

DEEMING THE DEMON.

His Last Victim Miraculously Escaped Murder.

THE HIDEOUSNESS OF HIS CRIMES.

Guitau Admirable in Comparison to This Monstrosity.

A REFINED BUT HEARTLESS FIEND.

Clearly Not Insane, and Deserving of The Very Worst Punishment Possible.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The steamer Alameda, which arrived yesterday morning from Australia, brought details of the Deeming murders. Nothing since the early days of the settlement of West Australia has so stirred the colony to its depths. The victims of his villainy and murderous crimes are numerous. The remains of the wife which he murdered at Windsor, southeast of Melbourne, were found cemented in the walls of the house in which they had lived together. He was then passing under the name of Drew, and was apparently of sporting proclivities, dressed in the height of fashion; bedecked with diamonds, and carried himself with the air of a lord. He was traced to the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm, where he was identified as Albert Williams. Eight days after the crime Williams sought another victim, through a matrimonial agency in Melbourne, and went on by steamer. On the voyage he made desperate love to a young lady passenger, Miss Katie Rounsell, of Bathurst. His manner captured the heart of the passenger, and when they arrived at Sydney she had promised to become his wife. He was then traveling under the name of Baron Swanson, and in glowing terms pictured to her his vast handsome revenue, and made glorious promises for their future. Step by step the detectives traced him, aided in their search by his ostentatious display of diamonds and general bearing, and his love entanglement with Miss Rounsell eventually led to his capture. At Sydney, Swanson was identified as Albert Deeming, and eventually the record of the man under the names of Deeming, Baron Swanson, Drew, Williams and Lawson were made bare to the world. His last victim, whose escape from a murder such as had been visited upon previous ones, is the principal witness in the case against him now. She was only a country girl of 19, and never doubted the sincerity of Deeming's motives. In a letter to her sister the unfortunate girl says: "I suppose you know all the news now. I am so weary of nothing but reporters and artists for papers. I think every one sympathizes with me, but I was very unfortunate. I will, no doubt, get work here, and then perhaps might see you again, but I will never return. Perhaps, dear Liz, it would be better for you to change our now notorious name under my picture 'The Intended Victim.' I suppose they will put me in the wax works. Every one wants to take us about, but I don't like leaving the house. Every shop has flaring news of the Windsor murder, and under every gas jet stands a crowd reading. In all the railway carriages and tram-cars I hear nothing but the same thing. What a mockery are my wedding clothes. I was looking at them last night."

A Bad Egg.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Young Jo Kasper has been locked up for violating an injunction secured by his father, Frank Kasper, enjoining Jo from interfering with the premises 1002 West 18th street. The father is 70 years of age and when his wife was down with typhoid fever, went to the house and assaulted his father and prevented his sisters and brothers from visiting the old people. Jo denied the charges, but the court decreed his defense too weak to save him from punishment.

Congress Takes no Stock.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The Columbus fair directors returned from Washington yesterday, and said they were not long in the National capital before they discovered congress would not vote money for the stock in the exposition. Therefore they changed their tactics and informed the committee a loan would be accepted. "Not having time to consult the committee, we did what we thought best," said Winston.

Snowed Under.

BOONE, Ia., April 14.—The storm raged all night with unabated fury and continued this morning. There is nearly eighteen inches of snow on a level. Later, the sun came out and the snow began to melt rapidly.

Russian Generals in Command.

PARIS, April 13.—It is said several leading Russian generals have left St. Petersburg to take command of the troops massed on the German frontier.

Pennsylvania Has a Demon.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 15.—A horrible story of inhuman treatment became public here today when Albert Zitman was arrested on two charges of cruelty by the humane society officers. It looks very much as if Zitman was preparing to emulate Deeming's example by inhuman treatment of an old German named Blomzuck, who was chained to the floor, and left to die of cold and starvation. Zitman had also locked his own children, seven and nine years old, in the house with the body of the dead man, and they were found lying in filth on the bare floor. The body of the old German shows marks of terrible beatings and of bruises where his chains cut into his limbs. The children act like gibbering idiots, being crazed by the treatment they have received. The old man is guarded in jail to prevent the mob from doing him justice according to the code of Judge Lynch.

REP. WILSON ROUGHLY HANDLED.

