GOLDEN WEDDING BELLS.

"Not for the summer-hour alone,
When skies resplendent shine,
And youth and pleasure fill the throne,
Our hearts and hands we twine.

* * * * * * * * *

"But for a being without end,
This vow of love we take,
Grant us, oh, God, one home at last,
For our Redeemer's sake."

Many of the finest expressions of sentiment found in art and in literature, found in pictures and sculpture, in poetry and romance, were begotten of the same inspiration that gave the world "John Anderson, My Joe John." The aged couple moving lovingly and contentedly along, hand in hand, telling over link by link, the golden chain of youths' bright memories, lights up with glow, the hopes of the young and casts a halo over life—over the most sacred of all its ties, husband and wife. And how suggestive such a picture is of fruitions, of happiness and of contentment, and with what inexpressable pleasure do children, and children's children, contemplate the serene and quiet joys of such a pair so sustained by love and a reposeful confidence, in the twilight of a long journey almost ended, a journey whose path grows dimmer and dimmer with each succeeding feeble and more feeble step.

On the 22nd day of November, 1842, at the McKay homestead, near Waterford, Penn., were married Hiram Oliver and Mary M. McKay. The Fiftieth anniversary of that event was by the above couple duly and delightfully celebrated at their home, 312 North Emporia avenue, in this city, on the 22nd, inst. Only their children, the fathers and mothers of their grandchildren, were present, and a very happy group. And they were all there, except their only daughter, Mrs. H. T. West, of Boise, Idaho.

Hiram Oliver is 76 years old, his wife 69. Both are surprisingly active, and both look confidently forward to many years of peaceful and blessed life.

Mrs. Oliver had just recovered from a severe illness but was able to participate in all the festivities of the occasion. Among the many remembrances of their golden wedding was a gold spoon from each of their grand children, which bore the engraved figures, "1842-1892." A number of letters and telegrams from absent and distant friends of their youthful, and of their more mature lives, were received whose reading added much interest to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver came to Wichita ten years ago that they might live near their children, five sons living in this city. May constancy and love alive, like angel graces, sustain and bless them to the last.

"Age sits with decent grace upon each visage,
And worthily becomes their silver locks;
They wear the marks of many years well spent,
Of virtue, truth well tried and wise experience."

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

One of the most delightful parties ever given in Wichita this season was at the home of Robert Guthrie Friday evening, given Lucy Guthrie and Lena Cox. The elegant parlors were ablaze with colored lights and adorned with great boquetts of chrysanthemums. There were some seventy invited guests, and the toilets of the misses were simply very beautiful. The invitations had printed on the corners "Poudre," which, interpreted, means come with powdered hair, and thus the ladies came, and it was a sight charming and brilliant—gold dust, diamond powder, pearl chalk, glistened amidst the folds and braids of hair and sparkled in the hanging tresses of the maidens like unto the Spanish beauties who were honored by their queen with "places of honor" in the state room of the palace.

Miss Lucy Guthrie was arrayed in a dress of pale blue albatress bound with duchess lace, blue ribbon, low neck, short sleeves and wore a bouquet of red roses and ferns. Miss Lena Cox wore cream mall, empire style, trimmed in chiffon and cream ribbon, square neck and short sleeves, red mitts, hose and slippers with bouquet of white chrysanthemums, red roses and ferns.

The pleasures of the evening began with a musical entertainment. Miss Mollie Ross rendered a vocal solo in her usual charming and sweet manner, which was followed by an instrumental duett by Misses Miller and Gertie Hayes. This was a choice selection for this occasion and was executed in the highest art.

Miss Clara Gherring gave one of her pleasing recitations to the delight of the guests. Then came supper. A division of Shaw's orchestra furnished sweet music during the hours, and the canvass covered carpets made dancing easy and delightful. During the merry tripping of the dancers and the whirling waltzers lemmonade was served from a large Japanese bowl by Misses Florence Guthrie and Jennie Cox. Away into the night the joyous banquetting went on, till like to Walter Scotts marimore, "To all, to each a fair good night, and pleasing preams, and slumbers light."

