Amusements.

Grover's Theatre.—The "Colleen Bawn" each successive night grows more and more attractive, the audiences increasing in size, brilliancy, and intellectual capacity. Last evening, the spacious house was crowded in every part, and the performance closed with greater eclat than any preceding one. Our readers will do well to remember, that after Saturday next they will not have an opportunity of seeing this remarkable spectacular drama, with Mr. Collins in his greatest character of Myles Na Coppaleen. Miss J. Parker as the "Sprig of Shillelah," will be the original versus written for him on the Seventh (Irish) regiment, elicits each night round after round of applause. The beautiful and popular songbirds, Miss Sophie Gimber, appears to-night for the last time as Eily O'Connor, by reason of a prior interfering arrangement. On to-morrow, Miss Jennie Parker will assume the character. On Monday next, the entire standard Comedy Company will appear, in a new and varied bill, for the benefit of the celebrated comedian, Mr. D. Setchell.

Canterbury.—Miss Zanfretta is the greatest tight rope performer in the world. The popular little beauty Mlle Ravel is greatly admired. Miss Eva Brent delights the audience with the rich sweetness of her voice. Mons. Velarde springs up and turns three times in the air before he alights. Mons. Alexander Zanfretta dances upon the tight rope, wearing wooden clog shoes, and the astonishing Seigrist brothers are every where known as the greatest living acrobats and gymnasts. The performance to-night concludes with the side splitting comic pantomime, entitled the "Clown Cook," in which the Ravel company appear.

Mysterious Disappearance of Government Property.

About eight or ten days ago the police of the Second ward had their suspicions aroused by certain mysterious movements in an establishment on Ninth street, opposite the south end of the Centre Market. It was observed that Government wagons hauled a great many goods, bales and boxes there, which were not taken away except in the night, when they were taken out the back way and carried off by hand or on wheelbarrows.

They did not interfere, as the house appeared to be in charge of the military. At last the sergeant of the police, informed Captain Sherwood, of the provost guard, of his suspicions, and the result was an examination of the matter, which revealed the fact that the Government had been paying the rent of the house regularly, and yet could ascertain no special authority for putting the goods there. On going to the premises, the guard found a woman, who told them that the goods belonged to Blenker's division; that they were put there for safe keeping; and that her husband, who was a sergeant, was detailed to guard them. The goods were taken possession of. Sharpe's rifles, muskets, pistols, blankets, shirts, drawers, knapsacks, haversacks, and other articles used by the military, were recovered. These goods were said to belong to the Twenty-seventh Pennsylvania, and the Seventy-third and Twenty-ninth New York regiments, many of the boxes being so marked. It is thought that thousands of dollars worth of valuable Government property is stored on the several floors of this building.

About the same time the provost guard arrested a soldier who, in accounting for his presence in the city, said he was in charge of some Government property belonging to the Eighth New York regiment, (German Rifles,) belonging to Blenker's division. Captain Sherwood asked him to show the goods, which after some hesitation he did. He took him to a store-house in the rear of the "Gymnasium Restaurant," kept by Philip Mehrling, where a large amount of goods were found, as also in a shed in the rear yard of J. Pelia, on G street, the yard leading out on Louisiana avenue. These two places were found completely filled with boxes of Government arms, accoutrements, clothing, &c., to the value of thousands of dollars. The stock consisted of many articles for which there was a constant demand in the army, not easily supplied. Boxes of Springfield rifles of the latest pattern, unused, and in as good condition as when first issued from the armory; some new clothing, new shoes, non-commissioned officers' swords, and even stretchers for hospital purposes. The goods were stored here by a person who represented himself to be a quartermaster of Blenker's division, and who it is said is now a prisoner in the hands of the rebels, taken in a recent battle.

These things occurred about a week ago, and yesterday morning the Government authorities commenced removing the goods to the regular storehouses, which caused the assembling of a large crowd of citizens, who gazed in wonder at the proceeding, their curiosity being increased by the taciturn manner of the officers in charge of the removal.

Outrageous Assault.

