THE EVENING CRITIC.
ESTABLISHED AUGUST, 1868.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

The special bulletin issued from the Signal Office to-day says:

The indications are that slightly cooler, fair weather will prevail in the Middle and South Atlantic States on Sunday. Warmer, fair weather is indicated for the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and lower lake region on Sunday.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS.

THE street-lamps will be lighted at 6 p. m. and extinguished at 4:15 a. m.

IN THE matter of the estate of Howard Bushy Fox a petition was filed to-day by Philip T. Dodge to be appointed administrator.

RICHARD W. MORGAN forfeited $20 collateral in the Police Court to-day for keeping his barroom in West Washington open on Sunday.

CHARLES KING and William Wyman, two notorious vagrants and suspicious characters, fell victims at Judge Snell's tribunal to-day.

FRANK BROWN, William Wills and William Robinson were convicted of disorderly conduct before Judge Snell to-day and sentenced to fifteen days in the workhouse each.

THE Maryland Synod voted $3,500 last week toward completing the Church of the Reformation, on Capitol Hill. The net gain for the past year in membership was larger than ever before.

THE druggist who hesitates now is lost for the winter. He should sling together some sweet oil and liquorice and bring out his cough cure at once. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup does not pay him enough profit.

THE will of the late John P. Jidt, filed with the Register yesterday, leaves all the property to the widow during her life, and at her death what is left is to be divided between the two daughters of the testator.

THE will of Margaret Seel Mattern was filed with the Register to-day for probate and record. All her real and personal estate is bequeathed to her husband, Peter A. Matterh, and he is appointed sole executor of the estate.

THE property on Washington Heights, head of Connecticut avenue, offered by Prosbrey & Green, 520 Seventh street, will treble in value when Garfield avenue is opened from Sixth street reservoir to Georgetown. A small cash payment and monthly installments secures choice locations.

CATHERINE N. THOMPSON has filed a chancery suit against Emily A. S. Riley and others, all heirs-at-law of Terrence W. Riley, seeking the sale of lots 32, 35 and 38, square 498, lot 20, square 583, lots 47, 48 and 49, square 509, part of lot 26 and lot 27, square 462, and distribution of the proceeds.

GEORGE DIGGS and others, heirs-at-law of Howell Diggs, deceased, have filed a bill in equity against Sarah Jenifer for the sale of lots 21 and 22, square 515, and lot 24, block 2, in Pomeroy's subdivision of Barry farm, that all indebtedness may be paid and the balance distributed among the parties in proportion to the respective interest.

THE two hundred ladies and gentlemen in regular attendance at the day and evening sessions of the Spencerian Business College are rapidly learning to calculate with speed and accuracy; to write handsomely; to command clear, concise, forcible English; to draw up correct business papers; to keep systematic accounts. These are the essential qualifications for business life.

WILLIAM RODERICK and Thomas Luckson were charged in the Police Court to-day with selling policy. The scene of operations is reported to have been a cigar store on Pennsylvania avenue, between Third and Fourth streets east, and a number of witnesses testified to buying lucky numbers from the defendants. Judge Snell imposed a fine of $50 or 60 days and an appeal was noted.

IN the Police Court this morning Buck Butler, a colored man, was charged with cutting Andrew Smith, also colored, with a knife and seriously injuring him. During a drunken row some weeks ago, a woman, who has since been sent to jail, held Andrew Smith while Butler cut him on the arm, side and neck and hurt him severely. Judge Snell sentenced the prisoner to six months in jail, the extent of the law.

MR. JOHN G. MYERS, who resides at Brightwood, was charged in the Police Court to-day with owning a dangerous dog. A number of neighbors of Mr. Myers were called and testified to the fact that he owned a large gray bloodhound, which he occasionally permitted to run at large to the terror of women and children living in the vicinity, and that the dog frequently killed smaller dogs. Judge Snell imposed a fine of $10 or thirty days, and an appeal was noted.

