"TILDEN AND HENDRICKS."

Grand Ovation to the People's choice for President and Vice President. The Speeches of Statesmen.

New York, June 12.

A grand farewell reception, was given to Mr. Hendricks to-day, on the eve of his departure for Europe, by the Manhatten Club of New York. It was altogether a brilliant affair, attended by many prominent Democrats from all parts of the country. Mr. Tilden and Mr. Hendricks both made speeches, which will become historic, as clear and forcible statements of the sentiments of the country on the memorable Presidential campaign of 1875.

MR. TILDEN'S SPEECH.

After alluding to the departure of Governor Hendricks to-morrow and wishing him a good voyage, he asserted that the men elected by the people in the late presidential contest were counted out. He would not by any word of his dwarf or degrade the greatest wrong that has stained our national annals into a personal grievance. The ultimate consequences will, he said, extend to every man of the four and a quarter millions who were defrauded of the fruits of their elective franchises. He said the evils in governments grow by success and by impunity. They do not arrest their own progress. They can never be limited except by external forces. If the men in possession of the government can in one instance maintain themselves in power against an adverse decision at the elections, such an example will be imitated. Temptation exists always. Devices to give color of law and false pretences on which to found fraudulent decisions will not be wanting. The wrong will grow into a practice if once condoned. In the world's history changes in the succession of governments have usually been the result of fraud or force. It has been our faith and our pride that we had established a mode of peaceful change to be worked out by the agency of the ballot box.

The question is now whether our elective system in its substance as well as its form is to be maintained. This is the question of questions. Until it is finally settled there can be no politics founded on inferior questions of administrative policy. It involves the fundamental right of the people. It involves the whole system of popular government.

The people must signally condemn the great wrong which has been done to them. They must strip this example of everything that can attract imitations. They must refuse a prosperous immunity to crime. This is not all. The people will not be able to trust the authors or beneficiaries of the wrong to devise the remedies. But when those who condemn the wrong shall have the power they must devise the measures which shall render a repetition of the wrong for ever impossible.

If my voice could reach throughout our country and be heard in its remotest hamlet, I would say, "Be of good cheer; the republic will live." The institutions of our fathers are not to expire in shame. The sovereignty of the people shall be rescued from this peril and re-established. Success ful wrong never appears so triumphant as on the very eve of its fall. Seven years ago a corrupt dynasty culminated in its power over the million of people, who live in New York City. It had conquered, or bribed, or flattered and won almost everything into acquiescence. It appeared to be invincible. A year or two later its members were in the penitentiary or in exile.

History abounds in similar examples. We must believe in right, and in faiure a great and noble nation will not sever its political from its moral life.

SPEECH OF MR. HENDRICKS.

Mr. Hendricks having returned thanks for the honor done him, alluded to the presidential election and said the result as declared in Louisiana and Florida and at Washington is not, and cannot be made satisfactory to the country for obvious reasons; that it was not true; a great and sincere people will rest their final judgement only upon truth and never upon fraud, successful through technicality. Even should the President and his cabinet adopt a part or the whole of the policies and purposes for which the Democratic party has been contending for many years and which became so distinctly defined last year, even that cannot remove or quiet the public discontent. The Democrats will make no factious opposition nor will they seek to embarrass the de facto administration, but will sustain it in what is right because it is right and for the welfare of the country, and not at all because of any fealty to a party that stands defeated and condemned by the people.

The people cannot allow the selection of their chief magistrate to become a thing of chance or of sharp practices. The fraud first triumphant in American history must be assigned to its proper place among the crimes against popular government and made odious, that no party will dare attempt its repetition. He who is elected President must be inaugurated. Until that is settled and made sure no Democrat can be seduced from his devotion and allegiance in any way—not by the allurements of office, nor even by the strong appeal in the abandonment by the administration of vicious principles and dangerous policies and the adoption of better doctrines and just measures.

