GREET EASTER WITH SUNRISE SERVICE

Easter Morn was greeted in this city Sunday morning by a United sunrise service by Young People's societies held at the old Second Congregational, the first service of this kind to be held in this city. Nine churches were represented by delegations, the representations numbering as follows: First Baptist 13, Trinity Methodist 33, Central Baptist 68, United Congregational 54, Park Congregational 11, Church of the Good Shepherd 12, Norwich Town 14, Greeneville Congregational 9, Federated 8, outsiders 5, making a total at the service of 217.

The service was very impressive and helpful being in charge of L. A. Dean, president of the Young People's society of the United Congregational church. An orchestra of fifteen pieces under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Lane assisted the organist Miss Olive Linton in the musical part of the service.

An interesting and helpful sermon was preached by Rev. C. L. Kenagy, the new Young People's Worker of the Central Baptist church, who took for his subject Eternal Life and How to Live It. The offering of the morning was devoted to the Near East fund and was very substantial.

The church was beautifully and artistically decorated with Easter lilies and potted and cut flowers which were generously loaned by the United Congregational church.

BREAKS HIS LEG IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

Ellsworth S. Grant of Quaker Hill is in the Lawrence hospital in New London suffering with a fracture of the left thigh as the result of a motorcycle accident which occurred about noon on Sunday near Wakefield, Rhode Island. Mr. Grant in company with Norman Blaisdell of New London was on the way from New London to Newport, R. I., to spend the day. The two young men left New London early in the morning and when they got to Wakefield struck a bad piece of road. Blaisdell was leading and was some distance ahead when the accident happened. Mr. Grant was going through a sandy stretch of road when an automobile came up behind him and to make way for the machine he started to go a little faster and as he did so his machine skidded. It shot to one side of the road and crashed into a telephone pole throwing the young man over the handle bars with considerable force.

He was dazed for a few minutes and when he tried to rise found that his leg was injured so badly he could not stand on it. An automobile driven by a woman came along shortly afterward and the driver seeing the young man's condition helped him with the aid of Mr. Blaisdell, who finding that his friend was not with him had turned back. The injured man was taken to the Lawrence hospital where it was found that his thign was fractured and he was suffering from other severe bruises. His machine was badly smashed as a result of the crash.

NORTH STONINGTON QUOTA ON LOAN IS $16,200

The campaign for the Victory loan subscriptions will start Monday in North Stonington. Royal A. Moore is the town chairman, as in the previous loans, and Mrs. Frank Button the chairman of the women's committee.

This town has been allotted two captured German helmets, which will be given to the solicitor who turns in the largest number of subscriptions at the end of the first two weeks. Besides these rewards, each worker for the loan will receive a suitably inscribed medal made from captured German cannon.

The committee is not yet sure whether this town can be reached by the train of captured war material which is touring the state.

Residents of the town are cautioned that, as this town has no bank, they must fill out in each case the section of the application by which credit will be given to North Stonington. On the last loan the town made subscriptions amounting to $27,000.

The quota for the Fifth Liberty loan will be $16,260.

GAVE WELCOME HOME PARTY FOR TWO SOLDIERS

An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tefft on Fourth street, Saturday evening, in honor of two local boys who have lately returned fromoverseas. Private Fred Turner arrived home from France recently, after 12 months' service, during which he took part in one of the fiercest battles of the war, the Battle of the Marne, last July. He served with the 53rd Artillery and was one of those who was decorated for bravery and awarded the Croix de Guere. He returned home in good health and none the worse for his experience.

Sergeant A. F. Turner returned home after serving seven months over there with the 68th Artillery and tells some interesting stories of what he saw while in France.

All the guests were in high spirits at the safe return of the boys and all passed a most enjoyable evening. Music, dancing and games and dainty refreshments proved Mr. and Mrs. Tefft to be first class entertainers.

FIRST DIVISION, A. O. H., TO BUY LIBERTY BOND

At a meeting of the First Division, Ancient Order Hibernians, held Sunday, a committee was selected to negotiate for the purchase of a $1000 Victory bond. The division also holds a $1000 Liberty bond of the first issue. The division is in a very prosperous condition, although during the past year they have expended $950 for death and sick claims, five members having died in this time. Four members served in the army overseas and have safely returned.

The division is anticipating a big attendance at its post-Lenten dance.

