Vestry Meeting.

The Vestry of St. Andrew's Parish are requested to meet at Leonardtown on Tuesday, the 31st inst., to consider the question of a call of a Rector and for the transaction of other business.

The Entertainment.

Last Wednesday night's Dramatic Entertainment was a complete success. Our reporter, owing to sickness, was not present and hence we are unable to give any extended notice. Those who attended say that each and every actor preformed "well their part." Quite a handsome sum was realized.

For Raffle.

A handsome crayon portrait of the Rev. Father Neal, painted by Miss Aggie Armstrong, of Washington, and donated to St. George's church, will be raffled for 25 cents a chance. Persons desiring a chance can obtain the same by calling at the church or forwarding the money to MRS. J. B. ARMSTRONG, Piney Point, Md.

A Costume Tournament, Dinner

and Ball will be given at Mechanicsville, about the middle of September, for the benefit of the Immaculate Conception Chapel. A handsome saddle, bridle, and whip will be the prizes. Knights who wish to ride will address Dr. Zack. R. Morgan, Dr. Ernest Payne and Mr. Wm. Gardiner, Committee, at Mechanicsville. Further notice will be given.

Land Sales.

Tuesday last Robert C. Combs, Attorney for the mortgagee, sold at public auction "Della Brooke" farm, situate on the Patuxent River and containing 750 acres, for $4,550, subject to prior liens of about $2,000. Purchaser, Miss Mary T. Smith.

On the same day, Daniel C. Hammett, Trustee, sold "Part Hampstead," containing 228¾ acres, for $1,600. Purchaser, W. P. Kane.

Orphans' Court.

Court met, Tuesday, with all the Judges present. Inventory and annual valuation of E. H. Posey, admr. Martin L. Dixon filed, and order for sale granted on usual terms. Order for sale granted to W. A. Langley, admr. J. R. Langley. Annual valuation ordered on real estate of Josiah Reed. The last will and testament and codicil thereto of Ann C. Wilson admitted to probate. Court adjourned to the 7th proximo.

A Challenge.

Last Saturday's Calvert Gazette says:

"The secretary of the Prince Frederick club has been directed to extend a challenge to the Leonardtown Base Ball Club for a game at that place. Our boys are anxious to again cross bats with the representatives of St. Mary's in the base-ball arena. Three summers ago, when the Calvert boys visited Leonardtown to play ball, they were made to enjoy the occasion so much that they have since retained many pleasant recollections of that trip and would like to repeat it. Brother King urge your ball-tossers to accept the challenge from Prince Frederick. Our club would not only like to meet them on their own ground, but are anxious to have a return game played here during the season."

We hope our ball-players will interest themselves and secure a good nine to meet, and we hope beat, the Calvert champions. When the Prince Frederick nine comes over we warn them not to forget to bring brother Parran with them. We would like for him to be present when the ——— nine is beaten.

Declamations.

Little Lollie Blandford and Lulu Peake, the latter the daughter of Brother Peake, of the Laurel Review, contributed their full share to the delight and amusement of the guests of Moore's Hotel during the past ten days. Both of the little ones gave recitations in a manner very creditable to children of their age. The elder of the two, Little Lollie, has appeared before the Washington public upon several occasions.

St. Inigo's Items.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

The artesian well which was commenced at the Fish Commission about six weeks ago is completed. Water was obtained at the depth of 300 feet. It is said to be palatable and plentiful.

Messrs. Alex. Bayne, W. A. W. Clarke and several colored men came near being swamped by a large water spout, 19th instant, whilst fishing in the Bay for sheepshead. They returned home much frightened, and one of the sable gentlemen has "professed religion" in consequence of his fright and in thankfulness and gratefulness for his narrow escape from a horrid death.

J. F. Freeman, Esqr., has opened a Summer resort at Woodlawn, near the Pine Board, $6 per week.

The recent arrivals from Washington, D. C., are: Col. Frollic, Mrs. Dr. McAllister, Mrs. Pedro, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Campbell, E. Campbell, Mr. McConville, Mr. and Mrs. Senior and five children.

Some fallowing has been done.

Cool and warm weather alternating.

Official Visit.

