AMONG THE SIAMESE.

General Halderman, the American Minister to Siam, who has just returned from that far off country on leave of absence, brings with him the best of records if not the best of health. He has proved himself admirably well qualified to deal with the wily Orientals at Bangkok, and during the term of his consular and diplomatic service there has done not only far more than was ever done before, but it is scarce an exaggeration to say, all that ever was done, toward the establishment of American prestige in Siam on an intelligent and permanent foundation.

The Siamese monarch is a somewhat difficult person to deal with, like all of the tropical and semi-barbaric Asiatics, being fair of promise but feeble of performance, and yet of shrewdness enough to always look for the best end of a bargain. With a populous harem to engage most of his royal attention, he cannot be expected to devote much of his time to affairs of state; yet Minister Halderman seems to have duly impressed him with the greatness of the United States and the importance of friendly relations between the two countries.

It was through General Halderman that an infamous system of river traffic in rum, under the alleged protection of the American flag, was broken up, much to the satisfaction of the King if not of his thirsty subjects, and greatly to the enhancement of the Minister's credit among the better Siamese classes.

Minister Halderman furthermore succeeded in procuring from the King a deed in fee simple of valuable property at Bangkok for the use of the American legation, which is the first instance in which a similar gift has been conveyed to the United States by a foreign power.

He could doubtless have done much more towards planting the seeds of Anglo-Saxon civilization in the East had he been more vigorously supplemented in his efforts by the late Administration, but the continuance of the work which he has so well begun will devolve upon others. General Halderman has no hankering for any more of the same sort of exile. The climate is trying, the people are not agreeable as constant companions, and as for social and educational advantages, there are none; yet to a younger man of good business aptitude and a literary turn of mind, disposed to write up his experiences at this oriental court, a residence at Bangkok might be made exceedingly useful as well as profitable. Nobody wants to stay there long enough, however, to get acclimated. Acclimation in Siam means to be brought home in a casket at the Government's expense and received in the United States by a committee.

Possibly some other sphere of diplomatic service may be found for General Halderman, should he desire it; but he is probably willing for the present to rest upon his laurels and reconstruct his liver.

SHERMAN STILL AT IT.

Some people may imagine that General Sherman has lost his grip, as it were, since his retirement from the army; or in other words, that the mouth of the dougaty warrior has forgot its osculatory cunning. This is a great mistake. When the train upon which he was a passenger arrived at Springfield, Ill., the other day, a bevy of pretty girls presented him with a bouquet—a way the girls seem to have wherever the General goes, and giving rise to a popular suspicion that they do not intend their floral gifts as gratuities, but expect to be remunerated in the old soldier's favorite currency.

At any rate no sooner had he arrived at the Springfield station than he forthwith proceeded to pull one of the girls up on to the platform and kissed her ruby lips with all the fervency of his earlier campaigns, and the narrative does not state that the young lady demurred to his chivalric assault.

On the contrary, there appeared to be a general disposition to be hauled on to the platform and disposed of in the same way; but the General gallantly saved them this trouble by getting off the car and going to work right and left among his laughing-eyed admirers. As he kissed the last girl the train was moving on and he barely escaped being left over to the next.

CHEROKEE POLITICS.

The Cherokee Indian Nation is just now indulging in a large amount of politics—regular hot weather politics—and will evidently be kept in a state of turbulent agitation while the rest of the country is doing all it can to seek a rest.

The Union party has held a convention and built a platform after the manner of the pale-faces, and the machine generally appears to be running in the approved modern fashion. The platform is certainly a strong and vigorous instrument, with a sort of Declaration of Independence air about it.

The Union party believes in a government of the people, by the people, for the people, and is stalwartly opposed to rings and syndicates. It does not believe in the spoils system; therefore, say its leaders, honesty and competency should be the only tests in filling positions of official trust.

As for squatters, boomers and all sorts of intruders, the platform demands their ejection from the Territory, and that the landed rights of the Nation be guaranteed by the solemn patents of the United States.

In short, the Union party wants Home Rule, pure and simple, and Reform with a large sized R.

Our neighboring city of Philadelphia is looking forward to an exhibition to be held next fall under the direction of the Franklin Institute. The restrictions imposed are of a unique nature, no article, whatever its merits, being admitted unless its invention be comparatively recent, and no article, whatever its originality, admitted unless its substantial worth can be demonstrated. It will therefore be seen that the rules well accord with the title of the "Novelties" Exhibition, but it is still the desire of the management to secure a large number of exhibits. That this end will be attained is a foregone conclusion to those who know how successful the Franklin Institute has been on previous occasions of a similar character.

Professor Sousa, the leader of the Marine Band, again deserves the thanks of the Washington people. At the concert at the White House grounds the band will play the principal airs in Gilbert & Sullivan's latest opera, "The Mikado." The selections for these Saturday evening concerts all show remarkable good judgment of what pleases the popular ear. That the popular ear is pleased with such selections is also a great credit to the popular taste.

Mr. Jonas of Wisconsin, who was recently appointed to represent the Government of the United States at Prague, is complained of by the Austrian authorities as politically objectionable. In other words he is a "suspect." Mr. Jonas may be compelled to put up with a postoffice.