Last Tuesday night about 7 o'clock, a man from the Douglas Hospital passing along by the residence of a very respectable colored man named David W. Dixon, living on New Jersey Avenue, between E and F, commenced some abusive language to Dixon, and finally wound up with striking him, which, of course, he repelled. He then called the police who arrested the man and Dixon, and took them before Justice Walter, who fined both parties $2. In the absence of Dixon for an officer, the man had obtained a party of soldiers, and swore that he would burn down the whole row of houses,—he was no Northern man—he was from Baltimore, and he cared nothing about the "niggers," &c. The soldiers made an assault on D. Brinton, another colored man, and stabbed him in the left side with a bayonet. Another man stabbed a colored woman, named Fanny Myers, and after she fell, kicked her severely. Dr. Herbert was called to attend to the injured parties. The man will recover, but the condition of the woman was considered quite critical. The police were unable to find the parties who made the last assault.

These outrages were committed by parties under the influence of liquor, and it is said they obtained the stuff which made them demons, at a low groggery on the corner of Third and L streets, kept by a yellow woman. We call attention of the provost guard to the above matter. It is to be hoped that the parties to this outrage will be brought to justice.

Commencement of Columbian College.

The thirty-ninth annual commencement of Columbian College took place yesterday, in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, which was filled, a band of music being in attendance to enliven the occasion.

The students of the college assembled in the basement of the church, and at eleven o'clock marched to their places, the graduates taking seats on the stand with the faculty, and the others the front seats. The exercises were commenced with a prayer by Rev. Dr. Samson, President of the College, and the contestants for the Davis prize medals and the graduates came forward and delivered their orations in the following order:

The Nature of Man as Liberty, Richard B. Cook, of Md.; National Pride, William E. Edmonston, D. C.; Devotion to Civil Liberty and its Influence, Abner Y. Leech, D. C.; Great Revolutions, as developing the Genius of Nations, Leonidas E. Coyle, D. C.; The Influence of Poetry on National Character, Otis T. Mason, Va.; A Nation's Language the Index of its Mental Characteristics, T. Edwin Brown, D. C.; The Utility of Ambition, George H. Morgan, Va.

Hon T. D. Eliot, on the part of the trustees, presented the Davis prize medals to Leonidas E. Coyle, of D. C., and Richard B. Cook, of Md.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred on Leonidas E. Coyle, D. C., and of Master of Arts on T. Edwin Brown, A. B., of D. C.; Elliott Coues, A. B., of D. C.; Isaac L. Johnson, A. B., of Pa.; Otis T. Mason, A. B. of Va.; George H. Morgan, A. B., of Va.

Criminal Court.

June 24.—In the cases of the United States vs. King, the jury returned a verdict of "guilty." John Motiann was convicted on two cases of assault and battery. William H. Diggs was discharged from jail at the suggestion of the grand jury.

Murder Case, June 25.—James Mahoney was arraigned for the murder of his wife some time in March last, by beating her with an ax-handle, from the effects of which she died. The defendant plead not guilty. Twenty-five jurors were called, thirteen of whom were challenged for cause or peremptorily, and the following finally selected: H. D. Prather, D. Powble, G. W. Bomb, G. H. Grant, James Mankin, J. R. Queen, Eustice F. O'Brien, E. Compton, H. Thorn, J. S. Hopkins, J. R. Dale, and R. L. Ross. Mr. Carrington opened the cause for the prosecution and Mr. Morgan for the defence.

Appointment of Surgeon.

Dr. Croggon, of the Seventh ward, has been appointed surgeon in the hospitals, and placed in charge of Ryland Chapel Hospital; which place has been well fitted up, and is now ready to receive patients. Dr. C. has been one of our regular ward physicians.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

Meeting of Soldiers' Friends.

A large meeting of the friends of the Pennsylvania Reserves, residents and sojourners, was assembled at the rooms of Hon. George T. Cobb, in this city, on Tuesday evening, the 24th inst., for the purpose of forming a soldiers' aid society, for the relief of the sick and wounded soldiers of that State. A permanent organization was effected by the appointment of the following officers:

President—Hon. John C. Kunkel.

Vice Presidents—Hon. George T. Cobb and Isaac Hackett.

Secretary and Treasurer—Joseph H. Blankenson.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John J. Halsted, John Kearns, Dr. D. P. Wilson, and Geo. A. Emmit.

Finance Committee—Joseph Hopkins, Jas. Y. Burr, Joseph S. Reid, John F. Halsted, W. W. Shoen, R. D. Sergeant, and John Kearns.

