AT THERMOS FACTORY.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Addresses Employes at the Plant.

A World Without Easter was the subject of the interesting address Secretary Edwin Hill of the Y. M. C. A. gave to the men of the Thermos company Monday noon. In part he said:

What would we have done if Christ had remained in the grave? How dark the world would have been and how sad our lot would be today.

There would have been no bright Easter day like the Sabbath just passed, and the flowers would have meant nothing to us. As I hurried to the train in Providence this morning I noticed a crowd gathered and I found that a man had just passed away in the waiting room; this sudden death will be a sad blow to the relatives and friends, but how terrible would be the gloom if there was to be no resurrection.

Ye have all lost dear ones and we sorrow because of the vacant chairs, but we look forward to a reunion because of the fact that Christ has become the first fruits.

Jesus is called the lily of the valley; the Rose of Sharon and the bright and morning star; the lily is so pure and white and as we look at it we think of the purity of the Christ; the rose delights us with its fragrance and reminds us of the sweet influence of Jesus on the world today; how fragrant is His life and how sweet it is to live under the influence of it. As we look up into the starry east we see the bright morning star and so Christ is the chiefest among ten thousand, the one altogether lovely. We are called to follow a living Christ on the Emans road they did not know Him then, but when they finally recognized Him, He quickly left them and one said to the other, "Did not our hearts burn within us as He talked with us by the way." If only we will live in accord with Him we may have this same heartburn; while we are at our work, in our homes or on the street, and He will just as really talk with us by the way. God grant that we may give the resurrected Christ full sway in our hearts from this time forth.

Several selections were rendered on the graphophone, including Low in the Grave He Lay, and Shall We Meet Beyond the River?

APPEAL TO HIBERNIANS.

State President May Urges Attendance at Barry Monument Unveiling.

State President William T. May of New London and his associates of the board of officers of the A. O. H., of Connecticut, have issued this appeal to the 12,000 members:

The unveiling of the Barry monument in Washington, May 15 and 16, is an affair in which every person who has a drop of Celtic blood will be interested. After years of patient waiting our government will pay the honor due to our race for the great service Barry rendered in throwing off the yoke of England in the Revolutionary war. We would like to have Connecticut represented in large numbers at this grand affair, and we urge all our brothers and sisters whose circumstances will permit to take advantage of this patriotic occasion to make the trip to our national capital.

Wonderful Set of Dishes.

What is s to be the most costly set of dishes er made was recently shown at an bition in St. Petersburg. It consisted of thirty-six hand-colored plates. This set has an estimated value of $18,540, a single plate, therefore, being worth $515. It is the property of Count Orloff-Davidoff.

Health Note.

A Chicago physician says: "Good health demands that the mouth be kept closed while asleep." Cases are known where a man's health would be in better condition if he'd kept his mouth closed while awake.—Boston Transcript.

Don't Heat Knives.

Never heat a knife on the stove for cutting frosting, it ruins the temper. Instead, pour hot water over the blade, or dip it into hot water.

Left at the Post.

The Professor's Wife (to the Professor, who has just come in from a walk)—"What have you done with your umbrella and Fido?" The Professor (trying to remember)—"What—h'm—wait a minute—oh, yes, precisely. You see, my hat blew off, and I didn't want to have the poor little beast run with me after it, so I stuck the umbrella in the ground somewhere and tied Fido to it. I suppose they are still there."

The Pendulum.

It is perfectly true that Galileo discovered the true or isochronal property of the pendulum in 1639, and also that the philosophical Huyghens in 1658 wrote a learned treatise applying the principle to clocks. But an Englishman, John Harris, invented and made a pendulum clock in 1641 in London. Barlow, a London clockmaker, invented the striking part in 1676, and in 1815 George Graham applied mercury to the pendulum to compensate against varying temperatures.

Absinthe.

The principal poison in absinthe is a vegetable substance known as thyion. It is found in wormwood, which is used in making absinthe. France is the largest consumer of absinthe, taking more than all the rest of Europe. The consumption has been steadily increasing, so that in 1911 over 1,000,000 gallons of absinthe were used in France.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS

Norwich People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.
The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills, For Norwich kidney sufferers, Have made their local reputation.
Proof lies in the testimony of Norwich people.

Mrs. C. Bennett, 46 Palmer Street, Norwich, Conn., says: "Some years ago one of my friends suffered from backaches. Every cold he caught settled on his kidneys and made the trouble worse. His kidneys were disordered, as was shown by the kidney secretions being irregular in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at N. D. Sevin & Son's Drug Store, brought prompt relief."

A LASTING EFFECT.

At a later interview Mrs. Bennett said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured a member of my family of kidney trouble some years ago and there has been no sign of it since. I willingly confirm my former endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

"I SEE BY THE PAPER WHERE:"—

Not the English or Lindley Murray perhaps, but nevertheless a very expressive phrase which we hear every day.

There is food for thought in it for every one who has an appeal to make to the great purchasing public.

Why not make that "WHERE" apply to your goods or your store?

There is no appeal so direct nor one which brings such immediate results as that made through the columns of a live daily newspaper like The BULLETIN.

The newspaper is the intimate friend of the family. People turn to it for guidance, and naturally they look to it for advice when they have shopping to do.

Where? LET IT MEAN YOUR STORE AND YOUR GOODS.
