Senator Wade and Northern Backbone.

That lively little sheet the Maca-Cheek Press, speaking of the absurd practice of stiffening Northern backbone, says:

Senator Wade inaugurated this absurd practice of setting up Northern backbone. A short time after taking his place in the Senate he was grossly attacked by a Senator from a Slave State. Wade retorted in his peculiar style. The next day a gentleman called on the Senator from Ohio and asked the unusual question touching his acknowledgement of the code.

"I am here," he responded, "in a double capacity. I represent the State of Ohio, and I represent Ben Wade.—As a Senator I am opposed to dueling. As Ben. Wade, I recognize the code."

"My friend feels aggrieved," said the gentleman, "at what you said in the Senate yesterday, and will ask for an apology or satisfaction."

"I was somewhat embarrassed," continued Senator Wade, "by my position yesterday, as I have some respect for the Chamber. I now take this opportunity to say what I then thought, and you will, if you please, repeat it. Your friend is a foul-mouthed old blackguard."

"Certainly, Senator Wade, you do not wish me to convey such a message as that?"

"Most undoubtedly I do; and will tell you for your own benefit, this friend of yours will never notice it. I will not be asked for either retraction, explanation, or a fight."

This proved to be true. No further notice was taken of the affair. But since then Senator Wade has been treated with distinguished consideration.

HOW A COMPANY WAS SAVED.—We have been informed, says the Kentucky Flag, by an officer of the United States army, of a most remarkable instance of ingenuity and presence of mind in a Sergeant of the army, which occurred a few weeks ago, by which he saved his own life and that of his party. A Sergeant, with about twenty-five soldiers, had been sent out some miles from Fort Defiance, New Mexico, to guard some stock which were sent to graze, when, unexpectedly, they found that the party was surrounded by about four hundred hostile Navajo Indians. The brave and skillful sergeant took position on an eminence, and, by a volley from the long-shooting rifles of his party, at first drove off the savages, who, however, soon rallied, and were preparing to storm the little party on both sides.—The sergeant, in taxing his brain for an expedient by which to convey intelligence of the desperate peril in which his party was placed, took a little dog which had accompanied the party, fastening to his collar a note written with a pencil, informing the commander at the fort of his situation, took a tin cup in which he put some pebbles which were confined with a piece of cloth over the top, fastened with a string to the dog's tail, and started the dog loose, knowing that he would, in his affright, run to the fort. He dashed with his greatest speed to Fort Defiance; the note was discovered and read. Straightway a party was sent to the rescue, and arrived just in time to save the lives of the whole party. This Sergeant justly merits a commission, which we hope will be awarded him by the President.

A MAN WITH TWO WIVES.—Mr. Ward, proprietor of a bowling alley in this city, was stunned somewhat this morning, by the unexpected appearance of a well-dressed and rather handsome woman claiming to be his wife. She had in her arms a snub nosed certificate of marriage, about two years of age, fair haired, blue-eyed, and very much like its Pa. Mr. Ward is a brave man and courageously faced the music. He acknowledged that, leaving wife No. 1 in Ohio, a few years ago, he met and became acquainted with the young lady who has shared his bed and board since he has been in Lafayette, and loving not wisely but too well, they were married and settled down to keep house as a certain individual "kept hotel." The two wives met each other, face to face, for the first time this morning. The youngest of the two, and the last married, a sweet faced girl not more than seventeen years of age, politely handed the unexpected stranger a chair, and they sat down together to talk the matter over. Mr. Ward was called out suddenly and left them to compromise the matter as best they could.—Like sensible women they concluded that, as a husband, the fellow was hardly worth quarreling about, about, and each announced a willingness to resign in favor of the other.

The police got wind of the affair this forenoon and Sheriff Godman waited upon the ladies with an invitation to appear before the Grand Jury. In the meantime Mr. Ward had concluded that a change of climate would be beneficial to his health, and took the first train out of town. His services are needed in the construction of the new prison, and we presume he will be sent for.—Lafayette Courier.

THE JOHN BROWN FUND.—We have seen two West Indian merchants who have just arrived from Hayti. One of them, who is an accomplished and educated gentleman and a cousin of President Geffrard, informs us that when he left Port au-Prince, two weeks ago, the donations of coffee for benefit of John Brown's family amounted to about 2,000 bags of 120 pounds each, and it was the general opinion that another thousand bags would be added, as everybody regarded it both a duty and a privilege to contribute. As these bags are worth from $12 to $14 each, it is probable that the Republic of Hayti will add to the John Brown fund from $30,000 to $40,000.—N. Y. Tribune.

☞ April the 23d, was the anniversary of the birth as well as the death of Shakspeare. He was born in 1564 and died in 1616. It is in contemplation to celebrate the centennial return in 1864 in appropriate style. He should receive a tribute worthy of "that massive, magnificent, and universal mind whose words and wisdom have penetrated the whole world of intelligence. The commemoration of such a man should be on a scale of grandeur in proportion to its theme, and such a 'great awakening' to the worth of the poor player of the globe and poet of the universe would create a large additional enthusiasm in favor of all classic literature."

If Physicians Will Use It, why is it not Safe for the People?

CINCINNATI, NOV. 2.

MESSRS. A. L. SCOVILL, & CO.,

Dear Sirs—The public generally are fully aware of the thousands of remedies for diseased Lungs, under the titles of Sarsaparillas, Pills, Plasters, Liniments, etc., that are daily brought to their notice through the newspapers, by way of advertisements. My object in writing this note for publication is to induce the public, or at least those who are afflicted (if they will use patent medicines) to use one that contains articles of real use in pulmonary diseases. I am conscious in so doing I am acting most unprofessionally, and derogatory to the interests of medical science and the regular practitioners of medicine.

The medicine to which I refer is "Dr. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs." I have prescribed it in a large number of cases, and always with success. One case in particular to which I wish now to refer, was given up by several physicians who had been called in consultation with myself. The patient had all the symptoms of confirmed consumption, such as cold night sweats, hectic fever, harrassing cough, with continued pain in the lobe of the right lung, attended with severe diarrhea. He commenced immediately to get better by the use of the above medicine, and was soon restored to his usual health! I have also found Dr. Hall's Balsam the most valuable expectorant for breaking up distressing coughs and colds that I have ever used.

W. D. WRIGHT, M. D.

MORE PHYSICIANS' TESTIMONY.

We, the undersigned Physicians of Cincinnati certify that Dr. Wright's statements are entitled to the fullest confidence of the public, and we can fully corroborate what he has said, having used Dr. Hall's Balsam in a number of cases with the happiest effect.
