BALTIMORE, February 15, 1869.

Messrs. Lieutaud & Co.—Dear Sirs: The [illegible] for examination, and pronounced it a decided case of Intermittent Fever which had lasted some months, notwithstanding the patient had taken much other medicine. I have analyzed the contents and after discovering the ingredients, [illegible] applicable to the disease in question, I [illegible] gave a trial. I did so, and found the therapeutic effects particular in accordance with the character claimed for it by you, in no instance has it failed, frequently half a bottle being sufficient for the complete cure of cases of long standing, even those in which chronic enlargement of the Liver and Spleen had been supervened. I regard it as a valuable scientific discovery. I would recommend it to all sufferers of Chills and Fevers.

Sherwood House

AND

DINING ROOMS,

ON THE EUROPEAN PLAN,

Corner of Fayette and Harrison streets

(Opposite the Maryland Institute,)

Baltimore,

Md.

THE above well known House has recently been opened by C. P. Barnard, formerly of the American Hotel, Washington, D. C., and has capacity to accommodate over a hundred people with lodging; and has capacious and nicely furnished rooms for families. Connected with the House also is a ladies' dining room. The strictest order is maintained and accommodating servants always at call. The House is open at all hours. The advantages of a Hotel upon the plan of the Sherwood House is, that the guest can accommodate the price of his living to his own wishes, paying only for what he gets. The Sherwood House has recently been newly furnished and refitted, and, being in a central and business part of the city offers unusual inducements to travellers. A fair trial is asked, and patronage from St. Mary's county solicited.

THE AGE,

DAILY AND WEEKLY,

FOR 1870.

The only Democratic Morning Journal Published in the English in Philadelphia.

"An Honest and Able Chronicle of the Times."

The beginning of the New Year is a good time to subscribe for a newspaper, and to subscribe for The Age is a good beginning of the New Year. The success of any political party depends, in a great measure, upon the character and influence of its public press, and without the thorough promulgation of its doctrines in a popular form, it cannot hope to secure a permanent hold upon the masses. It is a fact that the Democratic party patronizes its newspapers in a less degree than Radicalism does, and while it is difficult to account in a satisfactory manner for this omission, it is nevertheless an admitted truth, and, as such, is much to be regretted. Anxious to furnish, not only to political friends, also to the general reader of all classes and political complexions, a first-class daily and weekly journal, the Publishers of The Age now offer one not excelled in point of excellence by any other newspaper in the country, and unhesitatingly challenge comparison with the best and most successful dailies published in the Union.

The Age—Daily and Weekly—will be, as heretofore, the firm and consistent advocate of Democratic principles—it will continue, as in days past, the bold and fearless defender of the Union, the Constitution, and the Right of the Sovereign People—and it will make unceasing and unyielding warfare upon all forms of Wrong, Abuse, and Venality, that show themselves among the people, or in the administration of the General, State, or Municipal Governments.

The Editorial Comments will equal those of any newspaper on either side of the Atlantic, and no labor nor expense will be spared in making this department a great and attractive feature in the current year.

The News Department—Foreign and Domestic—will be full, fresh and culled from every part of the world, all the resources of the "Associated Press" to two Continents being brought into requisition, besides which Special Agents, everywhere, will, from time to time, supply its readers with prompt information upon all matters of interest transpiring in the various sections of the country.

The Financial, Commercial, and Business Interests will receive proper and constant attention; the Stock Quotations will be carefully prepared and correctly printed; The Market Reports will be full and complete in all their details, and all the various branches of Trade and Commerce will be thoroughly explored to furnish reliable data for the business community, and all others therein interested.

The Home and Family Circle will not be forgotten. It will be essentially a home and family paper, as well as a political journal. In fact, every department, without exception, will be so managed and conducted as to give unlimited satisfaction, and present the appearance of a fire, active, wide-awake, and spotless journal, worthy of all men's patronage and all women's encouragement, and amply remunerating every one who takes it, reads it, or advertises in its columns.

The particular attention of the reading community, everywhere, male and female, old and young, politician or otherwise, is directed to the great improvements that have been made in The Weekly Age. It is now one of the cheapest and most attractive publications in the world. Each number is filled with carefully selected poetry, stories, news, editorial criticisms, and all kinds of choice reading for all classes of readers. No department has been neglected, and everything has been done to give our patrons a full equivalent for the money expended in subscription. Thus whereby The Weekly Age in its present improved and attractive condition, will not do without it in the future.

TERMS OF THE WEEKLY AGE:

One copy, one year,	$1 50
Ten copies,	12 50
Twenty copies,	22 00
Fifty copies,	55 00

The following deductions, from the above rates, will be made when all the papers ordered are sent to a single address, and not addressed severally to the members of the club:

Twenty copies,	$20 00
Fifty copies,	50 00

One copy will be furnished gratis for getting up a club of twenty or more, all addressed to one person, for one year.

A copy of "The Daily Age" will be furnished gratis, for getting up a club of fifty.

The Postage of "The Weekly Age" is five cents per quarter, or twenty cents per annum, if prepaid at the office of delivery.

The above terms will be rigidly adhered to, and no notice will be taken of a subscription until paid in advance.