Democrats will not entrust their most cherished principles to the keeping of power which is attained by vicious and corrupt means. They will rather continue their faith in the right of the majority to rule in accordance with constitutional provisions. All Democrats rejoice with unbounded joy that free republican governments are once more allowed to the States of South Carolina and Louisiana. They rejoice in the good fruits that must follow. They know that peace and good order will prevail; that capital will be made secure and labor safe, contented and happy; that enterprise will revive and the cruel burdens of the government and public corruption will increase and lands advance in price. But they know in the language of Governor Morton, it had become inevitable. Good government in the States was not a free offering upon the altars of the country. For years the Democrats had contended in Congress and before the people for free republican states throughout the south and finally became inevitable, because the right and truth were too strong to be longer suppressed. In this Democrats find a reason to stand more firmly with their party. Out of power, with no patronage to dispense and money to distribute, but animated by a spirit of our institutions and inspired by the sentiment of the rights of local self-government as inherent in the people, the Democratic party during the past ten years has restored one State after another, until now the tread of the soldier is heard in no legislative hall, but in every State the people are governed by laws of their own choosing. Mr. Hendricks concluded with the declaration that this occasion had more than a personal significance. It proclaimed that we had no sectional sentiment; no eastern or western policies. The east and west and south were one; a wise and just policy would alike promote the prosperity of each.

The State Sunday School Convention.

Special Dispatch to THE TIMES.

HARRISBURG, June 13.—At the session of the State Sunday School Association to-day a report was submitted, showing the number of Sunday school scholars in the State to be 629,548, and the number of schools 6,132. The number of officers and teachers is 81,885. That year 11,777 were added to the Sunday school membership.

Rev. John A. DeMoyer, the pastor of the Methodist church, Sunbury, for the past three years until this spring, has purchased the firm of Wilson Gearhart, on the North Branch, this side of Riverside, for the sum of $7,000.—Northumberland Daily.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is endeavoring to pursuade the North to look after its own criminals, and speaks particularly of the Republican State of Pensylvania, asserting that "the number of murders in one year in the single State of Pennsylvania is greater than the entire number of murders in the Southern States during the same period."

To-day will become memorable in the annals of Pottsville and Schuylkill county. No less than six murderers will be swung into eternity by means of rope and gallows, to pay the penalties of an outraged law for their wicked crimes. Let evil-doers take warning example.

Great Destruction of Property by a Hurricane.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 14.—The covered bridge over the Connecticut river between Northampton and Hadley, was blown over by a hurricane, accompanied by a severe thunder shower, at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. An uncompleted bridge of the Massachusetts Central railroad was also demolished. There were six teams on the bridge when it went over, and Mrs. Sullivan, of Old Hadley, was instantly killed. Sheriff Enos Cook, of Hadley, was cut badly on the head and William Smith, of Amherst, had his shoulder dislocated. Two horses have been taken from the ruins alive. The bridge was 1,124 feet long and the newest portion of it has been built about fifteen years. Numerous tobacco sheds have also been blown down by the gale.

The path of the wind seemed to be ten miles in length and one in width and was in a northwesterly direction. At Hadley the storm passed over only the lower part of the village. Fifteen to twenty of its great elms were uprooted while trees two feet in diameter were broken off like reeds. The damage consisted chiefly in overturned barns. Among those destroyed was one in which several men with four horses sought shelter from the storm, the whole party narrowly escaping death. The entire loss cannot be estimated until the damage to crops in the vicinity is computed.

TRAGEDY BY TRAMPS.

A Quarrel Among the Outcasts Ending in Murder.

Special Dispatch to the Evening Telegraph.

FAIRVIEW, Pa., June 13.—A terrible tragedy was enacted in the mountains near here last night. For a long time the squads of tramps who travel through this region have made the place a resort. Yesterday afternoon four or five of these outcasts stopped there. In the evening they were joined by quite a number of others. Some of the party were well supplied with liquor, and the whole party indulged pretty freely, the carousal being kept up until a late hour. About midnight two of the tramps became engaged in an altercation about a woman, one of the party. The quarrel terminated in a general fight, nearly all of the tramps participating in it. Two of them, known as the "stranger" and Bill Carr, were so severely stabbed that they died shortly after the fight. The rest of the party scattered in various directions, and as no clue has been discovered of their whereabouts it is thought they have managed to escape. One of the tramps told an old man, whom he met near here, the story of the tragedy, but he was not detained. The affair is being investigated. This is the second tragedy of the kind that has occurred in this vicinity, and naturally enough, some alarm has been occasioned among the few people living about here.

REBERSBURG FRAGMENTS.

