INDIANA STATE SENTINEL.

FATHER SMITH AND MA'AM JONES.—Widower Smith's wagon stopped one morning before widow Jones's door, and he gave the usual country signal, that he wanted some body in the house, by dropping the reins, and sitting double, with his elbows on his knees. Out tripped the widow, lively as a cricket, with a tremendous black ribbon on her snow-white cap. Good morning was soon said on both sides, and the widow waited for what was farther to be said.

"Well, Ma'am Jones, perhaps you dont wan't to sell one of your cows, no how, for nothing any way, do you?"

"Well, there, Mr. Smith, you couldn't have spoke my mind better. A poor, lone widder, like me, does not know what to do with so many critters, and I should be glad to trade if we can fix it."

So they adjourned to the meadow. Farmer Smith looked at Roan—then at the widow—at the Downing cow—and at the widow again—and so on through the whole forty. The same call was made every day for a week, but Farmer Smith on Saturday, when widow Jones was in a hurry to get through with her baking for Sunday—and had "ever so much" to do in the house, as all farmers' wives and widows have on Saturday, she was a little impatient. Farmer Smith was as irresolute as ever.

"That 'ere Downing cow is a pretty fair cretur"—but he stopped to glance at the widow's face, and then walked round her—not the widow but the cow.

"That 'ere short horn Durham is not a bad looking beast, but I don't know"—another look at the widow.

"The Downing cow I knew before the late Mr. Jones bought her." Here he sighed at the allusion to the late Mr. Jones, she sighed, and both looked at each other. It was a highly interesting moment.

"Old Roan is a faithful old milch, and so is Brindle—but I have known better." A long stare followed this speech—the pause was getting awkward, and at last Mrs. Jones broke out.—

"Lord! Mr. Smith, if I'm the one you want do say so!"

The intentions of the widower Smith and the widow Jones were duly published the next day, as is the law and the custom in Massachusetts; and as soon as they were "out published," they were married.

RICH ADVERTISEMENT!—A LEGAL MISANTHROPE!—The following advertisement may be found posted in the most of the public houses of this county:

NO FICTION!

"The subscriber having come to the conclusion to abandon the practice of law, offers for sale his LAW LIBRARY, containing 200 volumes of Law Books, which are offered at the reduced price of one-half of their original cost.

Any person wishing to embark in the practice of law, devote his whole time and sleepless nights for the welfare of his client—pay the disbursements out of his own pocket to some pampered officer—trust his client six years, giving him a chance to abscond, take the "benefit of the act," or shield himself with the exemption law, and receive nothing himself but curses from the ungrateful portion of community, will do well to embrace the present opportunity offered of purchasing a Library. ROSWELL JUDSON.

Sneerborne, Dec. 21, 1844.

The Times says the subscriber to the advertisement is the First Judge and Surrogate of Chenango county.—Oxford Times.

A SAD STORY.—The Frankfort correspondent of the Maysville (Ky.) Eagle tells the following sad story:—

"There is pending a very exciting question for a divorce. The petition is presented by a young lady about 16 years of age, of very respectable family, who, by some singular accident, conspiracy or folly, was induced to run off with a man double her age—of character infamous, without property, profession or avocation of any kind. When she awoke from her delusion, she found herself wedded to infamy and poverty—that in the place of the frank, plausible, intelligent, wealthy and honest man she supposed she was giving her hand and innocent affections to, she had plighted her faith to the loathsome inmate of a brothel, a debauchee, a drunkard and a beggar. Her confidence gone, her love turned to loathing and disgust, she returned, repentant, to her injured and heart-broken parent—he pitied, forgave, and took back his deluded child, and she seeks a divorce—the husband opposes it. Counsel are employed by his friends to oppose, before the committee, the granting the prayer. Mr. Graves appears for the husband, Mr. Benj. Harding and G. Duncan, of Louisville, for the wife. So much for runaway matches."

THREE OF THE MOST WEALTHY BUSINESS MEN OF NEW YORK.—It is stated in Hunt's Merchant's Magazine, that Preserved Fish commenced life as an apprentice to a blacksmith, and his next situation was that of a seaman on board a whaling-ship. From being a hand before the mast, he rose to be a mate, and finally commander, and in this hazardous pursuit he amassed the foundation of his fortune. Saul Alley was bound, when a small boy, apprentice to a coach maker. During his apprenticeship his father died, and left him totally dependent on his own exertions. The very clothes he wore he was obliged to earn by toiling extra hours, after the regular time of leaving off work had passed. The foundation of his fortune he acquired by the exercise of frugality and prudence while a journeyman mechanic. Cornelius W. Lawrence, late Mayor of New York, and now President of the Bank of the State of New York, was a farmer's boy, and worked many a long day in rain and sunshine on Long Island. There were few lads within twenty miles of him that could mow a wider swarth or turn a neater furrow. These men have been the architects of their own fortunes; they have earned them by the sweat of their brows; and their very wealth, besides the other means of doing good to their fellow men which it puts in their power, is, in itself, a perpetual stimulus to the mechanic and artisan to earn a similar reward by similar frugality, industry, and perseverance.

