OUTFIT IS BUNCOED

DEMOCRATS OF KANSAS SLAPPED IN THE FACE BY LEADERS.

Mr. Pepperell, Secretary of the State Central Committee, Calls a Convention to Nominate a Man Against Chief Justice Martin Too Late for All Practical Purposes—Democrats have Given Up in Despair Before the Jobbery—It is Thought that Grover is at the Bottom of it Through Richardson.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 18.—The faction of the Democratic party in Kansas, which is opposed to the state convention has won a victory. W. H. L. Pepperell, secretary of the state central committee, has issued a call for a meeting of the committee at Throop hotel in Topeka, on October 4, just one day before the time for filing nomination papers with the secretary of state expires. The law requires that certificates of nomination be filed at least thirty days before the election, which brings the limit this year to October 5. The Democrats will not therefore have a candidate for chief justice unless the committee sees fit to make a nomination at the meeting, which is doubtful.

It is not known why Mr. Pepperell delayed the issuance of a call, but it is supposed he acted under the instructions of his superior Chairman J. S. Richardson, who has been in the east all summer. However, Mr. Richardson notified Eugene Hagan of Topeka, three weeks ago, that he had instructed Mr. Pepperell to call the committee together. Mr. Hagan stated to The Times correspondent tonight that he deeply regretted the blunder that had been made.

"It will greatly handicap the party," he said. "The Populist leaders have laid down their arms and will not make a fight this fall, and thousands of the rank and file are ready to vote the Democratic ticket. We ought to have held a convention, adopted a strong platform, and nominated a candidate for chief justice. We could have polled 90,000 votes and been in first-class condition for the campaign of 1896. That is what the Democracy expected. Of course the committee can nominate a candidate for chief justice, but I fear such action in the face of this call, which prevents a convention, wiuld look like a job of some sort and the campaign would lack interest and strength."

Ex-Governor George W. Glick says that in his opinion the state central committee is being run in the interest of the Republican candidate for chief justice. "When the committee met three months ago to dispose of this chief justiceship," he said, "a few leaders very cleverly raised the point that an election this fall would not be legal. The special committee was appointed to examine the law and the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, Mr. Richardson. The special committeemen made their reports in a few days in effect that an election would be legal, but Richardson went away, paying no attention to the duties of his office, and it was not until a great clamor arose from the Democracy for action that he instructed Secretary Pepperell to call a committee meeting. Mr. Richardson's conduct has been unbusiness like and un-Democratic. The committee ought to declare his office vacant and elect a new chairman. This kind of politics is what has reduced the Democratic party in Kansas to less than 40,000.

Joseph G. Lowe says that he is not surprised. He expresses the opinion that James W. Orr of Atchison is responsible for Pepperell's tardy call. He says that Orr, who used to be Judge David Martin's law partner, does not want the Republican nominee to have any opposition. He also says that Orr did not want a convention for fear of the adoption of a free silver plank in the platform.

"The Democratic party in Kansas is not very strong," he said, "but should it ever again be so fortunate as to be permitted to hold a convention, I have an impression that it will be strong enough to elect a new state central committee."

Of course there are two sides to this question, an dwhen the other side is heard, the action of Chairman Richardson and Secretary Pepperell and others probably will appear in a different light.

POPS ARE DISSATISFIED

The action of the Populist state central committee in refusing, at its recent session at Topeka, to call a convention failed to receive unanimous commendation from members of the party throughout the state. There is one faction which is strongly opposed to this action of the committee and is now making preparations to actively oppose a mass convention at Kansas City, Kan on Oct. 2, to place in nomination a candidate for chief justice, probably Judge D. B. Hadley of Wyandotte.

When the central committee met, eight members were present, five of them regular and three proxies, and the sense of the committee was that it would not under the circumstances be advisable for the party to hold a convention to nominate a candidate for chief justice. The term for which the candidate would serve, if elected, is but one year, and the expense would, the committee believe, be greater than any advantage that might be gained from the possession of the office for such a short term, even if the party should elect their candidate. This, a bare quorum of the committee, was unanimous in the decision and the convention was declared to be unnecessary.

In the past two days a number of Populists have received copies of a letter, evidently a circular, sent out by Judge W. C. Webb of this city, calling for a mass convention to beheld in Kansas City, Kan., on Oct. . Appended is the letter:

Dear Sir:—Our friend, Judge Dadley of Wyandotte, writes me that the Populists of his city and county are not satisfied with the action of the four members of the state central committee and three proxies, who met in Topeka on Wednesday last, and refused to nominate a candidate for chief justice. He says they propose to call a mass convention to be held in Kansas City, Kan. on Oct. 2, to nominate a candidate, and he requests the names of such of our friends as are in favor of putting in the field a Populist candidate for chief justice. If you are in favor of such a movement, please detach and sign the following letter and mail it to Hon. D. B. Hadley, Kansas City, Kan. Send other names also to be attached to the call.