Some of our farmers will begin haying the latter part of this week, or the beginning of the next. The hay crop will not be quite as good as last year.

The Basement of the Ev. Lutheran Church will be dedicated in a few weeks. A few ministers from a distance are expected to be present.

The closing exercises of the Rebersburg Select School were a success—all the performers doing their part nobly, giving entire satisfaction to the large audience assembled.

Although the wheat crop is no failure, still our farmers will not realize as much as they expected.

Rebersburg is to have a Town clock, to be placed in the belfry of the German Reformed Church.

ANON.

A LUXURY.

One fine day last week we enjoyed the novel pleasure of "riding on the rail" through the Seven Mountains. We had never seen either of the two tunnels, did not even know of our own knowledge that there was a railroad over there, though we had often heard so. Now we need no longer live by faith as far as our rail road is concerned, for we saw it, locomotive, cars, engineer, road and all, with our own mortal eyes. We took hold of the rails with our own corporeal hands, in order to remove the last, lingering remnant of a doubt about the matter, and now we can assure our readers who have been less lucky, upon the honor of our editorial veracity that we have a rail road and no mistake about it.

At about 2 o'clock, Mr. Moore, the engineer, conductor and general superintendent gave the word "all aboard for Philadelphia, New York, and all points East, North-East and South-East." In less time than it takes to write it we were on the train and off it went, slowly at first then faster—faster—faster, until a rate of speed was attained that made a fellow's hair stand on end. We literally flew through Beaver Dam tunnel past Eisenhuth's, Fowler's, Newnen's, over several bridges and through Paddy's tunnel, a little beyond which is Tierail Station, where we stopped. We concluded to go no farther, and returned, after our train was loaded with rails. We never made a railroad trip that gave us half the pleasure, although we had to waive everything in the line of comforts.

The scenery through the mountains is most delightful. There is nothing very bold or rugged in the aspect—no high peaks or threatening cliffs—but you have the softer, gentler, ever-varying view that is so peculiarly pleasing to the lover of nature.

Jacob Gephart is building quite a large addition to his house.

The Hessian fly is doing much damage to wheat fields about Lewisburg.

We see by the Mifflinburg Telegraph that Dr. Hoy, of New Berlin, is very ill.

Have you weeded your garden and hoed your cabbage and tomatoes? During June, yards and gardens should be kept particularly clean.

Read the piece on our outside headed "A Fruit Village," according to which Hammonton must be a regular terrestrial paradise.

Dr. Musser informs us that grain and grass fields, all along the line of the railroad from Lewisburg to Philadelphia, are generally poor.

Our section was visited by heavy rains on Thursday and Friday last. Considerable hail fell on Thursday, but no damage was done that we heard of.

Amos Alexander has almost completed a very fine dwelling house out on his farm, before we knew he was building. Well, a good practical man with plenty of stamps, can do almost anything.

Our editor took a flying trip to Bellefonte one warm day last week, and in order to secure himself against the rays of old Sol, he took Shady along. Editors will play sharp.

From the 1st of May to June 1st ten thousand and eighty bushels of grain were purchased and stored in the Walls, Smith & Co. grain house in this place. Who can beat it.—Mifflinburg Telegraph.

The St. Louis Times remarks that if Morton's imagination could vote, the Republican party would have big majorities everywhere but in Missouri and Kentucky.

The Pittsburg Commercial is convinced that Col. Noyes, of Clinton Co., will get the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer. Other papers and people think just the same thing.

Rev. F. W. Conrad, editor of the Lutheran Observer, has prosecuted F. S. Bond, of the bankrupt firm of Bond, Moxey & Co., for defrauding him to the amount of $5,730 in a Pennsylvania railroad stock transaction.

About fifteen hundred shad have been caught in the Juniata near Newport this season. It is said that fully that number were caught at Middletown. This would seem to show that the work of the Legislative committee at Columbia has been to some purpose.

THE BUSH HOUSE is daily becoming more popular under the efficient management of its gentlemanly and obliging proprietor, Mr. McCollum. It is only necessary to stop there once and you will call again and again. Nearly everybody from our section stays at the Bush, while at Bellefonte.

