INTERCHANGE OF IDEAS.

SECOND DAY OF THE SACRAMENTO COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Interesting Lecture by Professor W. S. Monroe—The Kindergarten in the Public School, Etc.

The Institute was called to order yesterday by Superintendent Howard at 9:30 A. M. The roll was called and the minutes read and approved.

Exercises were opened by a vocal duet by Misses Gertie Carly and Hattie Wheat, evincing much taste and expression.

Charles Panabaker gave a recitation, "Uncle Dan'l's Apparition and Prayer," in which his negro dialect was admirable.

Superintendent Howard announced that instead of section work, the Institute would be addressed as a whole.

Professor Monroe then addressed the Institute. Subject: "Reproduction of Stories and Reading Lessons." Language divides itself into four different stages, embracing the first four years. The first stage is the copying stage. He believed with Herbert Spencer that there was such a thing as the memory of the muscles, and the child in copying, by repeated effort, comes to exercises. The child should have much practice in copying during the first year. The second year should be dictation work. He would only dictate an exercise once, training the child to remember what was dictated, and letting go what was not remembered. The second stage of this period is that of reproduction. The children should be furnished with the material from which to write, and the libraries of our public schools point to a mine of such material. It is better for teachers to read the story than to attempt to tell it, they being liable to forget some of the important points. He gave illustrations of his idea of the development of the story to the pupils. Very few letters finish one topic before leaving it, but after writing of some other thing return to the first topic. Children should be taught to paragraph and to avoid the repetition of the eternal "and." The teachers can make the school their assistants in various ways in correcting papers, but their time is too valuable to spend in correcting all the written work. Much drawing should be introduced into this reproductive work, no matter how crude it may be. We have too little drawing in our schools. This reproductive work should be carried into the third and fourth year. Thought development advances to its fourth stage. Subjects should be given on which the children can gather their own material for composition, first giving an oral lesson for the next day's development. Leaves, insects and other objects in nature may be made the subjects of such lessons. He gave a graphic description of the research into insect forms and life in the Pasadena schools, and the wonderful development of the children's perceptions and faculties through such work. It opens the children's minds so that they can see what they do see. The work is not repulsive, but interesting. Plants and flowers—anything can be used in the same way. All written work should be preserved and its preservation is a stimulus to neatness. Children should be so trained that their work punctuates and capitalizes itself automatically.

Professor Monroe is a bright and most pleasing speaker, and held the closest attention of the entire Institute.

After intermission, Miss Kate Wilbur read an original poem, entitled "I Had a Teacher," illustrative of the influence exerted by teachers on the moods and sensibilities of their pupils, and upon their after lives.

"Language Work," by Miss Watson, followed. The child may have ideas more or less clear, and yet lack ability to express them in language, hence the need of training. Few of the children possess the advantage of careful and correct home training and expression, and even when possessing such advantage, intercourse with companions, either through imitation or ridicule for correct expression, often neutralizes it. Training in language should begin with school days and continue through them. Training in special meanings of words and correction of misuses of them should be persevered in, and erroneous ideas carefully eradicated. Pictures, "memory gems," can be used profitably to develop the child's use of language, as well as its perceptive faculties. Memorizing reading lessons is very effective training in language and literature. Literal use of the dictionary sometimes produces astonishing results. Contraction and expansion of sentences, and combination of short sentences into longer ones, are valuable exercises.

Miss Watson presented written work of the four grammar school grades, ordinary lesson work, for the inspection of the teachers.

Miss Minnie Sweeny then read an essay on "Language Work in the Primary Grades." The first year introduces the pupil to printed words and the mysteries of learning to read, this foundation being to him the most wonderful part of his work. From this he proceeds by steps through the use of capitals, punctuation, copying, writing sentences, and the variety of kindred work through the primary grades into the grammar grades.

Miss Sweeny then presented written work of the primary grades for the inspection of the teachers.