Subscriptions were made to the funds of the society, amounting to the aggregate of the sum of $475, and visiting committees appointed to visit the sick and wounded soldiers of the State in the different hospitals in and about Washington and Alexandria, and report their number, condition, and circumstances to an adjourned meeting to be held on Tuesday evening next, July 1st, at the rooms of Hon. George T. Cobb, Pennsylvania avenue, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets.

A Strange Uniform.

For several days considerable curiosity was excited in this city by the appearance of a strange and mysterious looking uniform, worn by a quiet, respectable looking man passing along our streets. Some thought he was a secesh officer on parole. It turned out that the mysterious stranger was a member of the English press, on a tour of observation through our big country. Being a member of the Ninth East York English rifle volunteers, he brought his uniform along with him. The gentleman favored us with a call, and we took a note of his attire. It is of stone gray cloth of a dark shade, coat and pants cut like our infantry, black leather belt and shoulder strap—all the ornaments, buttons, &c., which are bright brass on our uniforms, were bronzed on his. The trimmings are of red cord and tassels on in the Zouave style. The buttons bear the English crown, and the belt-plate has on it a wreath of leaves, inside of which is the name of the corps. The cap is ornamented by a plume of dark green feathers. We understand that this gentleman is on the way to Richmond with a pass from the War Department.

Deaths of Soldiers.

The following deaths in the various hospitals, &c., in this vicinity have occurred since our last report:

Rufus Wilson, company B, 29th Ohio.

Sheldon Yencoots, company E, New York cavalry.

Reuben Weaver, company K, 11th Pennsylvania Reserve Corps.

Baltzer Rempter, company I, 107th Pennsylvania.

Joseph Jasper, company D, 5th Michigan.

Wm. Norton, company C, 74th New York.

D Kibbe, company L, 12th Pennsylvania cavalry.

C. H. Bowen, company H, 22d New York.

Samuel Allen, company G, 2d Artillery, 112th Pennsylvania.

J. G. Young, company B, 6th Ohio.

P. Kochermeyer, company H, 103d Pennsylvania.

Relatives of deceased soldiers can be furnished with all the information they desire in relation to the burial place of their friends, &c., by calling on F. T. Sands, Government undertaker, 444 F street north.

Firemen's Convention.

A convention of the firemen of this city was held last night, at the hall of the Franklin Fire Company—all the companies of the city being represented except the Union and American Hook and Ladder Companies.

The following delegates were in attendance:

Columbia—John J. Peabody, Thos. H. Robinson and Andrew P. McKenna.

Anacostia—T. W. Cook, G. T. Dykes and Jos. M. Cook.

Franklin—John H. Beanford, Edward Crampton and L. W. Dorsey.

Perseverance—W. H. Osburne, Geo. Fletcher and J. H. Thompson.

Western Row—Messrs. Holtzman, Dorsey and Masten.

Metropolitan Hook and Ladder—John T. Chauncy, Chas. F. Holbrook and W. S. Scott.

J. T. Chauncy was chosen chairman, and A. P. McKenna secretary.

Mr. Peabody submitted the form of a constitution to be submitted to the Common Councils for ratification.

This proposes to organize a regular Fire Department, with chief engineers, assistant, &c.

After some discussion, the plan of organization was adopted, one hundred copies ordered to be printed, and the whole to be submitted to the different companies for their action.

Adjourned to meet again on the 15th of July, to make final arrangements for and appeal to the Councils for the organization proposed.

Fair for the Relief of Soldiers.

Two young ladies, daughters of Superintendent Kennedy, have inaugurated a fair for the benefit of sick and wounded soldiers. Assisted by some other ladies, a plentiful supply of bouquets, refreshments, and other knickknacks were prepared, and last evening the fair was opened at the private residence of Mr. Kennedy, with the most gratifying success. A large company was present, and several hundred dollars were realized from sales. This is an example worthy of imitation.

Robbed.

A soldier by the name of Wheeler, belonging to the Ninety-seventh New York volunteers, was robbed of $65 at the railroad depot yesterday morning. It was all the money he had. He has been sick at Falls Church, and just received his discharge and pay, and was on his way to his home, in Herkimer county, New York. He is said to be in consumption, and had applied to the New York Relief Association for means to get home, with what success we did not learn.

