TO LET—The UPPER PART of Store 114 Center-st. with power. Apply as above to

TO MANUFACTURERS, MILLERS, and DISTILLERS.—Valuable Western Real Estate and Water Power for sale—Situate on the Kankakee River, in the town of Wilmington, Will County, Illinois, fifty-five miles southwest from Chicago, in the immediate vicinity of the Illinois and Michigan Canal, and near the proposed route of the Eastern Branch of the Great Central Railroad. The property consists of a flouring mill with four runs of stones, capable of turning out sixty thousand barrels of flour per annum; distillery adjoining the mill capable of distilling two hundred bushels per day; a brick warehouse one hundred feet by forty, three stories high, with elevators and conveyers for storage of grain. All the machinery of the before mentioned property being complete, and propelled by a never failing water-power. There is also a saw mill, a blacksmith shop, barn, corn cribs, cooper's shop, a store and offices for the transaction of business. Also, one or two tenant houses, about one hundred and twenty town lots, and two hundred and fifty acres of land, situate on both sides of the Kankakee River, and controlling the entire water power of the Kankakee River at Wilmington.

TO MANUFACTURERS.

This water power offers the greatest inducements for investment; it being second to none in the western country, having seven to eleven feet head and fall, and of a capacity to keep in operation one hundred runs of mill stones. It is well secured by dams and embankments, and the supply of water is never-failing.

TO MILLERS.

A personal examination of the property and of the country surrounding it, is all that will be necessary to satisfy them that the business of flouring at this point offers a sure return of unusual profit.

TO DISTILLERS.

This opportunity is a rare chance, as the Kankakee Valley is well adapted to the raising of corn, the average cost of which, delivered at the distillery has not heretofore, and probably will not hereafter, exceed twenty-five cents per bushel of sixty lbs. Rye is also now raised in this quarter, and may be had at forty-five to fifty cents per bushel. The distillery is complete in all its arrangements, and attached to it is a malt house, charcoal kiln and grinder, and rectifying apparatus, complete for rectifying whisky—which article sells readily at from twenty-two and one-half cents to thirty cents per gallon, at home and in the neighboring markets.

PARTIES DESIRING TO PURCHASE

Will of course inspect the property personally. For the information of those unacquainted with this section of the country, it may be said that the Kankakee Valley is as healthy as any part of the New-England States; that for beauty of landscape, fertility of soil and salubrity of climate, this Valley will compare favorably with any portion of this continent. The construction of Railroads and Canals to the East and South, a rapidly increasing and enterprising population, with the consequent natural developments of the almost unbounded resources of the soil, opens a vast field for the enterprising; and the facility with which commodities may be shipped from this point by the Illinois and Michigan Canal to the Southern markets through the Illinois and Mississippi River on the one hand, or to the Eastern markets by the way of the Lakes on the other—thus giving shippers equal facilities for shipment to, and a choice of, either market, renders it a most desirable point for almost any kind of manufacturing business. The Kankakee River is a rapid stream, with rock bottom, high banks, and is six hundred feet wide at Wilmington. From this, some idea may be formed of its capacity for supplying water for manufacturing purposes. The property offered will be sold separately or together, as may be desired. The improvements are nearly all new, upward of forty thousand dollars having been expended upon them within the last three years. With proper management the mill and distillery will yield an annual net income of from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars. Title perfect. For further particulars, application may be made to

INDIA RUBBER.

A SHORT ANSWER to WM. JUDSON and the RUBBER COMBINATION.—For the past month the papers have teemed with a fresh supply of false and malicious attacks against H. H. DAY and his business, all emanating from Wm. Judson, the agent, partner and counsel of the Rubber Monopolists. A legal opinion from such a source is of course not worth answering, and Day's case is equally contemptible.

Failing in this, he now assumes to speak for the "Combination" of Rubber Monopolists, and threatens to prosecute my customers if they dare to buy goods from Day. This is too old a trick to be patented, and the public can't be gulled any longer. The best goods will command the market, and if the "Combination" do really make their goods according to "Goodyear's Patent," all their threats will not make their goods sell, or prevent my customers from buying my goods which are not made according to Goodyear's glue and molasses patent.

For the past four years these wholesale monopolizers of the rights of the people, who stave off competition by threats of the law, have daily given out that Day's time had come—that he could n't stand it any longer; and yet he is on hand ready and able as ever to maintain his rights. In the only case which the Combination ever dared to bring to trial, they were beaten and Day got a verdict; but he has not heard yet that they have paid the costs, for which their sureties are liable.

Let them bring their actions to trial, and I promise them law and justice to their heart's content.

Let them come into Court if they dare. Their puffs of their own goods and their threats against my customers are equally vain. The public are tired of such humbug.