Superintendent Burns, of Placer county, then addressed the Institute impromptu. He had come to listen and not to speak, and as he had listened to Professor Monroe and to the papers that had been read his mind reverted to his own school days, and the old methods of teaching grammar. He could in those days repeat the twenty-six rules of syntax, and violate every one of them in doing so. The aim and end of teaching grammar is the use of correct language. He is the best teacher who has the greatest variety of methods. The teacher who attends the Institute and hears the discussion of subjects there, and then goes back to the same old groove in the school-room, lacks the elements of a successful teacher. Experience has taught him that the inexperienced teacher rushes the pupil into the study of grammar. Don't do it. He felt, as he listened to the exercises here, that he was in the midst of those who were shaping the destinies of the nation, and he wished them to remember the responsibilities that rested upon them. It was imperative that they should be alive to the events progressing around them in the world. The teacher is a power in the world, and should realize it, although they have so few opportunities to rise in their world. They should cultivate a knowledge of the school law; they should demand of the Boards of Supervisors a liberal appropriation of money for school purposes.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reconvened at 1:30 P. M., Professor Howard presiding, and a large attendance present.

Miss Jennie Elworthy favored the audience with a piano solo, "Pomponette."

Mrs. George Brown sang in excellent voice, "Day Dreams."

Mrs. M. E. Mumford, Principal of the school at Twenty-fourth and N streets, read a thoughtful essay on the subject of the "Relation of the Kindergarten to the Public School System."

Miss M. Alys Pullman read an essay descriptive of kindergarten work, and exemplified its workings with a class of little 5-year-old tots.

Max Lipowitz read an essay, able and interesting, on "Problems in Alligation and Draphine Analysis."

IN THE EVENING.

At the Methodist Church last evening, Mr. Straub's piano solo was heartily encored, and both his selections were thoroughly delightful.

Miss Noyes sang a solo so modestly and sweetly, that before the audience could recover from its charm the little lady had tripped daintily and quickly from the platform, and no encore could recall her.

A violin solo followed by Mr. Franz, after which Dr. C. C. Stratton was introduced, and delivered an eloquent address upon the subject of "Our Times and Their Needs." The speaker traced the restless and self-reliant character of our present population to the enterprising, restless and daring men who were the first settlers. The characteristics to be expected in the children were pointed out, and the needs of the schools in view of these were set forth.

The speaker referred to the over-production of the country in our time as the result of the introduction of machinery. How produce an equilibrium? The Chinese say, "Go back to the old way. Do things by hand." We can never do that. The speaker advocated shorter hours of labor and increased effort to supply the laborer with the means and incentive to employ his additional leisure in occupations tending to culture. On the great questions of political economy the teacher should be intelligent and should be power.

TO-DAY'S SESSION.

The Institute will convene this morning at 9 o'clock, and to-day's exercises will close the session. Mr. Paul Gavin, of Oakland, will describe and illustrate the system of drawing in that city, and the day will be chiefly occupied by him and Prof. Monroe.

DIAMOND TALK.

Ziegler Likely to Manage the Home Club—The Bostons to be Here Saturday.

Thomas F. Gleason is no longer the Manager of the Sacramento Baseball Club. His contract expired on the 24th. Next season there will be a new Manager, and in all probability it will be Zeigler, the young pitcher, who has made many friends in this city. The owners of the club will send him East to select first-class and gentlemanly ball-players for next season. At present he is Acting Manager of the club.

Secretary Enright says that the fine of $150 inflicted on Carroll for failing to play at Stockton last Sunday still stands, and he (Enright) proposes to collect the fine if it is not forthcoming.

It is claimed by Mr. Enright that Veach, who has been playing with the Oaklands, was not released by the Sacramentos, as supposed, but instead was under suspension. As Veach has played in games in which the San Franciscos were defeated, Manager Finn will make this fact one of the reasons why Oakland should not be awarded the pennant.

The famous Boston baseball club, of the National League, which was second in the race for the pennant, will pass through this morning to San Francisco, where several games will be played with clubs of the California League. On Saturday afternoon the Bostons will play the Sacramentos at Snowflake Park. Borchers will occupy the box for the home club. He has been practicing more or less during the season, and is said to be now in perfect condition. He is himself again and his friends say that he will surprise the crowd on Saturday.