It was the "Goddess of Liberty Enlightening the World," who sailed into the port of New York yesterday, and not the "Star-Eyed Goddess of Reform." Hence the absence of Mr. Watterson.

Mr. John Roach says that since the Dolphin has been completed she has been much exposed to the sun. This is too bad. Secretary Whitney ought to buy an umbrella for the dainty maiden.

PEOPLE IN GENERAL.

When not at his country place near Philadelphia this summer Mr. Randall will sojourn at Cape May.

Mr. Cleveland's Southern policy has been a success. Three towns already are building Y. M. C. A. halls.—[Montgomery Advertiser.

Chief Justice Waite and Mrs. Waite and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bancroft Davis were passengers by the Adriatic, which left New York yesterday for Europe.

Miss Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has in press a new book describing summer life in a seaside town of Massachusetts. It is to be entitled "An Old Maid's Paradise."

William E. Woodruff, sr., who, in 1819, founded the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock, died yesterday. He was born in Suffolk County, Long Island, December 24, 1795.

Senator Payne of Ohio and J. H. Wade of Cleveland are expected to return from their European voyage on the Etruria, which will be due in New York June 28.

Secretary Manning and Mrs. Manning will spend part of the summer at Watch Hill, Long Island Sound, where they will be joined by members of his family from Albany.

Ex-Congressman Hopkins may yet live in Rome, if he pays his own way, with just as much elegant leisure on his hands as if he'd been appointed minister.—[Philadelphia News.

Carpenter's portrait of General Garfield, now on exhibition in New York, has been purchased for $3,000 and presented to Dartmouth College by Mr. H. C. Bullard, who graduated there last year.

Colonel J. Thomas Scharf, land commissioner of Maryland, is collecting material for a biographical sketch of Baron De Kalb, which he will read on occasion of the unveiling of the statue to be erected at Annapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Childs will leave Wootton, their country seat near Bryn Mawr, for their cottage on the bluff, Long Branch, on June 18. Miss Mary Peterson, a niece of Mrs. Childs, will reside with them during the summer.

A banquet in honor of United States Senator Payne was given in Liverpool last evening by Mr. Gillig. A brilliant company was present, including the new American Consul, Mr. Charles T. Russell, and many prominent merchants of Liverpool.

"President Cleveland," says the Baltimore American, "has never been late to breakfast since he has been in the White House. This is a record of which he may be justly proud. Perhaps, however, he has never any desire to be late. Nothing facilitates promptness at the table so much as a good appetite."

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

Rev. Edward Delk of Schoharie, N. Y., has received a call to Trinity Lutheran Congregation, Hagerstown, Md.

Rev. Dr. Poulson, pastor of Emory Methodist Church, Baltimore, has received an invitation to deliver the Fourth of July oration at Ocean Grove.

Rev. J. Gibson Gantt has resigned the rectorship of King and Queen parish, St. Mary's County, Md., and accepted a call to St. Luke's, Wheeling, W. Va.

Rev. William M. Dame, formerly rector of Christ Church, Alexandria, has been given a trip to Europe by his congregation in Baltimore, and will sail next week.

Archbishop Gibbons has been visiting the various churches in Frederick County this week. He will administer confirmation at St. Paul's, Ellicott City, June 28.

Rev. J. A. Lefevre, pastor of Franklin Square Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, has been elected president of David-son College, Charlotte, N. C., in place of Dr. Hepburn, resigned.

Mr. George Sommerville of Alexandria, who is to be ordained to deacon's orders next week at the Theological Seminary, will go to Grace Church, Petersburg, about the 1st of July, assistant to Rev. Dr. C. J. Gibson.

Rev. William Lewis of Lagrange, Ill., has been selected as rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Baltimore, the pulpit of which has been vacant since the resignation of Rev. Hugh Maguire in September last. Mr. Lewis is a native of Baltimore.

Rev. W. F. C. Gregory, who was recently licensed by the East Hanover Presbytery of Virginia, preached last Sunday at the Manchester Presbyterian Church and made a very favorable impression. He preaches to-morrow at Aquinton Church, King William County, on which occasion there will be a reunion of the Gregory family.

Queen Marguerite's Surprise.

Says a late letter from Rome: While the Queen was coming back from a drive in Naples, on the 23d, and was about to enter the gates of Piazza San Ferdinand Palace, a man rushed up to the royal equipage and dropped a little girl on the lap of the Queen. She was amazed at first, and a little terrified at the shrieks of the child, but soon recovered her self-possession and began in a motherly way to caress and kiss the little one. The footmen jumped from their seats and wanted to take the child from the carriage, but the Queen would not allow it. She took the child into the palace, and only when the little one had become quiet was she trusted to the ladies that they might give her back to the father.

In the mean time the police had arrested the father, but when they found out that he had no criminal intent they released him. The poor fellow said that he had no work, and he wanted to present his child to the Queen. He was an old soldier, sergeant in the Bersaglieri. His name is Achille Digennaro. The child has been provided for. It is now suggested that the Queen ought to leave Naples, or girls will pour into her carriage every day.