A POINTED BLOW.—An invalid sent for a physician, the late Dr. Wheelman, and after detaining him for some time with a description of his pains, aches, etc. he thus summed up: "Now, Doctor, you have humbugged me long enough with your good for nothing pills and worthless syrups; they don't touch the real difficulty. I wish you to strike the cause of my ailment, if it is in your power to reach it." It shall be done," said the Doctor, at the same time lifting his cane, and demolishing a decanter of gin that stood upon the sideboard!

Prospectus
FOR
"THE TRUE AMERICAN."

A NUMBER of Kentuckians, slaveholders and others, propose to publish in the City of Lexington, a paper devoted to geodonic and constitutional emancipation, and at some definite time to place our State upon the firm, safe and just basis of liberty. The time has come when a large and respectable party, if not a majority of the people are prepared to take this subject up, and act so as to secure, the end proposed, without injustice to any but with eminent benefit to all. A press is only necessary to give concentrated effort and final success by free conference of opinion and untrammelled discussion.

We propose to act as a State party, not to unite with any party, State or National; expecting aid and encouragement from the lovers of liberty of all parties, we shall treat them with unfeigned courtesy and forbearance so far as it may be consistent with the integrity of the principles which govern us.

It is not proposed that our members should cut loose from their old part- associations. The press under our control will appeal temperately but firmly to the interests and the reason, not to the passions of our people; we shall take care rigidly to respect the legal rights of others, because we intend to maintain our own. We shall attempt to sustain in good faith the "freedom of the press." Whilst our organ will conscientiously vindicate and uphold the Christian morality in ethics, and constitutional republicanism in politics, its columns shall be open to all sects in all things concerning human action; believing with Jefferson that there is no error so dangerous but that it may be left safely to the combat of reason, we utterly repudiate that false philosophy and time-serving expediency which caters to the tyranny of opinion by excluding from the press whatever does not suit the fastidious taste of "patrons"—our readers shall not be our masters, if they love not truth, they may go elsewhere. The times call for language plain, bold and true,—our cause is good,—our press shall be independent or cease to exist—designed to accomplish great purposes, to vindicate principles of interest to all mankind, it shall subserve the elevation of no man, disclaim personal denunciation, and shade the glory of its triumphs among all its supporters. A native born Kentuckian has engaged to edit "The True American," and as his opinions and feelings are expressed in the above outline of party action, he will be untrammelled in his independence, so long as he is faithful to the principles of his adoption.

"The True American" will be published weekly, in the City of Lexington, Kentucky; and it is proposed to make it embrace all the matter common in newspapers; especially will it regard the high place which later holds in the economy of nature, and insist upon its enjoyment of a fair distribution of the products of capital. The size and appearance of the paper shall be as studiously becoming and tasteful as its means will allow.

TERMS.

Two Dollars and Fifty Cents per annum, payable in advance.
To any person or club taking five copies, Ten Dollars.
Numbers sent to persons not having once paid, to be regarded as gratuitous.
Advertisements according to current rates.
Bank Notes of par value received from all parts of the Union, but Kentucky paper will be preferred. Letters to be directed to the undersigned, post paid in all cases.
The first number will be issued about the first of June, and all subscribers are desired to send in their names by the first day of May next. C. M. CLAY,
On behalf of himself and others.

TAXES IN INDIANA.

THE undersigned respectfully informs the public that he has established an agency for the payment of taxes in any county in the State. Whilst a clerk in the State Auditor's office, he was enabled to form a personal acquaintance and to make arrangements with most of the county treasurers, by which his order will be received, and the tax receipts forwarded to him without the risk of transmitting money.

He will also attend to the payment of interest on canal lands; also to the renting of improved lands and the collection of rents. He will also make sale for non residents and others.

From his entire acquaintance as well with our public land system as with a large portion of the lands themselves in the northern part of the State, having been employed by the government in surveying them, and by the State as a commissioner in selecting large portions of the Wabash and Erie canal lands, he flatters himself that he will render satisfaction to all who may employ him.

His per cent. for payment of taxes is 10 per cent on the amount of taxes if under $20 in any one county; and 5 per cent if over $20; postages to be paid in addition.

Office on Meridian, south of Washington street.

ATTENTION,
Farmers and Mechanics.
Buy where you can buy cheapest,
And sell where you can sell dearest.

THE Subscribers can sell goods cheaper and give more for Produce than ever before. They still carry on the MILLING BUSINESS, at their old stand, and now have five Run of Stones, keeping four Run in continual operation without loss of time in dressing, as one Run will always be dressing and in order. They have repaired their Wagon Shed for the accommodation of FARMERS, and the public generally. No bags accounted for, unless the name is marked on the same, and the names and amount of grain put on the mill book. No bags to be left in the mill more than three days after they are ground, unless special orders be given to the Miller to take care of the same. No bag allowed to be taken out or in the Mill, except by the Miller getting notice and taking account of the same. The highest price will be paid for Wheat, in cash, or in trade. A lot of shelled Corn and Oats wanted.
