JABEZ TURNER,
President of the Board of Trustees.
ED. H. MCKEE, Clerk.

BRIEF REFERENCE.

This morning, about 2 o'clock, a man named Jacob Hammond and a woman named Lizzie Wilcox got into such a noisy row at Third and L streets that officer Rider and special officers May and Cafferty interfered and took them to the station-house.

T. G. Salsbury & Son gave a party at their wood-yard Wednesday evening, the large platform in the center of the yard being canvased and inclosed and used for dancing.

The only arrest made yesterday was Walter R. Doscom, who was too drunk to navigate the streets, and was piloted to the station-house by officers Ferral and Carroll.

The street cars were blockaded at the depot yesterday, because the turn-table there was floated out of its place by the water that accumulated underneath it.

John Regli was the name of the Italian who was injured by the Folsom train Wednesday. He is in a critical condition.

Night before last Campi's restaurant, on K street, near Front, was burglarized, and cigars and 50 cents in coin taken.

There will be a social at the Sixth-street M. E. Church to-night.

LECTURE LAST NIGHT.—The last of a series of medical lectures by Dr. Speer & Co., of San Francisco, was given at Turner Hall last evening to an interested audience. The lecturers will remain in the city for a few days for the purpose of having private consultations with applicants.

FREIGHT MOVEMENTS.—There were forwarded to the East yesterday two car loads of merchandise, 1 of coke, 1 of ore, 5 of wool and 1 of oil. There were received here 23 car loads of wood, 9 of wheat, 1 of coal and 1 of merchandise.

FALSE ALARMS.—During the storm yesterday at half a dozen different times nervous persons were startled by a provoking stroke of the fire bell. The alarms were caused by one wire being blown across another at some place in the city.

TRADE-MARK.—A. C. Dietz & Co. have filed with the Secretary of State their claim to the trade-mark "oil" in white letters within a thick, black border, and in each of these three letters is a small letter "a;" above this is the word "castor."

INCORPORATION.—There were filed in the office of the Secretary of State yesterday articles of incorporation of the First Presbyterian Church of San Pablo, Cal. Trustees—John Nicholl, F. Wolf, Joseph Boyd.

THE COURTS.

SUPERIOR COURT.
CLARK, Judge.
THURSDAY, April 15th.

L. S. Taylor vs. D. Landers et al.—Continued till May 5th.

Margaret Poorman vs. L. C. Chandler—Set for trial April 27th.

H. Taylor vs. G. J. Cross—Continued till May 5th, at cost of defendant, costs to be paid within five days.

James I. Felter vs. Frank Swift—Case continued to May.

W. E. Trigg vs. His Creditors—Hearing of petition in insolvency, and stay of proceedings.

NERVE.—It is a great thing to have what is called nerve, and nothing contributes more to the power of physical control thus named than Warner's Safe Nervine. It also relieves all kinds of pain, and cures headache and neuralgia. H. C. Kirk & Co., agents, Sacramento.

MARKETS.—Fulton Market, Fifth and K streets, is the largest and most complete market in this city. Longton & Anthony are live men. We noticed yesterday the sidewalk, for 40 feet, packed with all kinds of vegetables for shipping. *

THE RED HOUSE received soap and candles enough yesterday to keep the whole State in a slippery-light manner for the next twelve months, and it costs so little to what it used to before they were opened. *

WHIPS, WHIPS FOR EVERYBODY.—A whip for 15 cents; a whip for $5, or a whip at most any price—which has been made especially for the Red House by the Hampden Whip Company, Westfield, Mass. *

JOB LOT OSTRICH TIPS, at 35 cents—real value, $1; ostrich feathers, 18 inches long, $1 25—real value, $3 50, at the Red House.*

ROCK AND RYE cures colds, coughs and bronchial diseases. G. W. Chesley, agent.*

TEN CASES misses' and children's school hats, at the Red House. *

FINE hand-sewed buggy harnesses for $20, at the Red House. *

PIONEER WHITE LEAD.

We guarantee the PIONEER WHITE LEAD to be STRICTLY PURE, free from all impurities, and or each and every ounce of adulteration found in it we will pay $100 IN GOLD COIN.

Please not confound the PIONEER WHITE LEAD with other brands of California White Lead. The superiority of the "PIONEER" places it beyond comparison.

ANALYSIS.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 24, 1880.
Messrs. Whittier, Fuller & Co.—Gentlemen: I have made a careful analysis of PIONEER WHITE LEAD, which I find to be PURE and entirely WITHOUT ADULTERATION. It has great BODY or COVERING POWER when mixed with oil, in which it differs from some other samples of Pure White Lead I have examined.
HENRY G. HANKS, Chemist.
