Illustration Française.—Moniteur Americain.

THESE NEWSPAPERS, one of which, l'Illustration, published weekly at Paris, where it occupies the highest rank; and the other, le Moniteur Americain, published at New York, after the arrival of each Cunard steamer, offer to American families, at the same time the most valuable artistic, literary, political and scientific collection that exists in the French language as well as the most charming album of the passing events of our epoch.

L'Illustration, executed by the best writers and artists of Paris, contains the most important facts of contemporary history illustrated, where the pencil displays to the eye what the pen says to the understanding. In adding to it as Supplement le Moniteur Americain, our object is to render it the most agreeable and complete weekly paper for the drawing-room, where it can be consulted with equal interest by the various members of the family circle—the mother, the daughter, the student, the artist, the merchant, the statesman, the naval or military officer, &c., &c.

By a special arrangement with the administration of l'Illustration at Paris, the printing is advanced so as to deliver the numbers for America at the latest moment before the departure of the mail which enables us to distribute every week throughout the United States the numbers received by the steamers, leaving Liverpool every Saturday. These numbers will have the same date as those of the London Illustrated News brought by the same steamer.

L'Illustration and le Moniteur Americain are sold separately or together. The subscription is payable in advance. Address, post paid, Messrs. MARCOU & LE CHEVALIER, 267 Broadway, New-York.

WOMAN AND HER DISEASES, FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE—Fourth edition price $1. By Edward H. Dixon, M.D., Editor of the Scalpel. Published by CHAS. H. RING, corner of Broadway and John-st., N. Y.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"We said that Dr. Dixon had discharged his task in a successful manner. To do so was perhaps not easy. In communicating the necessary information, to avoid ministering to impure feelings, to use no expression that could raise a blush on the most delicate cheek, to write no word that could cause the most careful mother to withhold the book from her daughter of suitable age, certainly required a nice judgment and great caution. We believe that this work combines all these requisites." [Boston Chronotype.

"The careful and prudent mother may commit this work with great advantage to herself and her offspring." [Dr. Bartlett, Editor of New York Albion.

"Dr. Dixon has lent a deep interest to his work, and is doing good service by its publication." [Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

"Mr. Dixon has treated his subject in a sincere, earnest and thorough manner; we think it will have a wide circulation." [Tribune.

"The author is a practical surgeon of long standing, and a pupil of Dr. Mott; he has handled the various subjects with delicacy, yet with an apparent determination to communicate truth with the utmost force and earnestness." [Evening Post.

"The author of this book has executed his purpose very ably indeed, as far as we understand it; and what is more, in these days of ultra fastidiousness, has done it delicately and as becomes a well educated man. Every woman should be well acquainted with this book, and every mother should assist her daughter with the proper portion of it. The thanks of the public are due to Dr. Dixon, at least for the matter of it and the manner." [Anglo American.

Dr. DIXON will supply wholesale orders of this work and the Scalpel, at 112 Grand-st., one door west of Broadway. Agents will find it the best book for the East and West.

Dr. D. will sell the copyright, if a suitable applicant offer. my8 1t*
