DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Six operators of public service cars owned in Danielson and other parts of Killingly were engaged Monday in efforts to seek relief from an order of the state motor vehicle department that they return their registration plates, registration certificates and operators' licenses to Hartford during a 30 days' suspension of their right to operate. Through counsel that have obtained a five days' extension of time before the suspension order becomes effective in order that their side of the story leading to the suspension—"for improper jitney registration" may be fully explained to the officials of the motor vehicle department.

The men whose licenses have been suspended for 30 days are Albert Traban, Harry Warren, Omer LaBarre, Lionel Fournier, all of Danielson, John Welch of Attawaugan and Theodore L'Homme of Goodyear. Recently they pleaded guilty to a violation of the jitney law and were fined and costs assessed in the town court.

It is their contention, however, that their plea of guilty was entered to avoid expensive litigation which might have led to their acquittal. They preferred to pay a small fine and costs, a matter of $16.74, rather than the heavy expense that might be attached to long court action.

Complaints against them followed the appearance here of detectives in the employ of the Connecticut company, operating the trolley line through this territory and some of the public service drivers who later paid in court and are now seeking to avoid the use of their cars during a 30 days' suspension feel that they are being too severely dealt with; that having pleaded guilty and paid their fines and being engaged in a legitimate business from which they earn their living that the suspension order is over severe punishment.

As their predicament is the result of the activities of agents in the employ of the trolley company, it may be appreciated that the public service men do not feel at all kindly toward that corporation. They cite that in Putnam a public service man who was brought into a court under circumstances much the same as attended their own appearance in court here, fought out his case, was found not guilty and is operating his "O" registered car as usual. For any such technical violation of the law as they may feel guilty of, the "O" men here whose licenses are ordered suspended, have been fined and have paid. They appeal from further punishment as excessive.

Pupils of Miss Emma A. Burbank contributed a splendid concert in their annual public appearance at the Majestic theatre, which was prettily arranged for the event. Miss Burbank also has earned general commendation by contributing the entire proceeds from the concert to the Civic federation.

As sad a funeral as this section of eastern Connecticut has known in many years is scheduled to take place at St. John's church in Plainfield Wednesday morning when a high mass of requiem will be sung for Byron Phillips, Mrs. Jennie Mette and Mrs. Delia Hebert, dead as the result of the grade crossing accident at Sterling Sunday. It will be a triple funeral brought about by such circumstances as to cause the people of every community for miles about to feel the utmost sympathy for the bereaved families.

The bodies of Mr. Phillips and Mrs. Hebert were removed Monday from the undertaking rooms of L. E. Kennedy here to the Hebert home in Plainfield, from which the triple funeral will be held. The body of Mrs. Mette, who died at the Backus hospital in Norwich was brought here Monday by Undertaker Kennedy to prepare for burial.

Examination of the body of Mr. Phillips show that it was frightfully mangled, more so even than the torn and battered remains of Charles Jencks, found beside the track where an attempt was made to wreck an extra freight, Wednesday night of last week. There was a great hole through Mr. Phillips' back, through which a bone also protruded, an arm was severed, numbers of bones broken, including those in his legs and a multitude of great gashes were on various parts of the body.

Mrs. Hebert suffered a terrible fracture of the skull. The body of Mrs. Mette is not so badly mutilated as that of the others, the injuries that caused her death being internal.

Philip Hebert, husband of Delia Hebert is stunned, but seemed to be suffering intense mental agony when he looked upon the body of his wife.

There seemed to be an inclination in this territory Monday to ask the public utilities commission to have the railroad company put gate-tenders on duty at the crossing where the accident occurred, as is done at the Glens Falls crossing, near Moosup.

Mrs. James E. Milner is resting more comfortably at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam and her nervous system seems to be recovering from the shock she sustained when injured by an automobile here a week ago Saturday evening. Mrs. A. W. Logee, daughter of Mrs. Milner, said Monday afternoon that it would probably be many weeks before Mrs. Milner is able to return to her home here.

