CONGRESSMAN HOUCK DEAD.

The Ohio Representative Expires Suddenly While Visiting Friends.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—George W. Houk, representative from the Third district of Ohio, dropped dead at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon while visiting at 1927 Connecticut avenue, in this city.

Judge Houk had arrived at the residence about 1 o'clock or a little thereafter, and, from a statement made by Mrs. Chrisman, who was in the parlor with the judge at the time, he was walking up and down the floor, eating an apple. He had just reached the front window and was looking out upon the street when he sank upon a settee and sild to the floor helpless.

Doctors were immediately summoned, and when they arrived they applied electrical apparatus and used all means in their power to restore the stricken congressman, but without avail.

Judge Houk leaves a widow, one son and two daughters. He was a prominent Ohio Democrat and served in the Fifty-second and Fifty-third congresses.

Wells Fargo Messenger Held Up.

CARSON, Nev., Feb. 10.—Last night when a passenger train on the Union Pacific was about half a mile from the city it was boarded by one masked man who broke in the doors of Wells, Fargo & Co's. car with a sledge hammer, and held up the express messenger, taking a box of coin, which the paymaster was sending to Reno to pay employes. The box contained nearly $2,000. After robbing the car he started off in the dark, the messenger losing sight of him before he could give an alarm.

Great Turnout at a Hanging.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 10.—Near Winston yesterday Peter Detiraff, white, was hanged in the presence of 10,000 persons for murdering Ellen Smith, in July, 1892. Public interest was intense, as the crime was a notorious one. Detiraff had been a bartender at Winston and killed Ellen by shooting her through the body in the woods near a fashionable suburban hotel.

Cyclone Sweeps Over an Indiana Town.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Feb. 10.—A cyclone struck this city at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It swept through a lumber yard, carrying everything before it, and then passed over the Moore and Michigan Central freight yards, where it carried five cars from the tracks and wrecked them. The funnel then disappeared over the lake.

A Jury's Unusual Request.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 10.—A jury in a criminal court larceny case here made a blue ribbon record yesterday afternoon. It came into court and through its foreman asked that it be allowed, instead of finding against the defendant, to return a verdict with ten years' imprisonment against a witness whose evidence showed that he had made a catspaw of the defendant. Judge Edmunds, almost speechless, gasped out a refusal. The jury then disagreed and was discharged.

Triple Lynching in Arkansas.

CONWAY, Ark., Feb. 10.—Meager details of a triple lynching reached here from Van Buren county, which took place a day or two ago in what is known as the Gulch. Henry Bruce and Bob and Charley Plunkett were the victims of the men's vengeance. It is said the three men had killed and robbed an old couple whose names are not given.

Lawyer Haughawout Disbarred.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Feb. 10.—After a long and tedious trial lasting several days T. B. Haughawout of this city, the well-known criminal lawyer of the Southwest, was disbarred from practicing in the courts until December 1. He at once gave bond and made affidavit for appeal.

A Heavy Business Failure.

BOSSE TERRE, Mo., Feb. 10.—Eleven executions, sued out by creditors, were levied yesterday upon the stock of general merchandise of L. Schnitzer & Co., who have been doing a heavy supply business in this section. The assets and liabilities will be large, but are not now known.

BLAND'S BILL.

House Will Vote on It Next Tuesday.

General Belief is That it Will Pass,

IN A MODIFIED FORM.

Plenty of Oratorical Talent in Its Behalf.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The entire day yesterday was consumed in debate on the Bland silver seigniorage bill, the speakers being Messrs. Bland, C. W. Stone, Pa., McKeighan, Harter and Kilgore. The debate was interrupted to-day by the special order setting aside the rest of the day for eulogies upon the late Representative O'Neill, of Pennsylvania. It is expected a vote on the bill will be reached Tuesday, and Mr. Bland is confident it will pass. This opinion is generally shared by the leaders on both sides, although there probably will be some modifications of the bill that will make it more acceptable to the Democrats who are now opposing it.

After some unimportant routine business, on motion of Mr. Bland the house went into committee of the whole for the consideration of the seigniorage bill. Mr. Bland explained in a few words that he had never agreed, as stated in some of the public prints to striking out the second section of this bill which provides for the coinage of all the bullion in the treasury. Aside from the question of raising revenue, he regarded the second section as more important than the first. "If we are to deal with the bullion in the treasury," he said, "let us deal with it as a whole. We have already repealed the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. No more bullion will come into the treasury, why should we not coin what is there? To coin only the seigniorage ($55,000,000) would be tantamount to declaring that the rest should remain there as worthless. It should be dedicated to monetary use. As far as I am concerned I never will consent to stop half way."

