The President Weary With Waiting for Salisbury

WARSHIPS FOR BEHRING SEA

Protection to Be Furnished the Seals in Accordance with the Recently Expressed Intention.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Behring sea matters were the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the cabinet Friday. The result of the conference was the approval of an energetic policy for the protection of the seals of Behring sea and of adjacent waters resorting thereto, in harmony with the tenor of the note of March 8 from Mr. Wharton, assistant secretary of state, to Sir Julian Pauncefote, intended by President Harrison for Lord Salisbury. Secretary Tracy in due time, which may be in the very near future, will issue orders to the Pacific squadron to police Behring sea and apprehend the poachers found on the interdicted territory, whether they be from Canada or the United States.

Measures for Protection.

Thursday was a regular English mail day, and it was hoped that Lord Salisbury's reply to President Harrison might reach the state department, but so far as can be learned nothing has been received. That was the statement made by a prominent official of the department. In the absence of any definite knowledge of Lord Salisbury's intention, it was deemed proper and best by the president and his advisers for him to proceed in accordance with the intentions expressed to the British government and arrange for the protection of the interests claimed by the United States.

No Trouble Anticipated.

In coming to this determination it is not expected that the enforcement of the policy outlined will lead to any serious complication with Great Britain. As has already been pointed out in these dispatches, from Lord Salisbury's express refusal to assume any responsibility for the seal poachers and his further refusal to submit to arbitration the question of damages arising from their operations, it is assumed that Great Britain will not attempt to interfere with any arrangements the United States may make to break up the pelagic poaching.

How many vessels Secretary Tracy will order to Behring sea is not definitely known, but there will doubtless be enough to demonstrate to the poachers that the United States are in earnest in the effort to protect the commercial interests involved in the perpetuation of the sealing industry under the regulations provided by this government.

Alleged Plot to Kill Judge Terry.

FRESNO, Cal., March 17.—When the small safe in Sarah Althea Terry's house was opened Wednesday a number of papers were found bearing on the alleged plot to murder the late Judge Terry. One of them was from an ex-sheriff of one of the counties of this state. He claims to have been offered $25,000 and immunity from prosecution if he would kill the judge. No name is given.
