Five Points House of Industry.
A CARD.
We are frequently called to account in the following manner: Some one calls at the Institution and says, "We sent you, Sir, a donation of provisions (or money) on such a day, but you did not acknowledge it." In most cases is this: There are two Mission Houses at the Five Points; our building is called House of Industry (Mr. Pease's), the other building is called Five Points Mission (Methodist). If our friends about to send us a contribution should direct it to "Five Points Mission, N. Y.," it would NOT reach Mr. Pease's institution, but would go to the Methodist institution, and of course we could not acknowledge its reception, because the two houses have no connection. Donations intended for us should be directed, "L. M. PEASE, or B. R. BARLOW, House of Industry, N. Y." Grateful for the liberality of our friends, we feel bound in justice to them and to ourselves to make this statement.
B. R. BARLOW, Superintendent.
L. M. PEASE, General Agent.

HISTORY OF RHODE ISLAND.
D. APPLETON & Co., Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway,
PUBLISH THIS DAY: HISTORY
OF THE
STATE OF RHODE ISLAND
AND
PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.
By
SAMUEL GREENE ARNOLD.
Vol. I.
1636—1700.
1 Vol., 8vo. 574 pages. $2 50.
The work, of which the first volume is now presented, is the result of many years' labor. To trace the rise and progress of a State, the offspring of ideas that were novel and startling, even amid the philosophical speculations of the Seventeenth Century; whose birth was a protest against, whose infancy was a struggle with, and whose maturity was a triumph over, the retrograde tendency of established Puritanism; a State that was the second-born of persecution, whose founders had been doubly tried in the purifying fire; a State which, more than any other, has exerted, by the weight of its example, an influence to shape the political ideas of the present day, whose moral power has been in the inverse ratio with its material importance; of which an eminent Historian of the United States has said that, had its territory "corresponded to the importance and singularity of the principles of its early existence, the world would have been filled with wonder at the phenomena of its history" is a task not to be lightly attempted or hastily performed.