Jere Hurley, of the Stocktons, who was with the Bostons during the spring, will receive Borcher's swift pitching. Ex-catcher Billy McLaughlin will take care of the initial. Pitcher Zeigler will hold down second base, and Hughes or Whitehead, of the San Franciscos, the third. Newbert will be at short, and Roberts, Goodenough and Selna in the field. This will probably be the only opportunity in this city to see the national game as it is played by a famous club.

THE JOHNSTON CASE.

"Tule" Johnston Tells the Court Some of His Domestic Troubles.

Another day has been exhausted in the hearing of the divorce case of Margaret Johnston against William E. Johnston. The defendant occupied the witness-stand yesterday afternoon. He said that his domestic troubles commenced a few years ago and after two of his daughters had married. The husband of one wanted money from him, and the other wanted the ranch. According to his story, he was treated as an intruder and undesirable personage about the place, and the comforts of a home were denied to him.

This case has been on trial for several days, and has developed the bitterest feeling between the husband and wife, after some forty years of married life. Of the large family of sons and daughters, most of them have taken sides with their mother, and testified against their father in a way to make it appear that he has acted in a harsh and brutal manner toward his family. The evidence of one son and one daughter, however, does not go to this extreme, they evidently taking the middle ground in the controversy.

They All Want It.

A correspondent sends in the following additional contribution to the Sutter Fort literature of the day: "If any of your numerous readers imagine for a moment that Sacramento City is the only place anxious for the purchase of Sutter's Fort, let them take a trip to any of the upper counties from which I have just returned, and they will find out their mistake. Nearly every country town is discussing this one subject, and if the owners or agents of the property could but hear a few of the expressions used when referring to this holding off on the price, I am quite sure a great change of feeling would come over them, that is, if they have any, and, while Sacramento—our beautiful city—needs many reforms, such as better sewerage, streets, etc., I must confess that in my judgment not one of these will add more to the future prosperity of the city than the improvement of this old land-mark, as the subject has been so thoroughly discussed that every one in the State that reads has heard of it. Once fix it up, and many thousands will visit the city if only to see the now famous Sutter Fort."

Bell Memorial Fund.

The Sacramento Bell Fund and kindred societies on the coast have resolved to erect a memorial over the remains of the late pioneer editor, Phillip A. Bell, in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery, San Francisco, and have issued an appeal to the public for assistance in carrying out their worthy purpose. In their circular the committee say: "Mr. Bell's labors for our moral, social and political advancement are too well known to need repetition. The present season is peculiarly appropriate for this monument, when we are agitating for a just and proper recognition of our rights as Amercan citizens, and combining to show our strength at the ballot-box. This is the platform upon which our deceased champion so long and unselfishly labored."

The members of the Executive Committee of the memorial fund in this city is composed of Sarah M. Jones, President; Ella Dorsey, Treasurer; B. A. Johnson, Secretary, and Frank Butler.

Signal Service Notes.

The Signal Service reports at 5 A. M. last night in this city show unmistakable local signs of unsettled weather, because the barometer had been falling quite rapidly during the day, and read at 5 P. M. 30.10, as against 30.28 at 5 A. M. The weather was partly cloudy, with a mackerel sky predominating. The wind was light in velocity, and in direction it was generally moving from some northerly point, while the clouds were moving from a southerly direction.

The temperature at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. was 46° and 54°. The highest and lowest was 58° an 42°, as against 64° and 50° on the same date last year. The highest and lowest temperatures one year ago to-day were 64° and 41°. There was an appreciable rainfall during the 24 hours ending at 5 A. M. yesterday from Olympia to Eureka, and a snow-storm at Denver, Col.

Natural Gas.

Those interested in boring for natural gas are to meet at the Court-house on Friday evening at 7:30 to formulate plans and decide upon a location for the first well. Over two-thirds of the capital stock has already been subscribed and work will no doubt commence at an early day. Several competent well-borers are already on the look-out for the contract.

Transferred to This District.

