MONGOLIA TAKING SIAM VILLAGE TO THE FAIR

A Siamese village, numbering public and private buildings, temples and "wats" to be picturesquely installed along the banks of an artificial waterway, the contribution to the Panama-Pacific exposition from the Kingdom of Siam, is in transit to the Coast in the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia. A. H. Duke and A. B. Spigno accompany hundreds of tons of material which will soon develop into an exhibit that is destined to stand unique among those offered by other nations.

Thousands of feet of teakwood, a native product, will enter into the construction of the floating and permanent structures. Siam has also contributed a vast wealth of crude and manufactured ivory. According to Messrs Duke and Spigno, some of the finest specimens of varigated colored tiles will be displayed from the roofs of a replica of the more famous 'wats' scattered throughout the country.

Precious stones mined from the northern part of the kingdom are contained in a valuable collection of gems donated by the royal family and the government. Bangkok, the capital, will be reproduced in miniature, showing the regal residence of the ruler, admitted to be the most magnificent of its kind in the Far East.

A company of Siamese, who passed through the city some days ago, will assist in assembling the exhibit. Directed by trained performers, the famous "swing festival" will be frequently reproduced during the life of the exposition.

The Mongolia steamed to Pier 7 before 9 o'clock this morning loaded with the largest cargo carried in more than a year. Before resuming the voyage to San Francisco at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, 2450 tons of Oriental cargo will be delivered at this port.

The Mongolia brought four cabin and 69 Asiatic steerage passengers. More than 40 Germans joined the vessel at Shanghai for the United States. The through list of travelers numbered 139 cabin, 56 second-class and 269 steerage.

A threatened shortage of sugar bags was relieved today with the receipt of 2144 bales of gunnies from India. Freight for Honolulu included 35 cases of cigars, 5000 packages of Japanese and Chinese provisions, 12,977 sacks of rice, 4450 barrels of liquors and a quantity of sundries.

The Mongolia encountered Neptune in a variable mood. In leaving the Philippines the liner met with storm and gales. The sea was like a mill pond along the coast of Japan. The vessel again plunged into rough weather after leaving Yokohama.

The Mongolia will be filled to capacity with passengers in steaming for the mainland tomorrow morning. More than 80 cabin travelers have been provided with accommodations through the agency of H. Hackfeld & Company.
