ANNUAL

TRADE REVIEW

FOR 1881.

INCREASE OF EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

A FLATTERING EXHIBIT.

Export of Sugar Still Growing in Volume.

We present with to-day's issue the statistical report of the trade of the Hawaiian Islands for 1881, in tabulated form, prepared by the Collector General of Customs and staff. The report shows our trade to be in a healthy and growing condition, nearly every important item exhibiting an increase over that of 1880.

The table of imports shows a striking gain in all grades of imports over the previous year. The increase in value of goods paying duty is $146,275.13; of goods free by treaty, $619,999.22; of goods and spirits bonded, $79,753.27; of goods imported free, $28,662.61 giving a total increase over 1880 for all goods imported of $846,027.62.

An analysis of this table is interesting and shows an increase in the item of building material of $25,154; clothing, hats and boots, $30,946; crockery, lamps, etc., $11,707; drugs, etc., $8,182; cottons, $60,971; linens, $2,684; woolens, $23,925; mixtures, $5,182; millinery and fancy goods, $8,465; fish, $28,301; furniture, $3,583; grain and feed, $45,648; guns, powder, etc., $3,995; hardware, agricultural implements, etc., $52,443; iron and steel, $75,174; leather, $12,922; lumber, $3,500; matches, $5,483; musical instruments, $3,259; paints, etc., $8,835; shooks and containers, $50,714; spirits, $64,228; books and stationery $7,765; tea, $6,427; tinware, etc., $4,176; tobacco and cigars, $6,187; light wines, $5,194. There is also a marked decrease in the following named articles: silks, $4,808; flour, $4,340; jewelry clocks, etc., $27,891; machinery, $70,400; naval stores, $14,269; oils, $7,615; saddlery, etc., $9,133. The other articles not enumerated in the above show no material change.

A hasty glance at the export table shows an increase in the value of domestic produce exported to the extent of $1,874,581.98; in the value of domestic goods furnished as supplies amounting to $25,300 and a decrease in the value of foreign goods exported of $12,890.29—making a total increase of value in all goods exported of $1,836,391.69.

Most of the leading articles of value show a large increase over last year's exports, sugar leading the list with an increase of 28,965,072 lbs: molasses shows a gain of 62,992 gals; rice 322,660 lbs; of paddy, which did not appear in the tables last year, 102,370 lbs was exported; wool shows a gain of 147,173 lbs; tallow 98,962 lbs; salt 287½ tons. Coffee, on the other hand, shows a falling off of 80,596 lbs, fungus, 10,519 lbs. Pulu shows a slight gain of 2,795 lbs, and other articles exhibit comparatively little change either way.

It is interesting to note where our principal articles of export are taken. The Pacific ports of the United States received the greater part of our sugar, molasses, rice, paddy, coffee, bananas, hides and skins, tallow, betel leaves, and wool. British Columbia took a small portion of our sugar, molasses and rice. Australia and New Zealand received the greater part of our pulu export, the Pacific Coast only taking 8,344 lbs. The Pacific Islands took a little sugar and rice and a few other unimportant items, and 4,282 lbs of fungus and 302 tons of salt was sent to China.

The amount of exports and imports from other island ports contributes largely to the general total for 1881—more so than ever before. Kahiilui shows a large gain in the matter of imports over the previous year of $363,462.21; Hilo follows with an increase of $10,301.03; Kawaihae, $8,237.18; Lahaina, $1,194. Kealakekua had no imports to report. The total increase of imports at the above ports amounts to the handsome sum of $383,114.42.

Two of the above ports only figure in the export list, but they make a creditable showing. At Kahului the increase over 1880 amounts to $540,127.06; at Hilo the decrease was $74,428.11, leaving a total increase in exports of $465,698.95. These figures bid fair to be largely augmented during 1882.

The excess of all exports over imports for the year is $2,166,74.773, and the amount of customs receipts shows a gain of $21,010.38, which proves our foreign trade to be in a thriving condition.

Of the total value of imports, $4,547,978.64, there was received from the United States, (not including goods imported free under the Civil Code,) $3,171,852.74, showing an increase of $343,584.82.

The merchant shipping arrivals at Honolulu for 1881, show an excess over 1880, of six, in number, and in tonnage of 11,496; the total increase in tonnage at all ports of the Kingom is 24,725.

There arrived at all ports of the Kingdom during the year 258 merchant vessels, 181 of which were American, and of these 109 were from the Pacific ports of the U. S. This shows an increase of 34 American. There were 32 English, an increase of 6; Hawaiian 20, an increase of 9; German 10, an increase of 1; the others scattering.

The number of cargoes invoiced above $10,000 was 91; of these 59 were American, a gain of three over 1880; 19 were British, a decrease of 1; 9 Hawaiian, an increase of 3; 4 German an incaease of 3; Chinese 0, a decrease of 2.

