ODDS AND ENDS.

The Parisians have named their new color "fluttered frog."

The way for a bad boy to go on a bender is over his mother's knee.

Professor Baird will pay a handsome sum for good specimens of catfish kittens.

"Fine sleighing," remarked the young man who paid $10 and costs for fast driving.

If you are troubled with sleeplessness imagine you have got to get up, and off you go.

Amee is said to be very fond of money. She is not the only operatic artiste gifted with that desire.

"I am just throwing out a feeler," remarked the saloon-keeper as he put the blind man into the street.

The minister who divides his discourses into too many heads will find it difficult to procure attentive ears for all of them.

Let a young man once get on the trail of a young lady in a crowded ball-room and he will find her very soon and find her mad.

Somebody says that a fashionable Boston banquet consists of two beans stuck on a hair-pin, readings by Emerson and talks by Alcott.

General Grant is showing so many signs of wit and brightness that we shouldn't be surprised if he could get a place on some well-conducted paper.

The exquisite monument of ancient Irish art, the Tara brooch, more delicate than the finest Etruscan work, was sold by the finder to a Drogheda goldsmith for $1 25.

It is announced in Paris that M. Thiers correspondence with several of the crowned heads of Europe is, for the present, withheld from publication at the request of the monarch of a neighboring State.

There are some very economical girls in New Jersey. For a social entertainment the other evening a young lady chose to be a shepherdess, because she said she could afterward use the crook for a cistern pole.

The National Academy of New York has two members who are octogenarians, Mr. Prudhomme, the eminent engraver, who resides at Georgetown, D. C., and A. B. Durand, who lives at South Orange, N. J. The latter gentleman is in his 85th year.

Lieutenant Commander Gorringe says the obelisk will endure in our climate for 8,640 years. That is satisfactory. Let the old thing be put up. Before the expiration of that time the inventive genius of America will be equal to the task of manufacturing its own Egyptian obelisks.

A noted sharper, wishing to ingratiate himself with a clergyman, said: "Parson, I should like to hear you preach more than I can tell you." "Well," responded the clergyman, "if you had been where you ought to have been last Sunday you would have heard me." "Where was that?" "In the county jail."

There are mean men in this world. A while ago a "living skeleton" in a circus—the thinnest one ever known, he was—got religion, and a society educated him for the ministry and sent him as a missionary to the Cannibal Islands. Imagine the disgust of the Cannibals.—[Boston Post.

He stood with his back against the front door of the street car. Everyone else had a seat, and he anxiously watched each face for symptoms of getting out for over three miles. It grew wearisome, and he finally shifted his weight from one foot to the other, and exclaimed. "By me soul! have none o' yees any homes to go to?"

At a Canadian hotel lately a terrible screaming was heard to proceed from the bath-room. A servant burst open the door, and soon found that Sara Bernhardt had pulled out the plug from the waste-water pipe, and had slipped in. With a presence of mind known only in northern countries, the man got a button-hook and pulled her out again, much to the joy of her many ardent admirers.

George W. Smalley is of the opinion that Lewes' influence over George Eliot was detrimental. Being a book-worm of prodigious proportions and conceit, Lewes cramped her powers and perverted her genius by fostering her taste for profound erudition. Smalley thinks he ought not to have overburdened her with library learning. She would have been a far better novelist if her genius had been permitted to follow its natural bent.

A Boston correspondent of a New Hampshire paper writes: "Do you in the Granite State love to sneer at 'Boston culture?' Then your heart will glow when I tell you about an irreverent New Yorker condemned by business obligations to spend Christmas week here. Thinking to amuse himself by seeing the city, he stepped on a Beacon-street car and said to the conductor: 'Does this car pass the new Art Mu-se-um?' 'No,' was the reply, 'but it passes the new Art Mu-se-um.'"

It costs but $20 now to obtain a complete edition of John Ruskin's writings, a cheapness which is in part owing to the author's contempt for a percentage of the profits of the sale of his writings in this country. John Wiley pressed this percentage upon him years ago, but Mr. Ruskin hated the Americans so vigorously that he would not let them approach him even when bearing the gift of a copyright. Had he accepted it he would have been richer by many thousand dollars.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

REVIEW OF LATE ISSUES FROM AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PRESSES.