On motion of most of the attorneys of Tulare county, the Supreme Court has ordered that all causes appealed from that county be placed on the Sacramento calendar, and that the county be transferred from the Los Angeles district to the Sacramento district.

Too Much Water.

High water in the American river has caused a suspension of work on the boom that is being constructed a short distance above the new Natoma dam. Nothing more will be done on the work for a few months.

Thanksgiving Day Hours.

The hours of Wells, Fargo & Co. will be the same to-morrow as on Sundays, as also will those of the postoffice, except that a full morning letter delivery will be made.

SENATOR STANFORD.

His Sacramento Friends Extend to Him a Hearty Greeting.

Senator and Mrs. Stanford passed through the city on the overland express at midnight last night, en route to Washington, where the Senator will resume his Congressional duties. Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, there was a large gathering of citizens at the depot to pay their respects to the Senator and his esteemed wife, who were for so many years residents of this city. The Hussar Band was stationed on the platform, and greeted the Senator with "Hail to the Chief."

When the train stopped Mayor Gregory, C. S. Houghton, Superintendent Wright and Prison Director Devlin entered the Senator's private car, the "Stanford," and after paying their respects to him escorted him to the rear platform, when a shower of rockets and three hearty cheers greeted the Senator's appearance.

Mr. Devlin, on behalf of the citizens, extended a greeting to Senator Stanford, stating that the people of Sacramento felt a pride in him as their representative in the highest legislative councils of the land, and as a former resident among them. They recognized in him the friend of California, and were pleased to see him enjoying such good health. They wished him a pleasant journey and many years of happiness.

Senator Stanford replied that it gave him great pleasure to meet his old friends in Sacramento and those who had grown up here since his residence in the city. He always felt grateful to Sacramento. It was his early home in California. His brothers had settled here, and he naturally established himself here also, where he always felt at home. Great changes had taken place in Sacramento since he had removed from here. New people had come and made their homes in this city, and he was glad to see it grow and flourish. He hoped that Sacramento would always evince a pride in making their city attractive to home-seekers. Sacramento always had good schools, and if the people would continue to beautify their grounds and improve their surroundings, this city would continue to be one of the most attractive in the State. He could see no reason why people who wanted pleasant homes should not select Sacramento as a desirable place in which to settle down and enjoy life. He did not feel, he said, like making extended remarks, but would say that he did like to come here and meet the hospitable citizens of Sacramento. "You don't know how thankful I am to you for this bit of kindness," concluded the Senator, "and now I will bid you good-by."

The band played "America," while the Senator remained on the platform for some fifteen minutes and shook hands with his former friends as they passed along. Grasping the hand of one with whom he was well acquainted, he asked:

"Well, how many babies have you?"

"Five, Senator," was the response.

Then Mr. Stanford drew his friend toward him and whispered something in his ear. A shade of sadness spread over his face as he did so, and it seemed as if he were giving utterance to the great sorrow that entered his life years ago when death called his only child.

After the Senator had re-entered his car, Major C. S. Houghton presented him with a basket of beautiful flowers, the gift of some Sacramento ladies to Mrs. Stanford—ladies who admired her for her many charming traits of character, who honored her for her boundless charities and benefactions, and loved her for herself. They had sent her this basket of flowers with a fervent God-speed on her journey and their best wishes for a long and happy life.

Senator Stanford is accompanied by Assistant President S. T. Gage and Engineer Clements, who will accompany him a portion of his journey.

FEDERATED TRADES.

Meeting of the Local Council—The Stevedores Have a Grievance.

The Sacramento Council of Federated Trades, recently organized, met at their headquarters in the Clunie building last evening. The delegates to the Council were as follows: From the Painters' Union—C. H. Rott, J. L. Pfeifer, P. Wermouth; Typographical Union—A. B. Sanborn, J. D. Laing, W. E. Oughton; Plumbers' Union—G. Dunbar, J. Campbell, G. B. Stack; Brewers' Union — Chris. Wahl, Chris. Eislight; Tailors' Union—J. Blandingar, H. Lutterkort; Carpenters' Union—J. D. Jost, W. B. Finley; Mechanics' and Laborers' Union — L. C. Fry; Bakers' Union—J. L. Reeber; Lumbermen's Union—A. Berg, A. N. Morales. A. B. Sanborn is President, J. D. Laing Secretary and J. D. Jost Treasurer.