The last Legislature passed an Act establishing a State Board of Lunacy and requiring the Secretary thereof to look after and inquire into the condition of all idiotic or feeble minded persons cared for in the public institutions of the State, and once in each year report to the Governor the sanitary condition of their surroundings, in compliance with these requirements, Dr. William Lee, last week, paid his first official visit to our county and took a look at the Almshouse. The doctor's visit was unheralded and hence, no preparations were made to receive him. Those who know, tell us, however, that the superintendent is ever ready to receive such visitors. What the doctor will say of the condition of the (72) patients at the almshouse we know not, but believe that it will compare favorably with other reports. The doctor expresses the belief that when the Keepers and Physicians to Public Institutions fully understand the law that they will assist in every way to further its ends. His heart is in his work and he is careful to explain the intentions of the law. He expressed himself as much pleased with those of our people whom he had met and, we think, the pleasure was mutual.

Hog Cholera.

In view of the prevalence and destructiveness of the Hog Cholera in our county, we have, for the past three weeks been endeavoring to glean from the experience of successful pork-raisers some information that might enable our farmer friends to successfully combat the ravages of the disease. All those to whom we have applied have cheerfully given us the benefit of their knowledge. There is great diversity of opinion as to what is the best remedy. A majority seem to favor charred corn or calomel in liberal doses; others advocate a clover pasture, abundance of pure running water and feed three times a day. All say, however, that their remedy while successful in some cases has proven futile in many others. The pork-raisers of the Miami Valley—where the Poland-Chinas reach their greatest perfection—aver that the Hog Cholera is incurable. "An ounce of preventive," say they, "is worth an hundred pounds of cure," and their plan is to alternate the food of the animals and attend to them carefully. Experience proves that a hog which is fed upon one kind of food exclusively is much more susceptible to the disease than one which is sometimes fed corn, then chop or bran, then fruit, &c. As will be seen the information we have been able to glean is very meagre. Added to the knowledge every farmer possesses it may, however, be of some little benefit.

[For the Beacon.]

Hotel Notes.

By a Summer Visitor.

The five "belles" of Moore's Hotel left Monday for their homes. The boys stuck to them to the last and some even followed them to Washington. The Misses Abell left some crying. Lucy and Jeff are not so thick, but that has nothing to do with George.

Dr. H. is still at Moore's, but his fun was slightly interrupted by an arrival per Str. Thompson Friday.

Miss M. Walton is visiting at Mr. J. F. Harris'. No flirting this trip, Miss M. W. won't like it.

"Mamie, dear girl," and "Willie, dear boy," had a meeting out on the bench Friday night.

Mamie, Katie, Cora and Willie had a promenade all together at the Hall the night of the Entertainment. It was a pleasant quartette.

The "grove," up to 10 p. m., is quite a fashionable walk yet. Look out drummer, but no shooting allowed!

Nellie is quite broken up since the departure of a certain gentleman, who, last night, went off with a handsomer girl.

The "belles" of Fenwick's Hotel, Misses Smoot, Hatton and Edelin, left on Monday, but that has nothing to do with the wading Miss N. and Miss S. had when the boys run them off the beach. Morgan is completely gone and says he wishes he could go to Paw Paw every day. So say all.

The Misses Maddox and Mrs. Zentzenger are visiting Mr. John F. Harris.

Messrs. W. H. Ford and W. H. Hayden will shoot at the Factory this evening (Wednesday) for the silver medal offered by Father Neale.

[COMMUNICATED.

Messrs. Editors:—I beg leave to appear once more in your paper, but only to detain you for a short time. I simply desire to note the few fangle words of the Enterprise, which show an emptiness which has readily been foretold. Styling me a babbler, brings to my mind the childish days of my boyhood, when it was a popular adage, "measure my corn by your bushel." May I ask your readers who has played the perfect part? Who is the tall talker, who are the publishers of other peoples' business; who has started this senseless prattle? I, as a manager of my own business, have only attempted to defend it, after a long determination to treat these slurring remarks with silent contempt. But, alas, remembering that a vigilant public was being unjustly arrayed against my rights and privileges, I drew a line of battle and asked a fair discussion of facts only. Still, I see no rays of light by which my assailant will enable my readers to judge the tree by its fruit. Again asking the gentleman for an Abell vindication, I am, with much respect, as ever a public servant.

