Roy Cade and Miss Mabel Cole were married Sunday by Rev. John Foster. They left on the train for Portland, where they spent a few days enjoying their honeymoon. They will make their home in this city and Mr. Cade will be associated with his father in the dairy business.
Miss Lulu E. Parmely, a teacher in the St. Johns public schools, was in town Monday and Tuesday, looking over her real estate holdings. Before leaving she contracted with Mr. Cronkite for quite extensive improvements on her recently acquired property in North St. Helens.
W. W. Avery of Eugene, a brother of Supt. L. B. Avery of the St. Helens Quarry Co., arrived in the city Sunday and will spend several weeks here visiting his brother. Mr. Avery is a retired capitalist and is much interested in the opportunities offered in St. Helens.
The majority of the merriment in "Excuse Me," shown at the Strand next Wednesday afternoon and evening, is furnished by that often abused but highly respected ornament of travel, the Pullman porter, played by George F. Marion, who is supported by a capable cast, including Robert Fischer, J. B. Hollis, Vivian Blackburn and many other fun makers.
Miss Dorothy John and Little Harriet Ross entertained Tuesday afternoon. The event was the anniversary of their births. Games were played during the afternoon, after which a lunch was served. The guests present were Misses Keturah Dixon, Lois Clear, Edra La Bare, Marie Dixon, Inez Barbour, Marion Morton, Helen Dodd, Marion Cox, Morelia Black, Beatrice Allen.

Lou Rathbone, Deputy Fish Warden, with headquarters at Portland, was in St. Helens Tuesday and Wednesday in the interest of the state department which he represents.
T. C. Watts, the Reuben merchant, attended the Retail Merchants Convention at Astoria, which convened April 25 to 27. Mr. Watts has been treasurer of the association for the past five years.
G. A. Downing, a wood dealer of Portland, was a business visitor in the city this week. He is in St. Helens so often that he is becoming interested in what is going on here, so subscribed for the Mist.
The cannery started Monday canning sauer kraut. The cannery put up 10,000 gallons last fall, which was pronounced A1. A car load will be shipped in a few days to a Portland wholesale grocery house. This little run afforded employment to six or seven women and three men.
E. R. Botsford, who has had charge of the linotype in this office for several months past, has tendered his resignation to accept a more lucrative one in Portland. He is a reliable, painstaking workman and we cheerfully recommend him to all those with whom he may have to do.

Coroner White returned on Friday from Mist, where he was called to hold an inquest over the body of Guy Lane, the unfortunate young man who met a tragic death at the camp of the Kerry Timber Company. The parents of Lane asked Coroner White to remain and conduct the funeral, which he did.
The Odd Fellows lodge of this city elected John McKie and Jesse Lansing as representatives to the grand lodge, which meets in Roseburg, May 17 to 19. As May 19 is the date of the primary election, an effort is being made to change the date to the 24th, but it will require the approval of the various lodges of the state, which will no doubt be given.
MERCHANTS SHOW EASTER SPIRIT
Most of St. Helens' enterprising merchants showed their Easter spirit making displays in the show windows appropriate of the Easter time. Noah's Ark had a very tasty display of suits and millinery; also a rack arranged like a hen roost on which were many little chicks.
Ross' furniture store had a special display of dishes and furniture, and a color scheme of yellow and white was perfectly carried out. The window was very attractive.
The Plaza Pharmacy had many novelties suitable for Easter time, and Ray Chapman showed himself to be a real window dresser by the taste in arranging the window.
In Rosenthal's window there was a nice display of white goods, children's white dresses, middies, etc., and a beautiful white lily added further to the attractiveness of the window.
Possibly the most attractive of all the displays, on account of its being so unique, was the window of Al. Harrison. For a background there were pretty screens—in the center a fountain banked with moss and numerous real live bunnies and ducklings. The window created no little comment and was very interesting to the old as well as the kiddies, who almost blocked the sidewalk so they could get a peep at the bunnies, which would next day bring to them the desired stock of Easter eggs.
Williams & Hall Company's window was nicely arranged with exhibits of the various well known brands of goods they carry, and Muckle's large windows contained many beautiful articles suggestive of and appropriate for Easter time. Taking it as a whole, our merchants showed their progressiveness and skill in arranging displays interesting and attractive to our townspeople.

A MASS MEETING
A mass meeting of the legal voters of Columbia county will be held at the city hall in St. Helens, on Tuesday, May 2, at 1:30 p. m. This meeting is called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for county judge and two commissioners, to be voted on at the recall election, May 19th.

MISS SLADE RESIGNS
After a service of three years, Miss Lucille Slade has resigned her position with the St. Helens Telephone Company, and will leave tomorrow for Hood River, where she will spend several months. By her efficient and courteous treatment of the patrons of the company she has done much towards making the local exchange known as one of the best small telephone companies in the state. Her many friends will regret her departure and miss her quick service at the board.

WILL HOLD BAZAAR
The Ladies' Aid Society of the Evangelical church at Warren, will hold a bazaar at Erickson's hall in Warren, Saturday evening, April 29. Refreshments will be served at extremely reasonable prices, and the society wishes to invite their St. Helens friends to attend, as well as those who live nearer. Let's go.

MAY DAY MUSICAL
At 8:30 Monday evening, May 1st, the musical for the benefit of the city library will be held at the city hall. This will be given by local talent and as the library will receive the benefit, the attendance should be large. For those who desire to see Ethel Barrymore at the Strand Theatre, Monday evening, the pictures will be shown at 7:15 show, so as to enable everyone to attend the musical.