I am firmly of the opinion that had our state central committee performed its duty and called a state convention that we could have elected our nominees. Shall be glad to hear from you at any time. Most respectfully yours,

W. C. WEBB.

As Mr. Webb was a rather prominent possibility for the nomination, the impression might prevail that he would benefit by this mass convention, but such is not the case or so it now appears from what information can be obtained. Judge D. B. Hadley of Kansas City, Kan., will probably be the choice of the convention, should it be called.

The call of this mass convention has not yet been issued but simply the letter. This has been sent to only that wing of the Populist party that is believed o be in sympathy with such a movement but the central committee and those who are suspected of being advocates of the action of the committee have received no notification of the proposed action. It is supposed to be the intention of those who are behind the movement, when they have received a sufficient number of responses to justify such a course, to issue a call in the name of Populists of the state and nominate a candidate.

The Kansas City men who are behind the convention are mainly from the same faction that called the county convention held in Wyandotte on last Saturday. At least there is some certainty that that element will attend as Judge Hadley has been, in past, somewhat closely associated with J. A. Smith, one of the leaders in the Saturday convention. Mr. Smith was a candidate for the position of judge of the court of common pleas before that convention but was defeated by Colonel Ben Henderson. At the time of the celebrated King libel suit when Smith sued King for stating that the plaintiff had offered a $2,500 bribe to Chairman Breidenthal and had it refused, Mr. Hadley acted as attorney for Mr. Smith.

Should the convention be held it will undoubtedly be an anti-committee gathering and will result in the nomination of some one not entirely satisfactory to the committee. It is probable that the movement will be a strong one.

QUARREL BETWEEN COUNTIES

The quarrel between Johnson and Miami counties, involving the costs of the celebrated Rody murder case, has reached the supreme court. In 1892 Rody was tried and convicted in Miami county, but the verdict of the jury was set aside and a new trial granted. Afterwards a change of venue was taken to Johnson county, where the second trial occurred. Johnson county charges the costs to Miami, but the latter refused to pay, and a suit to collect followed. The defendant claimed that a part of the costs should be paid by Johnson county, because the same jury which heard the Rody case heard other cases. The Miami county district court decided for the defendant, and the plaintiff appealed.

SCOTT KICKS ON ROSS.

Oklahoma Judge Objects to One Naming All the Oklahoma Postmasters.

Kansas City, Sep. 18.—The Kansas City Journal has the following special from Washington, D. C.: Judge Henry W. Scott, of Oklahoma City spent some time with Postmaster General Wilson today, talking over postoffice matters in Oklahoma. The judge protested against Colonel L. P. Ross, ex-chairman of the territorial Democratic committee, being referee for appointments in Oklahoma. He explained to Mr. Wilson that when the administration came in Colonel Ross was chairman of the committee, and hence had been selected to make recommendations for fourth class offices, and in most cases his recommendation for presidential offices had been followed. Scott said he thought the principle was wrong and said he could see no reason why a chairman of a territorial committee should be given this power, as he certainly could not know the situation in the various localities any better than others of the party. Mr. Scott suggested that the chairman of the county committee should be allowed to name postmasters for the county. While making this suggestion Judge Scott took from his pocket a list of the chairmen of the various county Democratic committees and said that if they were allowed to select postmasters for Oklahoma there would be much less friction and that things Democratic in Oklahoma would run much smoother than at present. The postmaster general asked about Colonel Ross, his fitness as a man to make recommendations and what sort of a man he is personally, and the replies of Judge Scott would certainly look sensational in print.

The point about the whole matter is that Judge Scott and Ross are not on good terms. Formerly they were, one helping the other to a judgeship, and the other assisting the one into the land office. But things are different now. Scott accuses Ross of having had much to do in making trouble for him, and Ross thinks Scott has done much to get him into difficulty, and at present each one is antagonizing the other.

The chances are that Scott will be able to do some damage to Ross in the postoffice department, but how he will get along in the interior department remains to be seen. Ross and the interior crowd are fascinated with the same color and they will not separate.

Judge Scott paid his respects to Secretary Carlisle today, by reason of the fact that Mr. Carlisle and Attorney General Harmon are good friends. The judge had a short talk with the secretary and a long talk with some of the intimate friends of the secretary. Thus it is proposed by the judge to establish a leadpipe cinch on the attorney general and thus erect a windbreak for personal use.

ASTHMA CAN BE CURED.

A LEADING PHYSICIAN AT LAST DISCOVERS THE REMEDY.

