DISAPPOINTED POLICEMEN.

The Selection of Mr. Gallagher as a Detective Not Liked.

There is another commotion in the Police Department over the selection by the Commissioners of John Gallagher of Pittsfield, Ill., as a member of the Metropolitan Detective Corp. Under the new appropriation allowance is made for the appointment of two extra men, but it was taken for granted that the selection would be made from the police force.

In the selection of Mr. Gallagher the Commissioners have ignored the Army and Navy clause and also the rule requiring that those appointed on the force shall have been residents of the District of Columbia for two years preceeding their appointment.

The Commissioners selected Mr. Gallagher on account of his experience and qualifications as an officer. He comes highly recommended from Illinois. A good many of the police officers who have set their caps for promotion and the $20 extra salary per month attached to it, are very much disappointed.

"Fabio Romani" at Harris'.

"Fabio Romani," the dramatized form of the famous novel, the "Vendetta," was the attraction at Harris' Bijou Theatre last evening. The plot and play are distinctly Italian, and contain all the melodramatic features of "Monte Cristo" combined with the gloomy and tragic elements that characterize the romantic tale from which it is taken.

The dual part of Fabio Romani and Conte Olivo was sustained with great force and dramatic fervor by Walter Lawrence and won the admiration of an appreciative audience. Mr. Lawrence is an actor of powerful physique, and his rendition of the part is one of careful study and artistic merit. The role of Guido Ferrari, the false friend, was well personated by J. S. Palmer, who makes a handsome and interesting lover. The ragpicker of F. Bernard and the Pietro of George C. Denton were very acceptably rendered.

Miss Frances Field as Nina, the faithless wife, gave one of the most dramatic personations that have been seen here for some time. The famous mad scene in the last act was a wonderful exhibition of emotional power. The audience expressed their hearty appreciation of Miss Fields' ability by unstinted applause, and during the course of the evening she was the recipient of a handsome basket of roses. The remainder of the cast is excellent, and supported the stars in a manner that made a very favorable impression. The spectacular effects introduced are a startling feature of the play. The final scene is a magnificent attempt at stage realism, and includes a thrilling earthquake effect simultaneous with an eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which terminates the play with a tragic climax.

Convicted by His Wife's Testimony.

Officer Passan had William H. Turner in the Police Court this morning charged with profanity and committing an assault upon him. The officer attempted to arrest Turner last night when the latter struck and scratched him. Turner told the Judge that he was a member of the Baptist Church; that he had not taken a drink of liquor or uttered an oath for twenty years. Later he let it slip out that he had been in court for being engaged in difficulties in "Hell's Bottom" and "The Camp." Turner's wife tried to make a statement in his behalf, but on the contrary convicted him, and the fine imposed was $5 on each charge.

Judge Miller as a Prophet.

John Mulloney, an old offender, was before Judge Miller to-day charged by Officer Celner with vagrancy. He acknowledged he was drunk, but said that he had only been in town for two or three days and had been working for a priest in Faltimore for the past two or three months. Judge Miller took Mulloney's personal bond, but told him he would be back in court again before Saturday night.

Provided With Winter Quarters.

The workhouse is beginning to fill up pretty rapidly, as it always does when the cold weather sets in. Judge Miller to-day committed Edward Harrigan, Louis Lawler, Edward O'Rourk, William Mitchell, Felix Johnson, Maud McAnnon, Joe Brown, and Mary E. Simms for sixty days each. The majority of them have been down before.

BUCKEYE REPUBLICANS

To Ascertain Whether Clerks Are Wrongfully Accredited.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ohio Republican Association was held at the G. A. R. Hall last night. Colonel Dan A. Grosvenor presided, and over 100 members were present. It was decided to hold the annual reception at the National Rifles' Armory in January, and a committee was appointed to make arrangements.

A resolution was introduced by Major E. G. Rathbone, Chief Inspector of the Postoffice Department, providing for the investigation of the alleged statement that many persons holding Government positions are wrongfully charged to the State of Ohio who never had a residence in the State and should not be so charged.

The resolution created considerable discussion, during which speeches were made by Major Rathbone and ex-Governor Hart. The resolution was unanimously adopted, and Messrs. Grosvenor, Rathbone and McKinley appointed a committee to investigate.

Committees were also appointed to confer with the Republicans of the Northwestern States with a view of uniting into a general association, and to consider the advisability of the Ohio Association becoming an auxiliary to the State Republican League of Ohio.

Christmas and Charity.

The coming of Christmas is now heralded by the store windows of every business street, and preparations for the holiday season are beginning in myriads of homes. The Christmas committees that have heretofore, for many seasons past, provided children's dinners during Christmas week in the various sections of the city are now at work. The central dinner has heretofore been spread at the National Rifles' Armory, and Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Harrison and other representatives of the White House families have been present at this dinner. The last Washington dinner is arranged to take place at Odd Fellows' Hall, Navy Yard, on Saturday, the 27th of December, at 1 o'clock. There will also be a children's dinner in Georgetown at one of the school buildings, and the colored pupils will also collect in their schools to furnish a dinner for destitute colored children during Christmastide.

The managers of the Department of Potomac of the Grand Army of the Republic are arranging that no family of a veteran in this city shall be without Christmas cheer at Christmas. A committee is now at work making collections for the aid of the destitute families of soldiers, and they meet with excellent success. In this case the provisions are to be sent to the homes that Christmas may be a home festivity. The experience of the Central Union Mission Thanksgiving Day was that this method of supply is far more effective of doing good than a public dinner, even when graced by the representatives of the most exalted official life, and it has been suggested that this experience should be taken into account in the management of the general charities of the Christmas to come.

