ESTABLISHED AUGUST 1868.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

The special bulletin issued from the Signal Office to-day says:

Slightly warmer and partly cloudy weather is indicated for New England and the Middle Atlantic States on Tuesday. Light rains are indicated for the lake region, the Mississippi and Missouri valleys on Tuesday, with slowly rising temperature.

Temperature.

The following special temperatures were reported at 3 p. m. yesterday: Washington, 45°; Norfolk, 52°; Savannah, 79°; Atlanta, 69°; Jacksonville, 81°; Pensacola, 80°; New Orleans, 79°; Galveston, 74°; San Antonio, 74°; Tucson, 81°; Los Angeles, 72°; San Diego, 67°.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS.

THE police made twenty-four arrests yesterday.

FOR tremulousness, wakefulness, dizziness, and lack of energy, a most valuable remedy is Brown's Iron Bitters.

A CHURCH edifice, to be known as Mt. Jezreel Church, will be erected at the southeast corner of Fifth and E streets southeast, at an expense of $9,000.

MR. LEE NANCE, of Mississippi, will read an interesting paper at the literary entertainment to be given at the Church of the Heavenly Rest (P. E.) on May 15.

IF you are a frequenter or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all new countries—ague, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

THERE is scarcely a square in the city on which there is not signs of improvement. New buildings are going up in every direction, and old ones are being repaired, enlarged and improved.

THE "Entre Nous" Club gave another of their Friday evening's entertainments at the residence of Mr. C. S. Hyer, where the opera of "King Alfred" was produced. The singing of Miss Annie L. Pumphrey was extremely fine.

IT would be a paying investment if the Columbia line of street-cars were run at shorter intervals and at greater speed. The company would then receive many a nickel that is now saved because time can be saved by walking.

GOVERNOR JOHN P. ST. JOHN delivered a temperance lecture at the Congregational Church yesterday under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Clara L. Roach presided and Rev. Dr. Rankin opened the meeting with prayer.

WILLIAM CORNELL, Thomas Harris, alias Kelly, and Everett D. Berry, companions of Cornell, are held in Baltimore for a further hearing on the charge of being suspicious characters. It is not supposed that they were implicated in the Richmond robberies, but are thought to be wanted for thefts in this city.

MR. JOHN T. COX, the recently-appointed detective, swore out informations against the following parties for keeping their bars open on Sunday: Edward Abner, Charles G. Godfrey, E. L. Johnson, E. F. Trieber, Francis Mueller, George W. Driver. Warrants were issued by the clerk of the Police Court.

ONE of our attorneys had occasion to visit the Chinese Minister the other day in company with a Chinaman from Georgia, who had suffered loss through a riot in the State of Stephens. Our legal friend says he entered the minister's office, and as he entered he saluted the representative of the Celestials in the ordinary manner. Looking around for his client he discovered him down on his knees on the floor hoodoing the minister by bumping his forehead on the floor till it made the attorney's head ache to look at him. Such is Celestial etiquette at the Chinese Embassy.

THE Sunday-school exercises at the Vermont-avenue Christian Church yesterday morning were of an interesting character. After the regular lesson Mr. Snell, agent of the Washington City Bible Society, addressed the Sunday-school on behalf of the society, and an appropriation of $10 was made to that society by the Sunday-school and the missionary society. Several of the classes, having pledged amounts to the building fund, have resorted to a novel but pleasant means to raise these sums—that of giving excursions—the first of which is announced for May 12, by class No. 20.

News Notes.

The San Francisco Bohemian Club gave a dinner on Saturday evening to Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, and Congressman Dorsheimer.

A difficulty occurred on Friday evening at Robinsonville, Martin County, N. C., between Gus Robinson and a photographer named Bager, during which pistols were drawn and five shots exchanged. Bager received two shots and is thought to be fatally wounded.

Harry Smith, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., shot and instantly killed himself at Jamestown, D. T., on Saturday. He went there to be married to a young lady from his former home, but she refused to fulfill her promise. While out walking with her on Saturday he drew a revolver and blew his brains out.

United States Minister Young has collected from the Chinese Government $60,000, the principal and interest on claims on account of supplies furnished during the Taiping rebellion, upwards of 20 years ago. The money is now in bank, awaiting the owners, but no person authorized to receive it has yet appeared.

A riot broke out at Port Said yesterday between Greeks and Arabs on account of religious ceremonies. Several persons were killed and many wounded, including a number of police. British troops and sailors, with Gatling guns, surrounded the Greek church to protect it. The Greek consul took refuge on board a gunboat.

