Seventh Ward Council, No. 9.—The members of the above Council are requested to attend a SPECIAL MEETING, to be held at their Rooms No. 68 East Broadway, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, the 17th inst., at 7½ o'clock. By order of M. S. TRESHER, President.

Card to the Electors.—The GERMAN REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE has, in its meeting on the 14th inst., in reference to the next election,

Resolved, Apart from all regard to politics, to use every influence, that only able and honorable men shall be nominated as candidates for the offices of our community and be supported by all men.

Resolved, That all good citizens shall be requested to unite for this purpose, and aim to have elected, by more activity before, and by a greater participation in, the election, able and responsible candidates; because, only in consequence of the prevalent carelessness, nominations have been made, like those of the last Convention, which have disgusted a great part of the electors.

Resolved, That these resolutions shall be published in the newspapers. AD. LANGE, Sec'y.

To the Republicans of the Twenty-first Ward.—A card has appeared in The Tribune, signed by six persons, purporting to be an Aldermanic Convention, nominating James Owens as the Republican candidate for Alderman.

No such persons were ever elected Delegates to any such Convention.

The Republican Association made its nomination four weeks since, by ballot in open Association, all members voting who desired, when WM. HAW, jr., a staunch Republican mechanic, and a worthy, intelligent and honest man, received the highest vote, and was thereupon, on motion, declared the unanimous nominee of the Association for Alderman.

Since that time several underhanded attempts have been made to sell out the party to James Owens, all of which have disgracefully failed.

The Association again, at its regular meeting last evening, 15th inst., by an overwhelming vote, declared the action of these disorganizers null and void, and again declared unanimously that WM. HAW jr., was the only and the regular Republican nominee for Alderman of the XXIst Ward.

THOS. B. VAN BUREN,
President of the XXIst Ward Republican Association.
J. B. HUNT, Secretary.

Wing's Farina Crackers.

All those who may wish to procure WING'S CELEBRATED CRACKERS should be on their GUARD AGAINST IMITATIONS, as some are making ordinary crackers the size of WING'S FARINA, and are endeavoring to sell their articles by calling them Farina Crackers.

We are credibly informed that some retailers have been found actually doing these deceptions, by offering to their own customers these inferior Crackers at the full price of WING'S FARINA, with an intimation that they were the same as Wing's and all this is done simply because the imitation article afforded them a larger profit.

Of course those who confide in their family grocer, as all must do to a certain extent, to sell them genuine and good articles at fair prices, will not continue to patronize any one who attempts such a deception.

There are too many high minded merchants engaged in the business of selling family groceries to render it necessary for any family to encourage any individual doing thus.

In order to avoid such deceptions, buy no Crackers for Farina but Wing's.

ALL OF WING'S CRACKERS ARE FARINA.

The name A. WING is stamped upon every true Farina Cracker made; be sure and purchase none but those having this stamp.

WING'S FARINA CRACKERS may be procured of the best Family Grocers generally, by whom they are extensively sold in different portions of the United States, and at wholesale only of A. N. THOMPSON & Co., Nos. 221 and 223 Fulton-st., N. Y.

All the New Books of importance are received at the Mercantile Library. Several hundred volumes have just been added, including recent French and German lite ature. Merchants' Clerks (female clerks included) $4 a year, all others $5. The Library is open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., and the Reading Room to 10 p. m.

The Druggists' Circular and Chemical Gazette has an immense circulation in the United States, Canada and foreign countries, and is, therefore, unequaled as an advertising medium for the trade. Advertisements should be sent to the office, No. 36 Beekman-st., by the 2 st of the month.

THE GREATEST INDIAN STORY EVER WRITTEN!

NED BUNTLINE'S CROWNING WORK,

A thrilling Historical Romance of Indian Adventure, is about to be presented to the reading world and must inevitably make its mark, not only as the masterpiece of its gifted writer, but also as THE MOST ABSORBING STORY OF THE AGE.

This great work, the result of long labor, study and experience, is entitled

THAYENDANEGEA,
THE SCOURGE; OR,
THE WAR-EAGLE OF THE MOHAWKS.
A TALE OF MYSTERY, RUTH AND WRONG.

It is not a romance merely—a work of pure fiction, to tickle the palate of the superficial reader—but a record of real, stern truths—historical facts—with a garland of romance skillfully entwined about them as only NED BUNTLINE can adorn the historic page.

