ENOUGH OF THE SPANISH.

Philippinans Are Tired of Being Ruled by Madrid Government.

LONDON, July 29.—Natives of the Philippine Islands and British subjects who have interests there are alarmed by the reports that the peace terms include the return of these islands to Spain. As a result they have held a meeting here, and after consultation with the Philippinans in France and Belgium, have cabled to President McKinley and to Senator Davis, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. The message to President McKinley is as follows:

"The Philippinans resident in Europe pray you not to abandon the Philippine Islands for the sake of peace with Spain. Our loyalty and trust in the honor of America entitle us to your consideration and support. To hand over our country again to Spain is contrary to the humanitarian proceedings of your noble nation and the wish of all classes. Civilization, trade and all will be lost if Spanish authority is reestablished in any form."

The message to Senator Davis says:

"A castiron agreement binding Spain to form a government satisfactory to the inhabitants is preposterous. To allow her to retain her sovereignty means deception, oppression and bigotry. We placed our rights in your hands, and pray you to induce the President and Senate not to abandon in the hour of peace a people who, trusting in American honor, fight for their common interests."

The agent here of Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader in the Philippines, has received a cable dispatch dated Hongkong, 6:45 p. m. to-day, but it makes no mention of Manila having surrendered to Admiral Dewey.

A TREASURER'S SHORTAGE.

Citizens of the Town Will Make Good the Defalcation.

FOXCRAFT (Me.), July 29. — It is learned that the Financial Committee chosen at the town meeting here in March to adjust the claims of holders of notes given by the late Judge Elias J. Hale, Treasurer of the town, who committed suicide in 1895, after the disclosure of an immense system of embezzlement carried on by him through a period of thirty years, have secured a compromise with the holders of $130,000 in notes, who have signed off at 25 cents on the dollar. A syndicate has been formed by thirty prominent and wealthy citizens to take up these notes and make final settlement with the town. It is expected the $50,000 remaining of Judge Hale's shortage will soon be taken up.

Train Accident in Nebraska.

STELLA (Neb.), July 29.—During a heavy windstorm two boxcars left the switch here and were blown out on to the main line, stopping half a mile east of the station. Passenger train No. 2 on the Missouri Pacific ran into them at a high rate of speed. The engineer, Edward Finnucane, and the fireman reversed the engine and jumped. The engineer struck on a pile of ties, fracturing his skull, from which he died in three hours.

Father Tuohy Reinstated.

ST. LOUIS, July 29.—According to dispatches received in this city to-day, the Pope at Rome has decided the appeal of Father John T. Tuohy from Archbishop Kane's order of removal from St. Patrick's Parish, in the priest's favor. Positive information to this effect has been received by Father Walsh of Nashville, Tenn., and the deposed priest, Father Tuohy, who is now in Hastings, Neb.

A Northumberland Epitaph.

It is said that after reading some of the inscriptions in a church yard, a little girl asked her mother where the naughty people were buried; and certainly on tombstones it is the mere exception that proves the rule to find such a mixture of faint praise and frank censure as in the following epitaph, reputed to be found in Northumberland:

Here lie the bodies
Of Thomas Bond and Mary his wife.
She was temperate, chaste and charitable;
But she was proud, peevish and passionate.
She was an affectionate wife and a tender mother,
But her husband and child, whom she loved,
Seldom saw her countenance without a disgusting frown,
Whilst she received visitors whom she despised with an endearing smile.
* * *
She was an admirable economist,
And, without prodigality,
Dispensed plenty to every person in her family,
But would sacrifice their eyes to a farthing candle.
She sometimes made her husband happy with her good qualities;
But much more frequently miserable with her many failings.
In so much that in thirty years cohabitation he often lamented
That, maugre all her virtues,
He had not, on the whole, enjoyed two years of matrimonial comfort.
At length, finding
That she had lost the affections of her husband,
As well as the regard of her neighbors,
Family disputes having been divulged by servants,
She died of vexation July 20, 1768,
Aged 48 years.
Her worn-out husband survived her four months and two days,
And departed this life Nov. 28, 1768.

All Medical Authors Claim Iron To Be the most important of all mineral tonics—It increases the number of blood corpuscles and the amount of hematin in the blood, possessing besides local and general tonic effects. Under its use the skin of pale people assumes a healthy tint, the cheeks red, a good appetite and their strength invigorated. It is found in its pleasantest and most acceptable form in "Ott's" Port Wine and Iron, 25c per pint. Do not mistake the place.

A PHILIPPINE VOLCANO.

Daring Exploration of the Crater of Tael by Dr. Kane.

Professor Charles W. Shields writes of "The Arctic Monument Named for Tennyson by Dr. Kane," and incidentally gives a sketch of the latter in the August "Century." Professor Shields says:

It was at Luzon, the largest of the Philippine Islands, that his adventurous spirit, though under a scientific impulse, passed the limits of prudence in his far famed exploration of the crater of Tael, a volcano on the Pacific coast of the island, in a region inhabited only by savages. Crossing over to the capital city of the island during one of the long delays of Chinese diplomacy, he procured an escort of natives from the Archbishop of Manila (by means of letters from American prelates which he had secured before leaving home), and, in company with his friend, Baron Loe, a relative of Metternich, penetrated the country to the asphaltic lake in which the island volcano is situated. Both gentlemen at first descended together until they reached a precipice overhanging the cavernous gulf of the crater, when the Baron saw further progress to be impossible. But the doctor, in spite of the remonstrances of the whole party, insisted upon being lowered over the ledge by means of a rope made of bamboos, and held in the hands of the natives, under the Baron's directions, until he reached the bottom, 200 feet below. Loosing himself from the cord, he forced his way downward through the sulphurous vapors, over the hot ashes, to the green boiling lake, dipped his specimen bottle into its waters, returned to the rope, several times stumbling, almost stifled, and with one of his boots charred to a coal, but succeeded in again fastening himself, and was hauled up by his assistants, and received into their hands exhausted and almost insensible. Remedies brought from the neighboring hermitage were applied, and he was so far restored that they could proceed on their journey. But rumors spread before them among the pygmy savages on the island of the profane invasion which had been made into the mysteries of the Tael and an angry mob gathered about them, which was only dispersed by one or two pistol shots and the timely arrival of the padres. The trophies of this expedition were some valuable mineral specimens, a bottle of sulphur water, a series of graphic views, from recollection, in his sketch book, and a written description of the volcano by one of the friars, which, after many wanderings, was put in his hands as he sat at the home dinner table twelve years afterward.

Toxic Power of Eel's Blood.

One of the surprising results of M. Calmette's investigations into the action of snake venom is the discovery that the blood serum of eels has an extraordinary toxic power when injected under the skin. So, in a less degree, has the blood serum of venomous snakes, a fact which is not so much to be expected as many people would suppose, since the actual venom discharged by a cobra or a viper is not produced in the blood, but is secreted by particular glands. The experiments with eel serum have shown that it has no toxic effect when swallowed by the month, and, more important still, that it is greatly modified in its effects by heat. Thus, if heated to 58 degrees centigrade, it loses all its dangerous properties, though such serum has the property of protecting any animal into which it is injected from even fatal doses of the crude serum. A stranger fact which has been brought out in this connection is that the toxicity of an eel's blood is much reduced by inoculating it with "anti-venine," the serum prepared by M. Calmette from an animal rendered proof against snake venom, and the eel serum thus modified may be used in certain cases to confer immunity from snakebite. The relationships between these apparently distinct poisons are very complicated and interesting, though M. Calmette has done a great deal to explain, if not their cause, at least their action.
