CENTRAL TEXAS.

(Supplemental Report.)

Austin Presbyterian Sanitarium: The matter of taking charge of this institution has been under advisement by the Presbytery for over a year. The following action was taken at the late meeting in Lott:

1. That the Presbytery take charge of the institution.

2. That a commission be appointed to provide articles of incorporation; securing a charter; drafting by-laws, and arranging for its operation; provided it is found that this action can be legally taken without any financial obligation to the Presbytery.

3. That the articles of incorporation, charter, by-laws and all other acts of this commission shall not go into effect until submitted to the next regular meeting of the Presbytery and receive its approval.

A committee was appointed to nominate said commissioners; who, if approved at the spring meeting of Presbytery, shall constitute the Board of Trustees of the Sanitarium.

The following were thus appointed: Rev. W. R. Minter, Rev. R. W. Jopling, Mr. H. A. Wroe, Cooper Samson, Esq., Rev. R. E. Vinson, Rev. C. T. Caldwell.

These are to consider the legality of the foregoing action, and report to the Presbytery next April.

Sabbath and Family Religion: The following was adopted:

1. That all our ministers preach on the Sabbath and Family Religion at some time, either in October or November.

2. That the sessions of our churches be instructed to institute a canvass of the home of the people with a view to the establishment of family worship in each home, and that a report of the results be communicated to the Presbyterial chairman by the 1st of April, 1917.

AUGUSTA.

Augusta Presbytery met in Sparta, Ga., October 10, 1916, and, in the absence of the Moderator, was opened by the last Moderator present, Rev. M. M. MacFerrin, with a sermon from Luke 4:16, "As His Custom Was."

Organization: Mr. Irvin Alexander, ruling elder of the First church, Augusta, was elected Moderator, and Rev. J. A. Simpson temporary clerk. During session of Presbytery there were present twelve ministers and nine ruling elders.

Presbyterial Home Missions Committee reported all the work under their direction in satisfactory condition, many meetings held during the past summer in the churches of Presbytery, and quite a number added to our membership on profession of faith. The work of Synod's evangelist, Rev. M. McG. Shields, within our bounds has been abundantly blessed; and the labors of our superintendent and evangelist, Rev. J. D. McPhail, who has had the personal care of vacant fields till supplied, and who has held a number of meetings, have also been richly rewarded by renewed interest and growth.

Foreign Missions: A popular meeting in the interests of this important cause was held Wednesday evening, and was full of profit to all present. Addresses were made as follows: "Our Responsibility as a Church to the Foreign Field," Rev. J. D. McPhail; "Methods of Meeting Our Responsibility," Rev. D. W. Brannen, D. D.; "Is Our Church Fulfilling Our Responsibility?" Rev. S. L. McCarty, chairman.

Assembly Home Missions' work was fully endorsed by this Presbytery. The churches were urged to observe "Home Mission Week," November 19th-26th, and to allot to this important cause its full share of aid financially as asked by Presbytery in its table of percentages for beneficence.

Systematic Beneficence Committee was authorized to call a conference on Christian Stewardship to convene at some church centrally located and between January 1st and February 15, 1917.

Rev. W. M. Hunter, of the Presbytery of Abingdon, was invited to sit as a corresponding member, and as agent for Nacoochee Institute he addressed the Presbytery on the work being done by that school of the mountains. Presbytery heard his address with pleasure and recommended him and his worthy cause to our churches.

Pleasant weather, cordial hospitality of the people, and a genial pastor as host, made this one of the most delightful meetings of Presbytery. Next stated meeting to be held at Lexington, Ga., Tuesday, April 10, 1917, 7:30 P. M.

Adjourned to meet at call of Moderator at Synod in Dalton, Ga., November 14, 1916.

serve to emphasize the wisdom of naming the Virginia Trust Company as executor of an estate.

Recently a man died owning valuable real estate, which was mortgaged. He named us executor.

The note fell due. The estate had no money in hand to meet it.

Rather than sell the property in a demoralized market, this Company advanced money to take up the note, and will hold the real estate for a favorable market.

Being executor and trustee is our business.
