An Incentive to Pauperism.

In speaking of the amounts appropriated for charitable purposes Commissioner West remarked to a CRITIC reporter this afternoon that "the subject of charity was largely an inducement to pauperism in the District on account of the large sums appropriated by the Government for such purposes. Here we have $214,250 appropriated for the Reform School and workhouse, and $356,500 for the Insane Asylum and the different hospitals, aggregating $570,750."

Cream Peppermints, lime-juice drops and [illegible] cups, always fresh and only 25c. [illegible], at Sharpless', 419 Seventh street, under Odd-Fellows' Hall.

In the Interest of the Public.

A CRITIC reporter called the attention of Major Dye to the statement that some of the officers of the Fifth Precinct had complained that the Gamewell police alarm boxes interfere with their duties.

"The boxes were put up in the interest of the public," said the Major, "and not in the interest of the police, and they would probably like it better, if they didn't have the extra duty to perform."

The New Pension Building.

The work on the new Pension Office building has been carried on throughout the winter by a small force of men on such branches of the operations as could be pursued during the cold weather. To-day the force of workmen was greatly increased and more active operations resumed for the spring. The exterior and interior work, construction of the terra cotta frieze, etc., will be pushed forward rapidly.

Representative Reed's Wit.

Representative Reed, of Maine, is not only a thoroughly practical business legislator, but a wit as well. Some one observed to him the other day that the Senate was a sleepy old body.

"Hold on," said Reed, "you should not speak thus of the Senate. The Senate should be spoken of in reverence. The Senate is the place where all good men go when they die."

Art Novelties.

The finest selection of art novelties and the handsomest store in the city at the Washington Art Company's establishment, 934 F street.

Damages from Changed Grades.

Commissioner Edmonds said, when questioned concerning the effect of the approval of the bill for the relief of the Carroll heirs, that the effect of an adverse decision to the District could not be overestimated. The claims will be innumerable, and the amounts cannot be estimated but may exceed $5,000,000.
