CITY COUNCILS.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN—Board met according to adjournment for the purpose of considering the act giving the assent of the corporation of Washington to the construction of certain branch railroads in this city.

Mr. Broadhead, the chairman of the committee on that subject, stated that certain amendments to the bill for the better protection of the rights of the corporation, had been submitted to the Directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and as no response had as yet been received the Board could not act.

Considerable discussion then ensued in regard to adjournment, which was finally decided by the Board adjourning to Monday at 4 o'clock.

COMMON COUNCIL.—Board met according to adjournment. As the committee on the subject of the railway, which was to be presented, was not ready to report, the clerk was sent to the Board of Aldermen to ascertain what action was taken by that Board. He reported that the other Board was then discussing the question of adjournment.

The President suggested that this Board might aid them in their decision by adjourning.

On motion of Mr. Shepherd, the Board adjourned.

Amusements.

FORD'S ATHENÆUM.—Mr. Forrest as Claude Melnotte.—Perhaps no play now having possession of the stage, and not excepting even those of Shakspere, has attained to greater popularity with American audiences, than Bulwer's play of "The Lady of Lyons." Its performance, even by actors of ordinary ability, seldom fails of being effective but with artists like Forrest, Davenport, and Anderson, in the role of "Claude Melnotte," its proper acceptability reaches to the attractive. Unquestionably, the democratic sentiment of the play, and the charming devotion of the haughty but womanly "Pauline," contributes chiefly to the success of the production; but it would be idle and unjust to deny to "The Lady of Lyons" the richest elements of dramatic success. So much for the play itself, which is announced for performance at Mr. Ford's elegant resort to-night. The excellence of Mr. Forrest's impersonation of "Claude Melnotte" meets with less question, and is, therefore, above discussion at this late day. In the grace with which the character is conceived by Mr. Forrest, and the poetic fervor of its expression, an effect is reached which captivates the sympathy, and realizes to the judgment the ideal of the ardent young soldier of the Republic. As an effort which illustrates the varied range of Mr. Forrest's powers, to night's performance will, aside from its artistic attractiveness, be highly interesting. Mr. Forrest's engagement, it will be borne in mind, expires with the succeeding week.

GROVER'S THEATRE.—The Babes in the Wood attracted another elegant house last evening. It is repeated to-night for the last time.

The subject of the comedy is a pleasing piece of domesticity.

A young and living couple, the Babes in the Wood, of Miss Susan Denin and Mr. Meldrum, have married against the parental consent and are living in lodgings. Mrs. Beetle, (Mrs. Germon,) the proprietress of the lodgings and a husband, has seen better days and still preserves her elegance. Mr. Beetle, (Mr. Setchell,) the henpecked husband, serves as man and maid of all work, and is an admirable representative of the natural dominion of woman over man. The immense humor of Mr. Setchell in this character is the soul of the piece. His indescribable make up as a gentleman's gentleman is a fund of laughter of itself. From his entrance to his exit the audience was in one continual hum of laughter. He was called out at the end of the second and third acts.

Miss Susan Denin enacted the little piece of domestic sentiment which fell to her with a naive and charming manner peculiar to her, and which everywhere renders her so universally a favorite. She was called out at the end of the piece.

Mr. Meldrum was admirable as the young and world-trusting husband. Mr. Phillips, as the father, portrayed his affection for his child in a touching and agreeable manner, the character fell into good hands. All the other characters were very well rendered, and received the encomiums of the audience in continued applause.

By all means see again to-night the final representation of the Babes in the Wood. By the way, Mr. Setchell, we understand, was the original in this country of Mr. Beetle.

Mrs. Lotty Hough's song of Josiah's Courtship, is decidedly the funning song of all the Yankee repertoire.

Miss Sophy Gimber and Mr. Ben Rogers, in the afterpiece, were each excellent, and Miss Gimber gave us a taste of her musical talents, about which we have heard so favorably.

To-night the beautiful soubrette, Miss Effie Germon, who made so favorable an impression in our city a short time since, makes her rentre as Sally Scraggs, in Sketches in India.