At the meeting last evening all the officers were present and most of the delegates. J. Blandingar was elected a Trustee to fill a vacancy. President Sanborn announced the receipt of the Council's charter from the Council of Federated Trades of the Pacific Coast.

Delegate Lutterkort stated that the Tailors' Union's grievance against the tailoring establishments of Joe Poheim and C. McCallum still continued.

A special Arbitration Committee, consisting of delegates Laing, Berg, Pfiefer, Jost and Fry, was elected.

Messrs. Berg and Strader, of the Lumbermen's Union, said the Union had a grievance, which they explained as follows: The stevedores employed at the levee in landing the lumber from the barges of the California Transportation Company and San Joaquin Company now receive 75 cents per thousand. Work of late has been slack, and when a stevedore does work it is from 4 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, making from $2 to $2 25 per day. Now that the river is higher, and there is little lumber coming to market, the companies propose to pay but 50 cents per thousand feet, and the stevedores complain that at this rate they want to be paid by the hour. The grievance was referred to the Arbitration Committee to investigate.

The Council then adjourned.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Vokes company played to a fair audience last evening at the Metropolitan. The programme was less interesting than that of the night preceding, but the plays were not less brilliantly presented. The company left last night for the East.

The ladies of the Califia Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, will give a Thanksgiving Eve party at Turner Hall to-night. They have wittily adopted a name for the entertainment that at first was applied to their parlor in good natured raillery, and the party to-night is therefore to be known as the "Cauliflower Party." Elaborate preparations have been made for it, and handsome programmes provided, bearing the names of the managers, who are in every instance ladies of the order.

Cauliflower party by Califia Parlor, N. D. G. W., to-night at Turner Hall.

Wanted at Carson.

Chief of Police Lee last evening received from the Sheriff of Carson, Nev., the following dispatch: "Look out for James Meadows at the State House Hotel. Arrest for grand larceny and telegraph me. Will come with papers. I hold warrant."

Officer Ashe proceeded to the locality mentioned and found the party referred to and arrested him. The prisoner discreetly refuses to talk about himself, and nothing is known here regarding him or the offense for which he has been arrested.

Furniture Sale.

On Friday next, at 10:30 A. M. D. J. Simmons & Co. will sell at auction all the elegant furniture in the residence No. 700 P street, including a fine Chickering piano, bed-room, dining-room and kitchen furniture, etc.

NOT MUCH FRICTION.

The Republican City Committee Nominates Its School Ticket.

The Republican City Central Committee met at the Court-house last evening for the purpose of making nominations for Superintendent of Schools and one Director from each ward. R. J. Van Voorhies occupied the chair, and D. J. Long was Secretary.

The following Committeemen were present:

At large—R. J. Van Voorhies, C. A. Luhrs, D. J. Long; First Ward, A. J. Rhoads; Second Ward, J. W. Wilson; Precinct Three, Third Ward, John Barrett; Precinct Three and one-half, Third Ward, J. W. Gilbert; Precinct Four, Fourth Ward, E. C. Roeder; Precinct Four and one-half, Fourth Ward, R. W. Parker.

The Chairman stated the object of the meeting, after which the following preamble and resolution were adopted:

WHEREAS, our honored citizen and representative in the Senate of the United States, the Hon. Leland Stanford, will be in this city, en route for Washington, at 11:40 this evening; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this committee adjourn in time to meet the Hon. Leland Stanford at the depot and extend a greeting of the citizens of this city and wish him God speed on his journey; and that all citizens, irrespective of party, are cordially requested to join with us in paying this tribute to the gentleman as an earnest of our appreciation of his services to this city and the State.

D. J. Long offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this committee now proceed to nominate one candidate for the office of City Superintendent of Common Schools of the city of Sacramento, and also one candidate for the office of School Director from each of the four wards of the city of Sacramento.