On Saturday afternoon John S. Davidson, about 19 years of age, a clerk in the Western Union Telegraph office at Petersburg, Va., eloped with Miss Finley Jones, aged 18 years, a beautiful and accomplished lady, the daughter of Samuel Jones, a prominent citizen of West Point, Va. The couple were married on the same evening at Weldon, N. C.

A meeting of members of the Roman Catholic Church, many of whom are members of the Grand Army of the Republic, was held in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon to consider the recent decree of Archbishop Wood against permitting any uniformed bodies other than Catholic societies to enter the churches in Philadelphia to attend the services of a deceased comrade. As there was some doubt as to the authenticity of the order, a committee was appointed to wait upon the archbishop and also to secure his consent to a requiem mass in all the Catholic churches on Decoration day and that the Catholic members of the Grand Army of the Republic be allowed to attend in uniformed bodies.

OLEOMARGARINE.

"Is it Possible to Detect It?"

To the Editor of the Evening Critic:

In your issue of April 27, the above caption appears heading an article relating to Professor De Smedt's experience with my sulphuric acid test of oleomargarine and butter. Professor De Smedt is represented as saying, "Tests of genuine and imitation butter had been made and the different colors, crimson and purple, been produced." By this Professor De Smidt appears to mean that when colored oleomargarine, as found in commerce, is treated with sulphuric acid, it will turn a crimson color (this being the fact in the case), and that when pure butter is so treated it turns a purple color, which, however, does not describe the actual color obtained in my own experiment so well as the term light red. This being Professor De Smedt's meaning, his experience so far agrees substantially with my own. He says, however, if correctly reported, that "when pure and uncolored oleomargarine was tested, it produced exactly the same result as the test of pure butter." If the test of pure butter produces purple, as Professor De Smedt is reported to say, or a light red, as my own experience shows, the color is certainly not identical with that obtained from the pure uncolored oleomargarine fat, whether it be that of the ox or that of the hog which is used. Both of these fats are charred by the action of sulphuric acid, producing, in all cases, a transparent amber color, which becomes an opaque dark brown within twenty-four hours after treatment; while pure butter, under the same conditions, assumes first the reddish or purplish tint already referred to, and within twenty-four hours after treatment becomes white. There is then, according to Professor De Smedt's own statement, one result for the oleomargarine of commerce and another result for pure butter, so that these two substances may obviously be distinguished from each other by my sulphuric acid test. There is also still another result for each of the fats supposed to enter into the composition of oleomargarine and of which uncolored oleomargarine is composed, so that pure butter is evidently distinguishable from these fats or from the uncolored oleomargarine. Obviously, then, we have the means of distinguishing pure butter when uncolored from either colored or uncolored oleomargarine. Professor De Smedt is reported as saying, as the result of his experiments, "that the coloring matter, and not the animal fat in the compound, caused the differences in color in the results of the test." This conclusion is wholly inconsistent with the fact, of which any chemist may easily satisfy himself, that the pure animal fats themselves assume under the acid test the perfectly distinctive colors mentioned above. Had Professor De Smedt observed the three prominent stages of color through which oleomargarine and butter pass under the acid test, he would have discovered that this test is not vitiated even though both substances, under the effect of a vegetable coloring matter, should turn crimson at the second stage in the experiment, as in twenty-four hours the oleomargarine will change to a very dark brown, while the butter will become white or the color of clear tallow.

Professor De Smedt is aware that in all my experiments in the late trial I used my double tests in every instance. That is, I subjected the suspected butter first to the action of polarized light, under the microscope, and secondly to the action of sulphuric acid; and numerous as were the samples tested, I did not make one failure. Genuine butter, even though artificially colored, will present under polarized light one even color over the whole field of view, while oleomargarine, whether colored or colorless, will exhibit all the colors of the rainbow. So conclusive are my microscopic tests with polarized light that I am able by its means to detect the adulteration of butter with crystallized fat if even the minutest particle of the latter be present; and my two sets of tests—microscopic and chemic—mutually confirm each other. Yours respectfully,

THOMAS TAYLOR, M. D.

Home Rule Wanted Here.

To the Editor of The Evening Critic:

Your sympathy for Ireland is commendable, but don't waste all your powder in that direction. Another little community that I could mention wants "home rule." The people are ready and waiting for it irrespective of party, but one thing is needed, some one to make the move, and in less than one year Washington city will be free. Our present form of government is expensive and defective. The plea that the Government pays half the expense is all nonsense. If it was not honest, they would not pay it, and if it is not honest, we should not have it. Messrs. James G. Berrett, A. M. Clapp, John Mattis, Robert Ingersoll, William Claggett, we have a claim on you; step to the front; thousands will follow.