"The Californian" (San Francisco) for February is a superior number. Its leading papers are: "The Irish Question Practically Considered," by R. E. Desmond; "The Republic of Andorra," by Edward Kirkpatrick; "A Day on Guano Island," by Emily S. Loud; "Moths Round a Lamp," by Edgar Fawcett; "A Strange Confession," by W. C. Morrow; "The Division of the State," by J. P. Widney; "A China Sea Typhoon," by Wm. Lawrence Merry; "A Pescadero Pebble," by Isabel Hammell Raymond; "Swinburne on Art and Life," by Alfred A. Higham; "Alvarado of Madrid," by Yda Addis; "People I Would Like to Endow," by Martin Kellogg; "Shall We Have Free High Schools?" by E. R. Sill; "A Forgotten Poet," by Wm. D. Armes.

From Hardy & Mahony, Philadelphia, we have the "American Catholic Quarterly Review" for January. This number opens the sixth year of the existence of this quarterly, the only one that Church has in America and its leading literary exponent of Catholic thought. The contents are: "A Glance at the Conflict Between Religion and Science," by Rev. S. Fitzsimons; "The Joyous Knights, or Frati Gaudenti," by Rev. Bernard J. O'Reilly; "The Anti-Catholic Issue in the Late Election—the Relation of Catholics to the Political Parties," by John Gilmary Shea; "Ireland's Great Grievance—Land Tenure in Ireland and Other Countries," by M. F. Sullivan; "The Existence of God Demonstrated," by Rev. John Ming, S. J.; "Lord Beaconsfield and His Latest Novel," by John MacCarthy; "The Religious Outbreak in Europe at the Present Day," by Rev. Aug. J. Thebaud, S. J.; "The French Republic—Will It Last?" by A. de G.

"J. J. Marshall's Kentucky Reports," vols. 5, 6, 7, 1831; "Louisiana Reports," vols. 2, 3, 1830-1831; "Greenleaf's Maine Reports," vols. 7, 8, 1831; "Bland's Maryland Chancery Reports," vol. 3, 1831; "Gill & Johnson's Maryland Reports," vol. 3, 1831-1832; "Pickering's Massachusetts Reports," vols. 11, 12, 1831; "Missouri Reports," vols. 2, 3, 1828-1831; "New Hampshire Reports," vol. 5, 1831-1832; "Halsted's New Jersey Reports," vol. 7, 1831; "Green's New Jersey Reports," vol. 1, 1831; "Saxton's New Jersey Chancery Reports," vol. 1, 1831; "Wendell's New York Reports," vols. 6, 7, 8, 1831; "Paige's New York Chancery Reports," vols. 2, 3, 1831; "Devereux's North Carolina Law Reports," vol. 3, 1831; "Devereux's North Carolina Equity Reports," vol. 2, 1831; "Ohio Reports," vols. 4, 5, 1831.

"The Sanitarian" (N. Y.) for January is the first number of Vol. IX., and begins the publication of the proceedings of the recent meeting of the American Public Health Association in New Orleans. The leading papers are "Governor Wiltz's Welcoming Address;" "Practical Sanitation—Presidential Address," by John S. Billings, M. D., Surgeon U. S. Navy; "Recommendations of Advisory Council on President's Address;" "What the State Owes the People—Public Health is Public Wealth," by Erastus Brooks; "Report of Committee on Prevention of Venerial Diseases," by A. L. Gibbon, M. D., Med. Director U. S. Navy, Chairman, and the regular departments. The report last mentioned is a document of absorbing and startling interest, and should engage the grave attention of legislators.

The "Atlantic Monthly" (Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston) for February has these interesting articles, in addition to the regular departments: "Friends," a duet, by Elizabeth S. Phelps; "The Wives of Poets," by William M. Rossetti; "Night on the Ocklawaha;" "The Future of American Shipping," by Henry Hall; "In the Certosa," by Susan Coolidge; "The Portrait of a Lady," by Henry James, Jr.; "The Rising of the Curtain," by Henry A. Beers; "German Co-operative Credit-Unions," by Richard T. Ely; "Who are the Aryans?" by John Fiske; "Reminiscences of Washington;" "The Wizard Poet," by S. V. Cole; "In London Again," by Richard G. White; "Is Anything Lost?" by Fanny A. Doughty.