CONTINENTAL OPERA HOUSE.—Another fine house last evening to witness the pleasing performances of the excellent company now performing at this house, which is nightly growing in favor with our citizens. We are pleased to see that the objections which has deterred many ladies from visiting this place of amusement, are now rapidly giving way before the truly refined and elegant entertainments which are nightly presented, consisting mainly, as they do, of the choicest music, vocal and instrumental, beautiful dances, and magnificent tableaux. Miss Mary Walton still continues to receive the unbounded applause her excellent singing deserves, whilst the other members of this talented company are nightly growing in favor. Children, don't forget the grand matinee to morrow afternoon. Little Willie will be about, and will have something to do with giving out those beautiful presents which the managers have selected for you.

CANTERBURY.—To-night will be the benefit of the great delineator of negro character Frank Brower. He is so well and favorably known to the public that not a word from us is needed in his behalf. The ever popular farce of the Virginia Mummy will be performed again to-night. Brower possesses the original manuscript of the author, T. D. Rice, Esq., and he will appear in his great character of Ginger Blue, in which he stands unrivalled. To those of our citizens who have not seen this side-splitting farce, we say lose not the opportunity to-night. The beautiful "stars of their profession," Millie Fowler and Ida Duval, with the rest of the artistes, male and female, also appear, forming altogether the greatest combination of beauty and talent ever witnessed at any one evening performance in this city. Secure your seats in time.

ODD FELLOWS LEVEE.—On Monday evening next, a grand Levee and Festival will be given at Odd Fellows Hall on Seventh street. A delightful time is anticipated. There will be a Promenade Concert, an excellent address, and a dance, something to suit all tastes and offend none.

A Thanksgiving Day.

Yesterday was set apart by the various colored churches as a day of thanksgiving, in view of the passage of the act of emancipation, and there were large gatherings in all of them, both in the day and evening. We never witnessed a more sincere, heartfelt outpouring of humble hearts, in devout gratitude and praise, than was seen yesterday. It was a day of jubilee.

"Blow ye the trumpet, blow
The gladly solemn sound;
Let all the nations know,
To earth's remotest bound,
The year of jubilee is come;
Return, ye ransomed sinners, home," seemed to burst from hundreds of happy hearts overflowing with gratitude for the great blessing which God, in his wonderful providence, had given them.

Talk about the slaves not desiring the rich boon of freedom! Let all doubters visit the assemblages of our colored people, at any time since the passage of that act, and his scepticism will vanish instanter. A more grateful people does not live on the face of the earth than the manumitted slaves of this District, at the present time.

Passing Counterfeit Money.

James Moran was arrested yesterday by officer Leak, on the charge of passing counterfeit money. $150 of counterfeit money was found in his possession. He was taken before Justice Walter, who committed him to jail for a further hearing. John Down was also arrested by officer Kelly on the same charge, and disposed of in the same manner.

Unconditional Union Meeting in the Seventh Ward.

At a meeting held last evening, in Potomac Hall, Mr. Charles Anderson was called to the chair, and Dr. O. P. Fenwick chosen secretary.

Alderman Lloyd explained the object of the meeting, as he understood it, to be to initiate proceedings in preparation for the approaching municipal election, upon a basis of unconditional Unionism, without reference to party politics.

John R. Elvens had understood that Republicans were to be proscribed. If so, he could have nothing to do with it. If politics were to be ignored, he would participate.

On motion, a committee was appointed by the Chair to draft resolutions, consisting of Messrs. Peter Hepburn, Thos. S. Lloyd, Chas. Allen, David Hepburn, and Otho Boswell.

This committee retired, and subsequently reported the following resolutions:

Whereas the events of the last year have shown that, to maintain the Government as bequeathed to us by our fathers, it is expected that only men of undoubted loyalty should be placed in positions of executive function. First, to encourage true and loyal men, by being placed in positions of honor and profit; secondly, because only true and loyal men can with safety administer the laws and protect the Constitution and the Union. And to protect the Union it has become necessary for all loyal men to absolve all lines of political parties and battle together in the great cause of the Union as but one party, to wit: "The union of the Unionists for the sake of the Union."

Resolved, That the Union and Constitution established by our forefathers receives our cordial and earnest support, and we heartily concur in all constitutional means to preserve and defend the same, trusting that the spirit of party will be set entirely aside and such conciliatory measures adopted, as will secure a Union of States, hearts and hands.