JOHN JOHNSON, the deckhand who yesterday assaulted the colored cook of the schooner James Cooper, was tried in the Police Court to-day. Johnson, who is a powerful German, pleaded self-defense, and the mate of the vessel was called to the stand and testified that Johnson had endeavored to start a quarrel with several people, and finally with James Powell, the colored steward, and without the slightest provocation seized a kettle of boiling tea and threw it over Powell, scalding him terribly on the arms, face and neck. The man was removed to Providence Hospital and will be unable to appear for at least two weeks. Judge Snell continued the case until October 28 to await the result of Powell's injuries.

LY FINE cigar at all retail dealers.

A Grand Event Next Week.

It is a little early to talk of Thanksgiving day, but not too early to speak of other coming events, chief among which will be the grand fall and winter opening at King's popular establishment, 926 Seventh street northwest, between I and K streets. This grand event will occur next Tuesday and Wednesday, and a magnificent display of French pattern hats and bonnets and all the novelties in the millinery line is promised. The stock, which is arriving daily, is immense. Each visitor to King's next week will be presented with a handsome present.

More About the Opium Den.

The expose of the Georgetown opium den in last Tuesday's CRITIC created a ripple of excitement among all classes. Major Brock had his attention immediately called to the article, and promised, though there is no law in the District to prohibit opium smoking, to break up the den, on the ground that it is a public nuisance. Has the good Major succeeded? No; not by any means. The place is still running in full blast, and nightly the habitues revel in their dissipation unmolested. Many people, who probably do not know as much as Major Brock, would like to know what constitutes a nuisance. Surely a place where scores of rattle-brained men and women daily and nightly meet to engage in immoral orgies is, if anything is, a nuisance.

Fortunate Finnegan.

In the Boston World of September 29th there is a funnily written description of an interview between the reporter and Mr. Michael A. Finnegan of No. 1 Elder place, off Brighton street, in Boston. Mr. F. had drawn in the September drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery on one-fifth of ticket No. 22,350, costing him one dollar, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., the sum of $5,000, and the Adams Express paid him all the money, and the scribe tried to get Finnegan to unfold himself as a man taken by surprise, but Mr. Finnegan seemed to look upon it as a thing to be expected as an ordinary occurrence. A hopeful man is Mr. Finnegan. Some one else will be equally fortunate on November 14th.

Medicinal Wine.

Physicians recommend Speer's port wine for weakly persons, as a gentle stimulant, tonic and diuretic, and for other difficulties, and say they are glad that they have a wine on the properties of which they can depend, and give to their patients with confidence, knowing that they are using an article that is pure and exerts no deleterious effects. For sale by druggists and grocers.

News Notes.

Mme. Nilsson will sail from England today for New York.

The Federal Council at Berne has prohibited recruiting for Egypt.

Mr. Broadly, an English barrister, has gone to Egypt to offer his services to Arabi.

The Marquis of Waterford's hounds were stoned by the farmers and peasantry on the estate of Mr. Patrick Power at the Carragmore hunt.

It is reported that the Spanish Government will protest against the claims of de Brazza and Stanley to the territory along the Congo River, Africa.

Dr. Ernest Cleveland Coxe, a son of Bishop Coxe, of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Western New York, died last night at his residence in Baltimore.

Dr. John C. Henry Dielman, professor of music at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmittsburg, and formerly a highly esteemed citizen of Baltimore, died yesterday, in the 72d year of his age.

Forty new cases of yellow fever and five deaths were reported at Pensacola, Fla., yesterday. Among the fatal cases was that of Mrs. Rossasco, the wife of the Vice-Consul of Italy, a bride of a few weeks. She was married by proxy in Italy, and while crossing the Ocean to join her husband was shipwrecked, but was rescued and brought to Boston. Mr. Rossasco telegraphed to her not to come to Pensacola, but she disregarded his advice and arrived on last Saturday. The marriage was formally ratified on Sunday, and yesterday she was buried.

HAS your child the mumps? St. Jacob's Oil will cure the ailment surely and quietly.

SOUTHERN REPUBLICANS.

Mahone and the Liberal Leaders in the South Heartily Indorsed.