L. J. WISE.

BALTIMORE, August 21, 1886.

DEAR BEACON.—I find from an article published in your last issue, that St. Mary's County is represented in one of the State Tobacco Warehouses by the ugliest man in the State employ in the person of George Tarlton.

Well, I have seen George several times and must say, with truth, that he is not a handsome man; but, with his industrious qualities and harmless nature, he is rendered more of a man than some who like to be considered what they used to be or what their family used to be.

I have talked with George, as he is familiarly called, and find that the Baltimore Herald may expect a visit from George or his legal adviser. There is blood in George though he is ugly and I don't think that the publishing world has any right to hand a man around as the monkey in a side show unless by his consent. It is a scandal and should be treated as such. It is embarrassing to his family and a "tantalizer" to George, for it is in the mouth of every one, and they use it at every turn to hurt his feelings. I feel, however, that the affair will be adjusted by the Courts and show the smart writer how far the limit in journalistic correspondence extends. WIS.

Flashes.

$270.66 was the net amount realized from the recent St. Inigo's dinner.

Though quite a crowd was in town Tuesday but little news could be gathered.

In this immediate section there is much more than the usual amount of sickness.

Tuesday last there was quite an exodus of Summer visitors from our Town Hotels.

Mr. John C. Mills, of the Baltimore Police Force, is visiting relatives in our county.

Read the Registration Notice and see to it that those entitled to vote have their names on the books.

Read the call for the democratic primaries published in our present issue. We hope all democrats will attend.

Recently, a valuable milch cow belonging to Mr. John Cryer, of Brittan's Neck, was choked to death by an apple.

Miss Kate and Nannie Floyd and Miss Jo Posey, all of Baltimore, are visiting friends and relatives in our county.

Mr. Fred. Guy, of this village, raised in his garden an Irish potato of the Early Rose variety which weighed 1 lb. and 3 ounces.

Mr. J. Robert Yates, of Green Hills, has, within the past few days, lost several valuable hogs. Cholera was the cause of death.

Misses Emma Joy and Mabel Ford, Mrs. Jo. F. Morgan, Mr. Charles Foxwell and other sick ones are, we are pleased to hear, getting much better.

His numerous friends will hear with pleasure that Mr. Mike Wilkinson has received an appointment as seaman on the Oyster Police Sloop Katie Hines.

Capt. Jeff. D. Loker and others, of the crew of the Gov. Thomas, were in the village last Tuesday and paid calls to many friends. Their visit occasioned many smiles.

A Jarboesville correspondent writes us that a few days ago Mr. George M. Bohanan lost a valuable horse. The cause of death was supposed to have been over exertion during the hot spell.

Mr. John M. Lloyd, a representative of G. Ober & Sons Co., one of the best and most reliable firms in this country, was in town Tuesday. He expressed himself as pleased with the result of his trip.

Messrs. George Camalier, of Washington, and Henry Johnson, John F. Carroll and Willie Combs, of Baltimore, were in town last week. They are, one and all, popular gentlemen and have many friends who regret their short stay.

Last Saturday night Mr. Taylor Wathen's horse, while going down Town Hill, near this village, became frightened and ran away. The sulky was demolished and Taylor was dragged some distance and severely cut and bruised. He was unconscious for sometime.

As Others See Us.

Mr. I. E. Mattingley, ex-member of the Legislature from St. Mary's county, was in the city yesterday and had a long confidential talk with Postmaster Frank Brown. Mr. Mattingley was not looking for an office, but it was understood that he was looking after the interests of Congressman Barnes Compton. Mr. Mattingley, familiarly known among his friends as "Tank," is an ardent admirer of Compton and wants to see him go back to Congress. He would also like to see Compton Governor of Maryland. "Tank" also has his eye on the State Senate, with a fair prospect of getting there.—Baltimore Herald.

