CHAFEE'S AUTOMATIC ROTATING HARROW. Patented May 26th, 1858. The attention of manufacturers of agricultural implements, and the raisers of small grain, is invited to a recent and most valuable improvement in the construction of the Harrow, invented by M. M. Chafee, of Grayville, Illinois. In this new implement the teeth are inserted in two self revolving horizontal wheels, by which the furrow of the teeth are made to cross the line of the direction of the harrow, and as the teeth go round the circuit of the wheel every time the harrow moves forward the length of the diameter of the wheel, each tooth has just three times the effect of a tooth in a straight harrow, consequently it does its work far better, and more of it. Once passing over the ground with this harrow, leaves it better harrowed than by two passages with the ordinary harrow. It is much lighter draft upon the team, and what must be a great consideration with every practical farmer, in passing over corn or stubble ground, it keeps itself entirely free of stalks, as by its action it scatters them on each side of it.

The Inventor proposes to sell the right to manufacture these Harrows, for any given Territory, either Counties or States, at moderate prices. He will also sell single Harrows, and on the receipt of $15 he will ship a good six foot Harrow to any part of the country, the purchaser paying freight. Address, M. M. CHAFEE,

READ THIS ALL WHO ARE AFFLICTED, DR. GRAVES' FAMILY MEDICINES.
We do not desire to interfere with the professional ethics of our medical schools, nor do we possess any skill in pharmaceutics, but Dr. Graves has opened to our inspection a mass of letters from his agents and most respectable druggists in all parts of the country, which commend his family medicines in the highest terms. They meet with a very extended sale, which of itself is an excellent recommendation. We always feel reluctant to make any endorsement of medicines, but there are so many localities where no regular practitioners are within reach, and so many diseases which require prompt remedies, that a supply of the prescriptions prepared by Dr. Graves, commended as they are for efficiency, would prove almost invaluable. In all cases of sickness, our first advice is to call the aid of a physician, but, if that is impracticable, it seems to us that Dr. Graves offers remedial agents in ague, cholera morbus, &c., which may be safely used, as he gives assurance that no deleterious compounds are used in their preparation.—Louisville Journal.

Dr. Graves' anti-Fever and Ague, anti-Bilious, Purifying, and Cathartic Pills are invaluable to those afflicted with any of these complaints. His American Liniment is gaining a high reputation for healing all kinds of ailments, both of man and beast; and parents should remember that his "Golden Vermifuge," is a certain remedy for expelling worms from the system.
For sale by Wholesale Druggists generally.
