FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1881.

The receipt in port of sugar from the plantations since January 1st has been unprecedented. It may be set down at fully 23,000 tons; or nearly two-thirds of the season's crop. In looking for an explanation of such an extraordinary amount of our staple being marketed so early in the year, we find it in the fact of our recent very large labor supply. During the last six months 5,876 immigrants have entered the port of Honolulu; and we may fairly set down 4,000 who have gone under contracts on to the plantations. This timely recruit of working force has enabled the planters to push forward rapidly the marketing of their crops. And they derive an additional advantage in getting their land clear, at an early day, of the standing cane, in making an early preparation for a succeeding ratoon crop. In some seasons, planters being short-handed, have to work off their crops in dribblets, over a lengthened period; and consequently the opportunity for a ratoon crop is greatly retarded and impaired. Hence the early marketing of our staple in 1881 will contribute largely to the extent of the general crop in 1882. We have no reason to expect that this large receipt of sugar will continue much longer. The crop of Kauai is nearly all forwarded; that of Maui is well in hand; and there are no further very heavy shipments to be expected from Hawaii; but from all information, the estimate made by Mr. Spreckels, and other well-informed gentlemen, will be maintained; and the crop of 1880 will be fully 40,000 short tons, or 80,000,000 lbs.

The only import during the past week has been a cargo of coal from Newcastle, N S W. The exports on the other hand, have been large the total value of six outward cargoes amounting to $407,892.82.

Our exports of domestic produce during the months April and May reached the unprecedented total of $1,610,156,67. The sugar, included in the above, amounted to 23,883,637 lbs or nearly 12,000 short tons.

SATURDAY..... JUNE 4, 1881.

COURT NEWS.

Her Royal Highness the Princes Regent held the usual monthly reception on Thursday, the 2nd instant, at Washington Place.

Our neighbor Gazette following our lead as usual, says; "we would propose that a vigorous effort should be made to vaccinate and revaccinate the town". And then repeats our suggestion about districting the town and inviting volunteers. "We are certainly having a weary time"; as he says; when a quasi official organ; at any rate, one, who has the confidence and support of the President of the Board of Health, now, after four months bungling with the epidemic comes forward, and says we must like Mrs. Dombey, "make an effort". Well, let it be made; and for the sake of a suffering People, let it be "vigorous".

We commend the vigilance of the Editor of the Gazette in respect to public welfare and safety. He urges that "an inquest should be held upon every one of the deaths marked 'unknown'" in the mortuary report. In that case our Marshal would have his hands full performing coroner's duty alone; and police affairs would have to slide altogether. There are frequently a score or more of deaths marked in the mortuary report "cause unknown." Not only unknown to the agent of the Board of Health, but unknown even to the doctors. We shall never forget an instance of medical fallibility that came under our observation on Maui. A lady patient was said by one physician to have a tumor; by another, an aneurism; and a third one proved that the trouble was a baby;—so that in view of both human and medical liability to err, the causes of many deceases will continue to be reported as unknown; except that the defunct passed away for want of breath. No doubt there should be a vigilant observation, by authority, of every cause of death; and in order to fully carry out such observation, it is necessary that the duty of Coroner should be a distinct function, and we recommend our cotemporary, in the event of the creation of the office. aa the proper incumbent.

We said that there would be an inquest held over the graves on the sand reef of Kahakaaulana, before the high tribunal of public opinion, and in our columns today Kamaaina opens the case, charging our Health Authorities with constructive manslaughter. Men are now to be punished for sins of omission, as well as commission. Our worthy police Justice declares, in a recent investigation, based upon an inquest, that "the omission to do what a man of intelligence might be expected to do, becomes a criminal neglect." An overt act is no longer needed to fix criminality. Now, through the semi-official columns of a contemporary, we hear suggestion of "vigorous effort" to be now made to stop the further spread of the epidemic of smallpox from which we are suffering. Vigorous efforts now! Four months ago, through carelessness and favoritism this fell disease was let in among us. Four months ago the whole community was in a state of alarm and dismay, and relied on the authorities for "vigorous efforts" to stamp out this pestilence. The proposal to make them now, is an abject confession of past ineptitude and inertness; of "the omission to do what a man of intelligence might be expected to do." And we cannot but feel that the large number of deaths which have been occasioned by these sins of omission call for a strict investigation. Neither can we avoid the conviction that such an enquiry ought, in the ordinary course of justice, to lead to an arraignment of those found to be responsible before the same bar as that where stood on Wednesday last Father Larkin and the architect of his school.