Drafts on Philadelphia, or Post-Office orders, payable to the order of the Publishers, being safer, are preferable to any other mode of remittance. All who send money by express, must prepay express charges. Address,

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

$1,500 Cash. For 1870. $1,500 Cash.

A Valuable Premium for all.

"An Honest and Able Chronicle of the Times!"

The beginning of the New Year is a good time to subscribe for a newspaper, and to subscribe for The Age is a good beginning of the New Year. The success of any political party depends, in a great measure, upon the character and influence of its public press, and without the thorough promulgation of its doctrines in a popular form, it cannot hope to secure a permanent hold upon the masses. It is a fact that the Democratic party patronizes its newspapers in a less degree than Radicalism does, and while it is difficult to account in a satisfactory manner for this omission, it is nevertheless an admitted truth, and, as such, is much to be regretted. Anxious to furnish, not only to political friends, also to the general reader of all classes and political complexions, a first-class daily and weekly journal, the Publishers of The Age now offer one not excelled in point of excellence by any other newspaper in the country, and unhesitatingly challenge comparison with the best and most successful dailies published in the Union.

TO INVENTORS AND MECHANICS this journal is of special value, as it contains a weekly report of all Patents issued at Washington, with copious notices of the leading American and European Inventions. The Publishers of the Scientific American are the most Extensive Patent Solicitors in the world, and have unequaled facilities for gathering a complete knowledge of the progress of Invention and Discovery throughout the world: and with a view to mark the quarter of a century, during which this journal has held the first place in Scientific and Mechanical literature, the Publishers will issue on January first the large and splendid Steel Engraving by John Sartain of Philadelphia, entitled:

"MEN OF PROGRESS—AMERICAN INVENTORS."

the plate costing nearly $4,000 to engrave, and contains nineteen likenesses of Illustrious American Inventors. It is a superb work of art.

Single pictures, printed on heavy paper, will be sold at $10, but any one subscribing for the Scientific American the paper will be sent for one year, together with a copy of the engraving, on receipt of $10. The picture is also offered as a premium for clubs of subscribers.

$1,500 CASH PRIZES.

In addition to the above premium, the Publishers will pay $1,500 in Cash Prizes for lists of subscribers sent in by February 10, 1870. Persons who want to compete for these prizes, should send at once for prospectus and blanks for names.

Terms of Scientific American, one year, $3.00; six months $1.50; four months, $1.00. To clubs of 10 and upwards, terms $2.50 per annum. Specimen copies sent free. Address the Publishers,

MUNN & CO., Publishers,
37 Park Row, New York.

Hints to get Patents—A pamphlet of Patent Laws and instruction to Inventors sent free.

Dec. 9, 1869.

Standard Periodicals for 1870.

Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., New York.

Fully unabridged, in the order and in the language of the original.

1. The Edinburgh Review.

This is the oldest of the series. In its main features it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffrey, Sydney Smith, and Lord Holland, its original founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review, which commenced its fourth volume with the January number, was received at a late day, but has proved a fair rival to the leading periodicals of its class in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary and religious articles.

3. The Westminster Review, has just closed its 63rd volume. In point of interest and ability this review has risen to a level with its competitors. Its advocate of political and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review, now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Dealing freely with the topics of the day, and articles, it is cited to a large course of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, was commenced 52 years ago. Unrolling the Quarterlies in its 107th volume, with all the elegancies, it has won a wide reputation for the miscellaneous and sketches which enliven its pages.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight, and occasionally an elegant Colored Fashion Plate.

Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine calendered paper, and is published weekly.

Critical Notices of the Press.

Harper's Bazar contains, besides pictures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and housekeeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; and it has, besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal, with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. The young lady who buys a single number of Harper's Bazar is made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

The Bazar is excellent. Like all the publications of the Harpers, it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mothers and daughters in average families—cannot but profit by its good sense and good taste, which, we have no doubt, are to day making very many homes happier than they may have been before the women began to take lessons in personal and household and social management from this good-natured mentor.—The Nation.

It has the merit of being sensible, of conveying instruction, of giving excellent patterns in every department, and of being well stocked with good reading matter.—Watchman and Reflector.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

Harper's Magazine, apart from the illustrations, contains from fifty to one hundred per cent. more matter than any similar periodical issued in the English language.

Critical Notices of the Press.

The most popular Monthly in the world.—New York Evening Post.

We must repeat our terms of eulogy to the literary and artistic excellence of Harper's Magazine—a journal with a monthly circulation of about 120,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and energetic reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the culture of the American People; and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good woodcuts; and it combines in itself the gay monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the discrimination of a love of rare literature.—Tuckerman's Guide to American Literature, London.

It is one of the wonders of journalism—the marvelous success of Harper's. All the publications which the Harpers publish, it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mothers and daughters in average families—cannot but profit by its good sense and good taste, which, we have no doubt, are to-day making very many homes happier than they may have been before the women began to take lessons in personal and household and social management from this good-natured mentor.—The Nation.

We can account for its success only by the simple fact that it meets precisely the popular taste, furnishing a variety of pleasant and instructive reading for all.—Zion's Herald, Boston.
