WAR POWERS
UNDER THE
CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.
BY WILLIAM WHITING.
Tenth Edition. 8vo. Price $2 50.
This volume treats of the most important Legal questions now agitated by the great Political Parties in the Free States; and of the principles of International, Belligerent, and Constitutional Law, which determine the Rights, Liabilities and Obligations of Citizens or Subjects of the United States in time of Civil War. It is addressed to the Loyal Statesmen, Judges, and Jurists of the Union, to aid them in exploring the deep and permanent foundations wherein the right of our Republican Government rests to defend itself from Treason and Rebellion and to restore and secure, by a lawful exercise of the War Powers of the President and of Congress under the Constitution, the permanent Peace of the Country.

BOYS, we have TWO NEW BOOKS FOR YOU, that are splendid, full of fun, excitement, and adventure, at home, in camp, and under fire.
FRANK'S CAMPAIGN; or, WHAT A BOY CAN DO ON THE FARM TO HELP PUT DOWN THE REBELLION. By HORATIO ALGER, JR. Look at the pictures in it.
ECHOES OF THE GUN OF 1861, AND THE WAY TWO BROTHERS RESPONDED TO THAT "ECHO" THAT ROUSED UP EVERY ONE IN THE NORTH.
No books have the element of success in them more than these, none are so full of fun and adventure, none have a higher aim, or will fall to give the boys to read, and be sure and secure them in season, as the edition is small of both.
Every Bookseller sells them; or, if he has not got them, go to O. S. Felt, Bradburn, Oakley & Mason, Hurd & Houghton, Appleton, Miller, Sheldon, Carleton, Dick & Fitzgerald, American News Co., Pooley, Kirby, Brentano, Jones, McFarland, Turnbull, Miller & Matthews, Low, Randolph.

EVERY ONE WHO WISHES TO BE FAMILIAR with the story of American History will read
LIEUT.-GEN. WINFIELD SCOTT'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY.
2 vols. 12mo. Illustrated with two Steel Plate Likenesses of the General, taken at different ages. Price per set, $4.
This will be the most deeply interesting book to every American, that has been published since the war commenced.
To tell the story of Scott's life is to describe nearly all that is glorious in our past military history. From the commencement of the war of 1812 to the beginning of the present Rebellion his name and fame have been so closely interwoven with the contest of military skill as to claim the attention of every student of our nation's annals.
It would be difficult to conceive of a more interesting or instructive record. The long and honorable career of a veteran so conspicuous, portrayed by his own hand, weighed and reading after labors which have done so much toward making the Union a prize worth the travail and bloodshed which its perpetuation is costing us to-day, must be regarded with new and absorbing interest by Americans. Among the autobiographies left by men whose lives have had a national and even world-wide influence, few will have eclipsed the one now forthcoming in varied, and exciting, and brilliant incident.
FROM THE PRESS, PHILADELPHIA.
Winfield Scott does well to place his autobiography before the world. All his life he has emphatically been a soldier. It has pleased God to make him a successful one, and his own good conduct has prevented any blot upon his escutcheon. He is the American Bayard, "sans peur et sans reproche." The life of such a soldier must convey a great moral lesson to his countrymen.

DAVID GRAY'S POEMS, with an Introductory Notice by Lord Houghton (R. M. Milnes), a Memoir by James Hedderwick, and Final Memorials by Robert Buchanan.
The publishers take pleasure in offering to the literary public the Poems of this "ill-fated and winsome young Scottish man, heart-brother of Robert Burns, which are marked by rare tenderness and sincerity, and by that fascinating felicity of verbal touch which is one of the choicest characteristics of true genius."
The very interesting Memoirs of David Gray, showing the sympathy and appreciation entertained for him by many distinguished authors, and relating in vivid style his plaintive fate, awaken feelings of love, pity, and grief, and render doubly interesting the Poems which follow.
We shall publish David Gray's Poems on Saturday, Nov. 19. Orders solicited.
One volume, in size and style to match "Jean Ingelow's Poems," neatly bound in vellum cloth, gilt top. Price $1 50.