Resolved, That in lieu of the Senate bill providing for schools for the negro children of this city, this meeting recommends that the Councils in passing the tax bill for the ensuing year reduce the taxes on the property of negroes, so as to omit that part of the tax now set apart for school purposes.

Resolved, That the recent action of the Councils looking to the erection of good school houses meets our hearty approbation, and we trust that measures will be taken immediately to provide proper accommodations in place of the present unsuitable and unhealthy buildings.

And whereas the Hon. Richard Wallach, as Mayor of the city since he has been elevated to the office of Mayor, has shown himself true to "the Union, the Constitution, and the enforcement of the laws," and the Mayor of the city and not of a political party, but the friend to all true Union loving men; Therefore,

Resolved, That we, in meeting assembled in the Seventh Ward, do hereby endorse the conduct of Mayor Wallach since he has been acting as such.

Resolved, That we regard Mr. Wallach as an officer fully qualified to act as Mayor of the city of Washington at the present crisis, when pure patriotism is required, and one possessing the required qualifications necessary to entitle him to fill the office with ability and fidelity.

Resolved, That as citizens of the Seventh Ward, we unanimously declare Richard Wallach our choice as candidate for Mayor for the two years next ensuing, and that he is hereby nominated as our candidate, and we will use all fair and honorable means to elect him at the next election, and we respectfully request him to allow his name to be used as such.

The resolutions were agreed to by an almost unanimous vote.

On motion of Peter Hepburn, the meeting proceeded to the nomination of candidates for municipal offices, with the following results:

For alderman, John R. Semmes was unanimously nominated.

For councilmen, were nominated: J. T. Given, W. J. Murtagh, Charles Wilson, T. B. Florence, William Wise, Augustus Edson.

Messrs. Given, Murtagh, and Wilson, having a majority, on motion, they were declared unanimously nominated.

For assessor, Peter Hepburn was unanimously nominated.

Adjourned to meet at the same place on Thursday evening, May 15.

The Opera.

We get again next week the Italian Opera, in conjunction with Gottschalk and Madame D'Angri. This will be their last visit prior to the departure for Europe of several of the artists. The operatic and musical combination which Mr. Grover has had the good fortune to engage, is of the rarest merit, including as it does nearly all the artistes of first reputation in the country.

The established favorites—Gottschalk, unquestionably the first pianist of the world; Madame D'Angri, the very first contralto, who has but one rival, Alboni, whom she excells in compass and power; Brignoli, who comes with renewed honors, from easily eclipsing the new tenors of the Havana company, with numerous others, together with several of the principal artistes of the newly-arrived Havana company, including Amodio, the brother of the late celebrated baritone, constitute an attraction so immense as to leave their success here beyond a doubt.

It is quite a compliment to our citizens that the two parties—the concert party, including Gottschalk, with a tour through New York city, Brooklyn, and Philadelphia; and the Italian opera party, directly from their Easter season at the Academy of Music, and from their tour via Albany to Buffalo—join their forces here, and give a combined entertainment.

Of course, Mr. Grover's very handsome theatre will be crowded with our fashionables. The sale of reserved seats commences at Metzerott's music store, Monday, May 5, at 9 o'clock a. m.

Sunday School Celebration.

The committee to make arrangements for the anniversary celebration of the Sunday School Union, met on Wednesday at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, and resolved to divide the city into five districts; the schools of each district to assemble in their respective churches, and march to the church designated as the place of celebration. The day fixed upon is Monday, May 26th. After selecting appropriate hymns, and transacting some other business, the committee adjourned to Monday next, when they will divide the city into districts and designate the churches in which the ceremonies are to take place.

The Commissioners Under the Emancipation Act,

Met in the Grand Jury room at the usual hour. Two applications were filed. Mr. S. A. Elliott, one slave, and Mr. Wm. Thomas one slave. No other business was transacted.

Boot-Black Brigade.

Mr. [illegible], of Philadelphia, has organized this distinguished Philadelphia, has organized a miniature brigade in that city, on the plan of the noted Boot Black Brigade of London. On the first assemblage of these boys in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms in Philadelphia, 24 of the boot-blacks were present, with a number of benevolent ladies and gentlemen. The boys were supplied with a repast, and after a brief series of religious exhortations, prayers, and hymns, their names and residences were taken, and they were requested to elect a captain, which they did.