The invited guests were, Beatrice Rich, Daisy Ballard, Emma Hill, Grace Hatton, Cora Cogdell, Mabel Israel, Katie Clough, of Leavenworth, Millie Hays, Gertie Hays, Magie Aleg, Mary Burnwell, Nellie Tilford, Amy Hays, Mamie McNair, Lizzie Boade, Etel and Stacy Needilander, Jossie Vennard, Lillie Lewis, Olive Decatur, Lizzie Hamilton, Jessie Bryan, Mollie Ross, Mary Wilson, Hattie Cowdy, Lulu Shepperd, Inez Creditor, Clara Gherring, Nina Hall, Dazy Lynch, Kate English, Mabel Willison, Will Haltone, Ockie Cogdell, Howard Shrouder, Roy Bone, John Kelley, Roy Corbett, Lee Corbett, Charles Mathews, Will Lewis, Ira Pearce, Kenoth Fawett, Joe and Will Katz, Howard Moffitt, Leslie and Niel Larimore, Roy Hays, Charles Kesky, Dan McKinon, Fred Hellar, Perry Briston, Mode Burwell, Charley Stessinger, Herbert Levy, Edward Moble, George Parkinson, John Waller, J. R. Sherwin and others.

A PIONEER EDITOR.

Hon. H. Von Langen of Topeka was in the city yesterday on a short business visit. Mr. Von Langen is the venerable and able editor of the Kansas Telegraph, the leading German paper in this state, and he is one of the very first pioneers who came to Kansas from Chicago to establish a German paper. In Chicago he was for years connected with the large German papers of that city and he is well known in this state, as well as in Illinois. Mr. Von Langen is much pleased with Wichita, and spoke in very complimentary terms of the city. On account of pressing business engagements the gentleman was compelled to return home last evening. While here he was the guest of Colonel W. E. Huttmann.

TROVATORE STAGE REHEARSAL.

A full stage rehearsal of Il Trovatore will be held at the Crawford Grand on Monday evening at 7:30. All members will please be on hand promptly and pass into the theatre by the stage door. The stage manager directs that all person taking part in the opera must be there on Monday night without fail, as the opera will be gone through with the same as at the production on Dec. 16. The ladies who have been absent from rehearsals are especially requested to be at this one. All books will be discarded as much as possible and the acting taken up henceforth. The orchestra will be present.

Captain Ash is confined to his bed with sickness.

SPOOK'S PALAVER:

A Hodge Podge of Items and Gossip for Sunday Morning Reading.

There is one well known man in the city who never lets Thanksgiving pass without sending every needy family in the city a sack of flower and a turkey. What makes his kindness all the more praiseworthy is the fact that only one or two of his most intimate friends are aware of his benevolence.

Wichita never before underwent such an ordeal of "de push" as it has experienced since the election. There are so many populist statesmen and office seekers in the city that Topeka is no longer the capital, except in name.

The society girls are complaining of the negligence of the boys in making their party calls and a scarcity of parties is the threatened result.

The old Kismet club is being reorganized. The opening party will be given about the first or second week in December.

The day is not far distant when Wichita will see some good games of football, judging from the interest that has been taken in the game during this, practically its first season, in the city.

Already about a score of prominent citizens are being "mentioned" as worthy of the executive seat of honor in the city building.

Another Wichita bachelor has been captured by a Pennsylvania girl. The lady is well known here, having visited in the city several times.

A coming out party is promised for a young lady on North Topeka avenue.

The University of Kansas Glee and Banjo club are to be given a hop by their friends after their entertainment on the 20th of December.

For some unknown reason the regular Sunday exodus of the boys to Wellington has been discontinued. The "flirting" ordinance of the Wellington city council must be in force.

Damon and Pythias and Ben Hur will be presented by local talent during the winter. If it wasn't for our home talent the prospects of the theatrical season of '92 would look pretty discouraging.

Some of the boys are fortunately blessed with wickedness. How are these: "Tod," "Prop," "Brucelets," "Pig" "Dutch," "Chappie," "Little Willie," "Ward" and "O. B. Stand up for Kansas." While as for well worn expressions that have become classic among the same boys are, "I wain to know," "For de Lawd," "Stay with me and you will never regret it," "Mis-Demeaner," "Mis-apprehension," "Now as to a protective tariff," and "With all the Embellishments."