A Public Test Will be made Today at Shoemaker & Miller's Drug Store.

In the wonderful progress made by medical science of the world successful treatment for most diseases has been discovered, and diseases which were at one time considered incurable are now easily conquered. Among the most difficult and obstinate of diseases which has baffled the skill of our most noted physicians up to the present time, Asthma ranks first. Thousands of sufferers know by their personal experience that no absolute cure for this disease was discovered until Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann, the renowned physician, who has made the treatment of Asthma and kindred complaints the study of a life time, during which time he has treated and cured more cases of Asthma than any living doctor, perfected a remedy which not only produces instant relief in the most severe cases of Asthma, Phthisic, Hay-Fever and Bronchitis, but has positively cured thousand of sufferers who were considered incurable. Recognizing the skepticism of the public in this age of countless fraudulent nostrums, Dr. Schiffmann, in order to restore confidence and obviate any suspicion of imposition, requests this paper to announce that from 8 a. m. today until 6 p. m. tomorrow he offers a liberal sample box of Schiffmann's Asthma Cure to all persons applying at Shoemaker & Miller's drug store, 248 North Main street, absolutely free of charge, knowing that a personal test will be most convincing and will vindicate his every claim. This physician has made a most generous offer to persons who suffer from this most terrible disease, and all sufferers are not only requested, but cordially invited to call, and should bear in mind the time and place specified for the distribution and avail themselves of the offer. Persons living out of this city who desire to test the merits of this most wonderful remedy will receive a package free by mail by writing to Dr. R. Schiffmann, 315 Rosabel street, St. Paul, Minn., providing their letter is received before October 1, as no samples can be obtained after that date. Shoemaker & Miller, the well known druggists, authorize us to announce that they have received a quantity of samples from Dr. Schiffmann which they will distribute during the hours mentioned in accordance with his offer.

THOSE WHO LOST

PEOPLE AT PERRY WHO HELD THE BAG ON THE BURST BANK.

School Board is Taken in to the Tune of One Thousand Dollars while the Receiver of the Land Office Relinquishes His Right and Possession to Twenty-Six Hundred—Member of the Townsite Board Also Bids a Fond Adieu to a Large Sum—Feeling Among the Depositors is Very Bitter—Particulars.

Perry, O. T., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Feeling is still high over the greatest failure that has yet occurred in our city which was the failure of the First State bank. About 7 o'clock several attachments were run on the bank by its heaviest depositors and that precipitated a run and all night the district clerk and the probate judge were kept busy in running attachments and garnishments. The bank is in the hands of the sheriff and everything in sight has been attached. Only twenty-three hundred dollars in cash was found in the bank when the sheriff took possession. The deposits amount to forty thousand dollars. Assets are the cash above mentioned, a very little personal property and about thirty thousand dollars in notes, most of them of questionable value. It is believed that not a director of the bank is in the city, although it is reported on good authority that F. W. Farmer, one of the directors, was seen in the city on Sunday evening last. The feeling here is quite bitter against the managers of the bank.

Only boys were found in possession of the bank when the attachments were run.

The following are among the depositors who have attached with plenty more to follow:

BOOKKEEPER BROUGHT IN.

Perry, O. T., Sept. 18.—Fred Gum, who was the principal bookkeeper of the First State bank, which closed yesterday, and acted as cashier during the absence of Cashier Farrar, was brought here from Pawnee at noon today. He declares that when Farrar left here, Aug. 23, he drew out all the capital stock, which was only $1,000, and from Aug. 23 to yesterday the bank did not have 1 cent capital.

Farrar telegraphed here yesterday that he had resigned the chashiership Aug. 10, but he issued drafts as cashier up to Aug. 23.

J. V. N. Gregory, whose name appears as president, and H. H. Hartley, whose name appears as director, claim that Farrar used their names without authority and say that neither has a cent of stock. In the meantime the hundreds of depositors are clamoring for the $40,000 held by the bank and belonging to them.

Hay Crop in Oklahoma is Now Simply Out of Sight.

Oklahoma City, O. T., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The weather crop bulletin of the Oklahoma weather crop service for the week ending Monday, Sept. 16, is as follows:

The weather of the past week was a repetition of the week preceding, if anything it has been slightly hotter, and not a shower of rain even is reported from the central, western, northern, and southern sections. Heavy rains are reported from the eastern section, Cherokee, Creek and eastern Choctaw nation, damaging much hay in shock, and making the ground so wet and mud dy that farm work has been impracticable.

The average temeprature during the past week has been 82.7; the normal for the second week in September is 72.6, giving us a daily average temperature of 10.1 above normal.