Why the Southern Maryland Railroad was never completed to Point Lookout has been a subject of much speculation among persons not versed in the scheme. Two roads were in course of construction at one time and both were graded nearly to the terminus. Then all at once it was found out by one of the companies that a better and a cheaper route could be found and the surveyors were put upon it. The other company did likewise. The engineers of both companies came to a focus at Captain William C. Bayne's barn, near St. Inigo's creek, St. Mary's county, and there they stopped. Captain Bayne wouldn't agree to take down the barn and the engineers got into an altercation as to whether it would be better to bridge it over or tunnel under it. Captain Bayne is dead and so is the railroad, but the bone of contention, the barn, is still standing.—Baltimore Herald.

Like Laurel, Leonardtown has two newspapers, the older one, the Beacon, published by Messrs. Yates & King, and the Enterprise, by Holmes & Abell. The former is democratic, the latter republican. Both are well conducted, and seem to be liberally supported. The writer is under many obligations to Mr. Yates, of the Beacon, who is an affable and courteous gentleman.

There are two hotels, the Fenwick and the Moore. Mr. Herbert Moore, of the latter, is one of the jolliest landlords afloat, and exercises the most paternal care over his guests. His mania, and he has it bad, is to try the stomach capacity of his guests, and he is at his best when he gets a hearty feeder in his power, for then he has a subject to try his skill upon. But joks aside, friend Moore is one of the few men who know exactly how to keep a hotel, and I am not surprised that his hotel is crowded—as it is now—each season.—From Editorial Correspondence of the Laurel Review.

Mr. Thomas C. Ward, of St. Mary's county, a hale and hearty old gentleman, 91 years of age, who was a tobacco inspector 40 years ago, called at State Tobacco Warehouse No. 3, in this city, recently and was shown over the establishment by Inspector John T. Bond. Mr. Ward was born in Charles county, on November 1, 1795, but now lives in St. Mary's. He was drafted as a soldier in 1814 in the war with Great Britain. He was inspector of Tobacco Warehouse No. 1, had served under three Governors—Governor Grason, who was the first State Executive elected by the people, in 1839; then under Governor Philip Francis Thomas, in 1842, and under Governor Enoch Louis Lowe, in 1851. He has always been a democrat and never missed an election. He voted for Jackson several times. Mr. Ward married once, and is the father of eight children. He now, when at home, rides long distances on horseback regularly, and is fond of outdoor sports. It is his habit to visit Baltimore two or three times a year. He has read the Sun for thirty years, and he looks forward to its coming as one of his daily pleasures. He does not believe in the civil-service reform of these days. He says the coming tobacco crop in Southern Maryland will be short, and he says the prospect is poor.—Sun.

MR. BUCKLER'S BRIDE.—Capitol Hill is gossiping over another sensation. George W. L. Buckler, jr., is a tall and slender young man, with light hair and freckled complexion. He earns his living by typewriting and stenography, and lives with his father, Joseph Buckler, a clerk in the Pension Office, on A, betwech Eighth and Ninth streets, northeast. He is about twenty-one years old, but looks and talks as if he were eighteen or nineteen. He and his family are attendants at Waugh Chapel. For some time past he has been paying attentions to Miss Effie Bassett, who also was a member of the same church. Miss Bassett is a beautiful girl, of medium height and good figure, only eighteen and refined and lady like in manner. She is the daughter of Mr. George T. Bassett, a clerk in the Pension Office, and a grand-daughter of Mr. Isaac Bassett, the venerable Assistant Doorkeeper of the United States Senate. She lives with her parents at No. 24 Ninth street northeast. Her acquaintance with young Buckler led to her engagement to him, and they were to have been married in a month's time. She had even prepared the greater part of her trousseau.

Some little time ago, however, George's elder brother, Arthur, was injured in a baseball game and died. A young lady named Miss Ella N. Minnix, a clerk in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, daughter of a blacksmith and carriage-maker of Anacostia, who had known George Buckler in former years, and was an old sweetheart of his, although though some falling out she had not seen him for some time, wrote him a note of condolence on the death of his brother. This was read and and led to a meeting.

