ANNOUNCEMENTS

Barnes Mansion Changes Hands.

Arthur L. Jensen has purchased through the agency of Francis D. Donohue, the property located in the town of Preston belonging to Mrs. Mary T. White. It consists of the large mansion house built several years ago by the late James Barnes, who was an architect in New York city for several years, and spent his summers in Preston. It is estimated the mansion cost over $20,000—when erected. There are also 35 acres of good land with 300 fruit trees on it. Mr. Jensen will take possession immediately and make some repairs.

Don't Miss It!

A rare opportunity will be afforded the people of Norwich in the coming of Mrs. Royal A. Bristol, the well and widely known entertainer and dramatic impersonator, who will appear at Y. M. C. A. hall on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of St. Margaret's Guild of Trinity Episcopal church. Mrs. Bristol is a daughter of the late president of Claverack college, and is a most accomplished and versatile artist, who has delighted her audiences wherever she has appeared. Her press notices are uniformly flattering and appreciative. One of the most delightful affairs of this week," says the New York World. "Mrs. Bristol moved her hearers to tears of laughter, so capital were her impersonations and her various dialects."—N. Y. Morning Telegraph.

MAENNERCHOR SINGERS WILL ASSIST IN CONCERT

To be Given for the Benefit of German and Austrian Widows and Orphans in Davis Theatre.

A sacred concert will be given under the auspices of the United German Societies of Norwich and vicinity by the Marine Band of the interned North German steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie, assisted by the German choral societies on Sunday, May 21st, 1916, 3.15 p. m. at the Davis theatre for the benefit of German and Austrian widows and orphans.

The band is under the direction of T. Lukajewski. This band is the same that accompanied this steamer in its race across the Atlantic when the city of Portland, Me., awoke one morning to see in its harbor this large ocean steamer with several millions of dollars on board when its captain was forced to put into Portland to protect his passengers and cargo. The

AT THE AUDITORIUM

Constance Collier in Tongues of Men, Paramount Feature Today and Saturday.

As a special feature attraction for today and tomorrow the management of the Auditorium has booked Constance Collier, the internationally famous star, supported by a typical Moroco cast in The Tongues of Men, a sparkling drama of love versus duty. A short synopsis of the story follows: In a sermon on the evil of the theatre the Rev. Dr. Penfield Sturgis, rector of fashionable St. Martins-in-the-Lane, refers directly to Jane Bartlett and the grand opera Zaporah of which she is the star. Stung to the quick she accepts the challenge he has given and determines to make him "eat his sermon, word for word."

On the strength of the rector's sermon the mayor closes the opera but the Rev. Dr. Penfield having had a chance to study Miss Bartlett at close range, realizes her bigness. He discovers that out of the goodness of her heart she has been quietly educating a number of poor girls, feeding hungry composers and lending a kindly ear to the downhearted.

Repentant, he decides that he owes her an apology which he makes in an open letter to the newspapers. At this his congregation rises in arms and, to preserve his dignity the young rector offers to marry the prima donna. She accepts, thus having carried out her threat. At this point the story takes an unexpected turn; why not see the play and enjoy it for yourself?

Other photoplays on today's bill are The Little Tease, a two reel Kleine comedy drama and the Pathe comedy, Shooting at Random.

WILLIAM HODGE,

Master American Type-Portrayer, Coming to Davis Theatre Tuesday, May 23.

William Hodge, in his latest play, "Fixing Sister," who is booked at the Davis theatre on Tuesday evening, May 23, has proven himself the master of American characterization, in his newest role of John Otis. For the last 11 years only two plays have been needed to exploit this highly popular star, so great has been his popularity in The Man From Home and The Road to Happiness. But now he has made his bow in a fresh portrayal of the same sturdy American type which always appeals to his admirers, and this time it is the supreme type of American gentleman—the modern American who is equally at home in business and society and ever masterful and alert. John Otis is a captain of industry, a club man, a man-about-town, who plays golf, polo, and has a smattering of sporting knowledge as an understanding of most worldly matters. This new role of Hodge's is that of a man of the city and a background of high society life casts it into sharp relief. All of the four acts of this latest comedy drama are laid in New York city and its fashionable and luxurious life is vividly depicted. Fashion is the keynote of the play itself, although Otis is representative of the staunch, common sense American ideals. He hails from Kansas City, and like the "Man from Missouri" that he is, he has "to be shown." The result is that when his sister of the title role, a rich and aristocratic young widow, Mrs. Ellsworth, becomes involved in her extravagant social follies and her headstrong worship of society fads and foreign titles, and is about to become the prey of two scheming adventurers, Otis comes post-haste to New York. Arrived, he dons evening clothes, and embarks in the mad whirl of society, while performing the rather delicate and at times somewhat unsuccessful task of curing his sister of her infatuation. But he finally achieves success by a most odd and novel strategem. It is this which furnishes a remarkable comedy surprise as the third act climax—a surprise that has proven one of the most convulsively mirthful finales of the modern stage. Mr. Hodge has surrounded himself with his accustomed fine support of artists. They include, besides his charming and youthful leading lady, Miriam Collins—and that gracious old-time actress, Ida Vernon, such other expert players as Hamilton Deane, Teresa Maxwell-Conover and Charles Canfield.

