The Spring of Life is Past.

The spring of life is past
With it budding hopes and fears,
And the autumn time is coming
With its weight of weary years—
Our joyousness is fading,
Our hearts are dimmed with care,
And youth's fresh dreams of gladness
All perish darkly there.

While bliss was blooming near us
In the heart's full burst of spring,
While many hopes could cheer us,
Life seemed a glorious thing!
Like the foam upon a river,
When the breeze goes rippling o'er,
These hopes have fled forever,
To come to us no more.

'Tis sad—yet sweet—to listen
To the soft wing's gentle swell,
And think we hear the music
Our childhood knew so well:
To gaze out on the even,
And the boundless fields of air,
And feel again our boyhood's wish,
To roam like angels there.

There are many dreams of gladness
That cling around the past—
And from that tomb of feeling
Old thoughts come thronging fast;
The forms we loved so dearly,
In the happy days now gone,
The beautiful and lovely,
So fair to look upon.

Those bright and gentle maidens,
Who seemed so formed for bliss,
Too glorious and too heavenly
For such a world as this;
Whose soft dark eyes seemed swimming
In a sea of liquid light,
And whose locks of gold were streaming
O'er brows so sunny bright.

Whose smiles were like the sunshine
In the spring time of the year—
Like the changeful gleams of April,
They followed every tear:
They have passed—like hope—away:
All their loveliness has fled—
Oh—many a heart is mourning,
That they are with the dead.
Like the brightest buds of summer
They have fallen from the stem—
Yet oh—it is a lovely death,
To fade from earth like them.

And yet the thought is saddening,
To muse on such as they—
And feel that all the beautiful
Are passing fast away;
That the fair ones whom we love,
Like the tendrils of a vine,
Grow closely to each loving heart,
Then perish on their shrine!

And we can but think of these,
In the soft and gentle spring,
When the trees are waving o'er us,
And flowers are blossoming;
For we know that winter's coming
With his cold and stormy sky—
And the glorious beauty around us,
Is budding but to die.

VARIETY.

He who feels his own deficiencies will be a charitable man for his own sake.

One never regrets doing a polite or a kind thing, no matter how it is received.

Happiness must arise from our own temper and actions, and not immediately from any external conditions.

As we grow older it is with hearts as with heads of hair—it is not easy to distinguish the true from the false.

There are some human tongues which have two sides, like that of certain quadrupeds—one smooth, the other very rough.

An editor in North Carolina says he is so poor that when two dimes meet in his pocket he formally introduces them, they are such strangers.

An architect proposes to build a "Bachelor's Hall," which will differ from most houses in having no Eves.

Mrs. Partington says that nothing despises her so much as to see the people who profess to expect salvation, go to church without their purses when a recollection is to be taken.

Miss Smith asked "the pleasure of Captain Jones's company to tea." At the time appointed the captain, being in command of the Rifle Corps, made his appearance with the whole of his company in parade dress.

A young profligate fellow, seeing an aged hermit go by him barefoot, "Father," says he, "you are in a very miserable condition if there is not another world" "True, son," said the hermit, "but what is thy condition if there be?"

A Fine Thought.—A French writer has said that "to dream gloriously, you must act gloriously while you are awake, and to bring angels down to converse with you in your sleep, you must labor in the cause of virtue during the day."

A well known penurious character invited a friend to dinner, and provided two mutton chops. On removing the cover he said, "My friend you see your dinner," which his friend immediately, with his knife and fork, took to himself, remarking, "I wish I could see yours."

Prim People.—There is a set of people, says the Utica Telegraph, whom we cannot bear—the pinks of fashionable propriety—whose every word is precise, and whose every movement is unexceptionable—but who, though well versed in all the catalogues of polite behavior, have not a particle of soul nor cordiality about them We allow that their manners may be abundantly correct. There may be elegance in every position, not a smile out of place, and not a step that would not bear the measurement of the severest scutiny This is all very fine; but what we want is the gayety of social intercourse; the frankness that speaks affability to all, that chases timidity from every bosom, and tells every man in the company to be confident and happy. This is what we conceive to be the virtue of the text, and not the sickening formality of those who walk by rule, and would reduce the whole of the human life to a wire-bound system of misery and constraint.

THE UNDERSIGNED BEGS LEAVE to state, that he has taken the shop on the premises of Mr. C. H. Lewers, King street, next door to the Lumber Yard, and is ready to execute all orders in his line with neatness and dispatch.

LITTLE GIANT!
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE CO.
MILLER & BUCKLIN, Agents,
No. 203 Montgomery St., Russ Block,
SAN FRANCISCO.
Price Reduced to $15 instead of $25.
TO PRACTICALLY DEVELOP and perfect the Sewing Machine art is to carry joy and gladness to no small portion of the civilized world; but to render the Sewing Machine art in the highest degree useful it is necessary:
1. To divest the Sewing Machine of every loose and clumsy attachment and every fancy and complicated contrivance.
2. It must be simple in its construction throughout, that it may be easily understood and readily adjusted.
3. It must be certain in its results.
4. It must be adapted to a great range of work, as most families can have but one machine for all kinds of sewing.
5. It should be strong and durable in all its parts.
The above and more we claim for the Little Giant Family Sewing Machine. It is an easy task to offer high-sounding references and mentions—and still easier to publish nonsensical medal talk of Flippant and Flattering testimonials—which is of no earthly service to the buyer, since the poorest machines furnish them in the greatest abundance, and that too of necessity, to conceal their lack of merit. The Giant Family Sewing Machine has passed the fiery ordeal of all machines, both high and low, for the past year, and the severe scrutiny of the most skeptical, but has come out unscathed, and now stands before the Public as the BEST family sewing machine in use. Cast off machines are advertised daily at low and half prices, which are deemed worthless the public well know. We, therefore, would seek simply an intelligent examination of the merits of our machines in comparison with the high priced machines. Every machine warranted and kept in order free of charge.
Recollect, price only $15.
N. B.—We have no connection with any other agency, firm, or company whatever. A full supply of Machines, HEMMERS, needles, Silk Twist, and everything appertaining to Sewing Machines, constantly on hand, wholesale or retail. All orders promptly attended to. Agents supplied on liberal terms.