CHAIRMAN JONES.

Colonel William Cassius Jones of Iola, chairman of the Democratic state committee, was in the city last night and felt so good all over that he would consider Julius Cæsar highly flattered by calling him his uncle. The length and breadth of all this fair land could be searched in vain for any member of the extensive family of the Joneses who enjoyed himself better and felt so good over the result of the recent contest. The predicted collision of the comet with the earth tonight had no effect on him; in fact he positively declared that he and all other good Democrats were willing to die happy now after such a triumph over the old enemy. He absolutely looked princely as he walked about the hotel office and shook hands with everybody who had the least suggestion of Democracy about him.

Colonel Jones is built on the plan of a sixpenny nail. His head is the largest thing about him, and his body slopes as uniformly down from the shoulders to the feet as any nail ever shaped by human hand. He can easily wear a lady's shoe, but at present he has no objection to wearing Colonel Dick Walker's official gaiters. In fact, he is after them, and from present indications they will be his when the chief executioner will have disposed of the official head of the knightly Richard.

When the Eagle reporter asked Colonel William for an interview, he extended the distance between his feet and threw back his shoulders until he looked for all the world like the Colossus of Rhodes drawn against the surface of a convex looking glass. Then a smile began to gather on his face, which kept on increasing till the eyes and nose were completely lost to sight, when his mirth exploded, making the very pillars of the hotel office tremble on their foundations.

"Didn't we give 'em 'Hail Columbia'!" said he finally or words to that effect and then he laughed again and again. "It was a great landslide, wasn't it?" and then his mirth exploded again. He was the happiest man the Carey hotel has seen for many a day. "No," said he finally, I have no interview for you now. I am too full of enthusiasm for utterance; besides the reporters all over the state are publishing interviews with me without ever coming near me. You can tell the people through the Eagle that the country is saved and that the Democracy is in the saddle to stay." At this juncture a dozen or so office seekers called the mirthful colonel one side, whispered something into his ear and then they all threw their hats further back on their heads and walked off arm in arm to some congenial locality where all good Democrats find solace when ill fortune has overtaken them and lubrication for their vocal organs when they have occasion to enthuse.

FAIR ASSOCIATION.

Pursuant to a notice sent out to 100 of the citizens of Sedgwick county by a committee composed of W. E. Hutchinson, W. R. Dulaney, J. E. Howard, M. W. Levy, J. P. Allen, W. H. Minick and H. G. Toler a meeting convened at the Board of Trade hall at 4 p. m. yesterday and organized a fair association with a capital stock of $10,000 divided into shares of $10 each. W. R. Dulaney was elected chairman and J. E. Howard secretary of the meeting, which was harmonious throughout.

After discussing several questions of policy as to the management of the association a subscription to the capital stock was presented and signed by twenty-seven stockholders, angregating 100 shares and par value $1,000.

Then the stockholders took charge of the meeting and elected fifteen directors as follows: W. R. Dulaney, P. W. McDonald, J. C. Hyde, M. W. Levy, C. F. Coleman, H. G. Toler, John Winsor, John P. Hessell, J. E. Howard, W. H. Sternberg, C. G. Cohen, Robert Little, W. A. Minick, Cash Henderson and Tom Fitch.

The directors then proceeded to elect its officers as follows: W. R. Dulaney, president; John Winsor, vice president, J. E. Howard, secretary, and J. M. Moore, treasurer.

On motion the president appointed J. E. Howard, H. G. Toler and Tom Fitch committee on constitution and by-laws, and John Winsor, C. G. Cohen, J. C. Hyde, R. M. Piatt and Charles Smythe committee on soliciting subscriptions.

An adjournment was taken, to meet at the board of trade rooms Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. E. T. Allen and baby left for Indianapolis and Gas City, Ind., yesterday afternoon where they will join Mr. Allen, who is sojourning at the latter place.

A CHRYSANTHEMUM KISS.