"Harper's Magazine" (N. Y.) for February is especially bright with illustrations and attractive in all its details. Its chief papers are "The Gospel History in Italian Paintings," by Rev. Henry J. Van Dyke, Jr.; "Asleep," by Rose Terry Cooke; "The English Lakes and their Genii," by M. D. Conway; "Pottery in the United States," by Miss F. E. Fryatt; "The Old New York Volunteer Fire Department," by G. W. Sheldon; "Literary and Social Boston," by Geo. P. Lathrop; "Anne," by C. F. Woolson; "The Fire-Fly," by Margaret S. McLean; "The Early History of Charles James Fox," by John Bigelow; "Puss Tanner's Defense," by R. M. Johnston; "A Loadicean," by Thomas Hardy.

From T. B. Peterson & Bros., Philadelphia, whose publications come regularly to hand and receive notice in these columns with a regularity indicative of the rapidity and numerical importance of the issues of their presses, we have John Stirling's latest translation, entitled "Madame Bovarey," a tale of provincial life, by Gustave Flaubert, a writer, now dead, of the realistic and romantic schools combined. The story is claimed to be a fair and open picture of French provincial life, without over color or any disguising of truth. It is styled Flaubert's masterpiece, and unquestionably is a novel of unusual interest and power.

From the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York, we have "Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine," American edition, for January, with these leading articles: "Autobiographies—No. 1—Benvenuto Cellini;" "The Private Secretary—Part III.;" "Before and After the Ballot;" "The Bishop Astray;" "On Some of Shakespeare's Female Characters—I. Ophelia;" "The Seer. A Tale," by Rudolph Lindau; "Outdoor Sonnets;" "The Land of Gilead;" "The Ministry of Misery."

The "International Review" (A. S. Barnes & Co., New York) for February presents these papers: "John Quincy Adams' Diary," by John T. Morse, Jr.; "Froude's Defense of Henry the Eighth," by Robert H. Parkinson; "The Tariff Question," by H. A. Hill; "M. Zola as a Critic," by T. S. Perry; "Hans Christian Andersen," by L. Katscher; "Fiction and Public Libraries," by J. M. Hubbard; "Mr. Tennyson's New Volume," by G. B. Smith; "Our Mercantile Marine," by J. Codman.

From D. Appleton & Co., New York, we have another of the admirable new Handy-Volume series entitled "All Alone." It is by Andre Theuriet, and one of the best of that author's romances. From the same firm we have another number of the "Health Primers," a series, the volumes of which should be found in every house in the land. The present number treats of "The Heart and its Functions." These volumes are of exceeding value, and by reason of their cheapness are within the reach of all.

From A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco, we have vol. 22 of the "American Decisions," compiled and annotated by A. C. Freeman of the Sacramento Bar. This series is now too well established as indispensable to all well-ordered law libraries, to call for any further remarks, except to add that in the current number the cases re-reported will be found originally in the following State reports:

The Chief Characteristics of

are its agreeable qualities, mild properties, absolute freedom from irritating cathartic action, subtile efficiency, and the peculiar merit it has of exerting and permanently re-establishing constitutional regularity.

It is exempt from all the usual objections to drastic medicines in the form of pills, liquids, and powders, which are sold under different names and used for securing purgative effects. Unlike these harsh, unwholesome, and disagreeable preparations, which not only jeopardize the health of those using them, but which gradually become wholly inert, unless taken in greatly augmented doses, by the rare and invaluable properties with which it is endowed, gives impetus to peristaltic action of the intestines, imparts normal vigor to the bodily functions, and may be given in progressively diminished doses.

TROPIC-FRUIT LAXATIVE is the result of careful and prolonged scientific and chemical research, and it is entirely distinct from the class of remedies known as "patent medicines." Its use is alike safe, efficient and wholesome for both sexes, the young and old (in all countries and climates), and under all circumstances.

TROPIC-FRUIT LAXATIVE is put up in bronzed tin boxes only.

Price, 25 cents.

Large boxes, 60 cents.