The celebrated

JOSEPH BRANDT,
CHIEF OF THE SIX NATIONS,

Is introduced as a prominent character, and many particulars of his romantic life are here given for the first time to the public.

LIFE IN THE BA-KWOODS,

With all its strange vicissitudes, its deprivations, its dangers, its pleasures, and its

GLORIOUS SPIRIT OF WILD FREEDOM,

is here displayed in the truest and most vivid colors. The author writes t ese scenes with the feeling of a man at home, for he has lived among

and shared their primitive hospitality—joining them

IN SPORT AND IN WAR,

until he knows all their ways, their emotions, and their superstitions, and to write of them is with him a labor of love.

But not of the Red Man alone does this great romance treat. There are scenes of an entirely different nature, opposed in startling contrast to the BATTLES, the TREACHERIES and the REVENGE of the MOHAWK TRIBE. There are proud men and lovely women—there are the passions engendered by refinement and luxury—there is the

LOVE AND HATE OF CIVILIZED LIFE,

and all their medley train of consequences, as well as the

EMOTIONS OF THE SAVAGE HEART,

all vividly painted by the masterly pen of one who has seen and suffered what he writes.

The Red Man is rapidly passing away from his native soil, and "the places that knew him, know him no longer." His bow is broken—his tomahawk is buried, and ere another century shall have swept by, he will be a myth of the past—a reminiscence of story.

But in the pages of such works as

he will live forever and those who, a hundred years hence, shall laugh and weep over that wondrous tale, will know and feel all the nobility—all the dignity—all the hardiness—all the untamable grandeur—aye, and all the inveterate, fate-like vengefulness of the

TRUE NORTH AMERICAN INDIAN!

So truthfully and conscientiously has NED BUNTLINE performed this, the crowning task of his life—the work upon which he is content to let his FAME rest.

The first chapters of

will appear in

THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY MERCURY
for
November 27, 1858,

Now ready at all news depots. If these first chapters are read, the whole story must be perused, to the very last word, for there is a fascination and a charm about it, in every part, that is perfectly irresistible.

The MERCURY is sold by all Newsdealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

BITTER-SWEET.

A THANKSGIVING POEM.
BY TIMOTHY TITCOMB.
C. SCRIBNER, Brooks Building, No. 124 Grand-st., second door east of Broadway,
HAS JUST ISSUED
BITTER-SWEET;
A POEM.
By Dr. J. G. HOLLAND, Author of "Titcomb's Letters."
1 vol., 12mo. Price 75 cents, or full gilt, $1 25.

"We promise our readers who are lovers of poetry a rich treat in this volume. In a simple New-England home, in a fond family circle, gathered to the good old festival of Thanksgiving, the problem of evil and its uses is grandly treated; and while the author shows the genius of a true poet, he breathes the spirit of a true-hearted Christian." [Christian Inquirer.

"It is the picture of a New-England home, at the close of the annual Thanksgiving festival, when the scattered members of the family return from their wanderings, and in mutual converse, revive the memories of the past, which bind them in still closer sympathies.

"Here and there we meet with passages that remind us of Mrs. Browning without her occasional negligence of style, although, in the tender and sympathetic element, Bitter-Sweet is far superior to Aurora Leigh." [N. Y. Evangelist.

"On this Thanksgiving eve the colloquy takes place in which is mingled with startling effect the bitter and sweet of life. In the exquisite manner in which these elements are introduced and expressed is the charm of the poem. Many of the passages are truly beautiful. The author exhibits a wonderful knowledge of humanity, in the exhibition of which is wrought the interest of the work." [Boston Atlas.

"An original American poem, or rather an original New-England poem, for it is as distinctly the product of New-England as Burns's poems are of Scotland, or Moore's of Ireland; and though we are now and then reminded of Browning and Longfellow, the poem is altogether original in manner and peculiar in construction." N. Y. Daily Times.

"The Poem must take its place beside the greatest of the day, and stamps the author as one of the most talented writers of our country or time. It will attain a circulation, we believe, that will be at once a truthful indication of the author's popularity and the correct appreciation of American readers." [Troy Daily Times.

"Dr. Holland displays the true genius of a poet in evoking from the homeliest and humblest things deep thought and lofty imaginations." [Albany Evening Journal.

"The plot of the Poem is like one of those curious Chinese boxes, which you innocently suppose to be solid ivory until it suddenly opens in your hands, to your unspeakable astonishment." [Saturday Press.