The Cleveland Contingent—In the Event Silver Scheme Wins—

What it is to Show.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The truth in the case of James Russell Young, recently dismissed from the position of executive clerk, has come out. He was charged with betraying the secrets of the executive session over the Behring sea matter. Young was not in the chamber at the time the matter was considered, but came in soon after. The disclosure was made by a member of the senate, who sent a memorandum to the newspaper man. When Young was accused the correspondent proffered him the envelope upon which the memorandum was written with which to defend himself. Young declined to take the envelope or use the evidence. There have been several indications lately that sharp political and personal discussions will soon disturb the olive-leaved dove of peace heretofore hovering unmoled over the senate debates of this session. In various ways, not plainly discernible in the printed debates, it has become manifest that a rather ugly feeling has been engendered between the senators on the republican side, arising out of the executive clerk Young episode; also there has been made apparent a decided tendency on the part of the democratic party to push things on a party line a little more closely than has hitherto been done. The pending debate on the two bills reported by the judiciary committee to increase the number of judges in the court of claims and to amend the circuit appeal law, illustrates this latter statement. Mr. Hoar when he called up the bills, assured the senate that they would not occupy more than half an hour at the outside, yet they occupied three hours of rather acrimonious debate, and one bill was left unfinished, and the other was reconsidered after having been adopted by a visa voce vote. Other measures will probably be discussed for a considerable time longer, and a division more or less on party lines is probable upon their final adoption.

Roughly Handled.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Rep. Wilson, of Washington, who was pretty roughly handled in the bureau of engraving building on Friday, does not censure the old watchman as he was simply carrying out positive instructions not to permit any one to ascend to the upper floors, and Mr. Wilson was thoughtlessly in search of Chief Meredith. As a member from the wild and woolly west he resented the rough handling the watchman was giving him, and struck the old fellow with a square from the shoulder lick. The affair created a good deal of excitement about the department. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Meredith are good friends, and it is for that reason the former says he regrets the occurrence. He holds Mr. Meredith entirely blameless for the unfortunate episode. The affair will, of course, revive the story of the trouble Wilson and Beckwith, of New Jersey, had on the floor of the house about two years ago. The Washington representative generally stands up for his rights, and the fact that he weighs only about 120 pounds does not interfere with his courage. He will have to take a great deal of chaffing on account of this affair from his colleagues in the house, and will again be styled "Fighting Wilson of Washington."

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A Democratic Text Book for the Coming Campaign.

NEW YORKERS OPINION OF HILL.

Witticism and Fact Blended in a Manner to Cause Chills and Fever.

LIVELY SCENES IN EMPIRE STATE.

When Young Chicory's Winter Convention Tried to Disfranchise Democracy.

NEW YORK, April 18.—A prominent publishing house of this city have just taken the copy for a new book which it is calculated will cause a sensation in political circles. It is well written up, and is devoted chiefly to describing Senator Hill, posing as a democrat; and is made up from actual facts and speeches of leading democrats of the state of New York. Its opening chapters picture Daniel in the executive mansion at Albany, plotting, and describes the condition of the mansion as the wife of his successor found it. His February convention is described as being necessarily held in the winter, as Frank M. Thorne said: "Because he knew what sort of a gang his convention would contain, and he naturally wished to hold the convention before the weather got warm enough to encourage its tendency to putrefaction. He knew that such a convention as that couldn't endure its own society in warm weather, long enough to hatch anything." He is then taken to Washington, where a decent democrat couldn't be found to introduce him, and he fell back upon the sympathies of an old school mate from Oregon, a republican (Dolph) who, in the kindness of his heart, did the act as graciously as he could. A large part of the book is taken up with quotations from democratic speeches, of a most withering kind. One of which is like this, from a speech at the big meeting in Buffalo April 5th: The speaker said: "Within the last three months he has been for tariff reform, and against tariff reform, by a revival of the republican abomination of 1883; against a nibbling tariff reform, for a nibbling tariff reform, and again against the nibble. He has been for and against free coinage and has mysteriously straddled due south by north upon it. And so this burlesque political skirt dancer cavorts and kicks and twists and turns and bows and smirks and throws kisses at the political baldheads, and tries to palm himself off as an innocent young thing of beauty and a joy forever, and a Delartean dream of grace, when all the while he is simply making an indecent exposure of himself, as a political street-walker offering himself body and soul at the low price of a vote or a delegate. [Applause.] "Hill is very eloquent on a type writer, if he doesn't happen to forget his extemporaneous carpet-bag. [Laughter.] Having named the delegates and the alternates, (in his February convention) and relieved the democratic party of the trouble of nominating electors at the usual fall convention; having, it is said, even prescribed the soubriquet of Young Chicory by which he was introduced, which the satirists have happily converted into Young Chicory, to indicate his quality; having usurped all the usual functions of the delegates, nothing was left for the convention but to cough when Young Chicory sneezed. It was as absolutely void of opinion or volition as a cartload of spoilt clams in a compost heap in August. And so by Young Chicory's command, in not a speech, resolution, or other proceeding, was the name of Cleveland permitted to appear."