Cards postmarked Louvain received here Monday from Rev. Ignatius Kost, pastor of St. Joseph's church at Dayville, state that he landed in Antwerp, May 23, ten days after sailing from New York and after a generally pleasant voyage. The steamer on which Father Kost was a passenger was in the vicinity of the place where the P. and O. steamer Egypt, outward bound for India from a British port, went down with the loss of 100 lives after a collision with a French freighter. Father Kost writes that aside from the scars of war, there is little to indicate the terrible experiences hrough which Louvain passed. The people are happy and seem to be more industrious than when Father Kost knew them, while a student at the University of Louvain, long before the war. "There is no sign of poverty or misery here," Father Kost writes.

A change in the plan of transporting members of the 152d Field Artillery from their home stations in Connecticut to Camp Eustis, Va., for the summer encampment provides tentatively that they will go all the way by rail instead of transport from New London, it was stated here Monday.

As the plan now stands the local service battery will get away on the morning of July 1 and leave New London about 10 a. m., making the trip by the Hell Gate bridge route and thence on to Philadelphia and southward. Rail instead of water transportation will be used, it is said, to cut down the expense and in the interest of speed and convenience.

Captain F. O. Armington announced the appointment of Harold E. Greene to be first lieutenant of the local company and of Wellington E. Bitgood to be second lieutenant. Both new appointees are World war veterans and were overseas. First Lieut. Thomas Beckett, also a veteran of the World war, has resigned.

A gale out of the northwest during Monday brought decided relief from the hot weather of the past few days.

Assistant Postmaster Earl Winslow is wearing court plaster on his forehead to cover a wound made when he was struck by a piece of wood he was engaged in chopping.

Reports Monday were that Dr. O. C. Sharpe was resting as comfortably as could be expected so soon after being seriously injured. It is expected that he will be a patient at the hospital for a number of weeks.

S. Cady Hutchins returned to Walpole Monday after spending the week-end with friends in Danielson.

William McDermott and Edward McDermott were at Worcester Monday to visit their mother, a patient in St. Vincent's hospital. There has been little recent change in Mrs. McDermott's condition.

The police station has been emptied of a cargo of cider seized in raids during the past few weeks. A truck load of cider was removed for destruction. A quantity of Jakey and white mule yet awaits the attention of the destroying squad.

PUTNAM

While the eyes of the baseball fans are watching Babe Ruth pile up his annual home run record, Grant Davis of this place is going quietly along making a record on his own account, though it has nothing to do with baseball.

Monday morning Grant made his 16th appearance in the Putnam city court, to answer to a charge that he had been intoxicated. Judge Geissler imposed a fine of $20 and costs, a total of $22.74, and placed Davis in charge of J. B. Tatem, Jr., for six mnths as special probation officer. Mr. Tatem, as Mr. Davis' employer, appeared in court and stated that Davis is a good and steady worker when he avoids the use of liquor and that he desired to have his services. Mr. Tatem's plea saved Davis from serving a jail sentence, but the court warned Davis that if he again becomes intoxicated within his probation period he will send him to jail for six months.

Arthur Cordier also was before the court for having been intoxicated, his fourth appearance on such a charge. He has a wife and two children and for these three reasons he escaped going to jail, to which he was sentenced for 30 days, but execution of the judgment suspended.

Another case that claimed the attention of the court Monday morning concerned Invra Dudley, who represents a Boston portrait company. He came in to face a charge of breach of the peace filed against him as the result of representations of Myra Tetreault of 53 Smith street. He was found not guilty. He was represented by Attorney Arthur S. Macdonald.

Briefly, it appeared that Dudley went to the Tetreault home on business pertaining to the enlargement of pictures. He alleged that while he stood on the steps of the Tetreault home the complainant, after some conversation between them, reached out and grabbed at some photographs he held in his hand. There was a brief struggle for possession of the pictures and when Mrs. Tetreault lost her grip she fell backward and received a scratch.

Mrs. Justina Landonzy was charged in court with breach of the peace. She lives at Boulevard terrace and went to the home of Mrs. Mary Bouchard and threatened the latter with a stick. Judge Geissler heard all the evidence in the case and then warned the defendant that he would send her to jail if she again appeared in court.