"We know of but one living writer beside Mr. Holland who has shown such a versatile talent as is exhibited in the Poem before us. In selecting passages to illustrate, we have been greatly embarrassed by the difficulty of selecting from among so many beauties." [Cleveland Herald.

"In the talented and brilliant Poem of 'Bitter-Sweet' we find as vivid and as touching a prayer for death as is contained in the English language." [Hartford Journal.

"The living merit of the author is that sympathy with, and truthfulness to nature, which leads him so lovingly and perfectly to reproduce so nee in domestic life—to paint scenes in that life peculiar to our own social state, and which have escaped our poets, and to throw the charm of poetry around common things." [Pittsfield Eagle.

"A beautiful picture of New-England life, quaint in its sketches, and singular in its form, with some exceedingly touching and tender ideas beautifully expressed." [Hartford Courant.

"The structure of this poem is original. To illustrate the subject, the graces of poetry are grouped around the homeliest facts of every day life. The author has a strong conception, and his imagery is appropriate and beautiful. He is a true poet, and has produced here a work worthy to live in the ages, not merely because it has its body and richness of poetic adornment, but because it is instinct with a spirit breathing benevolence and adoration; because its substantial foundations, supporting such graceful shafts and capitals of Corinthian luxuriance, rest on the Rock of Ages." [New-York Express.

GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

BANCROFT'S HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.
Published by
LITTLE, BROWN & Co.,
No. 112 Washington-st., Boston.

A HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES, FROM THE DISCOVERY OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT. By the Hon. GEORGE BANCROFT. With Portraits, Maps, &c. Vols. I to VII. 8vo. Cloth. Now ready.

Volume VII is also issued as Volume I of the American Revolution, of which it commences the history, concluding with an account of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Volume VIII will appear shortly, and the remaining volumes as soon as prepared for the press.

The unequaled facilities possessed by Mr. Bancroft in the preparation of these volumes, and the many years of labor and research which he has bestowed upon them, together with the admirable and attractive style in which they are written, have caused this great work to be universally regarded, both in Europe and America, as the best history of this country yet produced, and as a standard authority.

"Among the historians who have attained a high and deserved reputation in the United States within the last few years, we are inclined to yield the first place to George Bancroft. His experience in political and diplomatic life, no less than his rare and generous culture, and his singular union of the highest mental faculties, enable us to predict with confidence that his work will be reckoned among the genuine master-pieces of historical genius." [Westminster Review.

"This noble theme has been treated with a beauty and a power by one whom I need not name in this presence (the historian of the 'United States'), which, without impairing their authenticity, have converted the severe pages of our history into a magnificent Odyssey of national adventure." [Everett's Lecture on the Discovery of America.

"The further this work proceeds, the more do we feel that it must take its place as an essentially satisfactory history of the United States." [London Atheneum.

"From the copious extracts which we have given from this volume (VII), it will be seen that in respect of composition it is a model of vigorous condensation. If it does not display the sweet and careless flow of the father of history, its terse brevity rivals the compression of Thucydides or Tacitus. On this account it will be welcome to the earnest student who wishes for amplitude of facts with sparingness of phrase, while its abundant illustrations of the 'heart of Nature' fully sustain the position of the work as a popular favorite." [New-York Tribune.

"We must pay to the volume (VII) as a whole, the tribute of unstinted and exalted praise." [North American Review.

"Mr. Bancroft's work improves as it advances. We are pleased to find that the same candid and temperate tone is continued in the more difficult part of the narrative on which he has now entered. Enough of feeling the author throws into his pages to sustain interest—never enough to give offence." [London Literary Gazette.

"It is as much a matter of course with us to expect everything that is learned, brilliant and instructive in a new book by Bancroft, as to expect a dazzling light and a fertilizing heat from the sun, and one surprises us as little as the other." [New-York Evening Post.

Mr. W. is the son of a gentleman well known in Wall-st. The work promises to be a very entertaining one, replete with exciting incident, and possessing more than ordinary interest.

The author's residence in Western Mexico, during the stirring scenes connected with the fillibustering expeditions against Sonora; his intimate relations with Walker and Count Raousset; his intelligent remarks upon the agricultural and mineral resources of Sonora and Arizona; their importance to the United States, &c., &c., are not the least attractive features of the work.