Quite an important meeting of Southern Republicans was held Friday night at Timms' Hall. Judge R. W. Buter, of Florida, was elected chairman, and Mr. George T. Mortimer, of Mississippi, secretary. Messrs. Lake, Thomas, and Avery were appointed a committee to draft resolutions. During their absence brief and ringing speeches were made by Judges Pelham, Wilshire, Colonel Price, Captain Wimberly, and others. Captain Lake presented the following resolutions in a very cheering speech, and they were unanimously adopted: Resolved, That we have entire confidence in the integrity, fidelity, and patriotism of Mahone in Virginia; of whosever may be selected to take the place of the lamented Lowe in Alabama; of McLane, in South Carolina; of McKinnon, in Florida; of Chalmers, in Mississippi; and of all others who have openly announced their repudiation of the Bourbon Democracy of the South, and proclaimed their intention to labor to secure and maintain the purity of the ballot-box.

"The Professor."

"As 'a character study,' as Mr. Gillette plainly calls his piece, the central character is a remarkable and truthful portraiture. Mr. Gillette seems to have entered, by sympathy or by study, into the mental habits of a man buried in scientific research and the business of teaching, and his sudden relapses into the manner of the class-room are capital. His nervous starts, and the twitching of his face in consequence of his short sight, are excellent bits of acting, and he has caught a number of such characteristics of the man whose personality he assumes. A fine touch is accomplished in the sentimental way when, after falsely making love to half a dozen young women, he really falls in love with the 'long-lost sister' of the melancholy young man. The incidents in connection with this are admirably interpreted. The Professor is worth seeing for the beauty of its setting and the fun of its situations, as well as for the character-study presented in Mr. Gillette's performance."

The New York Herald says: "The audience are kept in almost continuous laughter, and to recite the story of the play is quite unnecessary after it is said that the Professor, an exceedingly stupid, middle-aged man—described as a 'most excellent and simple-hearted gentleman in intellect; in scientific analysis, in power of abstract reasoning, a veritable giant; in emotion, in affairs of the heart, in society observances, an inexperienced child'—wanders to a fashionable resort and becomes hopelessly involved in numerous matrimonial engagements. He is the centre and cause of all the fun of the piece, and some of the pathos. Mr. Gillette played his part well, and gave a bit of character-acting that was remarkable for its originality and finish. Those associated with him ably seconded his efforts, and merited, as they received, frequent acknowledgments from the house. The piece is handsomely mounted and well acted, and, despite its crudities, is so exceedingly amusing that it is well worth seeing for the sake of the laughter it frequently affords."

Popular Place Reopened.

The Waverley, No. 508 Ninth street northwest (our prosperous and popular neighbor across the way), while not exactly a hotel, has been conducted on a system that would have done credit to any first-class hostelry in the country. Mrs. Mary Ragan, with a twelve years' experience, has utilized her knowledge to such an extent as to make her house sought after by individuals and families who prefer boarding to housekeeping, and no further compliment is necessary to pay to the success of the undertaking than to state that a majority of her boarders appear to have become fixtures, and regard her house as their home.

To deserve this continued patronage the landlady has studied to secure the comfort and approval of her guests, and took probably the surest way of accomplishing it. By providing them with clean, well-ventilated rooms, tastefully furnished, and placing before them at the table the choice products of the market, prepared for the palate in a style that could not fail to be appreciated, Mrs. Ragan thus secured for her house a reputation for excellence second to none in the city, and which she finds returning in the repeated applications made for accommodations. Last June she decided to close the house and reopen September 30. In the meantime it was to be thoroughly renovated. The time for reopening has been delayed in consequence of the sickness of Mrs. Ragan, but next Monday the doors of the Waverley will again be thrown open and the patrons can return to their old home. The work of refreshing is about completed and the house comes from the hands of the painters and decorators looking fresh and clean. From the basement to the top story, kitchen included, everything can be found in order. Dirt has disappeared and cleanliness is the standing order. The Waverley starts out again with brilliant prospects.

A Magnificent Prize.