We direct the attention of our readers to the card of Ira T. Cottle, in another column. Ira is a son and graduate of the celebrated master tailor, James Cottle, of Milroy, who can suit Governors, and Presidents fully as well as old John Wanamaker, any day. The son is no discredit to the father. Let him be liberally patronized.

THE EIGHTEENTH.—Governor Hartranft has issued a warrant for the execution of Thomas Campbell, of Luzerne county, on the 9th of August, at Wilkesbarre—the same day on which the Columbia county Mollie Maguires and Thomas Hurley, of Montgomery county, will be hanged. This makes the eighteenth death warrant signed by the governor within five weeks.

Considerable interest, and we are sorry to add, some ill feeling manifested itself concerning the election of President and Directors of the L. C. & S. C. R. R., held in Philadelphia, last week. The entire old board and President were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. Duncan, who is succeeded by M. Thompson Esq., of Lemont.

The board passed a resolution to continue the laying of the track to Centre Hall, this fall.

To-day the rail road track will be completed to Zerby's saw mill, above Gentzel's, leaving a gap between that point and Spring Mills of a little less than four miles.

It had been pretty well understood that there would be an excursion to Laurelton, Miffinburg or Lewisburg, on the fourth of July, but it now seems as though our people will have to waive this long-expected pleasure in favor of a party of Lewisburg excursionists. A train is to leave Lewisburg at 7.30 in the morning, to arrive at Spring Mills, at 9.30. We would respectfully suggest to P resident Slifer and our Lewisburg friends that their train leave Lewisburg at 7 in the morning, which would enable them to go to Spring Mills and return to Forks by 9.30, and take our people to Lewisburg and back in time for the Lewisburgers to return home. This arrangement would accommodate all who desire to participate in the pleasures and festivities of the day.

WOODWARD, the first town in Penns Vally, is about as neat and cozy a little rural village as one comes across in many a days' travel. Situated at the entrance of "The Narrows," almost surrounded by forests, with a sylvan mountain as a back-ground, the view from the hills west of town affords a very beautiful perspective. Nor does Woodward lose anything upon a closer inspection. Neat and comfortable homes with tasty surroundings, are the rule. The residences of Noah Weaver, G. R. Spigelmyer and Mrs. Motz are particularly worthy of mention in this connection.

The business features of Woodward are a good grist mill, saw mill, hotel, a first class store with two active, wide awake business men in it—to say nothing of an extensive whiskey factory. A good and spacious school house tells you that the education of the young is not neglected, while a handsome church with its tall spire pointing heavenward, opens its hospitable doors to the villagers every Sabbath.

Altogether we like Woodward, and are happy to count many of its people among our friends,

Mauch Chunk Happy Over Its Harvest of Death.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., June 18.—There is a feeling of satisfaction and relief in this community over the the action of the Board of Pardons. Also a feeling of excitement as the day for the execution approaches, and some fears are entertained that an attempt will be made to rescue the prisoners, or, failing in that, commit some violence on persons or property. A double guard has been placed at the jail and about the town. The prisoners received the news from Harrisburg stoically.

Very obstinate and troublesome are old sores and ulcers. Yet how easily may they be healed. All that is necessary is to use freely Glenn's Sulphur Soap dissolved in water as a lotion. Depot Crittenton's No. 7 Sixth Avenue. New York.

J. Newman, Jr., the King Clothier of Bellefonte, has the la rgest as well as the best assortment of cloting ever kept in Bellefonte. Whhy you can not ask for anything in his line, from a neck-tie or pair of suspenders to an overcoat, that Julius has not got, and what is a consideration of special importance, is, that he sells for about 20 per cent. less than average prices elsewhere. Don't take our word, but try for yourself.

BEATTY'S Parlor Organ Est'd. in 1856
The best and most lasting parlor organ now in use. No other parlor organ has ever attained the same popularity.
It has been tested by thousands, many of them competent judges, and gives universal satisfaction to all.
The music is adapted to the human voice, ranging from the softest flute-like note to a volume of sound unsurpassed by any instrument.
This instrument has all the latest improvements, and every organ is fully warranted for six years. Beautiful oil polish, black walnut panelled cases, which will not CRACK or WARP, and forms, in addition to a splendid instrument of music, a beautiful piece of furniture.
This organ needs only to be seen to be appreciated, and is sold at extremely low figures for cash. Second-hand instruments taken in exchange.