Highest temperature within the week 104 degrees at Healdton on the 11th; minimum temperature, 68 at Oklahoma City and Purcell, on the 12th.

THE CROPS.

The hot dry weather during the entire week has rapidly matured the late crops throughout the northern, western and central sections, and facilitated the harvesting of late broom corn, cane, hay, and forage crops. The crop of hay harvested is immense, the largest that has ever been harvested.

The hot dry weather has been essentially favorable to cotton throughout the central section, the acreage, however, is small.

Ground everywhere throughout these three sections is too dry to plow, most of the fall plowing, however is completed.

Throughout the central and eastern portions of the eastern section, the excessive rains destroyed much hay in the shock and prevents further work in this line; while an abundance has been saved and housed, yet our correspondence states that more has been completely ruined than was made last year.

Throughout the southern section, the reports in regard to the cotton crop are not encouraging. Pastures are drying up fast, and stock water getting scarce in places.

The following are some special reports as to cotton:

Purcell—Very hot and dry during entire week. Late corn is much damaged; very little cotton in this section, but what there is looks fairly well; it is being rapidly put upon the market.

Ardmore—The past week has been a hot one. Stock suffering for water, ranges dry enough to burn. Cotton picking is the order of the day; crop is light and about one good picking will clean it up.

Eastman—Cotton opening prematurely under the excessive heat, and if no change comes soon the results will be anything but good. Boll worms and sharpshooters in August and drouth in September even a fair crop cannot be expected.

Healdton—A hot sultry week, too much so for cotton picking, still it is going on slowly, but the crop is light.

SPONGE GATHERERS.

They Sometimes Turn Wreckers or Worse, It Is Hinted.

Everybody connected with the sponge trade, until it gets into the hands of the brokers and shippers, is "colored"—any shade between jet black and the hue of West India molasses, says the Philadelphia Record.

The hands employed in washing, shipping, packing and preparing for shipment abroad are generally paid fifty cents a day for ten hours' work. As for the men who do the dangerous part of it—those who go down to the sea in ships and wrest the sponges from the bottom—they are never hired by the day or month or promised a definite sum, but their earnings depend entirely upon luck and circumstances. The owner of a vessel fits her out at his own expense and the profits of the voyage are divided up in shares between himself, the sailing master and the men. Each ship carries a crew of from eight to twelve men, and while the owners, as a rule, find considerable profit in the business, it is rarely indeed that a sponge fisherman does more than make a tolerable living.

It is darkly hinted that on favorable occasions when the "sponge catch" has not been good these men turn wreckers, an occupation verging closely upon piracy, and sometimes when no profitable wreck has turned up for months they are even tempted to decoy a ship from her proper course and lead her upon the rocks by a display of false lights. The intricate navigation of these waters, dotted by thousands of small reefs and islets, which can be traversed with comparative safety only by three channels, has always furnished a demoralizing lot of flotsam and jetsam in the way of shipwrecked merchandise to Nassau.

THE BABY ALARM.

A New Electrical Household Appliance, and Its Uses.

The newest electrical household appliance, and in future no nursery will be complete without it, is the "baby alarm." It often happens that in a large house, where the infant is sleeping in a room on the upper story, the nurse cannot retire to the servants' room, which may be on a different floor and too far distant for any to hear the child's signal that it is awake. The intention of the baby alarm is to give warning to any required distance when the child cries. A sensitive microphone, placed near the cot, is connected to a battery and an induction coil, and thence by wires to a small electro-magnet at the end where the sound is to be received. When the child cries the microphone will set up an undulatory circuit, the electro-magnet will be actuated, its oscillation will close a bell circuit, and a bell will continue to ring as long as the sound of the baby's voice is sustained. As the device is at present constructed the adjustment of the balance lever which is set in motion by the electro magnet is so delicate that the apparatus has to be handled with extreme care, and any bungling by an inexperienced person is likely to derange it. Suggestions have been made for lessening the complexity of the instrument, and making it a practical and durable means of enabling infants to unconsciously signal to a distance, and thus save much anxious watching on the part of those in charge.

Perverted Consciousness.

She—If you should hypnotize me and kiss me while I was under the influence, would I know it or remember anything about it?

He—You would not.

She (after reflection)—Then, please don't hypnotize me.—N. Y. World.

Nothing In It.

Mrs. Billus—Don't you believe it's true, John, that a person partakes to a considerable extent of the nature of the creatures he eats?

Mr. Billus—No. I've been eating fish all my life and I can't swim a stroke.—Chicago Tribune.

Probably Perjured Himself.

Judge (to witness)—Have you ever taken an oath before?

Witness—Oh, yes; several times.

Judge (to witness)—When was that?

Witness—When I was in love.—Tammany Times.