The young man's old affection for Miss Minnix returned, and one day two weeks ago the couple ran over to Baltimore and were married. They returned a week from last Thursday. On that night Buckler called on Miss Bassett, but said nothing of his marriage. More than this, he invited her to go with him to the roller coaster and she consented. The next night he spent the evening at her house and on last Sunday took her to church. On Monday, however, he wrote her a note telling her that he was convinced that he could not be happy with her, that he had married another girl and that he hoped she would not mind it much. That same night he and his bride left the city on their wedding tour. Miss Minnix was to have been married in two weeks to another gentleman, and the dress she had prepared for this wedding she wore when married to Buckler.

The feeling on Capitol Hill is very strong against Buckler, while nothing but sympathy is expressed for Miss Bassett.—Washington Post.

The most salubrious resort on the Potomac is here at Dr. Blakiston's, where we are not pursued by the pestiferous and nocturnal "critters," mosquitoes. The house is crowded to the utmost capacity—in fact, the genial Doctor and amiable wife had the parlor converted into bed-rooms for the accommodation of a large number of guests who are daily arriving. We have an abundance of luscious fruit, good fishing, crabbing, sailing, bathing, dancing every night, riding, lawn-tennis, croquet, baseball, elegant table, with all the delicacies which the river affords, assisted by his own extensive farm. One peculiar feature here is the three mineral springs, situated within twenty feet of each other, of sulphur, iron, and chalybeate waters, where invalids can imbibe to their hearts' content. There is no extra charge here for anything exclusive of board, all free. A new dancing pavilion has been erected on the lawn, in which the young and old can court Terpsichore to the poetic strains of Professor Carter's orchestra, of St. Mary's. For the benefit of Izaac Walton's disciples who contemplate devastating the Potomac, I would say that good fishing is plentiful here, and soft crabs are abundant. "Lovers' Retreat," a very secluded little romantic alcove, is much sought on moonlight evenings by the "spoony" couples for billing and cooing.

A tournament for the benefit of the Church of the Sacred Heart took place yesterday and was well attended by guests, both from Colton's and River Springs, while St. Mary's and Charles County furnished a vast crowd and the knights. Eighteen valiant riders participated in the exciting sport. The coronation address was delivered by Mr. George Lancaster, who took first prize at the last commencement of Georgetown College, in his happiest manner. The "Reeling and Rolling Club," who have been here for a fortnight, left this morning, much to the regret of the young ladies. Dancing parties alternate nightly between the guests of Colton's and our hotel. We have a real live bride here still in her short dresses and early teens. A single sculling match is arranged to take place next Saturday between Henry Beach—not the Australian sculler—and Thad. Hopkins, both of the P. O. D. Hopkins is in prime condition; will row at 136. Beach is much heavier, weighing 172, but his stroke is beautiful, about 32 to the minute. Messrs. Forrest and Harvey will be the time-keepers, while Bob Blakiston will perform the office of referee and starter.

This resort is a perfect paradise for children.

Among those summering here are: Capt. Fisher and wife, Misses Mattie and Hattie Fisher, Lilly Smith, J. Thomas West, wife and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearson and children, Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Beach and child, Mr. and Mrs. Hall and son, Mr. James Thomas, Miss L. Garvey, Mrs. M. L. Byers and child, Mr. Thad. Hopkins and wife, Mr. James McNerhaney, Mr. N. C. Rynex and son, Miss Emma Dent, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Tucker and children, Mr. S. W. Forrest and children, Mr. W. H. Kerwacter, Frank Fields, Frank E. Sibley, Samuel Ball, Chas. M. Jarvis and children, the Misses A. and M. McLaughlin, A. Coleman, Miss Phillips, Messrs. Hoffman, Bryan, Sauter, Mankin, and others.—Sunday Herald.

FOR CONGRESS.
MORGANZA, July 24, 1886.
Messrs. Editors:—Please announce the Hon. FRANK N. HOLMES as a candidate for Congress from the 5th Congressional district at the ensuing election, subject to the republican nominating convention. Mr. Holmes is a gentleman of sterling worth, strict integrity and of great capacity as a speaker or thinker. He is just, energetic and enterprising, such a one as would meet Mr. Compton in fairness and fearlessly discuss the living issues of the day with advantage to the republican party, to which he has always stood steadfast and faithful. Besides, he is unobjectional to the democracy of this district. His election would redound to the interest of the laboring people of this Congressional district.