Seventy-five children who are at the Windham county home for children will count this a glorious day, for they are to attend the circus and be treated to peanuts, pink lemonade and all of the other incidents that make circus such a wonderful adventure for young and old. Mrs. D. C. Park, matron at the home, will be in charge of the children, who will be guests under the canvas of John J. Whitehead, editor of a local paper, and he will see to it that there isn't anything worth seeing at the circus grounds that the children don't see, even if some of them want to look through the hole in the end of the elephant's trunk.

Horatio A. Brown, Mrs. Jennie A. Leonard and Judge M. H. Geissler were at Greene, R. I., Sunday, guests of Mrs. Laura Tillinghast of Providence at the annual reunion of members of the Tillinghast family, known far and wide through eastern Connecticut and western Rhode Island.

About 100 were guests of Mrs. Tillinghast at her summer home, where she entertains annually on the second Sunday in June. In the morning there was a service at the Plain meeting house at West Greenwich, this ancient structure dating back to 1750, and in disuse for years excepting upon the day of the annual reunion, though arrangements have now been made to hold services there regularly on Sundays at least throughout the summer season. Following the service, the afternoon was spent in a social way, the reunion providing many relatives their only opportunity of the year to meet each other.

There was much interest in this city Monday in the fact that John Lowney of Pomfret will be called upon to face in court Tuesday of next week a charge of having violated the liquor laws, and the assertion of raiding officers that they hold four depositions in which the assertion is made by Pomfret school students that they have purchased intoxicants at the Lowney place, where 30 gallons of cider were seized by officers in a recent raid.

Mrs. Delia Vincent Phillips, the only surviving adult of those who figured in the tragic crash between an automobile and a locomotive at a railroad crossing in Sterling Sunday, remained n a serious condition at the Day Kimball hospital in this city during Monday.

In addition to a compound fracture of the thigh, Mrs. Phillips lost such a quantity of blood and suffered such a shock that her condition is regarded as critical, though no prediction that she will not recover is being made. Mrs. Phillips' six months' old daughter Jennie, also at the hospital, is not seriously hurt, although the child has cried a great deal during the time it has been at the hospital.

It will be of interest to the public service drivers of this city to know that the state motor vehicle department has for a period of 30 days suspended the registrations and operators' licenses of six drivers resident in Danielson and Dayville "for improper jitney registration." The affair recalls the recently tried Eli Vangel case in this city, in which the defendant was judged not guilty in the Putnam city court. Representatives of the group of Danielson drivers were in this city Monday in consultation with an attorney, and it is understood obtained a five days' period of grace during which time statements in their interest may be presented to the state motor vehicle commissioner.

For the first time this season, the Nightingale-Morse, Inc., baseball team of Putnam was defeated Sunday afternoon on Main street grounds. The trick was turned by the Lancaster Mills team, Lancaster, Mass., and they did it by a score of 18 to 5. It was a walloping such as the locals have not had in several seasons. Outhit and outplayed, the Putnam team was helpless against the smooth-running Bay State aggregation. The Nightingales admit that they were beaten and that superior playing did it. Especially are their hats off to King Bader, who was in the box for Lancaster. This pitcher, who has a big reputation, acquired in the Twilight league, Boston, played a brilliant game, and this, with the fact that his teammates were behind him every minute, made it inevitable that Putnam, playing ragged ball from start to finish, should go down to defeat.

The visitors pounded DeForest hard. In the first two innings they collected three doubles and a triple, which along with three free passes to first gave them the chance to jump into a six-run lead. And they took advantage of every chance that came their way during the afternoon. The Putnam team, on the other hand, played sluggish ball and fielded slowly. In the sixth inning the visitors were able to get three men on bases, and a double by Pittroff sent them all across the plate. In this play no error was made by Putnam players; they simply took their time in fielding the ball. Nelson, the local catcher, was the only Nightingale player who did not make an error in the game. Caffrey was the worst offender and mussed up four plays that he should have handled without trouble. Faucher, the Putnam center fielder, smashed his fielding record by dropping an easy fly in the eighth.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

