The Good Old Way.

John Maxe had a wife who was kind and true—
A wife who loved him well.
She cared for his home and there only child;
But, if the truth must tell,
She fretted and pined because John was poor
And little business was done to pay;
But he only said when she talked of change,
"We'll stick to the good old way."

She saw her neighbors were growing rich,
And dwelling in houses grand;
But she was living in poverty
With wants upon every hand,
And she urged her husband to speculate,
To risk his earnings at play;
But he only said, "My dearest wife,
We'll stick to the good old way."

For he knew that the money that's quickly got
In the money that's quickly lost,
And the money that stays is the money earned
At honest endeavor's cost;
So he plodded along in honest style,
And he bartered himself each day;
And he only said to his fretful wife,
"We'll stick to the good old way."

And at last there came a terrible crash,
When beggary, want and shame
Came down on the homes of their wealthy friends,
While John's remained the same:
For he had no debts, and he gave no trust;
"My motto is this," he'd say—
"It's a charm against panics of every kind—
'Tis 'Stick to the good old way!'"

And the wife looked round on the little home
That was every nail their own,
And she asked forgiveness of honest John
For the pettish mistrust she had shown;
But he only said, as her tearful face
Upon his shoulder lay:
"We good old way is the best way, wife—
We'll stick to the good old way."

Miscellaneous.

Actions are prayers put in practice.

Boston has issued 1,000 liquor licenses this year.

Walls have ears—that is, those walls which support a telephone.

The famous musicians, Liszt, Joseffy and Remenyi, are of Hungarian birth.

If men had ever possessed all that they claim to have lost, the world's wealth would be doubled.

It ought to be easier to hit the head of a nail than it is to strike your thumb, but such is not the case.

Peter Cooper was a persistent milk drinker for the last ten years of his life, and felt that it kept him alive.

Fourteen tons of fireworks and 10,000 separate pieces were burned at the New York and Brooklyn bridge opening.

Some men say wise things—others do them. Even Solomon did not successfully combine both branches of the business.

A cold is the cellar dug to accommodate the foundations of disease, and which often furnishes a grave for the proprietor.

The "Great Eastern" cost her proprietors $20,000 for maintenance the past year. Her earnings were $65 from sightseers.

Artificial diamonds are now made so perfect that the difference between them and the real gems can not be easily distinguished.

A new industry in Japan is said to be that of lacquering plaster so as to resemble marble. On a basis of clay this lacquer work is especially novel and effective.

The oldest tree on earth, so far as any one knows, is the "Bo" tree in the sacred city of Amarapoora, Burmah. It was planted in 288 B. C., and is accordingly 2171 years old.

Japanese investigations at Corea fix the population of that Kingdom at 7,394,967. The majority of females is about 200,000. The capital, with suburbs, contains 200,000 persons.

Queen Victoria is a very successful journalist. The three official papers published by her authority—the London Gazette, Edinburgh Gazette and Dublin Gazette—paid a profit last year of £29,316.

Baron Krupp, the great German iron founder, and the manufacturer of the celebrated Krupp gun, is probably the largest employer of labor in the world, his industrial army numbering forty thousand people.

The waves of the Atlantic ocean attain the various heights of 25, 32 and 15 feet; those of the Pacific are sometimes as much as 32 feet high; in the Mediterranean they are 14½ ft., and in the North Sea 13½ ft.

A Scotch person said, somewhat sarcastically, of a hard drinker, that "he put an enemy in his mouth to steal away his brains," but that the enemy, after a thorough and protracted search, returned without anything.

Joseph M. Stoddart, publisher of the American edition of the "Encyclopedia Britannica," has sued the New York Tribune Association to recover $100,000 for libeling him by charging that he pirated an edition of that encyclopedia.

Priest—"Pat, I understand you are going to be married again." Disconsolate Widower—"Yis, your riv'rence." Priest—"But your wife, Pat, has only been dead two weeks." Disconsolate Widower—"Yis, yer riv'rence; but shure ain't she as dead now as she iver will be?"

The Pope, Leo XIII, was born March 2d, 1810. He is the 25th pontiff, and was elected to the papacy on February 20, 1878, being crowned on March 3 of the same year, so that he now completes the 5th year of his pontificate. The Pope's family name is Joachim Pecchi.

The last St. Louis story about the Chicago girl is really too bad. It says that she insisted upon throwing her shoe after a newly-married couple. The carriage is a total wreck, the bride is in the hands of a doctor, and the groom was with difficulty dug out from under the ruins.

The Calcutta Exhibition, which will open on the 5th of December, will be remarkable chiefly for the marvellous collection of precious stones that will be shown. Many of the native Princes of India have promised to lend their finest jewels, and among these are some of the costliest in the world.

A colored potter in an Austin, Texas store asked the proprietor for a day's leave of absence. "What's up now?" "Dars a niggah gwine ter get married and I oughter be present to see him fru." "Who is this colored man at whose wedding you have to be present?" "Is'e de niggah, boss."

In London, says a society critic, the "best" people are the worst dancers. Further still, good dancing is actually condemned as "bad form." The American practice of reversing in the waltz was crushed because "Oh, the best people don't reverse." Such are the frivolities of society in London.

The other day on an Arkansas railroad, an old gentleman sat, half asleep, with a book entitled "The Train Robbers" on his lap. Pretty soon he sank to sleep. The window sash fell with a loud report and the old man springing to his feet and throwing up his hands, exclaimed "Gentlemen, I haven't got a cent."

Massachusetts has still within its borders a few representatives of its thirteen original tribes of Indians, numbering about 725 families and 1,000 individuals. It is thought to be doubtful if any of them are of pure aboriginal blood, and their numbers is slowly decreasing as the years go by. Extermination seems to be their sure destined fate.

The combined efforts of four policemen were required to carry into the House of Commons on April 10th the petition in favor of closing public houses on Sunday—one of the largest documents of the kind ever presented to Parliament. It contained 509,332 signatures upon a continuous roll of paper, which was 4,832 yards long and weighed 350 pounds.

The fate of the Jeannette has led the American Government to withdraw the two American parties engaged in the international circumpolar enterprise. The Point Barrow party under Lieutenant Ray has been easily reached, but the attempt to convey stores to the Greeley party at Lady Franklyn Bay has failed. Later in the season another attempt will be made.

Voltaire's house is now used by the Geneva Bible Society as a repository for Bibles. The British Bible Society's house in Earl street, Blackfriars, stands where, in 1378, the Council forbid Wycliffe circulating portions of Holy Scriptures, and where he uttered the words: "The truth shall prevail," and the Religious Tract Society's premises are where Bibles were publicly burned.

The green 3-cent United States postage-stamp which goes out in October will have had a run of thirteen years. It succeeded the short-lived blue design, which came after the reds. Postage-stamps began in 1851 with a 3-cent issue bearing the portrait of Franklin and a 10-cent stamp with Washington's picture, and a second series with five denominations—one, three, five, ten and twelve cents—came not long afterwards.

The output of coal in the United Kingdom of Great Britain during the year 1882 amounted to 156,390,077 tons, which was an increase of nearly two and a half millions of tons over the output of the year preceding, although there were thirty-three fewer mines operated. There were 565,587 persons employed in and about the mines, of whom 4,652 were females. There were, during the year, 876 fatal accidents in the coal mines, by which the deaths of 1,128 persons were occasioned.
