The Last Good Night.

BY ELLEN GRAY.

Close her eyelids—press them gently
O'er the dead and leaden eyes,
For the soul that made them lovely,
Hath returned unto the skies;
Wipe the death drops from her forehead,
Sever one dear golden tress,
Fold her icy hands all meekly,
Smooth the little snowy dress;
Scatter flowers o'er her pillow—
Gentle flowers, so pure and white—
Lay the bud upon her bosom,
There—now softly say God Night.

Though our tears flow fast and faster,
Yet we would not call her back,
We are glad her feet no longer
Tread life's rough and thorny track;
We are glad our Heavenly Father
Took her while her heart was pure,
We are glad he did not leave her
All life's trials to endure;
We are glad—and yet the tear-drop
Falleth; for, alas! we know
That our fireside will be lonely,
We shall miss our darling so.

While the twilight shadows gather,
We shall wait in vain to feel
Little arms all white and dimpled,
Round our necks so softly steal;
Our wet cheeks will miss the pressure
Of sweet lips so warm and red,
And our bosoms sadly, sadly,
Miss that darling little head
Which was wont to rest there sweetly;
And those golden eyes, so bright,
We shall miss their loving glances,
We shall miss their soft Good Night.

When the morrow's sun is shining,
They will take this cherished form,
They will bear it to the church-yard,
And consign it to the worm;
Well—what matter? It is only
The clay dress our darling wore;
God hath robed her as an angel,
She hath need of this no more;
Fold her hand, and o'er her pillow
Scatter flowers all pure and white
Kiss that marble brow, and whisper,
Once again, a last Good Night. —Selected.

VARIETY.

A man may love his house well without riding on the ridge.

There are those who despise pride with a greater pride.

It is easy to go afoot when one leads one's horse by the bridle.

He who says what he likes, shall hear what he does not like.

He that takes the raven for a guide, shall light upon carrion.

Call me not "olive" till you see me gathered.

There is more in the garden than the gardner ever sowed.

Even the ripest fruit does not drop into one's mouth.

A man's reception is according to his coat; his dismissal to his sense.

It is ungenerous to give a man occasion to blush at his own ignorance in one thing, who perhaps may excel us in many.

No object is more pleasing to the eye than the sight of a man whom you have obliged;—nor any music so agreeable to the ear, as the voice of one that owns you for his benefactor.

The coin that is most current among mankind is flattery; the only benefit of which is, that by hearing what we are not, we may be instructed what we ought to be.

Some would be thought to do great things, who are but tools and instruments; like the fool who fancied he played upon the organ, when he only blew the bellows.

"I wish, Mr. Speaker, to present a liquor bill," said a red-nosed member, of the Arkansas Legislature. "You never present any other kind," said a political opponent.

YOUNG AMERICA.—Scene—Supper table—a girl of five years just from school.

"Mother, a little boy wanted to kiss me to-day, at school."

"Ella, you must keep away from dirty-faced boys."

"But, mother, if his face isn't dirty?"

"Eat your supper, Ella. Don't you want a biscuit?"

In a whiningtone—"Mother, you don't tell me."

"VANITY FAIR" ON THE PRIZE FIGHT.—Plural and not Singular.—The Benicia Boy ought not to be surprised at the result of his fight with Sayers. The stakes being two hundred pounds, how could they be won?

Initiary.—Since the Heenan-Sayers battle, it is not for Prize Ring, but for Pitiable Referee.

The only thing not drawn by Leslie's Artist.—The first blood.

The English style of Roping in.—Breaking through the ropes to defeat our Champion.

A Paradox of the P. R.—Pugilists fight in a "ring," and each of his combatants has his "corner." How is this? Has it been reserved for the P. R. to solve the problem of squaring the circle?

THE TALENT OF SUCCESS.—Every man must patiently abide his time. He must wait. Not in listless idleness, not in useless pastime, not in querulous dejection, but in constant, steady, cheerful endeavor, always willing, fulfilling and accomplishing his task, "that when then the occasion comes he may be equal to the occasion." The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can well, without a thought of fame. If it comes at all, it will come because it is deserved, not because it is sought after. It is a very indiscreet and troublesome ambition which cares so much about fame, about what the world says of us, to be always looking in the face of others for approval—to be always anxious about the effect of what we do or say—to be always shouting to hear the echoes of our own voices.

A BEAUTIFUL FORM.—Take abundant exercise in the open air—free, attractive, joyous exercise, such as young girls, when not restrained by false and artificial proprieties, are wont to take. If you are in the country, or can get there, ramble over the hills and through the woodlands; botanize, geologize, seek rare flowers and plants, hunt birds' nests and chase butterflies. Be a romp, even though you may be no longer a little girl. If you are a wife and mother, so much the better. Romp with your children. Attend to your bodily positions, in standing, sitting, lying and walking, and employ such general or special gymnastics as your case may require. Live, while in doors, in well ventilated rooms; take sufficient wholesome and nourishing food, at regular hours; keep the mind active and cheerful—in short, obey all the laws of health.

CURIOSITY GRATIFIED AND SATISFIED.—Some Newporters are renowned for their prying curiosity. Their peculiarity is pointedly hit by the following, which, says the Newport Daily News, is "aimed at somebody:"

"Duncan Pell, Esq., has just commenced the erection of a new fence in front of his mansion, on Mary street, in this city. On one of the posts is the following in manuscript:

"The proposed fence is to be 60 feet long, 3½ feet rails over coping; to be finished this week. Mr. Eaton is the carpenter, and Mr. Fludder the mason. The work is to be done by the day.

DUNCAN PELL.

"'Terms cash.

"'Messrs. Finch & Engs furnish the lumber.

"'I hope this will be satisfactory to the public.

"'April 25, 1859.'"

[Conclusion of the abve thrilling legend.]

It was on the first night of the to be dry month of May, '59—the month of flowers and balmy zephyrs, passional attraction, green peas and other affinities, that Duncan Pell lay buried in the arms of slumber.

A loud and terrible rapping roused him. It was continued. Rap—rap, rap! Starting from sleep, Duncan looked forth into the moonlight. A dark form was pounding away at the door. As Pell looked from the window, the Form cried aloud.

"Say—you—Mister Pell—be you agoin to have this ere fence white or yaller washed?"
