Mill School Wedding.

Last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith in Manoa, Rev. Dr. William P. Ferguson, principal of Mill school, united in wedlock two of the popular teachers of the school, Mr. William Charles Avery and Miss Margaret Muriel Myrick. Both were employed two years ago as teachers under the principalship of Rev. Stephen Myrick, the brother of the bride. Mr. Avery was a graduate of Boston University and proved his work from the beginning. He has just been appointed by the territorial commission to the responsible principalship of the Waimea high school at Lihue, Kauai. He is also honored with an appointment as instructor in mathematics at the summer session of the Normal school and is destined to rise rapidly in his profession. Miss Myrick was a student in Whittier college and the University of Southern California. She has taught in the grammar grades of Mill school and won many friendships both inside and outside the school circle. Her parents live in Idaho and cable their congratulations. One of her former schoolmates, Miss Starbuck, came from California yesterday and was present at the wedding. The other guests were Mrs. F. W. Damon, Mrs. Ferguson, Miss Bosher, Miss Eliza Jones, Miss Julia Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Willard of Maui, Mr. Rea, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. "Prove Me" was beautifully rendered by Miss Jones. Miss Peabody played the wedding march.

Mrs. Ray Rietow was hostess at a delightful party on last Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Miss Gibson, and Miss Gertrude Ripley. The rooms were artistically decorated with yellow cosmosis, white begonias and masses of green, feathery ferns. The score cards were very attractive, being done in green and white, bearing little pictures of the two guests of honor. Five hundred was the game of the afternoon and after a exciting bidding the first prize, won by Miss Clemence Gifford, second by Miss Ruth Farrington, while the consolation went to Miss Dorothy Walker. Delicious refreshments were then served, bringing a most pleasant afternoon to a close.

The present were the Misses Mildred Ripley, Katie Singlehurst, Ruth Farrington, Dorothy Walker, Mae Walker, Florence Ballou, Florence Davis, Irene Ashley, Florence White, Rachel Woods, Ilima Woods, Ethel Jamieson, Church, Doris Noble, Madeline Ripley, Clemence Gifford, Abbie Bley, Gertrude Ripley, Inez Gibson and the hostess.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning, at the residence of the Rev. A. A. Ebersole, Mary A. Hayes of Westfield, Mass., became the wife of Mr. Kenneth C. Ch. This marriage was the final chapter to a very pretty romance. Mr. Bryan's former home was in Massachusetts and it was there that he met Miss Hayes. Six months ago, he came to Hawaii to accept a position as a member of the faculty of the Normal School; and yesterday Miss Hayes arrived in Honolulu on the Lurline. She was met in the harbor early yesterday morning by Mr. Bryan, who went aboard on the customs' launch. The couple were showered with rice and good wishes by the many passengers on the Lurline who had learned of the romance.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will be at home in a short while, at Cassidy's.