The Minneapolis Move.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 18.—The hotels are overrun with applications for apartments already, and there is no doubt that the city will have more people in it next June than it ever had before which is saying a great deal, for there have been some pretty big crowds here in the last ten years. There need be no fears, though, that there will not be room enough for everybody. The republicans of this state are for Harrison, and it looks as if he would be nominated.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. dkw

Pumping vs. Gravity.

SPOKANE, April 18.—A visitor to this city who has observed the controversy upon the water question which is at present agitating the public, says to a reporter: "It would seem like carrying coals to Newcastle to build a dam for the purpose of making power to pump water for your beautiful city when it is so simple a matter to siphon pure water from up the river, beyond contaminating influences, to your reservoir. It seems to me that this could be done for the amount that is asked for the site in question, and would do away with the danger that would accrue from damming the river at the point proposed."

Cleveland in New York.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Ex-Mayor Grace, in a conversation yesterday said: "If Cleveland cannot carry New York who can? There is no democratic leader who commands the enthusiastic support of the rank and file of the party in this state that Grover Cleveland does. His popularity rests not on patronage, nor upon the activity of politicians working in his behalf. The Cleveland sentiment is the spontaneous expression of preference for a leader who is known to be trustworthy."

Marion county democrats have nominated Wm. H. Egan, a cousin of Phil Sheridan, for county clerk.

Rhode Island Finances.

PROVIDENCE, April 18.—Recently the heirs of a family named Howland, discovered an obligation held against this state, bearing date of 1770, which, together with principal and interest, aggregated $500,000. The law under which the debt was originally incurred provided that it should be paid in Spanish milled dollars. A subsequent act provided that the issue of 1770 notes, could be paid in new notes, "equivalent to the silver," issued in 1786. These old notes of 1786 had been preserved, and when the claimants under the notes of 1770 called for their $500,000 last week State Treasurer Clarke took the attorney of the claimant to the treasury vault and told him to help himself to as many millions as he wanted from some 20 old haircloth trunks, stuffed with notes of the 1786 issue, each one bearing on its face the legend: "This is equivalent to silver," and thus the state was saved, by paying him in strict conformity to the ancient and unreppealed law, which says the notes of 1770 must be redeemed by the notes of 1786. When Mr. Rider, the claimant, arrives he will be introduced to his treasure, and express wagons will be at his service for the removal of the compound interest. If he declines to accept and cart away his money there is the old and also unreppealed law providing fine, imprisonment, and stripes, "well laid on," for any one who refuses these notes in payment of that particular debt.

Deeming in Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—Deeming the Demon married a Mrs. Catching in this city, in January 1888, under the name of Williams. She was too confiding for her own good. Her speculative spouse was allowed the freedom of her bank savings, and one day Mrs. Williams found both her money and husband gone. This was in the spring of 1888, and nothing has ever been seen or heard of him since. He took about $2,000, all she had saved in long years. It was never known where he went, but it was that he came from Australia. Mrs. Catching, however, whom he married, robbed and deserted, is not inclined to believe the identity of the two men. She professes to see no striking similarity in the photographs, but it is a sore subject with her, naturally, and she could hardly be expected to confess that she had once been allied with a wretch like Deeming.

Pimples.

The old idea of 40 years ago was that facial eruptions were due to a "blood humor," for which they gave potash. Thus all the old Sarsaparillas contain potash, a most objectionable and drastic mineral, that instead of decreasing, actually creates more eruptions. You have noticed this when taking other Sarsaparillas than Joy's. It is however now known that the stomach, the blood creating power, is the seat of all vitalizing or cleansing operations. A stomach clogged by indigestion or constipation, vitiates the blood, result pimples. A clean stomach and healthful digestion purifies it and they disappear. Thus Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is compounded after the modern idea to regulate the bowels and stimulate the digestion. The effect is immediate and most satisfactory. A short testimonial to contrast the action of the potash Sarsaparillas and Joy's modern vegetable preparation. Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 400 Hayes St., S. F., writes: "I have for years had indigestion, I tried a popular Sarsaparilla but it actually caused more pimples to break out on my face. Hearing that Joy's was a later preparation and acted differently, I tried it and the pimples immediately disappeared."