A DIME SAVINGS BANK, or any institution for the saving of very small sums would be of great value to Hawaiians. They have been advised and instructed in the native newspaper, the Elele Poakolu, on the subject of cooperation, and in connection with this, the subject of small savings is now under discussion. We are aware that Messrs. Bishop & Co. offer some facilities for the deposit of savings, but the Bank would hardly give attention to the very small deposits that natives could, and might be induced to make. We remember the influence of the late Mr. Moffett Stoney in inducing the natives of Kahuku to deposit some of their savings; and natives elsewhere have been induced to deposit savings, which evidently resulted in great advantage to the depositors.

We feel assured that if there was an institution, entirely trustworthy, that was organized and prepared to receive the most trifling deposit of money, that all the poor of this country, especially the natives, would be glad to have an opportunity provided to take care of small economies. Frequent accounts of the large accumulations arising from many small economies after lapses of time, would awaken and interest the native mind. They greatly need to be educated in respect to economy, and provident provision for the future. The growth of a dime at interest, during the growth of a child, would interest and stimulate them. Hawaiians want to secure for their offspring education and a future provision. Let them have a convenient opportunity, be invited to deposit, and be assured that the smallest sum, even one dime, will receive attention, and many a poor mother, as well as hard-working man, will be glad to put away in a safe place, some few dimes from time to time, for some beloved object; or for their own future comfort.

THE Rev. W. J. Larkin's exceptional position before the community, calls for an impartial presentation of evidence, that has come to our hands, to assist the public in forming a correct opinion in regard to it.

In our issue of May 7th we published by request of Father Larkin, a letter he addressed to us, along with a correspondence between himself and Bishop Maigret. The comunication signed by the Bishop, after being placed in our hands, was somewhat modified, and some additions were made with the consent of the Bishop. We give below the exact text of the document, when first placed in our hands:

"I am very much pained to hear that certain calumnies have been circulated regarding the character of the Rev. Father Larkin, who is zealously laboring in this mission. He has come here with dimissorial letters and recommendations of the highest character from his late Bishop, and I have no fear but he will deserve the same at my hands if it should happen that I would be deprived of his valuable and zealous services.

† LOUIS MAIGRET,
Bishop of Arathia,
Vicar Apostolic.

Subsequently Father Larkin informed us that he was authorized by the Bishop, to modify the form of this certificate of character; so that it should appear as an answer to a communication; and he gave us a copy of his letter to the Bishop; and made alterations in the certificate of character, so that it reads as follows; as published in our 7th May issue.

HONOLULU, May 4, 1881.

To the Rev. W. J. Larkin, President St. Louis College:

REV. AND DEAR SIR:—In reply to your letter just received, in which you complain of injurious reports; I will say in reply: I am very much pained to hear that certain calumnies have been circulated regarding your character. You have proven yourself a zealous laborer in this mission, always acting in accordance with my instructions. You came here with dimissorial letters and recommendations of the highest character, from your late Bishop; and I feel well assured that you will deserve the same at my hands, if it should happen that I would be deprived of your valuable and zealous services, at any future time.

† LOUIS MAIGRET,
Bishop of Arathia,
Vicar Apostolic.

After a certain discussion had arisen in regard to the authenticity of a letter, or any other document from the hand of Bishop Maigret in respect to the character of Father Larkin; and which authenticity was denied by a public print; the editor of this journal called at the Catholic mission, and waited upon Monseigneur Maigret, who was in company with the Rev Father Marfial, a member of the mission.

Upon presentation of the certificate of character of Father Larkin, the Bishop looked at and recognized his signature. He remarked at the time, that he did not write the letter, or document; and was not in the habit of writing any. The editor then read slowly the certificate, pausing and commenting upon each phrase; and subsequently repeated its substance in the French language; (although the English language is well understood by Monseigneur and his associate on this occasion:) and then enquired of the Bishop, if he had authorized any such statement, and the subsequent modification of the document signed by him; to which the Bishop replied distinctly and emphatically, that he had authorized Father Larkin to say all this, and much more. He commented upon the unusually warm and commendatary letters which the reverend Father had brought with him from Archbishop Alemany of California, and members of his clergy.

During this interview, the venerable and highly revered prelate exhibited a clear appreciation of all matters involved in the discussion, and expressed a warm and firm determination to defend the good name of a priest, whom he esteemed a faithful worker in his mission.

Therefore we read with a feeling of more than surprise, in the Gazette of the 1st instant that the editor of that journal has in his hands, "indisputable evidence," that such certificate of character of Father Larkin, as we have published "was never written or signed" by the Bishop. This editor has farthermore on the "best (his italics) authority" an alleged statement of Bishop Moran, Father Larkin's late diocesan; said statement purporting to be a report of conversation with Bishop Moran of Dunedin, during a few hours stay of that prelate in town, in route per City of Sydney to San Francisco; and the party or parties, who make the report, are "ready to appear in Court and swear."