"What advantage," asked Mr. Coombs, Democrat, N. Y., "would accrue from the coinage of this bullion when no one wants it?"

"The people want every dollar they can get," replied Mr. Bland.

"Is it the intention after the bill goes into effect," inquired Mr. Tracy, Democrat, New York, "to redeem the silver certificates in gold?"

"Do you understand that silver certificates are redeemable in gold?" asked Mr. Bland in turn.

"I do."

"Well," replied Mr. Bland, "the secretary of the treasury has never so held. The secretary of the treasury has maintained that all that was necessary to keep all classes of our currency at par was to keep the greenbacks at par. They are gold obligations and, therefore, incontrovertible, and while silver certificates have not been redeemed in gold, greenbacks have never been refused for them. This keeps all our currency at par."

Proceeding, he declared that it was only necessary to keep enough gold in the treasury to meet foreign exchanges. Under the Sherman law he insisted that every collar of treasury notes outstanding was redeemable in silver. "And if I were secretary of the treasury I would so hold," he added, emphatically. "I would not use any discretion in the interest of the gold gamblers of this country."

Mr. C. W. Stone, of Pennsylvania, who is at the head of the minority committee on coinage, weights and measures, replied to Mr. Bland. He agreed, he said, with Mr. Bland, that if the first section of the bill was to be passed the second section should be. "If we are prepared to agree to the practical embezzlement of a trust fund in the first section, we should not hesitate at the irregularity contained in the second section."

He contended that there was no existing seigniorage; that it was purely imaginary as yet.

If $55,000,000 of additional treasury notes were issued, as required by the provision of this bill, without a dollar for which certificates were issued being deposited in the treasury, each certificate would be on its face a lien. It was, in effect, "watering" the treasury notes to the extent of $55,000,000 when the face value of these notes already exceed the market value of the bullion security behind them by over $50,000,000.

Mr. McKeighan, Populist, Nebraska, made a free silver argument. A gold basis and a high tariff, he said, was discriminating against the West in the interest of the East.

At the end of Mr. McKeighan's speech, which consumed an hour and a half, Mr. Harter, Democrat, Ohio, took the floor in opposition to the bill.

There were three means of relieving the treasury, according to Mr. Harter, any of which would suffice. The first was to reduce salaries twenty-five per cent, including members of congress.

The second method proposed by Mr. Harter was a duty on sugar, which would provide $35,000,000; a further increase of the whisky tax to $1.50 a gallon, which would furnish $20,000,000; an increase of the tax on beer to $1, and a duty on tea and coffee. A tax of one-tenth of a cent per cup on tea and coffee, he said, would yield a revenue of $20,000,000.

Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, who made the concluding argument of the afternoon, contended that if the government was in need of money it was better to coin the seigniorage than to borrow money and pay interest upon the loan. Without completing his speech Mr. Kilgore yielded to a motion that the committee rise. Then at 5 o'clock the house adjourned.

Uniforms for Letter Carriers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The contract for furnishing uniforms to letter carriers throughout the country was awarded by the postmaster general to Fechheimer Bros. & Co., of Cincinnati, and Oehm & Co. of Baltimore. The contract prices were $11.90 for each summer uniform, to be delivered to carriers between May 1 and June 1, and $14.65 for winter uniforms, to be delivered between October 1 and November 1.

WILL BE FEW CHANGES.

The Wilson Bill Will Pass the Senate Practically Intact.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Members of the house who have been most active in tariff legislation have learned with definiteness as to the purpose of Senator Voorhees and the committee of finance on the Wilson bill. They say that Mr. Voorhees intends to report the Wilson bill back to the senate on next Thursday. The few days intervening will of course give no time for reconstructing the bill, nor is there any purpose on the part of Mr. Voorhees to accomplish any such reconstruction. On the contrary he has stated positively that the bill would be reported in the senate in substantially the same form as it passed the house. There will be the exception, however, that sugar and coal will be put back on the dutiable list.

TEXAS FEVER DISTRICT.