Yesterday morning we found, setting on our table, two pots of gorgeous chryanthemums, one a creamy white, of multiflora bloom, the other a yellow, of the brightest brilliancy:

"Orange bright
Like golden lamps in a green night."

From reading the doleful telegraphic account of how our poor little earth is to be everlastingly swiped out, in a flash, tonight, by a comet, presto, subito, instanter, quicker than a muskeeter by a fifty pound cannon ball, we looked out upon the shrouded heavens, up at the cold-wave flag, and then back upon our pretty flowers, when we started to think. Some people don't seem to know that editors sometimes think. But we shall not tell what we thought. An editor has no business telling all his thoughts, especially all he thinks about women. It might get him into trouble. But what man with any sentiment in his poetical contingent can see flowers and not think of women, at least of some woman. The accompanying note explained that the flowers were from the ladies of the Hypatia, with compliments to the editor of the Eagle. We didn't believe the note, for Hypatia, as an organization, has never failed to fall down when attempting anything for the editor of the Eagle. We are more than willing to believe, however, that the floral tribute came from some member of that ambitious and almost famous organization. Whoever she may be, God bless her dear old literary soul in the touch of love left there for the passe and bald headed. The flowers may fail to start new hair, but the sympathetic impulse which prompted the sweet and welcome tribute will doubless incline to retain and promote the warm, not to say ardent, glow of our sideburns, and render more green the yellow tendencies of our melancholy.

THANKSGIVING AND GIVING THANKS.

To the Editor of the Eagle.

Thanksgiving has been a joyful time for the Children's home on College Hill, and through your columns the managers would fain let their kind friends and sympathizers learn of their gladness.

First of all, the debt is paid—that debt of $560, and with that burden lifted from their hearts and hands the board can take courage, and with renewed energy and hope take up the winter work.

The directors who have solicited from house to house have made the following returns:

Mrs. M. L. Garver collected $100.05; Mrs. T. G. Fitch, $56.09; Mrs. Fawcett, $49.38; Mrs. Pittenger, $26.50; Mrs. F. G. Smythe, $25; Mrs. M. A. Naylor, $13.20; Mrs. McClung, $12.65; Mrs. Rochelle, $6.03; Mrs. W. T. Buckner, $5; Mrs. Craig, $5.30; Mrs. B. T. Churchward, $3.80; Mrs. Zartman, $2.50; Mrs. C. Reed, $1.90.

There has also been brought in from the postoffice box 64 cents: Mrs. Catherine Russell $1, Mrs. Lee $1, Mrs. John Kelly 50 cents, Mrs. J. H. Black $5, Mrs. Mulvey $1, G. A. Relief corps, per Mrs. Rochell $5, the Lawrence children $.20, Mrs. C. H. Jewell $1, Mr. Horn $2.

And the cash donations at Thanksgiving were Edwin Gross, $2; Edgar Kraitsheimer, 50 cents; Lucile Skinner, 10 cents; Mrs. O. Smith, 50 cents; Mrs. Gruber, 25 cents; the Central Christian Mission services, $25; the students at Southwestern Business college, $13; Helen Burrell, $10; Lincoln Street Republican club, First ward, $3.25; teachers of Park school, $1.25; Barbarar Preston, 10 cents; Mable Shearer, 15 cents; teacher at Webster school, $1; Professor McMichael, 50 cents; Claud and Nina Wightman, 15 cents; Garnett Culp, 25 cents; Mrs. A. E. Bracken, 50 cents; John Mendenhall, 5 cents.

The handsome donation of china and dolls given by Mr. Cash Henderson to the ladies for the Children's home has been nearly all sold to the New York store and has netted the large sum of $39.25, and there is still some of it left at the New York store, which, by the kindness of Mr. Henderson, will be sold for the benefit of the home.