Navy Yard Matters.

Lieut. Tuxhall A. Parker has been relieved from duty as executive officer at the Navy Yard, at his own request, and Lieut. J. C. H. DeKraft, a native of Washington, has been ordered to his place. The master workmen and civil officers of the yard visited his quarters in a body last Monday to take leave of him, expressing regret at parting with him. Lieut. Parker made an appropriate response. Lieut. Parker is an excellent officer and a gentleman of rare personal qualities, and will be kindly remembered wherever he may go.

Hospital to be Removed from the Patent Office.

Secretary Smith is about to discontinue "Indiana Hospital," in the Patent Office building, as there are so many buildings being offered for hospital purposes. The building has been somewhat injured in consequence of leakage from the cooking department. The sick are being removed to the various hospitals near by. Forty were taken to the General Hospital, Judiciary Square, last Monday afternoon.

Personal.

Ex Gov. Reader, Pa., and Alex. Cummings, N. Y., are at Willards'.

Gen. James, of R. I., is at the National.

Hon. John I. Baker, chairman of the military committee of the Governor's Council of Massachusetts, is at Willards'. He is entrusted with the settlement of important business with the General Government.

Hon. W. B. Hubbard, of Ohio, Hon. Bailey Peyton, of Tennessee, Gen. Rousseau, of Kentucky, and E. S. Alvord, Esq., of Ohio, are at the Metropolitan, (Brown's.)

Wisconsin Soldier's Aid Society.

We call the attention of our readers, and especially those from the State of Wisconsin who may be sojourning or residing in our midst, to the advertisement, in another column, of the meeting of the Wisconsin Soldier's Aid Society this evening at the rooms of the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs. The object of the meeting is a noble one, and it is to be hoped that it will be well attended. The time of meeting is at 8 o'clock.

Correction.

In our issue of yesterday, we published an item stating that the family of Captain Bulaskie, in this city, had received a letter from him, and that he was a prisoner in the South. It was a mistake; no tidings have been received from him since the battle of Belmont, although his family and friends still cherish the hope that he is alive, as his body was not found on the battle field.

Lost Child Found.

Sergeant Burnham, of the second precinct, reports: "James McIntosh, lost child, 6 years old; chewed tobacco four years. Taken to his mother, near Twenty-first street road, in the county, by Officer L. G. Rouse."

Treatment in the Hospitals.

A gentleman who spent three days in the General Hospital, in Judiciary Square, states that the treatment of the patients is excellent. He thinks they would not be as well cared for if they were at home.

OUR CITY ORPHANS.

Gibson's Painting Office,
Washington, June 24, 1862.

To the Editor of the National Republican:

At the request of a number of friends, but innocent friends, who will constitute the subject matter of this article, I crave the space in your columns to refute charges and contradict an impression that has been disseminated by the following local item that appeared in the morning's issue:

"Arrest of a Sympathizer.

"Last Monday afternoon Sergeant Newman, of the Georgetown police, arrested a young man named Edw D. Read, who has recently returned from down South, where he has been giving practical demonstrations of sympathy with secession. He formerly run a packet on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, but for some time past he has resided, and a number of young men went with him to aid in the cause of the rebellion. He was sent to the Old Capitol prison."

The foregoing unquestionably is, in toto, erroneous, (your reporter having been egregiously misinformed, and, perhaps, by the prejudiced statement of the person who caused his arrest,) as I will fully prove.

Having known the said Read a number of years, I can unhesitatingly affirm that he has ever been unconditionally loyal to the Temple of Liberty—the Constitution of the United States.

The said Read had been unwillingly in "Secesh" ever since the rebellion has been in operation, having gone thither to command employment several months before the State of Virginia was one of the so-called seceded States. He went to Norfolk in September, 1860, taking with him the steamer "Flying Cloud," (and not with a number of young men, as the local item asserts,) a boat that previously navigated the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, plying at all the different points from Georgetown to Cumberland, and of which boat he was captain. He made several attempts (innumerable testimony can be adduced to prove it) to get his boat from Norfolk after Virginia seceded, but of no avail; indeed, the authorities of the rebellion were about to hang him for so doing; and he was compelled finally to abandon all hopes of getting home, and unavoidably remained in the dominions of the villainous traitors.