It is proposed to give these boys a short reading lesson every week, in addition to cakes and discourses. The cakes are, of course, the grand incentive, at present, to attendance, but much good may be done the boys in the short hour and a half weekly given to them. The majority of their faces exhibit great intelligence, and several of them are of rare beauty. It is sad to reflect that such capacities for high mental distinction should be shut from the light of literature, and denied all development. But this sad picture the world presents on all sides, and boot-blacks are no exception to the rule.

We chronicle this movement for the purpose of stimulating the benevolent minded Christians of our city to similar efforts in behalf of the hundreds of a similar class here, including not only boot-blacks, but newsboys and others who are thrown upon society by the loss, or neglect, of parents, and unless something is done to keep them from a career of vice, they will hereafter become burdens upon, or pests in society. It will be impossible to estimate the amount of good for time and eternity which such an enterprise might achieve. Surely let us learn of the enemy, in the strife between good and evil. The latter has many devices, and we can't have too many benevolent institutions to counteract them.

Deaths of Soldiers.

The following named soldiers of the army have died since our last report:

Henry C. Emmons, company C, Tenth New Jersey.

Calvin Clemons, company A, Ninety-third New York.

John M. Lindsay, company C, Seventh Maine.

Albert Karass, company A, Fourth Pennsylvania Cavalry.

Bidney Beldron, company I, Third New York Artillery.

N. H. Jones, company H, Eighty-third Pennsylvania.

John W. Harritt, company G, Ninety fifth New York volunteers.

Relatives of deceased soldiers can be furnished with all the information they desire in relation to the burial place of their friends, &c., by calling on J. W. Plant, Government undertaker, 418 Seventh street, between G and H.

What is Said of Us.

Every day that I remain in this city tells me, more plainly than his predecessor, that it no longer is and is not likely again to be the Washington it was before the rebellion. The signs of business are everywhere. And this change will take place in every Southern city, and especially in those upon the seaboard. Even Alexandria is feeling a new impulse. About half a dozen young, shrewd and vigorous men occupied seats near me in the cars as I came up, who were bound there, believing as they expressed it, that "something might be done there by men bent on pushing business." Many of our thrifty Northern and New England men who have gone South to fight for the Union will remain South to labor and prosper under its banner.—Cor. N. Y. Com. Adv.

Rebel Prisoners

Some thirty rebels have been brought here during the past two or three days from the vicinity of Fredericksburg, and committed to prison. Seven prisoners were brought from the Navy Yard yesterday, in charge of a file of marines, and committed by order of the provost marshal.

MARRIED,

In this city, on the 1st inst., at St. Aloysius's Church, by Rev. B. A. Maguire, S. J., Mr. AUGUSTUS E. MERRITT, of Hartford, Connecticut, and Miss JOSIE BEARSHEARS, of this city.

DIED,

In this city, on the 1st., J. MARSHALL WELLS, of Elmyra, Chemung county, New York, aged 23 years.

Corns, Etc.

Those afflicted with these troublesome things, whether hard or soft; also those troubled with Bunions, Callo-ities, club and in-growing toe nails, can find great relief and satisfactory benefit by applying to Dr. G. White, 416 Pennsylvania avenue, between Four and a half and Sixth streets, Room 7, second floor apr 25

☞ In another column may be seen a few of the many testimonials from well known citizens of Washington, and they speak louder than anything we could say. It is with pleasure we lay them before a candid and appreciative public. Our people are tired of theories. When a man is sick he wants the physician who prescribes remedies that are sure to cure him, and such a person is found in Dr. Tumblety, Indian Herb Doctor.

Come and see for yourselves ye lame and suffering,
Oh, ye rheumatic and dying, come and see.
Light shall again the faded eye illume,
And rosy health the pallid cheek resume.
Thousands rescued from disease and death,
Invoke God's blessings on Tumblety.

I desire your prostrate hearts to lift,
Your bleeding wounds to cure,
And with the treasures of nature's gift
Relieve the rich and poor.

The Indian Herb Doctor will describe diseases and tell his patients the nature of their complaints or illness, without receiving any information from them. No charge for consultation.