The managers of the Children's home on College Hill carefully set aside all the sacks which were marked "Colored Childrens Home" and to that they added a handsome donation from their own supply, of one gunny sack of clothing, one sack onions, one sack of graham flour, one sack of popped corn, one sack pop-corn, two sacks walnuts, one sack bans, two sacks crackers, one sack quaker oats, one large bag of corn meal, one-half bushel Irish potatoes, one bushel sweet potatoes, one-half bushel sweet potatoes, one-half bushel turnips, two winter squash, one package oatmeal, two loaves of bread, one sack cookies and cake and one sack mixed nuts. All of these with the other marked sacks were taken to the colored home for whom and with whom the directors of the "white lambs" have always entertained the kindliest and most sympathetic feeling, which has been evinced by many a kind gift and deed and many a word of encouragement, for are we not all sisters, each trying to care for the Masters lambs?

MRS. A. BASLEY,
President Wichita Childrens Home.

THE CHILDREN'S BAGS.

To the Editor of the Eagle.

Wichita children have remembered their less fortunate brothers and sisters on College Hill with their accustomed generosity and the many little bags have been emptied, and as we know the children would like to hear the amount, will you be so kind as to spare a space in your columns for the long list of edibles.

Five barrels of Irish potatoes, 4 barrels sweet potatoes, 2 barrels of turnips, 1 barrel apples, 1 barrel flour, ½ barrel cabdage, ½ barrel crackers, 2 bushels popcorn, 2 bushels onions, 2 bushels walnuts, 1 bushel oat flake, 1 bushel beets, 2 bushels corn meal, ½ dozen pumpkins, 1 peck carrots, 1 dozen squashes, 40 pounds sugar, 25 pounds rice, 2 pounds tea, 2 pounds coffee, 2 dozen packages Quaker oats, 15 bars soap, ½ bushel cookies, doughnuts and snaps, 1 bushel beans, 1 bushel popcorn, 8 pounds dried sweet corn, 8 pounds hominy 1½ gallon cranberries, ½ bushel Graham flour, 2 dozen loaves bread, 12 cans tomatoes, 36 cans fruit, 6 cans corn, 3 bottles catsup, 12 glasses jelly, 1 package washing fluid, 1 peck mixed nuts, 4 pounds candy, 3 dozen oranges, 4 dozen bannas, 4 pounds butter beans, 10 pounds dried fruit, 4 packages buckwheat flour, 3 packages mince meat, 6 bags salt, 1 can baking powder, 1 basket of jelly in glasses, 1 package each of prunes, raisins, blackberries, etc., 5 packages pearline, 1 package pan cake flour, a beautiful dolly which drove the little misses wild with delight. From Mrs. L. B. Noble clothing and shirts, Mrs. J. W. Thomas, clothing and honey; Emma Johnston, new flannel underwear; Mrs. R. Allen Hall, carpet rags, quilts, etc., Mrs. Charles Fees, live turkey, milk and clothing; a friend, 2 dressed chickens; Mrs. Leuber, shoes; Mrs. Alexander, clothing and shoes; Miss May Staymake, bundle of clothing; Mrs. R. F. Coates, clothing; Mrs. J. Coates, shoes and underclothing; Mrs. J. H. McCall, shoes; Mr. Eldred, bag of sweet potatoes; little Nellie and Walter Wood, dressed chicken and can of fruit; E. M. Jones, 8 glasses jelly; Mrs. G. W. Larimer, clothing. Also in the childrens' bags five live chickens, 9 dressed chickens, 1 live turkey, a quantity of clothing and 1 new pair of hose. MRS. A. BASLEY,
President Wichita Childrens' Home.

WICHITA UNIVERSITY.

The musical recital was a success in every way.

The second term of school begins on Wednesday, November 30. A large number of new students is expected.

The new dining hall will be ready for occupancy in about a week.

A number of trustees and friends of the institution took their Thanksgiving dinner at the dining hall. All expressed themselves well pleased with everything.

Miss Lizzie Lapp, a teacher in the Salina schools, visited her brother and sister who are attending the university.

Mr. Edward Walter, a prominent business man of El Reno, is in the city.

SOUTHWESTERN BUSINESS COLLEGE NOTES.

Mr. W. S. McGiffert, who while pursuing the business course made many warm friends in this city, is now chief bookkeeper in the First National bank of McPherson, Kan.

Mr. Louis Gerhardt accepted a position in the Canadian County bank at El Reno, O. T., last week. Mr. Gerhardt had not quite completed the course, but his superior hand-writing and his accuracy in figures proved main factors in the securement of the position.

