FAST TURBINERS HAVE RECEIVERS

Assorted trouble in large bunches has been met by the crack coastwise turbiners Yale and Harvard, which ply between San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. They are now in the hands of a receiver, according to a news story in the San Francisco Chronicle of February 21 as follows:

"When W. F. Humphrey, as receiver for the second mortgage bondholders of the Metropolitan Steamship Company of New Jersey, took charge of the turbine steamers Harvard and Yale, another chapter was written in the history of the famous Eastern steamship concern. The receivership order made yesterday by Judge Thomas P. Graham, upon petition of Harry J. Hart of this city as trustee, will not interfere with the operation of the two vessels between this port and Southern California by the Pacific Steamship Company, Humphrey stated.

"There was some excitement in maritime circles when the receivership became known yesterday afternoon, and there was talk that the Yale would not be allowed to depart for San Pedro on her schedule at 4 o'clock. This, however, was not the case, although Humphrey was at the wharf at the time of departure with President H. F. Alexander of the Pacific Steamship Company.

"Humphrey, in explaining the action against the two steamers, said:

"'There are two bond mortgages, one of $2,000,000 and the second of $750,000. It is under this second issue that we are acting, and I may say that all except $286,000 of the $750,000 has been paid.

"'This action was taken to protect the bondholders of the second mortgage and also, which is more important, in a way, as far as San Francisco is concerned, to keep the vessels on the Pacific coast.

"'There has been appointed in New Jersey a receiver for the Metropolitan Steamship Company and it was probable that the return of the two steamers to the East coast would be demanded.

"'I merely take charge of the steamers and see that their charter money from the Pacific Steamship Company, which amounts to $30,000 monthly, is turned over to me for the bondholders.'"

GOVERNOR FORBES IS TO RUN TO WEST COAST

According to the San Francisco Examiner of February 26 the former Philippine steamer Governor Forbes, which was equipped with wireless in this port in 1916 to comply with American regulations when she arrived from Manila on her way to San Francisco, has sailed on her first voyage under Norwegian registry. The Examiner says:

"On her first trip under Norwegian registry the steamship Governor Forbes sailed last night for Puget Sound to load for the west coast. The Governor Forbes was purchased some time ago in Manila. She was brought here and turned into an oil burner at the Union Iron Works. Captain Christopherson, formerly on the Baja California, is in command of the Governor Forbes. She will stop in here on her way south to pick up freight and passengers."

The president of Cuba has granted a concession to the Alto Cedro Eugar Company for the importation of 300 laborers from Mexico. The executive decree, in the Diario de la Marina of December 26, states that this concession is in the nature of an experiment. Provisions is made for a quarantine of six days and medical inspection of the Mexican laborers upon their arrival at a Cuban port.

HARBOR NOTES

The Matson steamer Lurline will steam from Pier 6 for Kahului about 7 o'clock this evening.

The American bark George Curtis, from Honolulu February 17, arrived at San Francisco Wednesday.

Next mail from San Francisco and Los Angeles 7½ days, will arrive on the Hill liner Great Northern at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Advices to the Merchants' Exchange report the arrival at Yokohama Monday of the Pacific Mail liner Ecuador from this port February 20.

The Hill liner Great Northern left Los Angeles harbor (San Pedro) at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, on time, for Hilo and Honolulu. She is due off port at Hilo at 9 a. m. Sunday.

Cable advices received in San Francisco by General Passenger Agent E. F. Cockroft of the Oceanic Steamship Company say that Sir Ernest Shackleton, foremost of Antarctic explorers, is aboard the Oceanic liner Sonoma, due to arrive here from Sydney Tuesday morning.

The China Mail liner Caina, from Honolulu February 27, 11 days late, arrived at San Francisco at 6 a. m. Tuesday. The company hopes to speed up loading her and to have her steam from San Francisco for the Orient on March 12, only 6 days behind schedule.

The U. S. army transport Thomas docks at Pier 7 this afternoon on her arrival from Manila and Nagasaki, because the Matson steamer Lurline has to dock at Pier 6 to load 1000 tons of sugar which the Oceanic liner Sonoma has no room for. The Thomas will breast over to 6 after the Lurline completes loading and will steam from the Oceanic wharf for San Francisco at noon tomorrow, taking the next mail, which closes at the postoffice at 10:30 a. m.

FISHING BOATS HARD TO FIND

More devotees of game fishing in Hawaiian waters, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Teller of Windsor, Colo., are in Honolulu complaining of the scarcity of pleasure craft suitable for one-day fishing parties.

Teller, who is a banker when not in search of the elusive denizens of the deep, is no mediocre sportsman nor is his wife, who is as enthusiastic about the popular recreation as he.

The Colorado man has a silver medal for the largest albacore caught with light tackle in six months at Catalina Island, and Mrs. Teller laughingly declares it is the only time he ever outdid her. The albacore is one of the tuna family. The one he caught weighed 46 pounds.

"I haven't any fish stories to tell you," he said while resting a moment at the Hawaiian Hotel, where they will be for about a month, "but I would like to be able to tell you one about landing a 150-pound tuna before I leave."

As James Jump said not long ago, Teller says there would be more fishermen over here from the coast if they could get the boats they want.

"That is why Catalina is such a popular fishing resort," he says. "They don't overlook anything there from boats to bait. For $10 a day one can have some swell fishing experiences."

