Local Wholesale Market

Furnished by the Marketing Bureau of the State Board of Agriculture to The Norwich Bulletin.

Active demand: Oranges, potatoes, celery, carrots, lettuce, onions.
Moderate demand: Cabbage, parsnips, apples, fancy eggs, fowl.
Poor demand: Beets, turnips.

MARKET CONDITIONS.

The market quotations this week have changed considerably from those quoted last week, especially on citrus and root crops. Oranges were not as plentiful on the market today. There were temporarily no varieties displayed on the markets. They have taken a jump in price and are maintaining very high prices on both California and Florida oranges. They are inclined toward still higher prices. The onion supply in this vicinity is decidedly limited especially on the old stock which is being displayed in very small quantities. The onion crop was very much smaller last year. The wholesalers are having hard work in getting together enough to sell to their customers so that they can keep up their trade on this product.

Storing away eggs in water-glass has become very popular with the housewives in this season of the year. Eggs are now at rock-bottom prices and are being offered around Norwich for 28 to 30c per dozen. It would be a great help to the housewife if some of the farmers having eggs for this purpose would advertise them in the daily papers as many are inquiring where they can get eggs for this purpose.