JEFFERSON.

A Far-fetched Excuse.

To the Editor of the Evening Critic:

In your Friday's edition you say Major Dye is very much exercised over the newspaper criticisms relative to the recent discharge of police officers. Well he might be when men are recommended for dismissal upon statements like the following: "Liable to become incapacitated for duty from excessive use of liquor." Now, in one particular case, the officer recommended for discharge has not used a drop of liquor for the past two years, and when he did indulge he would not use as much in six months as one of those recommending his discharge would use in one day.

MORE ANON.

Concerning Mr. Kelm.

Baltimore American.

Some of the press comments upon the appointment of Mr. Kelm as chief examiner of the Civil-Service Commission are grossly unjust. He was selected by the commission for qualities which are rarely found united in the same person—sound common sense, erudition and freedom from prejudice. That he has been the associate of leading men who were opposed to Civil-Service Reform, and by whom he was employed, is by no means to his discredit. The country is at least divided to-day upon the feasibility of such reform, but nine-tenths of the voters are willing that the system should be given a fair trial; and it is only just to presume that one who has been so highly recommended, and who otherwise possesses such eminent qualifications for the duties of examiner, will not allow his associations to influence him in the discharge of his duties.

Pittsburg Telegraph.

Mr. D. B. Keim, of this State, has been appointed Chief Examiner of the Civil-Service Commission. He was indorsed by the members of the commission and strongly recommended by leading men of both parties in this and other States. A pretty good evidence of the strong common sense he will bring to this trust is his declaration that he will make the examinations practical, and that the plain and useful rudiments of a common school education will be all that will be necessary, a practice that is observed abroad. He is opposed to fantastic tests.

Terrible Sufferings.

AMUSEMENTS.

NATIONAL THEATRE.

Jay Rial's great combination opens at the National Theatre this evening in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This company is the finest of its character extant, and enjoys a wide reputation both in Europe and America. A matinee will be given Wednesday afternoon.

JUBILEE SINGERS.

The renowned Fiske Jubilees will give a concert and a matinee at the Congregational Church, commencing Friday evening, May 4.

THE NEW DIME MUSEUM.

An exceedingly interesting programme is down for this week at the New Dime Museum. Among the host of attractions is the London Punch and Judy.

NEW THEATRE COMIQUE.

Manager Snelbaker will to-night offer his patrons the celebrated drama of "Si Slocum; or, the Trapper and His Dog," J. J. Coleman's Frank I. Frayne Company appearing in the cast. The company is highly spoken of wherever they have appeared. The following we clip from the Boston Globe of January 31, 1882:

"Manager Hopkins, of the Windsor Theatre, presented for the amusement of a large audience, last evening, Clifton Tayleur's drama, entitled "Si Slocum; or, the Trapper and His Dog," with Frank Frayne's Company. The rifle-shooting, bear and dog-fighting, and a grand explosion at the close, were well executed, and the scenery was very appropriate. On the whole, an evening at the Windsor this week should not be missed by lovers of fun and good acting."

The usual Tuesday, Thursday and Friday matinees will be given.

EXCURSION.

To-morrow, Tuesday, the I. O. M., of this city, give an excursion to Norfolk. Return ticket, good for ten days, only $2.50. The steamer Excelsior has been chartered for the occasion, and leaves the Seventh street wharf at 5:30 to-morrow afternoon.

Sept. 14, 1880.

Hop Bitters Co., Toronto:

I have been sick for the past six years, suffering from dyspepsia and general weakness. I have used three bottles of Hop Bitters, and they have done wonders for me. I am well and able to work, and eat and sleep well. I cannot say too much for Hop Bitters.

SIMON ROBBINS.

A Brooklyn corporation, known as the "Vegetable Hair Company," proposes to make hair out of vegetable matter. This will probably cause another rise in butter.

Insure Your Lives Ere Too Late!

The year 1883 fully set in; the old one passed. How many good men left this world without protection for their families! Do not forget the efficacy of Life Insurance. Secure it in time and possess at least the happiness on your death-bed of knowing wife and children are not thrown upon the cold charities of this world. The affords you every advantage. Its principles are just and honest; assessments at actual cost; only three times a year, very light, and all applied to mortuary assets. No reserve fund built out of them. No accumulation for bonds in imagination. But any who desire can take paid up policy after five years. Papers and all information cheerfully given at Office, 611 Louisiana ave., opposite Postoffice.

Fidelity Mutual Association,