Resolved, That it shall require a majority of the votes of this committee to make said nominations.

Mr. Gilbert then placed in nomination for School Superintendent Albert Hart. He said he had made a personal canvass of the city and talked with several hundred citizens, and was convinced that if the committee should see fit to nominate Mr. Hart there was no question but that he would be elected.

The nomination was seconded by D. J. Long.

There were no other candidates, and Mr. Hart was nominated by acclamation.

For Director from the First Ward, A. J. Rhoads nominated Thomas Harper.

C. A. Luhrs nominated W. H. Sherburn.

The roll was called, with the following result: Sherburn received 5 votes and Harper 3, and Sherburn was declared the nominee.

For Director from the Second Ward, D. J. Long named Alonzo Conklin, who was nominated without opposition.

For Director from the Third Ward, Mr. Gilbert named Richmond Davis, who was also unanimously nominated.

For Director from the Fourth Ward, Mr. Roeder nominated John Skelton, and R. W. Parker nominated O. W. Erlewine.

The vote was: Erlewine 5, Skelton 2.

Erlewine was declared the nominee.

On motion of Mr. Gilbert the committee then adjourned to meet again in executive session. A few minutes later the members filed out of the Court-room.

POLICE COURT.

A Rancher on a Toot—Hoodlumish Boys Complained Of—McDaniel's Cane.

William McCracken, a ranch hand, and evidently a man who has seen better days, judging from his address, created a disturbance on L street Monday night, and when told by officer McLaughlin to move on struck the latter on the head with a cane, which, fortunately, was not a heavy one. In answer to a charge of disturbing the peace McCracken told Judge Buckley in the Police Court yesterday that he was suffering from a sprained ankle, which caused him to come here for medical attendance. He said the officer's order to move on angered him. He pleaded he was under the influence of liquor at the time. Five dollars or five days in the City Prison was his sentence.

Every afternoon a large crowd of boys congregate in the alley between Second and Third, J and K streets. Complaint has been made to the police that the boys are continuously disturbing the neighborhood. They throw rocks at Chinamen and commit other acts of devilry, to the annoyance of passers-by. On Monday afternoon Ah Loy, the Chinese philosopher, was passing the alley, when a boy ran out with a rope and attempted to lasso him. He would have succeeded but for the interference of officer Cunningham. The boy, whose name is William Everly, was given a severe lecture by Judge Buckley, as numerous complaints had been made against him. He promised to behave in the future, and was allowed to go.

Ah Butch, who is in the Police Court about every month, had a charge of petit larceny against him on the complaint of one McDaniels. The latter claimed that Butch stole a cane from him worth 25 cents. It was clearly proven that Butch did not steal it, and that the cane in question McDaniels had sold to another party.

A charge of disturbing the peace against Mrs. Castro was set for hearing to-day.

Ah Ling, accused of battery by a fellow-countryman, had his case continued until next Friday.

Settled With the State.

The San Francisco and Northern Pacific Railway Company settled with the Controller yesterday in the sum of $17,175 02. Of this amount the State will retain $8,664, and the balance will be paid to the counties of Marin and Sonoma, through which the road runs.

Back to the Barracks.

Sergeant Murray arrived here yesterday to return with to-day the two deserters from the Presidio, Thomas Lewis and Edward Larkin, who surrendered themselves in this city last Saturday evening.

Should Be Fixed.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

IMPORTANT

And Worth Investigation.

WE ARE MAKING SUITS TO ORDER OF the fine Huddersfield Worsted for $25, which are worth $40. As the sales of these fine worsteds during the past three weeks have proved such an immense success in San Francisco, we have added a large line of Kerseys and Meltons for Overcoats, with fine silk serge lining all through, made to order from $30 to $35, which would cost elsewhere from $40 to $60. We have also received direct from the mill over forty pieces of fine Trouserings, which we bought at an immense reduction, and are now prepared to give our customers and the public of Sacramento the benefit. These are fine all-wool goods, at prices never before known in Sacramento. Please call and examine the goods, and be convinced of the bargains now offered for the Holidays by
