Are you, reader, honest, honorable and law-abiding? Think about it.

There is no law to compel any one to receive a newspaper who does not wish to do so, but there is a law that compels one to pay for a newspaper if it is received.

There is not one single subscriber on our list who is ACTUALLY UNABLE to pay for the paper if the desire to do so is strong enough.

Law of Subscription.

Few readers of newspapers fully and clearly understand the law governing subscriptions. Below are the decisions of the United States Supreme Court upon the subject:

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary when subscription expires, are considered as wishing to renew their subscription.

If subscribers order a discontinuance of their periodicals the publisher may continue to send them until all dues are paid.

If the subscriber continues to take the periodical from the postoffice to which it is directed,, or receives it from the carrier, he is responsible until he has settled his bill and ordered the paper discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address the subscriber is held responsible.

If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until express notice with payment of all arrearages is made.

BUY RED CROSS SEALS.

When we realize that one person out of every four in America who dies between the ages of fifteen and fifty dies from tuberculosis, and that it is mainly through voluntary subscriptions that the fight against the disease is initiated, we realize what the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals means to Minnesota.

The economic loss to this state annually from tuberculosis is ten million dollars, which means that every one of us loses five dollars personally. Practically all of the 2,500 annual deaths from tuberculosis are preventable if taken in time and properly treated. When you buy a Red Cross Christmas seal you help Minnesota to "take them in time" and to eliminate the needless suffering and needless loss occasioned by the white plague in this state. Tuberculosis leaves more destitute widows and orphans than any other disease—Red Cross seals save families from misery.

If Minnesota raises the fund which it should, it will mean that poverty will not prevent the proper treatment of tuberculosis victims. Adequate funds will make possible the free services of physicians for diagnosis and treatment, the care of a visiting nurse, and the provision of proper diet and open air living for the patient and protective care for the families of the poor.

Of course we want our community to rank among the first in per capita seal sales this year. The way to do this is not to talk about it, but to buy seals. Let us put them on our calling cards, on our private and business correspondence, bills, packages and everything that will hold them from now until the end of the year. If each of us purchased one hundred seals, think of what our community and the state could do in ridding itself of disease next year!

MINNESOTA PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

The Minnesota Public Health Association announces that its membership is open to all citizens interested.

Anyone who is concerned about his own health, that if his neighbor, or that of this state as a whole, should take advantage of this opportunity. Weekly public health letters and various pamphlets will be sent to every member.

"Minnesota the Healthiest State in the Union" is the slogan. Knowledge concerning disease and its prevention must be disseminated widely. The health and efficiency of this state depends directly upon the health and happiness of the individual citizen.

Do you know, Mr. Citizen, that for your present haphazard way of preventing disease you are paying directly or indirectly, a tax greater than the war tax of a foreign citizen? Consequently, you should realize that it is not only an opportunity, but a duty to become informed and to spread this information to less fortunate neighbors. Knowledge will enable you to do your share in Minnesota's great battle against preventable disease and death.

Information will be sent to anyone who sends his or her name and address to the Minnesota Public Health Association, Old Capitol, Saint Paul, Minnesota.

The Association's new year begins July the first. As new mailing lists send your name in at once. Simply address: Minnesota Public Health Association, Old Capitol, St. Paul, Minn.