AN ENTIRE NEW NOVEL,
BY MRS. HENRY WOOD.
MRS. WOOD'S NEW COPYRIGHT NOVEL.
OSWALD CRAY!
OSWALD CRAY!
OSWALD CRAY!
OSWALD CRAY.
OSWALD CRAY, by Mrs. HENRY WOOD, is printed from the author's manuscript and advanced proof sheets, purchased by us from Mrs. Henry Wood at an expense of over Three Thousand Dollars, is published this day, and is for sale by all Booksellers everywhere, being issued here eight weeks in advance of the completion or publication of the work in Europe. It is complete in one large octavo volume.
PRICE $1 50 in Paper; or $2 in Cloth.
Read the following notice of it from the editorial columns of The Philadelphia Press, written by R. Shelton Mackenzie, esq., after reading an advance copy of it.
MRS. HENRY WOOD'S NEW NOVEL.—T. B. Peterson & Brothers have just published Mrs. Wood's latest novel, some weeks in advance of its appearance in England. It is entitled "Oswald Cray," and is strictly a tale of English society at the present day; the action closes, indeed, so recently as the Autumn of 1862. The principal part of the locality is in the rural part of England; probably, as far as the description enables us to judge, in the old town of Shrewsbury. Then the scene shifts to London, after that it is partly transferred to Houfleur, in Normandy, and finally closes where it began, in the quaint old country town. The hero is a civil engineer—one of those model men who appear to flourish in fiction only. His half brother, Mark Cray, whose speculations in a joint stock mining company raise him to luxury and bring him down to poverty, is a character drawn with a bold and true pencil. There are, also, an excellent Dr. Davenal and his family, including a deaf sister, whose infirmity makes her blunder amusingly, and a couple of terrible schoolboys. Of course there is a villain—one Neal, a serving man and a schemer, with several other dramatis personæ. There is some hidden crime, too, and a great deal of mystery, cleared up at the proper moment; that is, precisely when Mrs. Wood chooses to lift the veil. In no previous fiction of hers—not even in "East Lynne"—is the interest so completely kept up; it never flags, and there is no making a plausible guess at the secrets to which the author has the key. The part wherein the workings of a joint stock company are developed shows great knowledge of business. Upon the whole, "Oswald Cray" is one of the best novels we have read for some time. It is its fair author's best production. It is remarkably well printed, in large type and on fine paper, and will undoubtedly have a large sale.

A SUPERBLY ILLUSTRATED VOLUME OF NATIVE SCENERY.
Mr. JAMES G. GREGORY, will have ready in a few days,
FOREST PICTURES IN THE ADIRONDACKS.
BY JOHN A. HAWS.
WITH ORIGINAL POEMS BY ALFRED B. STREET.
The noble series of illustrations in this volume depicting the forest scenery of that great primitive wilderness lying in the northern part of New-York, so growing yearly in the favor of Artists, Tourists and Sportsmen, are from the pencil of Mr. JOHN A. HAWS, whose illustrations to Bryant's "Forest Hymn" have been so universally admired.
The Mountains, Lakes, Cascades and Forests of the Adirondack still retain all the features of the primitive wilderness, and perhaps no portion of our country affords so grand a variety of subjects for the Artist's pencil.
The present work contains sixteen large full paged views, engraved on wood with great fidelity, each drawing prefaced with an original poem by ALFRED B. STREET, our acknowledged foremost poet of the forest. The drawings are bolder and more striking than those in the Artist's previous work, and render the book the most ORIGINAL AND ARTISTIC
Volume yet produced from the American Press.
All the mechanical features of the book are executed in the best manner. It is printed on heavy, richly tinted paper, and bound in various elegant styles.
The work in every way will commend itself to the lover of the picturesque and to the friend of American Art.
AS A GIFT BOOK FOR THE CHRISTMAS SEASON IT WILL BE ONE OF THE MOST ACCEPTABLE AND ELEGANT.
In Cloth, beveled boards, gilt edges and sides, price, $4 50.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1864.
A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.
THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE) STEEL SPRING.
J. L. & J. O. WEST,
NO. 97 CHAMBERS-ST., NEW-YORK,
are the owners of the Patent and Exclusive Manufacturers of this
J. W. BRADLEY'S
PATENTED "DUPLEX ELLIPTIC" STEEL SPRING SKIRT.
This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable Spring ever used, enabling the wearer in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibleness to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objections to Hoop Skirts, viz: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place from the difficulty of contracting them and occupying a small space; this entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the most full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical Skirt made. Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this city and throughout the different States.
☞ INQUIRE FOR THE "DUPLEX ELLIPTIC" SPRING SKIRT.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SPRING SKIRT,
THE MOST POPULAR AND FLEXIBLE IN USE.