Seat sale Saturday at 10 a. m. Note—No mail orders will be accepted for 50c seats as the number is limited and will be sold only at the box office.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

The feature picture at the Colonial today is The Heart Breakers, a Knickerbocker drama in three parts. It portrays incidents which happen when Bernice becomes an heiress by her sudden inheritance of a fortune and throws four ambitious men of doubtful ages into consternation. Folly is an Essanay drama in two parts and two other pictures for today are He's In Again; Mina drama, and The Rakoon Hose Company, Lubin comedy, which ends today's big bill.

Deep River—Word has been received of the death at Los Angeles, of Mrs. Florence Pendleton Scarborough, which occurred April 29. She was an accomplished singer and a former resident of this town. Her father, Rev. W. H. Pendleton, was a former pastor of the local Baptist church.

MANY TROUBLES DUE TO WEAK KIDNEYS

"It is no use advertising a medicine unless the medicine itself is good enough to back up the claims you make for it," said Lee & Osgood, the popular druggists, to a Bulletin man. "On the other hand, it is a pleasure to sell a medicine when your customers come in afterward and tell you how much good it has done them. And that is why we like to sell and recommend Solvax, the great kidney remedy. We have so much faith in this article that we are going to guarantee it in the future and will return the money to any purchaser of Solvax whom it does not help."

This shows great faith in Solvax. It really is a most unusual medicine, because it overcomes the worst cases of kidney complaint by removing the cause. It goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It seeks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them pass off all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic pains; soothes and heals the bladder and quickly ends all such troubles.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT NEAR BRAINTREE, MASS.,

When a Smoking Car on a Local Train Overturned.

Braintree, Mass., May 18.—Eight persons were hurt when a smoking car on a local train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, bound for Boston, overturned near the station here today.

Although none was believed to be seriously injured, four persons were sent to a hospital in Boston. The train, which left Greenbush on the South Shore for Boston, was rounding a curve at the station when the smoker, the end car, was derailed and overturned. The passengers were caught between the car seats and some were cut by broken glass.

POETRY

A PERFECT DINNER TABLE.

A table clean that's slightly soiled
What's greasy little hands have touched;
The napkins kept in silver rings,
And only ordinary things
From which to eat, and simple fare
And just the wife and baddies there,
And while I serve the clatter sped
Of little girl and little lad
Who have so very much to say
About the happenings of the day.

Four big round eyes that dance with glee
Forever flashing joys at me,
Two little tongues that race and run
To tell of troubles and of fun;
The mother with a patient smile
Who knows that she must wait a while
Before she'll get a chance to say
What she's discovered through the day,
She steps aside for girl and lad
Who have so much to tell their dad.

Perhaps our manners aren't the best,
Perhaps our elbows often rest
Upon the table, and at times
That very worst of dinner crimes,
That very shameful act and rude,
Of speaking ere you've downed food,
Too frequently, I fear is done,
So fast the little voices run.
Yet why should table manners stay
Those tongues that have so much to say?

At many a table I have been
Where wealth and luxury were seen,
And I have dined in halls of pride
Where all the guests were dignified.
But when it comes to pleasure rare
The perfect dinner table's where
No stranger's face is ever known,
The dinner hour we spend alone,
When little girl and little lad
Run riot telling things to dad.

—Edgar A. Guest, in the Detroit Free Press.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Louis—Don't you get awfully hungry when you have no cook?

Julia—Horribly! Sometimes I'm almost willing to eat what I cook myself.—Life.

"I see you have a cold like everybody else."

"This isn't a cold. I simply got hoarse telling all my friends how to cure their colds."—London Opinion.

Mr. Popp—Here's a county out in Kansas where every ninth man has an automobile.

Johnny Popp—Oh, Dad, is that what they mean by the submerged tenth?—Judge.

"Do you give much time to your speeches?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. And no matter how much thought I give a speech before I make it, it is liable to cause me still more worry afterward."—Washington Star.

"Do you think that all men are free and equal?"

"I know of one place where they are."

"Where is that?"

"In a barber shop. There every one has to wait his turn."—Detroit Free Press.

"You are a fine little fellow."

"Yessir."

"And may be president some day."

"That's right sir. And a quarter invested now might arouse a gratitude that might get you an important office when that time arrives.—Kansas City Journal.

He—One thing is sure. I don't intend to be criticised and censured because I have failed to realize your expectations.

She—You misunderstand me completely. All that I have done is to express my conviction that you have more than justified my fears.—Richmond, Times Dispatch.

"The new minister called upon the factory superintendent today."

"How'd he come out?"

"Boiling, the superintendent thought he was a man looking for a job and told him he would give him a job in spite of his looks if he could furnish fire-class references and give a bond."—Houston Post.