Regulations Issued by Secretary Morton Defining Their Boundaries.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Regulations have been issued by the secretary of agriculture defining the district commonly known as the Texas fever district. These regulations will be enforced from February 15 to December 1, 1894. The district as now defined is the same as that made by the regulations of last year with the following exceptions: In the state of Texas, the counties of Harlem, Knox, Haskell, Stonewall and Fisher have been placed in the unaffected area. Eight of the Northern counties in Kansas are excepted from the provisions of the regulations, being the same which were placed in the safe area by the supplemental regulations of August 30, 1893.

Democrats Confer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The Democratic Congressional campaign committee held a meeting for organization at the capitol yesterday. Senator Faulkner of West Virginia was elected chairman, Hon. Lawrence Gardner of Washington, secretary, and James L. Norris of Washington, treasurer.

DUN'S REPORT.

Business Improves Very Slowly if at All.

Bond Issue Has Not Helped Things.

LOWEST EVER KNOWN.

Wheat Has Never Been So Cheap Before.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Improvement in business still appears in many directions, but it seems to be in part balanced by loss in others. The gradual gain, which began some time ago and was strengthened little by the success of the treasury loan, has scarcely answered expectations. Reports of resumption of work continue to indicate that the industries are doing more than in December, and yet the record of their actual gain is disappointingly small.

"The marked increase which appears in offerings of commercial paper has almost wholly ceased, and the accumulation of unemployed funds continues, so that indorsed mill paper is taken at 2¾ per cent. The bond operation has not advanced stocks nor stimulated speculation, and the lowest price ever known for wheat has been recorded. Doubtless the uncertainty which remains with the tariff bill yet in the senate and currency measures of importance pending in the house has some hindering influence, but there is still seen an increase in the demand for many kinds of goods.

"Crop reports were expected to cause a great advance in wheat, but the price has dropped to 53⅝ cents cash, the lowest point ever known in this market, and both here and at Chicago May wheat has been lower than ever. Receipts have been larger at the West, 1,919,317 bushels, against 2,186,970 for the same week last year, while Atlantic exports are not a third of last year. Stocks in sight diminish little, and are so great that bankers, after their trying experience last spring, are not in haste to carry them for speculators. The fall for the week was about 2 cents, with sales of 8,000,000 bushels in one day and 14,000,000 for the week. Sales of corn were small and the price declined less than a cent, though Western receipts were 4,172,710 bushels, against 2,535,244 last year. Hog products and coffee were substantially unchanged. Cotton rose a sixteenth in spite of visible stocks exceeding half the world's consumption for a year, and a decrease of 20 per cent compared with last year in takings of Northern spinners. Speculative forces on either side rather than the facts of supply and demand govern at present.

"The volume of domestic trade does not materially increase, exchanges indicating a decline compared with last year of 19.5 per cent elsewhere and 34.9 per cent at New York. The earnings of railways in January were 12 per cent smaller than last year, the decrease rising from 8.4 per cent for the third to 15.9 per cent for the last week of the month, the loss being 16.7 in Trunk lines, 12.8 in Southern, 14 on Granger roads, 33.6 in other Western and 18.2 on Southwestern roads. In west-bound tonnage the decrease in January was 24 per cent. Poor earnings and a prospect that the decrease may continue caused the average of railroad stocks to fall 34 cents per share. There were some foreign sales of railway stocks, but bonds were in good demand.

"Textile manufacturers are gaining a little. Inquiry discloses larger stocks of cotton goods held by dealers than was supposed, and quite a large proportion of mills are likely to close before long unless orders increase, the number reported starting is several times the number reported closing. Many mills have opened in an experimental way, and have made up goods enough to try the market, with results not as yet as largely encouraging.

"The failures for the week were 385 in the United States, against 322 last year, and 60 in Canada against 44 last year, several being of more than ordinary importance."

Good Reason for Faith

Cured of Scrofula by Hood's

Scrofula permeates humanity. It is thoroughly infused into the blood. Scarcely a man is free from it, in one form or another. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula promptly, surely, permanently. Thousands of people say so. For instance, read this:

"I am justified in thinking Hood's Sarsaparilla a splendid medicine by own experience with it. I was a great sufferer from scrofula, having dreadful sores in my ears and on my head, sometimes like large boils, discharging all the time. My husband insisted that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Of the first bottle