Teller knows Commodore Walker of Jump's Sea Scout and is looking for some valuable information from him. He also called on H. Gooding Field this morning to get the location of the Maui beds and to find a possible way to get to them. He was here about four years ago but did not fish much.

Mrs. Teller is heartily in love with Hawaii, but declares if the islands hold them here they will have to produce fish. Otherwise they will go on to the Philippines.

BERT WILLIAMS TAKES HILONIAN

After printing several stories that the Hilonian's old skipper would remain with the steamer, the San Francisco papers have had to admit their guesses were short of the mark. The new captain of the former Matson freighter is Bert Williams. The Examiner of February 27 says of him:

"Bert Williams, one of the best known captains on this coast, who took the Prinz Waldemar over to German capture for George McNear, yesterday was signed up as captain of the Hilonian for Comyn, Mackall & Co.

"Williams was for many years with the American-Hawaiian Company in the East. He has a record as a fearless seaman and one who can hold his crew. He is just as much at home with fore-to'-gallant-sails as he is with steam.

"The Hilonian is still on the berth. Her owners have made a tentative dicker for a charter for nitrates from the west coast to New York. This is not yet signed up. There are half a dozen charterers after the steamer.

Matson Captains Step-Up.

Captain J. W. Jory, who resigned from the command of the Hilonian to stay with the Matson Company, after that vessel was sold, will take the Lurline out when she leaves at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Honolulu and Kahului.

"Jory will relieve Captain A. L. Soule for one voyage. After that he will probably be put in command of the Hyades. The entrance of the new Matson liner, Mani, into the service will make a step-up for all captains, hence the vacancy on the Hyades for Jory."

SHARP ADVANCE IS MADE BY OIL

Honolulu Oil advanced abruptly today from $2.95 to $3.40. This was on news of a similar advance on the mainland and that in San Francisco it was selling at 3⅝.

In explanation of the advance it was said that the government recognizes the need of development of certain minerals, especially at this time when efforts toward preparedness are being so earnestly made. The needed development of such minerals must come from private enterprise and this the government must encourage or at least not discourage. But Senator Phelan has stood against allowing privileges or giving rights to certain mineral lands unless oil lands be included. It is therefore surmised that an agreement will be made which will result in the granting of patents now held up and among them to Honolulu Oil. Advices to this effect have been received here.

But as to whether there has been any definite agreement reached Honolulu was uninformed this noon. It seemed likely, however, that some such news had reached San Francisco and the sharp advance in the price of Honolulu Oil followed.

Between the rat and the shotgun, Mrs. Tony Marcella of New York, was bound to get it. Terrorized by the rat, she yelled to hubby to shoot. He shot, wounding Mrs. Marcella.

Graceful Hands

THE HANDS DESERVE extra good care. Literally, they come between us and everything in life; they are the members that do most of the hard work of the world.

The hands deserve the best care you can give them

And they wear out first. Age shows itself in red hands or knotted hands, or in pugy, ugly hands long before the face shows the results of one's life habits.

Many women think they have done their duty to themselves when they have rubbed their faces full of cold cream, wiped it off and applied a little powder. They forget that their hands have been immersed in dish water or that their fingers have been handling dyed fabrics all day, or perhaps working at some machine whose oil and soil have stained them deep beyond the reach of soap and water. The hands deserve massage, too, and cream, and powder, and care.

It takes but a moment to rub a bit of cream into the hands when they seem dry. It doesn't take long to rub them over with lemon juice when they are stained from work. It doesn't take long to run over the nails, cleaning and polishing them and filing them into shape. But the average woman dabs her face with powder, straightens her hat and rushes out in the belief that she has groomed herself for the day.

Care of the hands in youth will more than repay itself in the lasting youth of the hands.

Questions and Answers

Please tell me how I can develop my bust? Since my baby stopped nursing my bust sagged.—A. R.

Reply—If you will send me a letter containing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I will send you a recipe for a bust developer that will help you some. The bust will make itself firm gradually of itself; just now, the muscles have expanded to allow for the supply of milk, and since the milk has gone, they have not had a chance to contract. Dash cold water over them daily, or rub them with a piece of ice, to help contract the muscles. Massage also, will help, and chest exercises.

STOCK BROKERS HAVE BUSY DAY

Still further volume was attained by both the listed and unlisted stock markets today. The listed stocks were rather spotted, advances in some instances being balanced by decline in others. Olaa and Oahu showed strength, while Pioneer, Hawaiian Commercial and Waialua registered declines. Prices on sales were Olaa 15¾ and 15⅝, Oahu 29 and 29¼, Pioneer 38¾ and 38, Hawaiian Commercial 50 and 49¾, Waialua 31¼ and 31, Ewa 32½ and Onomea 53½. Sales between boards were 1231 and at the session 596.

Honolulu Oil and Mineral Products showed strength among the unlisted shares. Oil advanced from $2.95 to $3.25 and $3.35, and was later quoted at $3.40 to $3.50. The advance was on similar advances in San Francisco. Mineral Products advanced from 85 cents yesterday to 95 cents today. Confidence appears to have been restored by the reports of the nearing of completion of the tramway. Engels Copper was unchanged at $7. Mountain King was 32 cents and Montana-Bingham 41 cents.