If such parties were ready to show their names in print at this time, it would assist the public to obtain—what it is our aim to get—correct information. We could then get below the surface and understand the animus of parties, and their real objective point. It is a wicked thing as our cotemporary says, "to sow distrust between a worthy priesthood;" and if any one has done so; either to gain or to maintain an influence, that does not belong to his holy office, he will deserve the severest reprehension.

We shall await our cotemporary's fuller statement of information, with names of parties. We desire information for the sake of right and justice. We seek not to defend, or attack any one in this matter; and we cannot appreciate the action of our cotemporary, who publishes a charge of forgery, and a general defamation of character without the presentation of a particle of evidence except a garbled report, of one who was evidently seeking an evil report; on the very day, that the party affected was to stand before a tribunal with character and liberty in jeopardy. We cannot appreciate such action, we repeat; as that either of a journalist or a gentleman.

DECORATION DAY, or the day for the commemoration of the dead of the great American war of the Union, on both sides, has become recognized with popular demonstration and interest in every section of the great country, North and South; and the 30th of May has been set apart for this observance. We noticed that Consul McKinley very appropriately kept his flag at half-mast on Monday last, in recognition of the day in Honolulu. As it is stated on official authority that 200 native Hawaiians took part in the great war—which is about as large a proportion of men to the population of the country, as many loyal States furnished for the prosecution of the war—it is perfectly appropriate and consistent that Hawaiians should be pleased with the recognition of the American Decoration Day in this island Kingdom.

We have seen a series of letters addressed to Father Larkin, from the Bishops of Brisbane, Wellington, Dunedin and San Francisco, and other parties; covering a period of over fifteen years, in which he receives the highest testimonials as a priest; and is mentioned in Bishop Moran's letter, as of "irreproachable character."

THOUGH this Kingdom be the smallest of the family of independent states; yet, owing to its superior civil order, its Christian character, and geographic position, it obtains a national recognition and a diplomatic consideration, much beyond what is accorded to some larger states. And we feel assured that it is the wish of great Powers, that so long as a Hawaiian people shall strive to maintain their national independence, these Powers will not fail to protect this weak state in the untrammelled enjoyment of the political organization best adapted to the genius of the chief constituents of our nationality. And it was with a view to give expression to the sentiment and firm conviction of the nation on this point, that the following resolution was submitted to the Hawaiian Legislature of 1880.

WHEREAS the opening of a shipway across the Isthmus of Darien, and the connection of this Archipelago by cable with the Old and New Worlds will concentrate attention upon the strategic importance of these Islands, and make their possession an important question to contesting Powers in the Pacific Ocean; and

WHEREAS, a patriotic spirit should seek to guard the independence of the state against possible contingencies; therefore,

Resolved, that it is the sense of this Assembly that the Government should, through its diplomatic action, invite all the Great Powers of the World, and especially the Great Republic of America, to unite in a joint guarantee of the perpetual neutrality of the Hawaiian Kingdom.

In a full house; and by a joint assembly of the Nobles of the Hawaiian Kingdom; and of the Representatives of the Hawaiian People, this resolution was unanimously adopted. And thus the Hawaiian chiefs and Delegates, foreign as well as native all united heartily, without one word of dissent or debate, in declaring to the world, that they desired, as their chief political purpose to maintain the independence of the Hawaiian Kingdom for ever.

Thursday, the 23rd day of June,

AT 12 O'CLOCK NOON,

THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE PROPERTY:

COMPRISING

Leaseholds, Freeholds, Buildings, &c, &c, &c.

This property immediately adjoins the Hawaii Sugar Plantation of Robert R. Hind, Esq., merely a line of fence dividing the two properties.

Freehold, contains, as per survey, 293 acres, on which is erected the following buildings: One dwelling house containing 6 rooms; 1 house containing 4 rooms, tongue and groove boards, iron roof; two new buildings, each containing 4 rooms, corrugated iron roofing. The whole of these buildings are abundantly supplied with water from a cemented cistern measuring 20x12x110 Stock proof cattle and horse pens; also, about 1,400 acres of leased land, leased at a rental below a dollar an acre. On this land there is a well of water, fitted with pumps, capable of watering 1,000 head of stock per day.

The Whole of this Property

Is enclosed with a fence of four wires and redwood posts, and is divided by the Government Road, making three large enclosures, with an aggregate of say nine miles of fencing as aforesaid.

Property at Puehuehu.

Lot 2.—The property known as the "Kohala Hotel." This is a two-storied building, 50x47, containing on the ground floor 6 large rooms, the upper story consisting of a spacious and well lighted hall, recently fitted with stage, sets of scenery, drop curtains, &c, &c. This building was erected during the latter part of 1880.
