DAILY SENTINEL

TELEGRAPHIC:

[REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE DAILY STATE SENTINEL.]

Noon Reports.

From New York.

NEW YORK, September 2.—The steamer Morning Star, from New Orleans 27th ult., arrived here at ten o'clock to-day. She brings 670 bales of cotton as freight.

A movement was on foot in New Orleans to present the 26th Massachusetts with a stand of colors for their good behavior while posted in the city. That regiment has been ordered to active duty in the field.

A large number of vessels are advertised to leave for St Louis and other ports up the river.

Three hundred bales of cotton were sold on Government account on the 25th, bringing from 57 to 58½ cents.

An order has been issued to regulate the enrollment, recruiting and employment of persons of color.

The Herald's Washington special says:

Reports that are in circulation of flanking movements by Lee and extensive cavalry demonstrations, have no other foundation than that of a small rebel cavalry demonstration on the lower Rappahannock.

There are no prospects of immediate movements by either army.

No doubt a large force of rebels are below Fredericksburg, north of the Rappahannock.

White's cavalry still infest Louden county and the northern portion of Fairfax.

Three hundred rebel infantry are at Snicker's Gap, actively enforcing the conscription.

A small squad of rebel cavalry crossed at Edward's Ferry yesterday, but did little damage.

Our cavalry have made several captures within a few days, and are energetically pursuing the rebels.

The report of the capture of 100 sutler wagons is untrue.

The Mobile Register states that A. H. Stephens is at Nassau.

A Mississippi paper says a Federal raid is expected along the Mississippi Central railroad and Gen. Chalmers is preparing to meet it.

North Carolina letters contain little information.

The steamer Gertrude, on her passage from New York, captured a rebel steamer from Havana for Mobile with a valuable cargo, and took her to New Orleans.

Everything in New Orleans, according to the Herald's correspondent, indicates a movement of the army.

Gen Heron had taken passage in the steamer Morning Star but had his furlough revoked, and nearly all the regimental officers had left the city for the field.

The Tribune's special says:

The report that there will be no draft in Ohio is untrue.

The present draft will send 100,000 men into the field, and also brings into service 20,000 deserters.

Secretary Stanton has removed Quartermaster General Meigs, Gen. Ripley the Chief of Ordnance, and Surgeon General Hammond.

Warrants for the payment of all troops in the field will be issued from the Treasury Department to morrow (Thursday).

The World has the following special:

LEXINGTON, KY., September 2.—The latest from Burnside's army, is that he passed Jamestown and through the gaps, and was marching on Kingston, thence to tap the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad, thus cutting off the rebel retreat towards the west; while another force which had proceeded eastward of Cumberland Gap, would cut off the road above, and thus capture or drive the rebels out of the valley.

Rosecrans was expected to cross at the lower end of the valley and seize the Tennessee Railroad between Knoxville and Florence.

The World's Washington dispatch says:

The rebels who crossed at Edward's Ferry captured a number of cattle, but were unable to get them over the Potomac, and so abandoned them in the woods.

Contrabands persist in stating that Lee is about making a movement.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, September 2.—The following is Gen Gillmore's reply in brief—notice of whic has been published in the rebel papers—to General Beauregard's communication, already printed at length:

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH,
HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD,
MORRIS ISLAND, S. C., 9 P. M., Aug 22.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of this date, complaining that one of my batteries had opened upon the city of Charleston and thrown a number of heavy rifled shells into the city, the inhabitants of which of course were asleep and unwarned. My letter to you demanding the surrender of Fort Sumter and Morris Island and threatening in default thereof to open fire upon Charleston, was delivered near Fort Wagner at 11:15 A. M. of the 21st inst., and should have arrived at your headquarters in time to have permitted your answer to reach me within the limit assigned, namely, four hours.

The fact that you were absent from your headquarters at the time of its arrival may be regarded as an unfortunate circumstance for the city of Charleston, but it is one for which I clearly, am not responsible. This letter bore date at my headquarters, and was officially delivered by an officer of my staff. The inadvertant omission of my signature doubtless affords grounds for special pleading, but is not the argument of a commander solicitous only for the safety of sleeping women and children and unarmed men. Your threats for retaliation for acts of mine, which you do not allege to be in violation of the usages of civilized warfare except as regards the length of time allowed as notice of my intention, are passed by without comment. I will, however, call your attention to the well established principle that the commander of a place attacked, but not invested, having his avenues of escape open and practicable, has no right to a notice of an intention of bombardment other than that which is given by the threatening attitude of his adversary. Even had not this letter been written, the city of Charleston has had, according to your own computation, forty days notice of her danger. During that time my attack upon her defenses has steadily progressed.