There has been a slight decrease in both the number and tonnage of Hawaiian vessels.

There is also an increase in the passenger movements. The excess of arrivals over departures amount to 4,302, giving an increase over 1880 of 737. The number of passengers in transit, was 2,881, an increase of 978. The gain in the number of Chinese is 2,933, and the total gain in arrivals of all other foreigners 1,362, thus showing that the arrivals of Chinese are 209 more than double those of all other nationalities.

The foregoing review of the trade of the islands, as suggested by the Custom House Tables, naturally leads us to its effect upon Honolulu itself, and the principle branches of industry here located.

At no period in its history has our city undertaken so many building improvements of a permanent or substantial nature. This naturally gives evidence of faith in its future and safety in its real estate investments. Our various contractors and builders have enjoyed a full year of activity, the results of which in several of the large buildings in course of erection would have shown to better advantage but for the delay on several occasions for material from abroad. It is pleasing to note in this connection the effort that s being made to utilize local material hereafter from the Punchbowl quarry that has supplied stone for the Lunalilo Home and A. F. Cooke's Warehouse, and the Honouliuli quarry of Mr. James Campbell's, where a fine sandstone is being got out in blocks for the proposed Anglican Cathedral, and work will be continued to get out material for the proposed Campbell Block on Merchant and Fort streets, to join his brick block now in course of completion on Fort and Queen streets, to be known as the Beaver Block. On the opposite Fort street corner is the Wilder Building, which, with its pressed pointed brick fronts, is an ornament to the city that its owner may justly feel proud of. The Kaumakapili Church, of brick, is the largest public edifice lately undertaken here, and when completed will be a monument of the progress of Christianity and civilization at these islands.

Private residences and cottages have been erected throughout the city, the most notable growth being on the plains. In all the foregoing we have endeavored to gather particulars from the different builders as to their work for the year past, but from their reticence to parade the same before the public, we are unable to show to what extent their labors have been bestowed or the average number of hands employed, &c.

In spite of the continued increase of furniture importations, the growth of local manufactured articles is deserving of mention, all of which seem to meet with ready sale, judging from steady work at the different shops devoted to such, and the small stocks on hand.

The same may be said with equal if not more force in connection with our carriage builders. Work in this special line has grown so steadily with the different shops that continued extensions find them still hampered for want of room, so that the recent movement for the opening of another establishment on Fort street in the late government building premises is based, doubtless, on this steady growth referred to.

The Honolulu Iron Works have, during the past year, maintained a force of hands averaging nearly 120 men; these have been constantly employed on work that has a material bearing on the main industry of the islands, of which the following gives but a partial showing. There have been built during the period under review one complete Vacuum Pan Plant, each of 5 and 8 tons, and one Mill, Engine and Boilers for a 10-ton Plant, and have in progress at present writing, one complete Tripple Effect and Vacuum Pan Plant of 15 tons, and one each complete Vacuum Pan Plant of 8 and 10 tons.

The following has also been built during the year: One Vacuum Pan, each 6x7 feet and 7x9 feet, with Air Pumps, one Double Effect for a 12-ton Plant, complete; ten Boilers outside of those built for the above Plants, aggregating 400 horse-power. Three Horizontal Steam Engines of 20 horse-power each, and four Horizontal of 15 horse-power each, besides Cleaning Pans, Clarifiers, Sorgham Pans, Tanks, Coolers, etc. Also general repairs, and alterations on Plants now running, together with general jobbing work. For these particulars we are indebted to the courteous Manager Mr. Alex. Young.

The liquor statistics of the Islands, give ground for solicitude for the welfare of our people, on account of its steady growth far in excess of the needs of those legally entitled to its use and abuse, showing an increased valuation of nearly 75 per cent, as follows:

Totals of imports of fermented liquors into the Hawaiian Islands.

	1879.	1880.	1881.
Spirits	$72,519 78	$81,132 34	$145,360 47
(Bond and duty paid.)
Ale, Porter	43,255 64	36,159 40	62,193 69
Light Wines	9,178 17	10,727 68	15,921 55
Totals	$124,953 59	$128,019 42	$223,475 71

As is very justly remarked, this addition to the nation's income from duties costs it more in the effort to control or suppress the evils which attend, not to speak of the misery, degradation, want and crime, which follow in its pathway.

A comparative examination of the table of spirits taken out for consumption for 1881 with 1880 shows, that Brandy leads the list, standing together at a little over 18,000 gallons, while Gin and Samshu, the articles largely dealt in by the Chinese, show a large increase, and unless some restrictive measure is introduced, the injury which is complained of from all our country districts through the illicit traffic by Chinese store keepers and pedlers will continue, and this blot in our Custom tables and curse to our nation will still increase.

In addition to the tables from the Custom House, we present the following which gives a comparitive view of the commerce of the Hawaiian Islands from 1845 to the present time, showing the totals for each year.
