INDIANA STATE SENTINEL.

SHOOTING SINGING BIRDS.—A contemporary thus comments upon the cockney sportsmen, who, with gun in hand, travel round the country shooting every little bird, in the hedges, whose songs, instead of moving their admiration, only arouse their destructive propensities:

"No man with a soul so large as a flea's gizzard, could possibly be so mean, so cruel, so cowardly, as to go round, popping at little birds in the briars and brambles, wing-breaking sparrows and maiming chickadees; and yet there are things in human shape just base enough to do it."

CLAIMING THE LAW'S ALLOWANCE.—"Mr. Brown, said a constable to this ubiquitous personage the other day. "how many cows do you own?"

"Why do you ask?"

"Because I wish to levy on them," was the prompt rejoinder.

"Well, let me see," said Mr. B., abstractedly; "how many cows does the law allow me?"

"Two," said Mr. B., with good-natured astonishment—well, if the law allows me two, I wish it would make haste, and send the other along, as I haven't but one!"

WATER SPOUTS.—The Rev. Isaac Anderson, in a letter published in the Murfreesborough Telegraph, Tenn., states that on the evening of the 27th July last, not less than one hundred water spouts descended from the clouds upon Chilowee mountain, and that the water from each spout fell with such momentum as to force its way into the earth ten or twelve feet, and tear out a large channel in its way down the mountain, carrying with it rocks, trees and roots, and depositing them at the base of the mountain.

A PICTURE.—A writer in the Louisville Times, describes J. Q. Adams, after this fashion: "Mr. Adams presents to the mind, on a first salutation, the image of a village pump in dead winter; cold, stiff, and icy; an ice house surmounted with a burning spirit lamp. He is as dangerous to be handled as an electric eel, and to touch as a galvanic battery charged with forked lightning. His habits and affections are those of recluse. His intimacies are as few and far between as angal's visits. His friendships "are past finding out"—and a sheriff's officer would be likely to endorse a writ of search non est inventus.

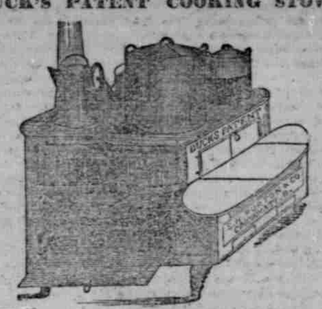
BUCK'S PATENT COOKING STOVE.



WE have on hand and offer for sale the above celebrated cooking stoves. The many persons using this stove, in this and other cities, declare themselves delighted with its operation, and bear testimony of its superiority over any other cooking stove ever offered to the public. In addition to its unsurpassed facilities for boiling, roasting, broiling, &c. it has the advantage of having an oven nearly twice as large as any other stove in use, which is heated with the most perfect uniformity, by which bread without being turned will bake on all sides as perfectly as can be done in a brick oven. It requires, also, much less fuel than is generally used in other cooking stoves, one half the ordinary quantity being amply sufficient for all purposes.

For the operation of the stove we respectfully refer to the following persons who have it in use: C. W. Cady, Morris Morris, Rev. Saml. L. Johnson, Alfred Harrison, Robt. Taylor, Chas. Woodward, Abram Harrison, A. W. Morris, J. J. Bugh, Hiram Gaston, James Hall, C. C. Nave.

In addition to Buck's Patent Cooking Stove, the subscribers have on hand Premium Cooking Stoves, Elevated Oven Cooking Stoves, Parlor Stoves, Seven and Ten plate Stoves, which they offer at the lowest prices. C. & J. COX.