The said Read did not swear allegiance to the "Southern oligarchy," as some have supposed, but remained true to the flag of his country amid all threatening persecutions:—like the noble and patriotic Virginia statesman, Pierpont, Carlile, Segar, &c., no threats could induce him to swerve from his allegiance to the Government of our fathers.

When Norfolk was evacuated, and the Federal troops took thorough possession, the said Read brought out his boat from a place of seclusion—where he had it hid from the marauding posse who burnt and destroyed all the boats of every description on the arrival of the Federals—and ran her into Norfolk, and placed her under military subordination for protection. He immediately afterwards transmitted a communication to his father-in-law in Georgetown, Captain John Moore, the bona fide owner of the boat, (a man well known for his Union principles,) and to which all the military men of note who have control of this District (on oath,) imparting to him the joyful tidings of his safety, and likewise of the boat.

The said Captain Moore instantaneously procured a pass, and went thither (Norfolk) to make arrangements to bring his boat forward, which he accomplished in a brief period, as the following documentary evidence will show:

[True copy from the original.]

"Custom House,
Headquarters Military Governor,
Norfolk, June 5, 1862.

Guards will pass steamer Flying Cloud, together with a crew of three men,* to proceed to Washington. She is to stood up and take a cargo of nice boxes of tobacco, two thousand segars, and three barrels spirits of turpentine.

By command: Brig. Gen. E. L. Viele.

AARON SELBY,
1Lieut. 103d A. D. C.

Oath taken.

H. RUSSELL, C. and A. D. C.

Guard Ship Seminole,
Norfolk, June 5, 1862.

Examination found correct.

THOMAS S. STEEL,
Acting Master."

Having demonstrated undeniably the unwavering loyalty of the person in controversy ab initio up to the present stage of the war, it only remains now to state what charge he was arrested on. The charge, it was said, was aiding the rebellion, but no one came forward to prove it; consequently the said Read was honorably released, after having suffered undeservedly an incarceration of sixteen hours in a station house in Georgetown, and not at the Old Capitol prison, as the local item alleges.

RICHARD A. MACONS,
For Elias D. Read.

*The said Read, Captain John Moore, and a German artificer, were the three men.

Shot.

Constable Reese, living on N street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, lost a very valuable Circassian goat yesterday, by means of the family allowing him to make his appearance in the public street, when Officer Crown discovered him, and in accordance with recent orders he dispatched the animal at first shot. The family are much grieved at the loss, as he was a pet animal.

Maine Relief Association.

At a meeting of the Maine Soldiers Relief Association, held June 25th, Hon. J. H. Rice read a very cordial note from Hon. F. F. Lowe, of California, expressing sympathy, as he was a native of Maine, with the object of the association, and enclosing his sentiments with a $100 Treasury note.

The association, in accepting this present, voted its hearty thanks to Mr. Lowe for his generous donation.

Congratulatory.

Superintendent Webb, of the Metropolitan police, has issued a circular letter to the sergeants of the several precincts, thanking the men under their respective commands for their faithful services of the day of the last municipal election, and congratulating them on the good order maintained throughout the day.

DIED.

On Sunday, June 22d, 1862, CARRIE AGATHA, second daughter of John C. and Mary A. Proctor, aged 3 years, 2 months, and 9 days.

"Not lost, but gone before." The little dove,
So lately nestled on thy breast, is now
Safe outlied in the ark of Love Divine,
Secure from all the storms of life, and freed
From pain and suffering here, her pilgrimage
On earth closed, while yet the holy light
Of innocence was radiant round her path.

After a lingering illness of the heart disease, MARY BRASHEARS, aged 8 years, nine months.

Thou art gone, dearest Mary, yet we will not complain,
For we know 'tis all right; we shall meet thee again
Where sorrow and parting and death are unknown,
And dwell with our Saviour in that bright heavenly home.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, at her parents residence, to-morrow evening at 4 o'clock, Seventh street, Island.

On the 24th inst., HELEN L. FORD, only daughter of James and Georgiana Ford, aged three years and six months.

Ere sin could blight, or sorrow fade,
Death came with friendly care;
The opening bud to Heaven conveyed
And bade it blossom there.

Her funeral will take place from the residence of her parents, Twenty-second street, between F and G, this (Thursday) afternoon, at half-past two o'clock. Friends of the family are invited.