There has just been placed on exhibition in a conspicuous place in the National Museum the magnificent first prize of the Berlin International Fishery Exposition of 1880, which was presented by the Emperor of Germany to Professor Spencer F. Baird, of the United States Commission of Fisheries. The prize is exhibited in a costly case of polished rosewood, with panels of clear French plate-glass about one and a-quarter inches thick, which gives it a strikingly showy effect. The prize, of silver washed with gold, stands on an ebony frame with legs of silver mussel shells, and is studded with rubies and pearls.

Rising from a basin framed after a seashell is a naked figure of a boy holding aloft a wiggling fish upon a trident. The shell is supported on one side by a male figure, with a spear poised for striking, and on the other a half-nude female, who holds out one hand, which contains a mammoth pearl. On a gold shield the following inscription in German is engraved:

Erster Erenpreis
Seiner Majestat
Des Deutschen Kaisers
Fur Die
Internationale Fischerei
Ausstellung Zu
Berlin, 1880.

The prize was surrounded and admired by a large crowd of sightseers to-day.

Samrandall as a Scarecrow.

While Washington Democrats are still "jubilating" over the result in Ohio, there is a growing fear among them that the friends of Sam Randall will try to hoist their astute leader into the Speaker's chair through the agency of Bill-Nye-and-the-Chinaman tricks, during the revelry which will naturally follow the capture of the next House by their party. "Why," said a prominent Democrat to a CRITIC reporter to-day, "Sam Randall hoisted to the top of a long pole, and enveloped in his record, as a shroud, would act most beautifully as a national scarecrow. He would frighten off New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, and lose us the contest in 1884."

How Fall Paid for His Appointment.

It is reported that Frank H. Fall was appointed a special detective of the Department of Justice upon the recommendation of James Leonard, driver of the Criminal Court van, and when the time came to settle up Fall failed to divvy, but put Leonard on a lay whereby he could get his work in on another detective, which he did, and thus Mr. Fall paid for his appointment, and the "jury-rigging" went bravely on.

Religious Literary Circle.

A religious, literary and scientific circle was organized last evening at the Fourth street M. E. Church. It is the purpose of this organization to meet once a week for debate, geographical and literary research, enlivened with music. The following officers were elected: President, Rev. Joseph France; vice-president, Robert E. Cook; secretary, Richard Emmons; treasurer, Miss Lily Webb; custodian, George W. Dunn; organist, Harry Dove. The circle will meet every Friday evening in the lecture room of the church.

PREJUDICES

Are not easily removed, and there are to-day hundreds, if not thousands, of men in Washington who imagine that because they went into very pretentious-looking clothing houses and could not be fitted that there is no clothing to be found to fit them. We never were in a to disabuse your mind successfully of such a fallacy than at the present time. We not alone provide for the proportionate figure, but for all shapes, excepting those only that are actually deformed. Some day when you are passing by our store come in and try on a few coats. You will find out then that there is at least in Washington. We have made more progress in the last two years than we had made in ten years before, and we want you before you again say "I cannot be fitted in Ready-Made Clothing" to give us a trial. The best time to select goods is the present when the House is brimful of Stylish Goods.

Letter From a Traveler.
KANSAS CITY, MO., Sept. 29, 1882.
One year ago I contracted a bad case. Not knowing the result, I allowed it to run for some time, but finally applied to the best physician, who treated me six months. In that time I took over 650 pills of Proto-Iodide of Mercury, and ran down in weight from 210 to 157 pounds, and was confined to my bed with Mercurial Rheumatism, hardly able to turn myself. Being a traveling man, some of the fraternity found me in this condition, and recommended that I try your specific, as they had seen many cured by its use. In all cases I took it with little faith, but in less than three weeks was able to go on the road. The sores and spots gradually disappeared, and to-day I have not a sore or blemish on my person, and my weight is 217 pounds. I do not wish my name published, but you may show this letter to any who doubt the merit of S. S. S., for I know it is a sure cure. J. H. B.
Come to see us. We will CURE YOU, or charge nothing. Write for a copy of the little book, free. Ask any Druggist as to our standing.