Miss Anna Maris accepted a position in New Sharon, Ia., and left for that place yesterday.

Mr. R. T. Lyon assumed duties of bookkeeper and collector for Wilcox & Co. of this city.

Among the visitors last week were Laura Wilson of Conway Springs, Mr. Neal of Hazleton, and Misses Ester and Bertha Wentworth of Potwin.

New classes in shorthand and typewriting will be organized on Tuesday morning, Dec. 6.

Mr. J. P. Latta, who spent a few weeks with his parents at Conway Springs, returned yesterday and will now remain until he graduates.

LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT.

Dr. Hoss' elocutionary entertainment by the senior class in the School of Oratory was given Friday evening in the Y. M. C. A. building. The room was crowded beyond its capacity by a highly select and appreciative audience.

The exercises opened with a recitation, "Spring Wheel Song," by Miss Ruby Wilbur, and was excellently recited, the lady showing fine delivery and expression.

"Shamus O'Brien" was rendered by Miss Gertrude Bull. This was a fine character presentation, every phase of feeling, appeal, petition, developed in her manner, voice and facial expression.

"Tom's Little Star, Who Would be an Actress" was rendered by Miss Edna Robertson. This lady possesses rare gifts as an elocutionist and evoked great applause by the strong and captivating rendition of this humorous piece.

"Little Senath in the Fall of the Pemberton Mills," was recited by Mrs. O. M. Valentine. Mrs. Valentine needs no eulogium to those having heard her every passion emotion in the thrilling story was amplified in all the force and beauty of enunciation and voice. "Little Orphan Amos and the Goblins," was beautifullly spoken by Miss May Hughs. Miss May possesses wonderful ability for one so young and rendered this in childlike sweetness and with grace and attractiveness. All were loudly applauded. A new feature was introduced in the exercises which was highly pleasing. It was pantomime letter reading by the foregoing members of the class and each did the expression to perfection. Anger, delight, sorrow, love were all acted and pleased and delighted the audience. Mr. Brandenbury furnished sweet, light harp music.

OBITUARY.

Bion E. Sumption, proprietor of the Novelty Carriage works, died at his home, 1418 South Fourth avenue, Wednesday, Nov. 23, at 1:25 p. m. He was 35 years of age and on Tuesday he submitted to a surgical operation, from the effects of which he never rallied. He was born at South Bend, Ind., Feb. 1, 1858. At that place he spent his boyhood, youth and early manhood, removing to Wichita seven years ago last March. He was married Nov. 3, 1880. For years he has had to struggle with ill health, but has carried on the battle bravely, manfully and cheerfully.

Patience with him was a virtue and his suffering made it shine out brightly in his life and actions. Very few realize the intensity and severity of his sufferings, because he was so patient and cheerful through it all.

When the Lincoln Street Presbyterian church was organized he was selected as one of the trustees, and that position he continued to hold to the day of his death. For more than five years he has labored for the upbuilding of the church, not only as trustee, but treasurer. Every member of this church and society owe more to him than they are aware. He was a man of sterling integrity, who possed the confidence of all who knew him; a friend whose friendship was highly prized by those who knew him best.

He leaves a wife and two children to mourn their loss. In this bereavement they have the sympathy of their many friends.

THE K. P. BALL.

The Thanksgiving ball given by the Knights of Pythias was one of the finest events of the kind ever given in Wichita. The gas light matinee was also very enjoyable. The hall had been very beautifully decorated for the occasion and the management of the entire affair could not have been excelled. The evening event was a very brilliant one and many beautiful and rich costumes were worn by the ladies, while the gentlemen appeared in full dress. The drill, one of the features of the evening, was the finest things of the kind ever seen in Wichita and was something entirely new. The K. P. lodge, especially the committees who did such excellent work, deserve much praise. It was one of the most select and fashionable balls ever given here, and the coming balls, this being the first of the season, are looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation.

HE WANTS TO BE MARSHAL.