The ultimate object of that attack has at no time been doubtful. If under the circumstances the life of a single noncombatant is exposed to peril by the bombardment of the city, the responsibility rests with those who have first failed to remove the non combatants, or to secure the safety of the city, after having held control of all its approaches for a period of nearly two years and a half in the presence of a threatening force, and who afterwards refused to accept the terms upon which the bombardment might have been postponed.

From various sources, official and otherwise, I am led to believe that most of the women and children of Charleston were long since removed from that city. But upon your assurance that the city is still full of them, I shall suspend the bombardment until 11 o'clock P. M., to morrow, thus giving you two days from the time you acknowledge to have received my communication of the 21st inst.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
Q. A. GILMORE,
Brig Gen. Commanding.

To P. G. T. Beauregard, commanding Confederate forces, Charleston, S. C.

It appears that the Spanish and British consuls respectively addressed Gen. Gillmore, in behalf of subjects of their governments now in Charleston, for a suspension of the bombardment. The General cheerfully gave twenty four hours for them to leave the city. Nothing was further, he says, from his wish, than to endanger their lives and property.

Major General Blunt in his official report of the battle of Honey Springs in Arkansas, says the first Kansas colored regiment greatly distinguished themselves. They fought like veterans, they preserved their line unbroken throughout the engagement; their coolness and bravery have never been surpassed. They were in the hottest of the fight, opposed to double their number of Texan troops. The 20th Texas regiment, which fought against them at the beginning with 300 men, at the end of the fight had but 60 men.

From Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, September 3.—Three thousand dollars have been contributed by the citizens of this city for the benefit of the Lawrence sufferers. One thousand was contributed by the Union League, and it was sent up immediately after the massacre.

Gen. Ewing's Order No. 11 is producing a good effect, and numbers of rebel sympathizers are leaving daily.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

COMPOUND CEDRON BITTERS

The Latest and Most important Discovery of the Nineteenth Century.

NO MAN'S NAME IS MORE INTIMATELY CONnected with the history of the Materia Medica of the United States, or more favorably known as a pioneer in medical discovery, than that of JOHN BULL, of Louisville, Ky. His inimitable preparation of Sarsaparilla has long stood at the head of the various compounds of that valuable drug. His compound Pectoral of Wild Cherry has become a household word throughout the West and South; and his Worm Lozenges, in less than a year after their introduction, attained a reputation as widespread as the continent of North America. But the crowning glory of his life remains to be attained in his latest discovery, or rather combination, for he does not claim to have been the discoverer of CEDRON, which is the basis of the bitters now offered to the public. That honor belongs to the native inhabitants of Central America, to whom its virtues have been known for more than two hundred years. Armed with it, the Indian bids defiance to the most deadly malaria, and handles without fear the most venomous serpents. It is a belief with them that while there is breath left in the body the Cedron is potent to cure, no matter what the disease may be.

While Dr. Bull is not prepared to indorse this extravagant pretension, he is nevertheless satisfied from a thorough examination of the evidence relating to its virtues, that, as a remedy and preventive for all diseases arising from exposure to the vicissitudes of weather and climate or to the miasmatic influences, it stands without a rival, and justly deserves the reputation it has so long enjoyed in Central America and the West Indies. In and its attendant train of symptoms, it acts more like a charm than a medicine. There is nothing in the whole range of the Materia Medica that can for a moment bear a comparison with it in this disease.

A full account of this wonderful plant may be found in the eleventh edition of the U. S. Dispensatory, pages 1387 and 1388.

A series of experiments, in which Dr. Bull has been for years engaged, has just been brought to a successful termination, and he is now enabled to offer to the public a combination of Cedron with other improved tonics, the whole preserved in the best quality of copper-distilled Bourbon whisky, which he is confident has no equal in the world.

He might furnish a volume of certificates, but the public have long since learned to estimate such things at their true value. The safest plan is for every one to test for himself the virtues of a new medicine. Give the one trial, and you will never use any others.

It is not necessary to publish a long list of diseases for which the Cedron Bitters are a specific.

In all diseases of the STOMACH, BOWELS, KIDNEYS, or LIVER:

In all affections of the BRAIN depending upon derangement of the Stomach or Bowels;

In GOUT, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA;

And in FEVER AND AGUE;

It is destined to supersede all other remedies. It not only cures all these diseases but it prevents them.

A wine glass full of the Bitters taken an hour before each meal will obviate the ill effects of the most unhealthy climate and screen the person taking it against disease under the most trying exposure.