INTEREST RATE FOR LOANS ON VICTORY BONDS

The announcement by the clearing house of Boston of the following vote passed regarding the rates to be charged customers on loans against purchases of Victory notes is of very great importance in the present campaign:

"Voted: That the Clearing House committee recommends to the members of the Boston Clearing House Association that they agree to loan customers on United States Victory loan notes at 4 3-4 per cent. for ninety days, with the privilege of one renewal for ninety days at the same rate."

Sounded Like Shots Fired.

What sounded to some of the police like shots fired and to others like boards clapping together caused a search around Central Wharf and along Thames street Saturday night about 11 o'clock, but nothing was found to explain the noises.

If you would enjoy the music of the band you must keep up with the procession.

RESURRECTION FESTIVAL AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

Saint Paul's words, "Unless Christ be risen, then is our faith vain," are the key-note to the belief of the Roman Catholic church in the truth of the Resurrection, a faith as strong today in the unchanging church as during the time of the earliest Christians. This faith gave inspiration on Easter day to the carols and choruses of rejoicing at St. Patrick's church, where the three altars were adorned with lilies, begonias, carnations and roses, and the sanctuary had been set with palms and flowering plants, arranged with customary pleasing effect by the Sisters of Mercy who have the care of the altars. At the gospel side of the high altar was conspicuous the Paschal candle, blessed the previous day, its flame symbolical of the light which shone among the Gentiles.

At the 7.30 mass, read by the rector, Rev. John H. Broderick, there were many hundreds of communicants, including the members of the Rosary society. During the 9 o'clock mass read by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, the Junior choir, directed by Organist Henry La Fontaine, gave a programme of jubilant hymns, Miss Mary Ansell singing the offertory solo, the majestic Handel, I Know That My Redemeer Liveth, in good voice. Miss Clementine Jordan's violin solo, the beautiful Ave Maria of Gounod, was played with a rich, full tone against the foil of the organ melody.

The high mass was sung by Rev. Peter J. Cuny. At this time Organist Frank L. Farrell directed his choir through a well selected list in which the numbers of Gounod's mass predominated. The chorus took their big compositions with surety, even tone, and a precision of attack indicative of frequent rehearsals and an understanding of their director's will. Among the best effects were the Kyrie, a trio by Mrs. Frank L. Farrell, Thomas Connelly and John Doyle, Et Incarnatus, by Mrs. Farrell, soprano, Frank G. Aubrey tenor and John Doyle, bass; the tenor solo by Thomas Connelly and smooth chorus singing of the Sanctus; the harmonious duet in the Hallelujah Chorus by Mrs. Farrell, soprano, and Miss Loretta Bellefleure, contralto, and the men's voices in O Salutaris Hostia during the Benediction. In the festal Hallelujah Chorus by Lambillotte, the interlude by Lang's string orchestra of eight pieces which assisted the organ was of wonderfully melodic charm, and the crescendo passages of Tantum Ergo showed the entire body of musicians at its best.

Having read the epistle for the Sunday, I. Cor. v. 7-8, and the gospel, the latter being Saint Mark's narration of the events of the first Easter morn, XVI. 1-7, Rev. Father Galvin preached from the concluding words of the angel to the astounded women at the tomb, "He is risen; He is not here." During the week the church has been following the Saviour from the Mount of Olives to Mount Calvary. Through the lamentations, the mourning vestments of the priests, the altar devoid of ornaments, the silence of the bells, in every way she has manifested her accord with the passion and death of the Redeemer. So now, on Easter Day she rejoices, because what Christ has done for Himself He has done for mankind, overcoming death, opening for men the gate to eternal life. The fact that the Son of God really rose from the tomb is not a matter of weighty contemplations, learned investigations, or mere personal opinions, but it is a convincingly authenticated event in human history, proving that Christ kept His promise, that God will keep His promises to the righteous and to those who fail to heed His warnings and threats; that redemption has been won, that the Lion of the Tribe of Judah has triumphed not only over His enemies but over the bonds of the tomb.

Following the mass, benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Father Cuny. The offering at three well attended masses was for diocesan charities, toward which St. Patrick's congregation has the record of always contributing with signal liberality.

RED CROSS WORKERS WILL MARCH IN VICTORY PARADE

All the women members of the Red Cross wearing their caps and aprons are being urged to meet at the Buckingham Memorial, Tuesday evening, at 7.15, to march in the Victory Loan parade. It seems fitting that the Red Cross workers who have done such fine service, should be represented in the parade that evening, with as large numbers as possible. The line of march has not yet been announced, but it will be a comparatively short one, and it is hoped that many women will feel equal to the walk, and come in uniform ,ready to take part in the patriotic event.

13 AMERICAN SOLDIERS BURIED AT LE MANS