E. F. Mitchell of El Reno was in the city yesterday buying his usual large invoice of goods from our wholesale merchants to replenish his stock of general Indian trading merchandise at Darlington. E. F. is one of the "heap big" Democrats of Oklahoma and it is very probable that he will step into the shoes of United States Marshal Grimes when that gentleman's term of office expires. To use a Tammany expression he has a "big political pull" with half a hundred of the most prominent Democrats in the country, and he is just the kind of a fellow who can pull the strings to the queen's taste when he wants to. He was too busy to be interviewed last night, but he found time to say, "I'll give you my head for a football if I am not the next marshal of Oklahoma."

TO WED.

At 9:30 o'clock tomorrow, Monday, morning, Mr. A. W. Reeves and Miss S. Bell Neely will be united in the bonds of matrimony, Rev. David Winters officiating. The joyous event will take place at the home of the bride's father, Dr. Neely, at 417 Wabash avenue. Mr. Reeves was formerly connected with the Wells Fargo Express company in this city, but is now in the service of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves will be at home at 232 North Walter street, Albuquerque, N. M., after Dec. 12.

DON'T BE TRAPPED.

into believing all that some dealers advertise. "Bankrupt Sales" and "Slaughter Sales" out of season are "Chestnuts" and subterfuges of the rankest kind, and fail to fool the public as of yore. The time has come when the people demand honest representation of goods and prices. We have always been very careful not to advertise anything which was not strictly true in every particular, and by fair, honest dealing have built up a trade of which we feel justly proud. We desire to say that we will sell you better suits for $5, than is offered in glaring advertisements at $7.10, and far better Storm King Ulsters at $4. than is offered at $7.65; also better Boys Suits at $1.25 than they will sell at $2.75.

Hughes	full back	M. Burwell
W. Tull	quarter back	Captain Root
Rogers	half backs	McKinnon
Kelly	half backs	M. Nolder

MR. C. F. COFFIN'S ADDRESS.

Owing to the fact that some officious person carried away one page of resolutions adopted at the Teachers' association meeting an unintentional omission was made of one extending the thanks of the teachers to Mr. C. F. Coffin for his eloquent address of welcome. The Eagle on Friday morning gave a report of some of the witty and timely things he said during his address. The secretary pro tem. regrets exceedingly the omission of the resolution from the report as published in Saturday morning's paper.

A SMALL BLAZE.

At about 11 o'clock last night the fire company responded to an alarm turned in from North Main street. A hanging lamp in a second hand store, the first building north of the Bryan Fruit company, exploded and things looked favorable for quite a blaze, but the promptness of the company prevented it. Not much damage was done. Fireman Jack Caldwell lost a boot while making the run, and anyone finding it will please return it to hose house No. 1 and receive thanks.

SICKNER CONSERVATORY RECITAL.

The public recital Friday evening by the students of the Sickner Conservatory of Music was well attended. Each number performed showed careful, conscientious work from their instructor. Want of space forbids giving the program in full.

Seventy-seven pupils enrolled at the conservatory in the instrumental department since August 1.

The case of the state vs. Simon brothers of St. Marks was called up in Justice Jones' court yesterday. Five of them were discharged and one plead guilty according to the advice of El O'Bryan and was fined $2 and costs. He was only technically guilty and preferred fighting the case, but to save time and money he yielded to the advice of his attorney. His offense consisted of pushing away a man named Martin who tried to gain admission to a German dance given at St. Marks, Oct. 6. The Simon brothers are reputed to be among the best men of that neighborhood, and if the case went to trial it would probably be shown that they were not to blame.

Mrs. Sutherland.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured me of Goitre or swellings in the neck which I had from 10 years old till I was 52. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling so discouraged with goitre and rheumatism. When I caught cold I could not walk two blocks without fainting. Now I am free from it all and I can truly recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA." Mrs. ANNA SUTHERLAND, Kalamazoo, Mich.

HOOD'S PILLS assist digestion, cure headache.

Elias Mitchell, an old-time farmer from Butler county, was here yesterday doing business in Justice Jones' court. Mr. Mitchell is a very successful farmer and cattle raiser, having a fine farm near Rose Hill.

Miss Gertie Shaw spent Thanksgiving and a few days in Clearwater with friends. She reports a highly enjoyable time.