Grand Army Officers Elected.

The members of James A. Garfield Post, No. 7, G. A. R., have elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Commander, Howard L. Prince; senior vice-commander, H. C. Hamilton; quartermaster, J. H. Jochum; surgeon, A. C. Adams; chaplain, J. H. Bradford; outside doorkeeper, Israel Swayze; outside guard, J. Enright; delegates to department encampment, Thomas Calver, A. C. Adams, Max Beck, George Hickenlooper, H. G. Hamilter, D. W. Houghton, L. J. Melchoir, Robert McKenney, D. M. Goodacre, H. F. Rugg; alternates, John Weidemann, J. Padgett, E. W. Davis, Israel Swayze, J. S. Kernan, J. Enright, F. W. Crosby, Theodore Joseph, August Willize, J. P. Cahill.

Harrison and Morton League.

The Harrison and Morton League held a well-attended meeting at the office of the Bee last evening. Twenty active members were admitted and the following honorary members elected: Hons. H. P. Cheatham, Thomas H. Miller, John M. Langston, Captain O. S. B. Wall, Andrew Gleason, Jerome A. Johnson, W. H. Booker and H. C. Bruce. Messrs. Chase, West and Jones were appointed a committee to secure a proper hall for meetings. The league has decided to hold mass-meetings during the holidays, and the next meeting will be held in the hall selected by the committee.

Raided a Gambling House.

Detective Block, Sergeant Dunnigan and Officers Jones, Hodges, Bassford and Lyda of the Second Precinct raided the alleged gambling house of Richard E. Stovall last night about 10:30 o'clock. Games were found in progress and Louis Carter, Osborne Sydney, C. W. Mason, William T. Smith and Frank Morton were secured as United States witnesses. Stovall furnished collateral for appearance, as did also the witnesses. As there are set cases to be disposed of in the Police Court a continuance was asked for and granted.

Indoor Athletic Exhibition.

A large crowd gathered in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. building last night to witness the athletic exhibition given by the members under the direction of Professor Sims. There were dumb-bell exercises by classes of men and boys, pole vaulting, vaulting horse, and tumbling. Harry Ward gave an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding and F. S. Doyle and Walter Lovelace showed their skill as fancy club swingers. J. H. Rose made the highest leap, 8 feet 4 inches. The exhibition closed with exercises on the horizontal bar.

A Child Badly Burned.

Ollie Quinton, a 6-year-old white girl living at No. 1537 Fifth street northwest, was very painfully burned about the face and body yesterday afternoon. While her mother was absent from the room she began playing with the fire, and her clothes became ignited. Her cries brought Mrs. Quinton to the rescue. By enveloping the child in a blanket she succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until the body was covered with burns. The family physician thinks the child will recover, although the injuries are very serious.

FIGHTING FOR A CHARTER.

The Washington and Western Railroad Plans Antagonized.

The Washington and Western, a Virginia railroad corporation backed by the Norfolk and Western, have had a bill introduced in Congress in which they ask that the road may enter the city by way of Water street. This proposition is opposed by the Georgetown Barge, Dock, Elevator and Railroad Company, as to which shall control the Water-street route in Georgetown. The Barge Company has a track of about a mile in length along the line, but has no connection at either end and has run no trains.

The Washington and Western Railroad bill was referred to the Commissioners, who heard yesterday afternoon a number of gentlemen relative to both the Railroad and Barge Company.

Remarks were made by Mr. F. P. B. Sands, counsel for the Washington and Western; Mr. Nathaniel Wilson, counsel for the Barge Company; Messrs. William Wheatley and G. G. Botcler, representing a number of Georgetown citizens, and Mr. John A. Batter, president of the Barge Company.

"No one big railroad ought to be allowed to monopolize the thoroughfare," argued Messrs. Wilson and Butler, but Mr. Sands said that a little line of track which has never felt the weight of care should not be allowed to keep great railroads from entering the city.

Ex-Commissioner Wheatley said we would like to have many railroads, but should first have one. He presented a petition signed by a number of Georgetown business men favoring the granting of a charter to the Washington and Western Railroad Company.

Mr. Wilson said that the barge company was not opposed to railroads coming into the city. It wanted them, but it did object to giving a monopoly to any one road.

The Commissioners reserved their decision.

Vaudeville at Kernan's.

The Henry Burlesque Company opened a week's engagement at Kernan's Theatre last night in the presence of a large and appreciative audience. The organization is an unusually strong one and includes a number of vaudeville artists of recognized ability. "The Art Reception," a spectacular divertisement in which the entire company appears in dazzling costumes, was first introduced. In this part a number of musical selections and specialties were rendered. Will West made a hit as a character and descriptive vocalist, and McIntyre and Heath in their laughable musical absurdity entitled "Get Your Gun" were frequently applauded. Texarkanas charmed the audience with her dancing and she was the recipient of repeated recalls. The audience was somewhat dissappointed in not having Herbert Crowly appear as the male prima donna, as the trunk containing his extensive wardrobe was accidentally left at Patterson, N. J. In the concluding travesty on the programme he rendered a solo and duet that pleased the audience highly. Charles McDonald, the Irish comedian, was loudly applauded and Eldora, assisted by Mille Norine, mystified the house with his wonderful specialties. The performance closed with a burlesque on Gilbert and Sullivan's "Gondoliers" entitled "Gen-do-Liars, or the King of Cati-cu-lla."