BROOKLYN

Memorial day was more fully observed this year in this village than ever before. The G. A. R. were not as many as in former years as the ranks are fast thinning by reason of death. There are only two comrades now living in the village who served in the Civil war and each is a member of McGregor post, No. 27, G. A. R., of Danielson. The line was formed in front of Grange hall, the G. A. R. in automobiles were taken to the South cemetery, led by the Sons of Veterans and children, who presented a living flag, having been drilled by Miss Belanger, the teacher in the upper grades in the Center school, and this was greatly admired by all who saw it. The graves of the soldier dead were flagged the day preceding Memorial day, and only one grave was overlooked, but as Comrade Pond had a flag for the grave of H. S. Marlor which was sent him by the G. A. R. post of New York city of which Comrade Marlor was a member, the flag which had been placed over his grave was taken for the overlooked grave and the New York flag was placed in its stead. The bronze marker for the World war veterans was dedicated on the way back from the cemetery by Rev. Mr. Jepson of Danielson, rector of St. Alban's church. Rev. J. N. Pratt, pastor of the Congregational church, gave the Memorial address in Unitarian hall, and from there the G. A. R. and the other orders which filled the hall to its limit marched to the Baptist vestry, where the women of the church and community had provided a generous lunch for all.

Senator and Mrs. Charles H. Blake were with their son, Charles Edwin Blake, and family in Hartford Friday and Saturday of the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Burnett are to soon move into the tenement he not long since sold in the old cademy building.

Children's day was observed in the Congregational church Sunday, but the attendance was light.

Avon.—Mrs. Joseph Alsop of Avon entertained at tea recently in honor of Mrs. Samuel O. Prentice, chairman of the republican women's state central committee.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS REACTIONARY.

New York, June 12.—Selling of the same enforced character as that which participated the sharp reactionary movements of last week was increasingly evident on the stock exchange today. Speculative issues reacted 3 to 10 points on sales approximating 1,750,000 shares.

In substance, much of the liquidation was ascribed to interests which already have or are about to sever their direct relations with the exchange in consequence of that institution's drastic program of "house cleaning."

Other offerings were attributed to brokers who were said to have received broad intimations that the exchange no longer would countenance pool operations in stocks of obscure or merely potential value.

These several forms of liquidation were accelerated in the later dealings by a pronounced expansion of short contracts, based in part on the market's lack of support, together with other adverse developments. Among these was the declination of the Paris bankers' committee to proceed with the international loan, that action causing weakness in international currencies.

Over one-third of the day's business was transacted in the final hour. Oils, steels, motors, equipments, coppers, textiles, food specialties and chemicals were then the center of the reaction. United tSates Steel, which had been irregular in the early part of the session, was extensively offered at a net loss of 3 1-2 points. Independent steels, notably Republic and Vanadium, registered more severe declines. Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt and Sinclair featured the weaker oils and Studebaker, Baldwin, Corn Products, U. S. Rubber, American Woolen and Davison Chemical broke sharply, the latter making a net loss of 9 7-8 points.

High grade rails were immune from pressure until the reversal became too sweeping to withstand. Losses among transportations were held within moderate limits, however, the chief sufferers being Southern Pacific, Reading and Erie at net declines of one to almost two points.

Call money opened at 3 per cent, eased to 2 3-4, the lowest quotation in almost five years, but gradually stiffened as stock market prices became more reactionary, advancing to the day's highest quotation of 3 1-2 per cent in the last half hour. Time funds held at last week's levels, with smaller offering of long date accommodations.

Failure of German loan negotiations caused sterling to react another half cent, while allied bills were 7 to 12 points lower and German marks went almost 7 points under their price a fortnight ago. Dutch rates hardened, but all other continental remittances reacted with leading exchanges.

BOND MARKET

New York, June 12.—Guided almost entirely by the further violent reaotion in stocks, today's session of the bond market was characterized by many losses of one to two points.

Reversals among Liberty bonds were relatively small, a few of that series scoring nominal net gains, but foreign issues, especially French governments and municipals, were mostly lower.

Atlantic Fruit 7's broke 2 points and losses of a point were sustained by Erie General 4's, Chile Copper 6's and Republic Iron 5's. New Haven 6's suffered an extreme decline of 1 3-4 points and several of the minor western and southwestern railway issues eased large fractions. Sales (par value) $14,683,000.

New underwritings of the day were featured by Atlantic Refining $15,000,000 five per cent 15-year debenture bonds and the Public Service Company of Northwestern Illinois 5 1-2 per cent first lien 5 1-2 per cent refunding bonds.
