From The Boston Transcript.

"From the outbreak of the Rebellion, Dr. Coxe took a decided stand for the Union as Rector of a Church in Baltimore, then the seat of disaffection; consistent in his loyalty, yet forever mindful of his sacred calling, he has been true alike to his country and his profession, and suffered much petty persecution with Christian magnanimity. We therefore welcome with peculiar satisfaction, the new and exquisitely illustrated edition of his Christian Ballads."

From The Albion.

For nearly five and twenty years Dr. Coxe's Christian Ballads have held an esteemed place in the religious and lettered world; and it is therefore very seasonable to have them put forth in a handsome edition.

From The Church Journal.

One of the most welcome gift books of the season will be the new illustrated edition of Dr. Coxe's Christian Ballads—the most popular volume of Churchly verse which has appeared since Keble's Christian Year. Since their first appearance, twenty-four years ago, successive editions have been constantly in demand, both in England and in this country. Count Tasca has translated a number of these charming ballads into Italian, and they are added in an appendix to the present volume.

From The Newark Daily Advertiser.

A quarter of a century has elapsed since these ballads were first published, and their intrinsic merit caused their young author to be accorded a high position on the roll of Christian poets. Time has not detracted from their merit, and in this edition they have been profusely illustrated and adorned by handsomely executed engravings, making the volume one of the most attractive is ued for the approaching season of gifts.

From The Journal of Commerce.

A superb volume from the Appleton's is "Christian Ballads," by Rev. A. Cleveland Coxe, most elaborately illustrated and ornamented. The introduction contains something of a history of the popularity which Mr. Coxe's poems have enjoyed in this and other countries, and may be accepted as a justification of the very elegant style in which this volume is published.

REMARKABLE and BEAUTIFUL TOY for CHILDREN.
THE MAGIC WHEEL.
No. 1, Price $1 50.

From The Commercial Advertiser, Oct. 29.

Is one of the most interesting and amusing things of the kind ever invented. By looking through perforations in the rim of the MAGIC WHEEL, while it is revolving, very simple pictures on circular pieces of paste-board are made, by the aid of a mirror, to assume the shade of living and moving creatures, and to perform the most wonderful antics. The mode in which the illusion is produced would puzzle grown people, while children without inquiring into the whys and wherefores, are delighted with the performances of the Magic Wheel.

MOSBY, THE GUERRILLA
If he has not got it, he will get it for you; beautifully illustrated, illuminated cover. Price 25 cents; mailed post-paid.

The records of the Newgate calendar do not show in any life of a highwayman more incidents of adventures, daring, or brutality, than have been evidenced in the career of JACK MOSBY. In his early life as a New-York gambler, in his career under ASHBY, and during his adventures as a Guerrilla Chief, Mosby showed himself to be an embryo villain. Caring nothing for humanity, he hoisted the black flag, and the pistol shot and the rope was then his cartel of exchange.

ORDERED IN ADVANCE OF PUBLICATION!

From The London Examiner, Dec. 3, 1864

All the world has accepted Mrs. Lirriper as one of the most genial and individual of those sketches of character in which Mr. Dickens blends humor and pathos, the truest poetry of life with the most whimsical of its external accidents. She is an angel who lets lodgings, a pathetic heroine who talks comically and makes us laugh, except when, now and then, by a chance turn of phrase, we see to the depth of the simple love and charity in her pure soul.

From The London Review, Dec. 3.

Mr. Dickens has thoroughly identified himself with the merry yet tender and thoughtful Christmas season.....Thirty years of authorship have as yet failed to exhaust the power, the beauty, and the creativeness of Mr. Dickens's genius. It has still the freshness of youth, combined with the maturer knowledge of advancing life.

☞ HARPER & BROTHERS will send "Mrs. Lirriper's Legacy" by Mail, postage free, to any part of the United States, on receipt of Ten Cents.

ROBERT CARTER & BROTHERS'
NEW BOOKS.

BY MISS WARNER.

MELBOURNE HOUSE, by the author of the "Wide, Wide World." 2 vols. $3 50.

"This is, perhaps, the most fascinating and powerful of the stories which have issued from the pen of the author. Melbourne House gives us the history of inward trials and conflicts as great, perhaps, as mortal men is called upon to endure; yet they are, without any sacrifice of naturalness, comprised in the life and experience of a child not extraordinary for anything but the decided and conscientious character of her piety. The story of her daily conflicts with parents, relatives and friends, who are incapable of appreciating her noble spirit; and particularly the strife between duty to irreligious parents, who quote the fifth commandment against her, and her own conscience as enlightened by the Spirit and the word, is drawn in a masterly manner, and we have a feeling of relief as her hour of triumph approaches."—[American Presbyterian.
